COMMENT ON THE PETERBORO GAME

Belleville Intelligencer: Making very few errors and swatting the old pill all over the lot, the old Grand Trunks of this city, beat Jake Solomon's nine at Peterborough on Saturday, to the tune of 5—3. Freddy Goyer was in supreme form till the seventh when he had a little bad luck. R. Rose was on the mound for Peterborough and the way that Belleville knocked him about was a shame. It's a wonder Jake hadn't tried out his other twirlers, McElroy, Rose, Harrison or any others he might have had. The Peterborough team miss Cherrett, although Holyman played a good game at shortstop. A large crowd of Belleville rooters were in attendance and helped cheer the boys along to some extent, while Freddy's perfect pitching and the disappointed look on Jake Solomon's face did the rest. The game was impartially handled by Mr. Wilson of Oshawa on strikes and balls and Mr. Butler of Lindsay, on bases. The only decision on bases worth disputing was when Jackson of Peterborough started for third and when some one was caught at first the ball was thrown to second for a double play. Jackson spiked Weir who was on the bag but Butler called him safe. The game was called at 3.15 by Wilson.

GIRL "DIP" HEROINE IN "THE SILVER LINING"

A crowed Sixth Avenue elevated train in New York, was approaching the Seventy-second street station. There was the usual surging forward of those preparing to get off. The grinding of the brakes drowned out the startled exclamation of a fashionably dressed young woman as she was tapped roughly on the shoulder.

"I've got you this time, young lady," said an exulant voice as nearby passengers watched with keen interest. Turning to a young man standing beside the girl he said, "I'm an officer and this woman has just taken your watch."

The man made a quick movement toward his vest pocket, looked keenly at the girl shrinking in terror under the detective's hold, then smiled blandly. "I think you are mistaken officer" he said. "I never had a watch."

As the nonplussed detective released his hold upon the girl the train stopped at the station and the man and girl got out. The girl hurried toward the stairs when the man caught up with her. "Now I'll take my watch", he said curtly. The girl handed it over with a smile.

"Why didn't you turn me in?" she asked curiously.

"I don't play with the bulls", coldly replied the man, slipping the fime piece and broken chain back in his pocket.

And Roland West, motion picture producer and head of the Roland West Productions, who had been a witness of the human drama, thus made the acquaintance of the characters whose stormy careers form the main setting for "The Silver Lining", the thrilling story of love and law, released by Metro Pictures Corporation with the beautiful Jewel Carmen and an all-star cast.

Mr. West wrote and directed "The Silver Lining" which was adapted for the screen by D. J. Buchanan and Charles H. Smith and photographed by Edward Wynard and Frank Zucker.

This big picture and a well balanced program and the excellent music of the New Capitol Orchestra will be the atraction at the popular and cosy Capitol Theatre the balance of this week commencing To-morrow Thursday night. Fan, Fan

DANCING MASTERS TO DROP THE WESLEYAN.

Defend Its Position, But Bow to Antagonism of Church Members.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The Wesleyan, the dance which caused such a storm of protest among Methodists when it was created at the convention of the American National Association of Masters of Dancing last year, has been withdrawn from the list of dances approved by the association at the association convention now being held at the Hotel Astor. Fenton Bott of Dayton, O., the director of dance reform, said yesterday that the purpose of the Wesleyan had been entirely misunderstood by the members of the Church, but since they considered it an affront the association was very ready to withdraw it.

"The dance was a very graceful one, showing the proper position of the dancer and created to meet with the approval of the most rigid church member," said Mr. Bott, 'but our effort was misinterpreted and, unfortunately, the people we were trying to win over to our side were further antagonized, and additional attacks upon dancing followed. In view of this we have withdrawn the Wesleyan, and for the present will take no further action in trying to win our religious antagonists.

"We are making great headway with our dance reform program. We have literature which we send to welfare organizations, owners of dance halls and dancing teachers throughout the country. This literature explains the dances approved by the association and urges those in charge of the various dancing resorts to aid the organization in its efforts to raise dancing to a higher level. We have large charts showing the different positions, and these can be found on the walls at dancing halls, at least they are sent to these places, and, in our investigation, we have found a splendid willingness on the part of the owners of these places to co-operate with us."

The Spanish schottische was the most popular dances taken up yesterday. It is a mixture of the Walk Around, a dance in itself which was approved at the session yesterday, pivot turns and clicks steps in both fast and slow movements.

"My stomach had been all out of order ever since I came home from the war two years ago. I had no appetite and had to be very careful of the little I did manage to eat. At times even the smell of food nauseated me, and I also suffered a great deal from constipation and dizziness. I was badly run down and out of sorts, and my work was a mighty big effort for me.

"My wife's troubles were very similar to mine, only worse. She was in severe pain and distress after every meal and was simply miserable.

"But Tanlac has put us both in the best of condition, and we are eating good and hearty and enjoying our meals without having to suffer a particle of distress afterwards. In fact, we are in the very best of health and just can't say enough for Tanlac."

INCRIMINATING EVIDENCE

An amusing incident in the career of the late Chief Justice White is related. As a young lawyer he was called upon to defend a man who was accused of stealing a pair of "pants." The man was seated with his legs under a large table, when Mr. White sat down, and asked him something about the case. The man was most reticent. Finally the lawyer for the other side called the accused to take the stand. The prisoner turned to Mr. White and said:

"Jedge, I don't want to take the stand."

"Why not?" asked Mr. White. "You're perfectly innocent, aren't you?"

"Yes, sir; I'se perfectly innocent as long as I sit with my feet under dis table, but if I get up on the stand—oh, Lord, jedge, the trouble is, I'se got them pants on!"

DOMINION Tires

The King of the Road

But—if there can be one tire in all Canada that is the national favorite, this tire is "NOBBY TREAD."

Everybody likes "NOBBY TREAD"—the proud possessor of a lordly limousine as well as the happy owner of a Ford, Chevrolet, Overland, Gray-Dort or McLaughlin.

The big, tough, long-wearing, springy nobs are proof against punctures, blow-outs and road-cutting. They simply wear and wear and wear. And when your speedometer gets up in the thousands of miles, you begin to appreciate the sound economy as well as the easy comfort of these famous DOMINION TIRES.

The big nobs, however, do not account for all this popularity. It is the workmanship—the perfect materials—the faultless construction throughout—that make "NOBBY TREADS" the KING of the road.

When you consider their greater mileage, their wonderful durability, their freedom from ordinary tire troubles and their greater ease and comfort in driving, "NOBBY TREADS" are sound economy, no matter what size or make of car you use.

There are DOMINION TIRES for every car, for every purpose, business and pleasure. The Dominion Tire DEALER will show you the different treads and explain the special features of each. He also carries DOMINION INNER TUBES and DOMINION TIRE ACCESSORIES. Have a tire talk with him—he knows.

(By HENRY L. FARREL, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Put about a half dozen more Washington clubs in the American League and the New York Yanks would have to win a pennant.

The bumping that the Cleveland Indians got in the national capital last week forced the erratic Huggins clan into first place and furnished the only feature of the major leagues.

Today Ruth and company are hanging on by one slim point, but with the White Sox on hand and with Cleveland sitting at Connie Mack's table, one point doesn't offer the Yanks much solace.

Back on the old home grounds, after wobbling on the tail of their eastern jaunt, the Pittsburg Pirates are again creeping away from the Giants and making it look like the pennant is "in" in the National League. The Giants are not hustling and are being bothered with internal troubles as well as with a lack of first-class pitching. Against Pittsburg the Giants look like champions. Against the second raters they are second raters.

The Pirates won five games last week, while the Giants dropped two out of eight. The Braves split even in six starts, and the Robins and the Cards speeded up a little and nabbed five out of seven. The Reds split even in eight games, while the Cubs won only two out of seven games.

The Yankees went into first place by winning three out of five games, while the Indians hit a bad slump and landed only one out of six starts. Washington played the most consistent ball in the circuit by winning six out of their seven games. Detroit dropped two out of six. The Browns and the Red Sox won four out of seven, and the White Sox and the Athletics dropped three out of five.

Right now Tris Speaker is in trouble. The team is not working at all to his liking, and the next two weeks look like they would determine the championship of the American League.

The same pitching problems that face Speaker are in McGraw's way.

CLUB APPOINTED A NEW SECRETARY

EXECUTIVE MEETING OF THE FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION HELD LAST EVENING.

W. G. Nicholls is the new Secretary-Treasurer of the Peterborough and District Football Association. At the executive meeting in the G. W. V. A. Hall at 8 p.m., last evening, two applications for the position were received from W. C. Nicholls and John W. Stott. Mr. Nicholls, when Fred. Sutcliffe flatly refused though pressed to continue in office after the Plenty Cup games, was appointed, and he will take office at the next meeting. Fred. Sutcliffe said that he wanted to see the Plenty Cup games through. His work as Secretary was commended. Because of the central position of his shop and his zeal in all football matters he was urged to remain Secretary, but declined.

The Secretary is awaiting a reply from the Ottawa club about the game on Saturday, meanwhile preparations for this big game are proceeding. Tomorrow night the team will do some track work. All players are asked to meet at the G. W. V. A. Hall at 7.30 for a sprint in the park, followed by a rub down at the hall. The desire of the executive is to save the team for Saturday and the run is merely to keep the men in condition.

BANKERS CAPTURE THE JUVENILE CHAMPIONSHIP

Louis Yeotes' Bankers won the championship of the City Juvenile League last night and qualified for the O.B.A.A. semi-finals by beating the Lakeviews in the second game of the play-off series between the two clubs by 15 runs to 6. The issue was never in doubt after the 1st innings when the Bankers put over four counters. The Champs pitched snappily, hit hard and had all kinds of "pep." Geoff Hardill started the game for the winners and after blanking Lakeviews for four innings allowed them three hits and a walk in the fourth session netting them four runs. There were still two on three sacks, and one out, and although Hardill might have weathered the storm, with the score still 7 to 3 in favor of his team, the Bankers took no chances, and "Lefty" Turner was sent to the firing line. The Lakeviews got but one scratch hit off him for the balance of the game and he whiffed eight men in 4 2-3 innings.

Shaughnessy was Manager Lebarr's pitching selection and he was hit hard from the start, giving away to Lou Lebarr in the fourth. The second pitcher did not succeed in stopping the winners either, and finally Moore was called upon. He got by him without a run being scored on him in the two innings he pitched, thanks to Jack Hardill who overlooked the trifling formality of touching first base. Hardill came through with one of the longest hits of the season in the seventh, his drive landing in deep right field and bounding into the river, for what should have been a clean home run. He did not touch first base however, and was called out.

The Bankers did not waste any time, scoring four in the first. Hensley reached second on Moore's fumble and high throw and Jack Turner singled through short to score. Hensley going to second on the throw in. J. Hardill popped to second. Wilgar was safe on Moore's miss. Turner storing from second. J. Hardill singled through the short scored Wilgar and Hardill. McLean was safe on Moore's error. C. Turner flied to Whitlow who doubled Johnston off third.

In the third with one down Johnston singled to centre, stole second and went on to third when Rogers throw hit him on the head. C. Turner singled over third to send the run in.

With Lebarr pitching for Lakeviews the Bankers added another in the fourth, Jack Turner beat out a tap to Lebarr and went to second on the pitcher's high throw to first. J. Hardill rolled to Moore, Turner going to third. Wilgar and J. Hardill walked filling the bases. McLean fanned Turner scored on a wild pitch and McLean lifted one to Shaughnessy.

The Lakeviews put over their first runs in the fifth. After Rody had fanned Pethick singled to left and Fitzgerald drove a safe one through short. J. Lebarr walked filling the bases. Rogers doubled over Jack Turner's head in left scoring Pethick and Fitzgerald. This was enough for Hardill and Lefty Turner was sent to the rescue. He cut loose a wild pitch that scored Lebarr but L. Lebarr popped to Hensley and McLean tossed out Moore.

The Bankers came right back with five counters Lefty Turner singled to centre and Hall walked and the two pulled off a double steal Hensley fanned but Jack Turner doubled past third scoring C. Turner and Hall. Geoff Hardill singled to centre scoring J. Turner and going to second on the throw in and Wilgar ripped a single over second to register J. Hardill. J. Hardill hit safely over second. Wilgar going to third. Hardill stole second. Johnston grounded to Moore. Wilgar scoring and McLean fanned.

The winners bagged three more in the sixth C. Turner and Hare walked to start with and after Hensley struck out C. Turner scored on J. Lebarrs miss of Jack Turner's fly to left. A wild pitch scored Hall and J. Turner came home when G. Hardill singled to centre. Wilgar's fly to Whitlow doubled Hardill.

Lakeviews got there final runs in the ninth. Pethick fanned but Fitzgerald was safe on Hensley's miss and J. Lebarr walked. Rogers hot to Lefty Turner who threw Lebarr out at second but Johnston threw high to first in an attempt to double the batter and Fitzgerald scored. The third strike on Shaughnessy was a wild pitch and the batter was safe. Rogers scoring. L. Lebarr fanned to wind up the game.

COMMENT ON THE PETERBORO GAME

Belleville Intelligencer: Making very few errors and swatting the old pill all over the lot, the old Grand Trunks of this city, beat Jake Solomon's nine at Peterborough on Saturday, to the tune of 5—3. Freddy Goyer was in supreme form till the seventh when he had a little bad luck. R. Rose was on the mound for Peterborough and the way that Belleville knocked him about was a shame. It's a wonder Jake hadn't tried out his other twirlers, McElroy, Rose, Harrison or any others he might have had. The Peterborough team miss Cherrett, although Holyman played a good game at short-stop. A large crowd of Belleville rooters were in attendance and helped cheer the boys along to some extent, while Freddy's perfect pitching and the disappointed look on Jake Solomon's face did the rest. The game was impartially handled by Mr. Wilson of Oshawa on strikes and balls and Mr. Butler of Lindsay, on bases. The only decision on bases worth disputing was when Jackson of Peterborough started for third and when some one was caught at first the ball was thrown to second for a double play. Jackson spiked Weir who was on the bag but Butler called him safe. The game was called at 3.15 by Wilson.

GIRL "DIP" HEROINE IN "THE SILVER LINING"

A crowed Sixth Avenue elevated train in New York, was approaching the Seventy-second street station. There was the usual surging forward of those preparing to get off. The grinding of the brakes drowned out the startled exclamation of a fashionably dressed young woman as she was tapped roughly on the shoulder.

"I've got you this time, young lady," said an exulant voice as nearby passengers watched with keen interest. Turning to a young man standing beside the girl he said, "I'm an officer and this woman has just taken your watch."

The man made a quick movement toward his vest pocket, looked keenly at the girl shrinking in terror under the detective's hold, then smiled blandly. "I think you are mistaken officer" he said. "I never had a watch."

As the nonplussed detective released his hold upon the girl the train stopped at the station and the man and girl got out. The girl hurried toward the stairs when the man caught up with her. "Now I'll take my watch", he said curtly. The girl handed it over with a smile.

"Why didn't you turn me in?" she asked curiously.

"I don't play with the bulls", coldly replied the man, slipping the fine piece and broken chain back in his pocket.

And Roland West, motion picture producer and head of the Roland West Productions, who had been a witness of the human drama, thus made the acquaintance of the characters whose stormy careers form the main setting for "The Silver Lining", the thrilling story of love and law, released by Metro Pictures Corporation with the beautiful Jewel Carmen and an all-star cast.

Mr. West wrote and directed "The Silver Lining" which was adapted for the screen by D. J. Buchanan and Charles H. Smith and photographed by Edward Wynard and Frank Zucker.

This big picture and a well balanced program and the excellent music of the New Capitol Orchestra will be the atraction at the popular and cozy Capitol Theatre the balance of this week commencing To-morrow Thursday night. Fan, Fan

DANCING MASTERS TO DROP THE WESLEYAN.

Defend Its Position, But Bow to Antagonism of Church Members.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The Wesleyan, the dance which caused such a storm of protest among Methodists when it was created at the convention of the American National Association of Masters of Dancing last year, has been withdrawn from the list of dances approved by the association at the association convention now being held at the Hotel Astor. Fenton Bott of Dayton, O., the director of dance reform, said yesterday that the purpose of the Wesleyan had been entirely misunderstood by the members of the Church, but since they considered it an affront the association was very ready to withdraw it.

"The dance was a very graceful one, showing the proper position of the dancer and created to meet with the approval of the most rigid church member," said Mr. Bott, 'but our effort was misinterpreted and, unfortunately, the people we were trying to win over to our side were further antagonized, and additional attacks upon dancing followed. In view of this we have withdrawn the Wesleyan, and for the present will take no further action in trying to win our religious antagonists.

"We are making great headway with our dance reform program. We have literature which we send to welfare organizations, owners of dance halls and dancing teachers throughout the country. This literature explains the dances approved by the association and urges those in charge of the various dancing resorts to aid the organization in its efforts to raise dancing to a higher level. We have large charts showing the different positions, and these can be found on the walls at dancing halls, at least they are sent to these places, and, in our investigation, we have found a splendid willingness on the part of the owners of these places to co-operate with us."

The Spanish schottische was the most popular dances taken up yesterday. It is a mixture of the Walk Around, a dance in itself which was approved at the session yesterday, pivot turns and clicks steps in both fast and slow movements.

Hints For Buyers of Gloves

(By EMMA M. WISE.)

When buying gloves remember that, though a certain size may fit you perfectly in one make, it will not necessarily do so in all makes. Size in gloves is fairly well standardized, but hands are not, and in consequence littel variations in cut may make a great deal of difference.

Having bought your gloves, fit them on for the first time when you have leisure to do so properly and slowly. First, stretch them carefully, then work in the four fingers—never the whole hand at once—pushing the glove down on each by a gentle pressure at the front and back, being careful to avoid any twisting of fingers or crookedness of seams. Do not be rough with them, and never force them down by pressing between the fingers. If there is any weak material it will be found there. When the fingers are well home and the kid lies smoothly on them, slip the thumb in by turning up the wrist in the case of short gloves, and work it into place in the same way, taking care that the long inside seam is not visible from the back of the thumb.

Put as little strain as possible on the gloves when removing them from the hands. Loosen the ends of the fingers first, and then the glove can be turned back from the wrist without straining it. Never, under any circumstances, pull gloves off by the fingers.

When a glove has been removed it retains the shape of the hand, so the wearer should inflate the glove with her breath, and then pull gently with the fingers in one hand and the wrist in the other, holding the thumb on the inside.

A Cleaning Tip.

Most gloves absolutely refuse to be presentable after having been wet with rain. For some reason it is almost impossible to efface the wrinkling and shrinking and hardening effects of the water. The best plan is to place the gloves in a cool, dry room, never near a fire, and when dry massage a little olive oil into their texture before putting them on again. This will restore their pliability if anything will, but the glove will never be really the same.

It is well to keep on hand a perfectly clean piece of Indian rubber or art gum for removing spots from white gloves. If the dirt is rubbed off in this way after each wearing it will be a long time before they need be sent to a professional cleaner.

All these directions may seem to entail a great deal of time and trouble, but if you have been careful in your selection of gloves in the first place the process will not take long, and the result will be a pair of smoothly clad hands. A more sordid consideration is the reduction of your glove bill, for by this exercise of patience and care you will be able to make one pair last twice as long as two pairs would last under less favorable conditions.

Trotting and pacing races will occupy four days at the C.N.E. this year, Sept. 3, 6, 7, 8.

DR. STONE'S BODY BEING RETURNED

DIFFICULTIES OF TRANSPORTATION WERE GREAT.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 10. — Konrad Kaine Lindsay and Rudolph Aemmor, Swiss guides, were met here yesterday returning from the recovery of the body of Dr. Stone of Perdue University. Rudolph Aemmor's story is that Dr. Stone's body was found at an altitude of 1,000 feet. Mount Eon is only 10,000 feet high. According to traces, the body only fell several hundred feet and was found by Aemmor, a Swiss guide from Lake Louise, on a ledge, and was in a wonderful state of preservation.

The body was found Friday, August 5 about 1 p.m, Rudolph says the body was not anywhere near the place reported by Mrs. Stone. The task of bringing the body down was difficult. It was impossible to carry it so it was securely wrapped in canvas and rolled from ledge to ledge to the improvised camp of the Swiss guides after they had spent one night in a mountain cave. It is now being brought by pony to Eauclaire Camp and will reach there to-day.

Undertaker Reid is at present at Eauclaire awaiting the body, when it will be taken to Banff and in all probability shipped to Lafayette for burial. Mrs. Stone is at a fishing camp 22 miles from Banff, and is making good progress towards recovery. She is able to walk and ride carefully and may reach Eauclaire Camp to-night. She has not seen the body of Dr. Stone.

CHURCH SERVICES AT MARK STREET

Communion service on Sabbath was one of the most deeply spiritual meetings yet held, the attendance was large and the choir offered a splendid contribution to the success of the service on this occasion. "Heaven and Its Citizenship" was the subject of the morning sermon, and was a development of John xiv:2, "In My Father's House Are Many Mansions." The following is an outline of the discourse:

We turn away this morning from the rush of commerce, the roll of traffic, the din of industry, the hot discussions of real estate problems, bank clearings, social questions, outlook of the world's harvest, and the surge of the maddening crowd, as it looks, with jaded body and bloodshot eye for a new source of pleasure. Drawing away, then, from all this, we shall study the rich and beautiful problem of heaven, or the "house of many mansions." I think the old folks have had so much of earth and its cares, and conflicts, and sorrows, and bereavement, and death, that the discussion will be very sweet to them. Yes, and it may be that we haven't put as much of heaven in the way of the young people as we might have done. Yesterday at Riverside Park I heard some small boys ordered from the benches that we who were older might sit down to watch the game. It seemed to me that the order had not much of heaven in it, from the boy's point of view. Oh, it was law, and it was right enough to give that order, but after all, we might put a little more of heaven into the life of the boys and girls.

Where is That "House of Many Mansions."

Some where in the great universe of God stands this "building of God, not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." Among the thousand million suns that flash in the eternal depths of space, God may have planted His new paradise. Somewhere up among the flaming and dazzling worlds may be found the abode of the redeemed. When Jesus left the world he went up, and a cloud received him out of the disciples' sight. What if the universe be the "house" and the millions of worlds in the universe be the "mansions?"

Could Life Exist Away in Yonder Sphere?

Since we do not know the nature of the resurrection body, we cannot know what kind of an environment that body will require, but God knows. It may be that the future abode of the blest will be in this world, transformed and made anew. But somewhere in space, is the house of mansions. Yes, we cling to the idea that heaven is somewhere above us, and all through the ages the attitude of prayer has been accompanied by the upward glance of the eye. Angels are spoken of as descending, and the Holy Ghost came down.

What is the "Father's House?"

"Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." What beauty and glory have been unfolded before the human eye. In nature, the mountains reveal, in their wide sweep, the coloured landscape bathed in beauty. The sun, issuing from the gates of the morning, rolls up the azure steeps, while from between his chariot wheels a million shafts of golden light speed away to gladden the world. There is light on hill and in vale, on rolling river and tossing sea. There is light for palace and cabin, mansion and hovel, prison cell and hall of fame. There is light for the baron and light for the beggar, light for the peasant and light for the prince, light for the king's cornet, and light for the sewing girl's needle. Oh the beaut yof this world, which millions never enjoy. But the human eye can discover no beauty in this world that will, for a moment, compare with the beauty of the Father's House.

The Ear Has Never Heard Anything Like Heaven's Music.

What floods of melody this world pours into the human ear; and how worthy of pity are those who cannot appreciate the harmony of sweet sounds. Have you heard the choir of the Crystal Palace with its five thousand trained voices, its five hundred violins, while the mighty anthem rolled forth in ravishing melody on the enraptured ear of thousands? Well, that would be just like a drop in the ocean of heaven's harmony. Yes, Patti, and Handel, and Beethoven and Mendelssohn, and the great Caruso himself were only babes in music compared to what they would be in heaven. Nor can man's iamgination grasp the least idea of heaven's riches.

Heaven Will Meet Every Longing of the Soul.

Why does wealth and power and fame and position fail to satisfy the longings of the soul? Because the soul and its cravings are spiritual, and not of earth can quench the spiritual thirst. All of earth is fading, crumbling, dying, heaven is an eternal reality. The human eye cannot behold reality; for the real is the unseen. Things that are seen cannot be eternal. Then let poverty and weariness and age, and decrepitude and loneliness and bereavement look up to the House of Mansions, for there is wealth, and vigor, youth and eternal elasticity, beloved companionship and rapturous re-unions, in the Father's Home, in the golden 'Somewhere.' And remember there can be no heaven without Jesus. And Jesus is the way that leads home.

Heaven's Citizenship.

We shall dwell forever in the white light of the eternal city. Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, with all the worthies of the ages, shall be fellow-citizens in the great commonwealth of the skies. Nor want, nor disease, nor sorrow nor death, nor darkness in the House of Many Mansions, for there is no night there. "The wolf also shall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid, and the calf and the young lion and the fatling together, and a little child shall lead them."

INSPECTOR WAS QUITE ANNOYED.

Case Against Jordan Resident Dismissed in Court.

ST. CATHARINES, August 10.—License-Inspector King appeared to be quite annoyed at the outcome of a case in Police Court this morning. Peter Kinnish, of Jordan, was charged with making a hootch-brew out of cherries. Analysis proved that the stuff registered as high as 23.36 alcoholic content.

But Mrs. Feter swore that it was for family use only; and the Magistrate held that as the cherries were boiled in the usual way, he couldn't see that it was any different from the ordinary process of preserving.

Mr. King argued that the stuff was fermented, but the Magistrate held that if all the women were in Court whose preserves fermented, the place would be cluttered up all the time.

"I'm satisfied that these people were not selling this cherry juice," he said. "There isn't the slightest evidence of sale. Go into many a house and you will find cherry wine and dandelion wine put up for family use that may be a little strong; but that doesn't mean that it is kept for sale. On the evidence before me, I canont record a conviction. Case dismissed."

EX-SERVICE MAN IS ENTHUSIASTIC

David Duncan of 128 Oak street, Toronto, is another enthusiastic witness to the merits of Tanlac. Mr. Duncan is a veteran of the recent World War and lost his left leg on the firing line in France. He is now employed by the Dunlop Rubber Co.

"My wife and I both have received wonderful results from Tanlac," said Mr. Duncan, and I am glad to pass the good word along to others who are suffering like we did.

"My stomach had been all out of order ever since I came home from the war two years ago. I had no appetite and had to be very careful of the little I did manage to eat. At times even the smell of food nauseated me, and I also suffered a great deal from constipation and dizziness. I was badly run down and out of sorts, and my work was a mighty big effort for me.

"My wife's troubles were very similar to mine, only worse. She was in severe pain and distress after every meal and was simply miserable.

"But Tanlac has put us both in the best of condition, and we are eating good and hearty and enjoying our meals without having to suffer a particle of distress afterwards. In fact, we are in the very best of health and just can't say enough for Tanlac."

Over $3,000 in prizes will be given in the Band Competitions at the Canadian National Exhibition.

PETERBORO SENT 125 HARVESTERS

MOSTLY YOUNG FARMERS, BUT CITY WAS WELL REPRESENED, TOO.

Of the 8,000 harvesters who left Toronto this week for the western provinces, Peterboro and its district contributed 125. Most of them were young farmers, according to Mr. James Skinner of the local C. P. R. ticket office, and quite a number of them were young men from the city. Some of them have been out of work and the call from the granary of Canada held out the attraction of employment at good wages. Some were returned sodiers, others were young men responding to the spirit of adventure and the novelty of an unusual experience. And part of that experience will be working from sunrise till sunset on the bald prairie. One office man who has been through the mill states that not infrequently the work continues at night in the light of a headlight attached to the engine of a threshing outfit. If any of these harvesters expect a picnic or a frolic they will hardly find it working round the clock. And it is reported that there is no scarcity of help this year. The inefficient and the hands unhardened to toil may find themselves cast up in the cities. Thirty thousand men are required in the western provinces this season, the advertisements announce, and the first contingent from Toronto has already passed through Winnipeg, with more to follow from Ontario and the more easterly centres.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Peterborough, Aug. 9th, 1921.

Dear Mr. Editor,—There seems to be a mistaken idea abroad with regard to the Capitol Theatre Concert Orchestra, some people saying that this orchestra is playing unfair to organized labor. So that the people of Peterborough may know the truth of the matter, I would like to say that the members of the said orchestra are members in good standing of Local 191 of the American Federation of Musicians, receiving the rate of pay asked for by the local union. The management of the Capitol Theatre and the members of the orchestra are working together in perfect harmony. I would like you to please give this letter publicity through your columns.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your courtesy in this matter, I am,

Yours respectfully,
W. F. LEADER.
Sec.-Treas. Local 191, A.F. of M.

Editor of Examiner.

Mr. Editor,—I understand there is a city bylaw which says: "You must not ride a wheel on the sidewalk." Now, Mr. Editor, I would like to know whether that law applies to the city only or does it also apply to North Monaghan. Frank street is as good a street for wheeling on as any street in the city, but from five o'clock in the evening until long after dark a person walking along on the sidewalk has got to be very careful or he will get a bump off the sidewalk. A little child living on Frank street has been knocked down on two occasions, the second time quite severely.

This is but a warning. If it does not stop the Chief will have to give the next "warning." Yours for SAFETY FIRST.

TRUE DEMOCRACY OBVIATES POVERTY.

Editor of Examiner.

Sir,—Mr. Tooms' letter and query, "Is poverty a crime?" should arouse discussion.

Canada is rich in natural resources and our people are surpassed by none in industry and in resource.

Why should there be poverty here? We have poverty because there is no land on this earth which has yet become a true democracy, and the people rule in reality.

The true democracy (to become such Canada is in the very forefront of progress) will be a land where a vast majority of its people will be qualified to think on public matters and will think themselves and vote "each for all and all for each," an individual and collective responsibility.

Those amongst us who will not read, mark, learn and inwardly digest and practice in themselves are the material which make autocracies possible and a bar to that millennium for which the church and earnest men in all ages have striven.

The difference between autocracies such as were overthrown in the World War and countries ruled by corporations, cliques, classes, etc., is mainly in degree rather than effect. Rule by and for the few, through blood and sweat of the many.

As I understand it, Christian teaching, based on love, reacts in giving rather than in receiving.

May I suggest that millions, who were not pressed men, offering their lives in the war for the good of the whole, show that the hearts of the common people are more and more attuned to this beneficient teaching, consciously or sub-consciously, and these should be the nucleus of true democracy.

We have in Canada a land great in natural wealth, virile people, but also of unequalled (though as yet not equal) opportunity. Give the worker the opportunity rightly his as a producer. The inalienable right to happiness is said to belong to every human. Each one of us has our bit to do to realize this for all.

NORTHERN INDIANS ARE FACING FAMINE, DECLARE REPORTS.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 10.—Famine is ravaging Indian tribes in the Far North, according to reports received by the head office of the Hudson's Bay Company here. Stories sent in by trappers and prospectors state that in the tribes worst affected cannibalism has been practised. The Caribou Indians of the Northwest Territories are declared to be in the worst condition, and the R.C.M.P. has sent a detachment of men from Fort Smith to investigate. Reckless slaughter of caribou and other animal food supplies on which the tribes are dependent is said to be responsible for the famine.

In 1920 the Indians destroyed large herds of caribou and practically drove out or exterminated all of these animals. Hundreds of carcasses were left on the plains, only the choicest parts of the animal being eaten by the Indians. No pemmican, preserved meat, was made, and this year the tribes find themselves without any food supply.

When the time arrived for the annual trek of the caribou no animals appeared, the slaughter having reduced the size of the herds and driven them to other areas. The light snowfall permitted them to remain in more northern districts where the grass was not covered. Without this trek the Indians were unable to obtain food and reports of wholesale starvation are coming into Hudson's Bay posts.

KILLED INSTANTLY.

Oshawa Young Man Killed on C.P.R. Tracks.

OSHAWA, Aug. 10. — Joshua Whitfield, one of the most popular young men in Oshawa, was struck by an east-bound C.P.R. freight Saturday, and killed instantly. The accident occurred about a half mile east of Whitby depot, where the young man was seen by the locomotive fireman standing directly on the track. This was at four o'clock in the morning and quite dark, and as the train was practically on top of him before noticed by the fireman, the train could not be stopped in time to save Whitfield, whose body was terribly mutilated. The head and both arms and legs were severed. Deceased was acting as relief signal man at the Whitby ducat.

The inquest was adjourned till August 22.

SUPREME COUNCIL SUPPORTS THE BRITISH VIEW AND DECIDES NOT TO SEND MORE MEN TO SILESIA

BRIAND AND LLOYD GEORGE REPORTED TO HAVE AGREED TO COMPROMISE PARTITION OF TERRITORY.

UNANIMITY PREVAILS AMONG DELEGATIONS

PARIS, Aug. 9. — (Canadian Press.)—The Allied Supreme Council to-day decided not to send reinforcements for the Allied troops in Upper Silesia. The British delegation voted against sending additional French troops when the question came up.

The boundary line decided upon, while by no means straight, practically bisects the Silesian plebiscite area. It is understood that it was upon the private settlement being reached that the Supreme Council decided not to send reinforcements to Upper Silesia at present. The new line is accepted in principle as more nearly representing the real meaning of the plebsicite vote than anything previously proposed. It splits the disputed industrial area. Lloyd George said in substance that Great Britain sympathized with the French desire for security, but that security ought to rest on moderation. The British Empire would never be drawn into another war by the oppressive use of superior force or the abuse of justice in time of triumph.

Premier Briand of France and Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain, have decided at a private meeting upon a compromise partition of Upper Silesia, it was declared here today on good authority. This seems to be borne out by the unanimity that prevailse among the delegations to the Allied Supreme Council. There is none of the bitter contention of former meetings.

General Lerond, head of the Inter-Allied Commission for Upper Silesia, apeared before the Supreme Council to explain the events leading up to the Korfanty insurrection there last spring. He was bitterly attacked by Germany for his alleged failure to foresee the attempt by the Poles to take over a large part of the Upper Silesian plebiscite area and hints were made that he did not take proper precautions to meet the situation when it did develop.

BRITAIN MAY PROTEST SEIZURE OF SCHOONER

ON GROUND THAT IT MIGHT ESTABLISH PRECEDENT.

LONDON, August 9th. — Canadian Press.) — Great Britain, it is understood, intends to protest to the United States if it is decided the States violated international law in seizing the liquor laden schooner Henry L. Marshall outside the three mile limit of Atlantic City last week.

The action will be only a matter of form as Britain is not interested in the case further than as it might establish a precedent.

BOOKKEEPING SYSTEM POOR, PROBE LEARNS

OFFICIAL OF AUDITOR-GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT SAYS BALANCE OF $14,000 IN EXCHANGE UNACCOUNTED FOR.

REPETITION MARKED YESTERDAY'S SITTING

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—(Canadian Press).—Samuel Rettis of the Auditor-General's Department told Commissioner Clarkson, investigating the alleged Sterling fraud in the Department of Militia and Defence this morning that a very unsatisfactory system of book-keeping had been followed in regard to exchange matters. He found a balance of over fourteen thousand dollars unaccounted for.

Yesterday's probing into the alleged frauds in connection with the exchanging of Sterling funds into Canadian currency at par, brought forth little more than a repetition of the evidence previously heard, as witness after witness took the stand at the Clarkson inquiry and frankly told how he had put through this or that amount and received Canadian currency with, in many cases, very few questions being asked.

EDUCATIONAL TALKS BEFORE CONVENTION

Last evening, the ladies attending the convention of the Canadian Florists' and Gardeners' Association, numbering about 30, were taken to Chemong by motor and enjoyed a very delightful outing there, with an excellent dinner.

The basement of George street Methodist church was put at the disposal of the gentlemen for last night's session, where a lantern is conveniently placed for the display of colored slides. This was used in connection with a very enjoyable talk on "Plant Breeding," given by Mr. H. J. Moore, of Toronto, which was mainly an illustrated record from his own photos of experiences of Mr. Moore, who was for some time in charge of Victoria Park, at Niagara Falls. The results of cross breeding and of Mendel's Law applied to the breeding of plants were shown in this interesting address, which was followed by a brief talk on "Christmas Plants," by Mr. W. C. Hall, of Montreal. This applied mainly to the varieties of plants required at that season of the year.

This morning's session opened at 9 o'clock in the lecture room at the Armories, with a crowded hall. A very interesting address on "Landscape Gardening," dealing especially with city manifestations of this branch of floral art, was given by Mr. J. McP. Ross, of Toronto, and an educational talk on "Insect Pests" was delivered by Mr. H. G. Crawford, assistant at the Dominion Entymological Department, Ottawa. The depredations and discomforts caused by the corn borer, a late insect arrival in Canada, was the subject of Mr. Crawford's illuminating discourse, which was followed by discussions from the floor on various new-style pests, including the chrysantehmum midge.

The convention decided at this meeting to send a letter of enquiry to the Department at Ottawa, with regard to delay in inspection of imported stock at Montreal, and also decided by unanimous vote to accept the invitation of the city of Montreal to hold the 1922 convention of the Canadian Florists' and Gardeners' Association in that city.

At 11 o'clock a group photo of the assembled delegates was taken on the steps of Murray street Baptist church by Mr. F. L. Roy, and at 11.45 the Peoples' Chimes were rung for their benefit. Many of the delegates were looking forward to the hearing of the chimes, which they remembered on the occasion of a former visit in 1913. At 1 o'clock to-day the convention embarked for an enjoyable trip over the Lift Locks and down the river to Rice Lake, and at 8 p.m. this evening they will partake of a banquet at the Empress hotel. All arrangements for their comfort and pleasure are being looked after very efficiently by the committee in charge, composed of Mr. S. Jordan, president of the local branch, Mr. C. A. Williamson, vice-president, Mr. C. S. Thompson, the genial secretary-treasurer, and Messrs. R. Ford, P. Blade, A. Blade, Leon Fraser, Dr. J. E. Middleton, Wm. James, J. Grierson, D. Jordan, C. Jordan, J. H. Callander and R. F. Ivey.

Mr. Williamson is also assistant secretary of the Canadian Gardeners' and Florists' Association, and Mr. S. Jordan is a member of the executive committee.

A very pretty display in connection with the convention is being shown in the main hall of the Armories. Tables of lovely ferns in many varieties, splendid imitations of flowers in artificial materials and fancy baskets of all shapes and colors make an attractive showing.

PLANE ATTACKS LAUNCH, FIRING MACHINE GUNS

AUTHORITIES MYSTIFIED BY UNKNOWN AIRCRAFT'S ACT IN NARRAGANSET BAY—LAUNCH NEARLY SUNK.

GIRL IS SERIOUSLY WOUNDED BY BULLETS

(By United Press)

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 9. — Ri. Army officers urged on by the civil authorities, sought to-day for an armed plane which yesterday sprayed Narragansett Bay with machine gun bullets, wounding a girl seriously and nearly sinking a launch.

The plane, marked with what appeared to be the figures, "92" and blurred letter, dived toward the launch as it lay at anchor. Five persons lounged in the boat. As the plane came on the sharp rattle of a machine gun was heard above the roar of the engine. The water splashed with the hail of lead.

The boat was directly in line with the fire and before the passengers could move it had been sprayed, bullets streaming through its side, letting the water rush through.

Four of the passengers escaped unharmed, but one of them, Grace Buxton, was shot through both legs. The boat nearly sank several times during the eight mile run here, despite frantic battling by occupants Arthur Blackstaffe, owner of the launch, said he believed the plane was a government machine. Whether it had more than one occupant was unknown, he said.

INTERESTED IN MATRIMONY, BOYS? IF YOU RESEMBLE APOLLO AT ALL MISS MUNSON WILL FORWARD TAPE

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Aug. 9.—(By Canadian Press.)—Audrey Munson, world famous model and film star, announced here to-day that she is willing to marry Jack Dempsey or any other physically perfect man who asks her.

Miss Munson says she has rejected seven suitors—all because of some slight imperfection in their appearance. One had an abnormally long chin, which, "if doubled up," Miss Munson heartlessly remarked, "would have reached his eyebrows." Another was a trifle shorter than the artists's model and she discarded him by remarking that she wouldn't give a hang for any man she couldn't look up to. One had feet that were entirely too large, another had a flat nose, and so on, ad infinitum down the list.

Dempsey is six feet, one and one half inches tall. Get the yard stick, men. Miss Munson says she will send measuring tape to any man who cares to go to the trouble and expense of being her husband.

Al Spink, called the "dean of American sport writers," gives the following measurements for Dempsey, the only dimension Miss Munson says she doesn't care particularly about being the length of her "apollo's" reach, weight 197, height 6 feet 1 1-2 inches, reach 82 inches; chest (normal) 42 inches, chest (expanded) 46 inches, neck 17 inches, waist 32 inches, thigh 23 inches, calf 15 inches, ankle 9 inches, biceps 14 inches, forearm 14 inches, wrist 9 inches.

The only fly in the ointment, speaking figuratively, is a little girl in the Holywood studios to whom Dempsey is reported to be engaged. Miss Munson said that she would have gone directly to Jack if it hadn't been that she did not think it was fair to lure him away from his little picture miss. Of course, having the superior charms Miss Munson possesses, such a task would be little more than child's play for her.

Miss Munson charmingly remarked that it didn't make the least difference to her whether her perfect man was a butcher, baker or candlestick maker. Whether he eats peas with his knife and has the superb accomplishments of being able to expectorate through his teeth, makes no difference. Whatever his faults, Miss Munson says, she is sure she and her soul mate would be unutterably happy. She has her very own ideas about the rearing of children. She remarked: "For the first ten years of a child's life I believe he should live as near to nature as possible. He should wear very little clothes, never any shoes and should learn the recreations of ancient Greece with its air-like dances to make him graceful. He should spend all of his young life in the open air. Cultivation of his mind could come after his body is perfect. His food should be the simplest—fruit and nuts and herbs—the sort of food ancient Greece thrived on. Oh, I should have an ideal family."

Just at present Miss Munson is having to bother with worldly things, on account of her suit against Allan Rock and the Perry Plays Film Corporation to recover $7,000 for an alleged breach of contract. Miss Munson was to play in "Audrey Munson," the photoplay portraying the story of her life. Her contract, according to Miss Munson, stated that she was to receive $2,000 as an initial payment, $250 a week for the first ten weeks, $100 a week for the next thirty week and $200 a week extra for such weeks as she would appear personaly in connection with the showing of the picture. Miss Munson says that she was allowed to play in only a few minor scenes, that another actress took the part of "Audrey Munson," that she received only a few weeks' payments and that the intial settlement never came at all.

Mr. Rock and the film corporation, on the other hand, argue that Miss Munson was paid in full all that was due her under the terms of her contract. But that at times she refused to act in even the most important scnes.

J. BARLEYCORN NOW RESTLESS IN HIS GRAVE

DISPOSAL OF CORPSE RESTS WITH HOUSE

BY L. C. MARTIN.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.— John Barleycorn's final obituary to-day awaits the approval of the House, the Senate having passed the Campbell-Willis anti-medicinal beer bill late yesterday by a vote of 39 to 20.

Three weeks or better the Senate debate preceded the passage of the measure that is supposed to double-rivet the booze lid. But John may again prove himself a restless corpse when the Stanley amendment is reached in conference. The eleventh hour adoption of this amendment, designed as a blow at alleged pernicious activities of prohibition agents is regarded as a victory by the wets. It provided a fine of $1,000 or a year in jail, or both, for searches of persons or property without a warrant. Fake dry agents under it would be liable to $1,000 fine or five years in jail.

The outstanding features of the beer bill are: 1. Prohibits use of beer as medicine. 2. Restricts prescriptions of wine for the sick to one half pint in ten days. 3. Limits prescriptions for liquor to one hundred in three months. 4. Prohibits importation and manufacture of wines and whiskey until present supply is below non-beverage needs. The measure also provides for the revelation of permits for alcoholic preparations if it is found they are being used as a beverage, and releases owners of stolen liquor from the payment of the taxes on it.

DEATH REMOVES FORMER CITIZEN

CAMILLA SANDERSON WAS A WELL KNOWN CHARACTER IN EARLIER LIFE OF PETERBORO.

The death, which will cause sorrow and regret to very many of the older residents of the city, is announced of the now late Camilla Sanderson, second daughter of the late Rev. John Sanderson, one of the pioneer Methodist clergymen of the afterwards town and in the adjoinng district. Coming to Peterboro as a lay preacher and afterwards being ordained to the service of the church. His daughter has written most interestingly of his life and work.

The deceased lived in Peterboro for the greater part of her life, and will be long remembered for her intimate connection with George St. Church and its activities. Conspicious in the Sunday School department and active in the assisting organizations of the church. She was for several years the secretary of the Margaret Cox Girl's Home, in this city, well known as the Home for Barnado Girls.

The family removed to Toronto during the nineties, and for some years Miss Sanderson was private secretary to Senator George A. Cox Later she took up duties connected with being superintendent of the Woman's Home, in Toronto, known as "The Haven."

Possessing rare gifts in composition and in writing she contributed from time to time to many periodicals, particularly to those connected with devotional and religious work. She enshrined her memories gained in early childhood and in after years of her father and his life in the ministry, in her widely read "John Sanderson the First", than which there is no more feeling and accurate detail of life in the pioneer ministry.

For the last three years she had lived with her sister, Mrs. John Glass, (formerly of Peterboro) at Cleveland, Ohio. Eventually came a complete nervous break-down followed with prysical complications. She passed away on the 8th inst.

The funeral will be held in Toronto, to which city the body wil be brought for internment at Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The funeral during the afternoon of Wednesday, 10th inst.

UNIQUE JEWISH RITE PERFORMED IN EDINBURGH

A quaint Jewish rite was performed by the Rabbi Dr. Salis Daiches, the spiritual head of the Jewish community in Edinburgh, when a large quantity of holy books and religious appurtenances that had been used in the Synagogue were buried in sacred ground in accordance with Jewish custom. The community in Edinburgh dates back about 100 years and the cause of the ceremony was the amalgamation of the three synagogues into one congregation. Photo shows the canvas bags being lowered into the graves.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

She Kept Her Locks Dark and Glossy, with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

NEW NOTE ISSUE MERCHANTS' BANK.

The Merchants' Bank of Canada has just put into circulation within the last two months an issue of $5 and $10 notes dated Nov. 1st, 1919. The design is clear and artistic. The $5 note, a light green bill, has a very clear portrait of the Prince of Wales in the centre front, with a half-wreath of maple leaves at either side. This is a very fine presentation of the Heir to the Throne, who has expressed himself as highly pleased with it, and has Note No. 1 of the issue at his own residence in England.

The $10 note, the old issue of which was green, appears in a rather bright blue, with the head of the late Sir Hugh Allan, one of the original presidents of the institution, flanked by laurel leaves. The numbers on the fronts of both bills are in bright red, and the backs embody the official crest of the bank. There will also be some slight changes made in the bank's issue of $20 notes.

WOMAN BEATEN, NEIGHBOR'S FLAT.

NEW YORK, Aug 9.—Detectives of the East Fifty-first Street Station are searching for Thomas Leap, 23 years old, of 209 East Fifty-eighth street, who, it is alleged, brutally assaulted Mrs. Catherine Enbrux, 60 years old, a cook, the occupant of a flat adjoining his. Mrs. Enbrux was taken to Flower Hospital, having been found unconscious in Leap's flat by the janitress. She had a deep cut behind the left ear, a broken nose and a cut over the left eye. After she had received medical attention she insisted on leaving the hospital to go to the home of a friend.

Detectives Hauser and Hooker found Leap, his young wife and their baby missing. A bottle wrapped in a towel the police believe was the weapon employed in the assault on the aged woman.

Mrs. Enbrux told the detectives she had befriended the Leaps because of the baby and had aided Mrs. Leap in many ways. She washed the baby's clothes, often prepared the Leaps' meals during the month the famil-- had occupied the flat next to hers. Several days ago, she said, she lent Leap $6 from her pay as a cook in a restaurant at Third avenue and twenty-eighth street, when he told her he was out of employment.

When she returned from her day's work yesterday, Mrs. Enbrux said Leap met her at the head of the stairs and invited Mrs. Enbrux into his flat. Once inside, Mrs. Enbrux said, Leap felled her with a blow and struck her several times more.

"I can remember shouting, 'If you want money, you don't need to strike me,' and then I must have become unconscious," she told reporters.

Mrs. Alice Donnelly, the janitress, who occupies a front apartment on the same floor, heard Mrs. Enbrux's screams and went to her assistance. She summoned an ambulance from Flower Hospital. Mrs. Donnelly said Mrs. Enbrux was alone when she went to her aid. Mrs. Enbrux seen later, was unable to recall whether Mrs. Leap and the baby had been in the flat at the time.

Mrs. Donnelly said Leap had been a month behind in his rent, and that she had asked him yesterday when he thought he could pay it.

Mrs. Enbrux finally went to the home of a friend, Mrs. Louis Lengenhoel of 238 East Fifty-eighth street. The detectives questioned her there.

Mrs. Enbrux said she thought Leap's motive for the assault was robbery, and that had he asked for a loan she would have given it to him.

A GIFT THAT HURT.

One day not long after Kent had returned the diamond to Victor Lachman, the express man delivered a huge wooden box. It was addressed to Mr. and Mrs. Kent Armour, and labelled "glass" across the sides of it in large red letters.

I was curious. I could not imagine who would send anything to Kent and me. First I thought I would not open it until Kent came home, but my feminine curiousity got the better of me. So I took a screw-driver and pried up the boards on the top. Then I pulled out heaps and heaps of tissue paper, and wrappings. What was my wonderment to find the most adorable lamp hidden there in the centre. I managed finally to get it out of the box. Then I discovered an envelope tied around its base. I broke the seal and pulled out an engraved card with Victor Lachman's name on it.

I held the card in my hand. I read the name over and over. What would Kent say?

The lamp was glorious. The base of it was a large oval vase of rarest pottery and colouring that shaded from deep Gobelin blues and violet into bright saffron. The shade was rounding and of exquisite opalescent transparency.

I carried it carefully into the living-room and placed it on the little mahogany side table at the end of the couch. I connected it with one of the electric side switches, and turned on the light. The effect was beautiful. It seemed to give such a wonderful light, and a strange, sweet significance came suddenly to my mind.

It was our new light that would shine for us through the mistake that Kent had made. That terrible mistake of Kent's would be as a light to his soul. He was going to see better because of it.

I was so anxious for Kent to see it. I longed for him to come now.

When he did come I led him into the living-room with his eyes closed.

"Now wait—stand there," I commanded. "Please Kent. It's a wonderful surprise."

I ran over to the table and switched on the electricity.

"Now you can look," I said, turning him around to face the lamp.

"Where did you get it?" he asked, and I could tell by his face that he was pleased.

I did not answer. He walked over and picked up the card from the table where I had left it beside the lamp. He read the name, and I saw a look of pain cross his face.

I went up beside him and placed my arm around his waist.

"Oh, Babs, why did they do it!" he cried, helplessly.

"Please, Kent—don't feel so badly," I pleaded softly. "They don't understand — and they had to do something. It's our light—the new light that's going to shine brighter and better for us. Let's try and see it that way, dear."

But Kent could not feel as I did about the lamp. I understood him so well. He was trying to forget, trying to live down that hideous mistake. The lamp would be a constant reminder. It would be there always in front of him probing into his conscience.

After dinner when we turned back into the living-room Kent turned to me tragically.

Poor Kent! I went over and pulled the two little blue silk tassels and immediately the beautiful shimmering radiance of the exquisite opalescent globe faded into a dull obscurity.

Kent did not say anything. I watched him pull his chair around so that his back would be turned to the lamp.

He picked up the evening paper and tried to read, but I could tell by his expression that unpleasant thoughts were still torturing him.

A'SLEY NEWS

APSLEY, Aug. 9.—A very pleasant function was held in Apsley on Tuesday, August 2, when the Red Cross Auxiliary gave a garden party in Mrs. Grant's grounds in honor of Mrs. (Rev.) E. W. Gardner, formerly president of the Auxiliary. Mrs. Gardner now resides at Bobcaygeon, but is spending a few weeks in Apsley renewing old acquaintances, and on the suggestion of Mrs. Will Lean, the present president, the occasion was taken advantage of to have a social reunion.

With the enthusiastic support of the members the event proved a great success and was attended by almost every lady belonging to the Auxiliary. Tea was served upon the lawn. In the evening addresses were given by the Revs. C. A. G. Spence and W. Hall. Mr. Spence, in his address, gave a brief outline of the history of the Red Cross Society, and referring to the local branch, hoped the members would not consider their work and usefulness ended when the war came to a conclusion, but that they would "carry on" in the Crusade for Good Health, conducted by the Canadian Red Cross. He would like to see them work to make Apsley a health community centre. The greatest need of this part of the country at the present time he considered was a trained nurse who could devote her whole time in the capacity of a district nurse. There were many cases in the district of chronic sickness, and diseases lacking proper care and attention, where such service would be invaluable, not to mention confinements and other case of sickness that occasionally occur. He suggested that if the Auxiliary were in favor of such a scheme they should approach the council with a request for a grant towards the object, and also apply to the Minister of Health for aid.

District Nurse Needed.

The Rev. W. Hall, in his address, commended the suggestion of the previous speaker to the earnest consideration of the Auxiliary, and concurred with him in the great necessity that existed for a district nurse. He quoted instances that had come to his personal notice where the services and attention of such an official would be a great blessing, and hoped they would take the matter up. The Red Cross Auxiliary had done much toward putting the name of Apsley on the map, but their work was not finished. He commended them for the sacrifices they had made, and for the noble work they had accomplished, and trusted that this coming winter in co-operation with himself and Mr. Spence, a good work would be done in educating the people in public health matters, and first aid.

Thanks For Honor.

Mrs. Gardner, in a few well chosen words, thanked the members for the honor they had conferred upon her in holding this gathering on her behalf, and for the kindness they had shown her. She would be very glad to know that the Auxiliary would take up the matter of a district nurse, as she felt after listening to Mr. Spence and Mr. Hall that it was most important that something along that line should be done.

A very pleasant event was brought to a close by the singing of Auld Lang Syne in the orthodox manner.

INTERESTING LIST ATTRACTIONS PROVIDED AT THE FAIR GROUNDS

MEDALS PRESENTED TO IRIS PAYNE AND ARTHUR SAYER—FAIR DIRECTORS WON TUG-OF-WAR.

The attractions at the Exhibition Grounds yesterday afternoon drew a large crowd to the grounds and the program of racing intermingled with a football game, tug-of-war and music and stage dancing was relished by the thousands who stayed in Peterboro yesterday. The desultory weather did not keep the people away although a stiff and biting north wind blew all afternoon till the brief rainstorm arrived the crowds on the stand did not feel the keen breath and enjoyed every item on the program.

Football Game

There was a football match played between the G.W.V.A. winners of the Frank Clarke shield for the City championship and the Phelan Charity Cup a picked eleven who the Veterans defeated 2 to 1. The strong wind and the wretched state of the pitch at the grounds were absolutely against good football. A big gale was blowing straight down the field and deep ruts in the ground forced many of the players to go slow. Many players listed could not play because of the strenous Bradford-Peterboro Cup tie on Saturday and they were excused as Peterboro wants to meet Ottawa on the coming Saturday. G. Shaw scored first for the mixed team and the Vets. did not score in the first period. In the second half Willshaw and Dyer both registered and the Vets. won 2-1. Referee Abbot had a busy afternoon because of the rough ground. Th teams lined up as follows:

Jones	Goal	Griffin
Gamble	R. B.	McDonald
Crowe	L. B.	Gash
Burrows	R. H.	Williams
Haycock	C. H.	Padgett
Hurle	L. H.	Bartley
Abrahams	O. R.	Young
Willshaw	I. R.	Chambers
Dyer	C.	H. Jones
Edwards	I. L.	J. Shaw
Sharman	O. L.	E. Jones

Mayor A. A. McIntyre presented to the Vets. eleven the Clarke shield and Phedan Charity Cup after the game.

The Tug-of-War

The premier sporting event of the afternoon was the tug-of-war supposed to take place between the City Council and Fair Directors. The fair board showed up in good strength but for some reason the aldermen did not report. Mayor McIntyre, Ald. Phelan and Ald. Crowe were the only city fathers on the rope. Victory went to the Fair Directors.

Presentations of Certificates

On the track in front of the stand the Royal Humane Society certificates were presented to Iris Payne and Arthur Sayers for saving a child's life last winter. Ald. Phelan Ald. Crowe and Mayor McIntyre represented the city. Ald. Phelan said: "One day last winter, the 25th of February, two small children were playing on the ice off Inverlea Park. The ice gave away and the little ones were thrown into the water. One child was drowned before help could arrive. The other child, Leslie [illegible] of four years was saved from drowning through the promptitude and courage of Miss Iris V. M. Payne and Mr. Arthur Sayer. Neither hesitated in the work of rescue, and the little lad was saved from a watery grove."

In making the presentation His Worship said: "This afternoon it is my pleasant duty to present to Miss Payne and Mr. Sayer, the certificates granted them by the Royal Canadian Humane Association, and I will now call on them to come forward and receive their well merited honors."

The 57th Band

The musical part of the grandstand program was provided by the 57th Band and the Caledonian Pipe Band. Bandmaster Gliddon's organization gave an exceptionally fine program and the Pipe Band in their smart uniforms and with their marshall airs pleased the crowd immensely. John Smith had charge of the band.

Clever Dancing

Nana and Florrie Cassidy in Scotch, India and Dutch dances won the hearts of the crowd. The little girls who have won medals and shields galore have now to add to these the praises of half of Peterboro. Mrs. Hyde played the piano for the dances.

PIPERS ENTERTAINED CHEMONG COTTAGERS

At Chemong Park last night the Caledonian Pipe Band, assisted by the little Misses Nana and Florrie Cassidy, the dancers who gave such a stellar performance at the Civic Holiday programme at the Exhibition grounds yesterday afternoon, gave a fine concert, that the cottagers thoroughly enjoyed. The trill of the pipes rang far out on the lake and drew a large crowd around the pavilion. The clever little girls were repeatedly encored and graciously responded in spite of the strenuous day they had had.

ROME, Aug. 9.— (By United Press.)— All Catholics were called upon by the Pope to-day to contribute to Russian famine relief funds. The Cardinal was instructed to call on all Catholics to aid the cause.

TOWN WILL REBUILD MONUMENT AT BYRAN'S GRANDPARENTS' TOMB

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., Aug. 6.—A movement was set on foot here today to replace, by popular subscription, the monument over the grave of the grandparents of William Jennings Bryan, which was destroyed by vandals during one of Mr. Bryan's presidential campaigns.

Mr. Bryan arrived here yesterday to visit the graves of his forebears Mr. and Mrs. John Bryan, who moved into this community from Virginia in 1831. They were buried on the farm owned by G. E. Arrington, three miles from Point Pleasant. When Mr. Bryan reached the little graveyard he found the monument broken into pieces. He was visibly affected, and asked R. P. Bell to see that appropriate stones were placed at the graves.

Mayor Dower addressed a letter to Mr. Bell today asking him to obtain the permission of Mr. Bryan to have the monument replaced by popular subscription. He said that it would give the people of the community an opportunity to wipe out the stigma upon the town.

For New Styles and Pretty Arms

(Beauty Notes.)

Women are fast learning the value of the use of delatone for removing hair or fuzz from face, neck or arms. A paste is made with some powdered delatone and water and spread on the hairy surface. In 2 or 3 minutes it is rubbed off, the skin washed and every hair has disappeared. No failure will result if you are careful to buy genuine delatone and mix fresh as wanted.

Womens' Activities Generally

Truly, this is the age of women and women's activities. Women and girls are doing things nowadays that would never have been dreamed of in their grandmothers' generation. Miss Rebecca Brewnstein and Miss Myra Levine of New York, both 23 years of age, have just completed a 4,500-mile "hike" from San Francisco to New York, riding on freight trains, making their way at night through Hell's Half-Acre Desert in Wyoming, carrying no weapons of any sort, making their way by day and by night in the pursuit of their romantic adventure. On July 30th, Florence Rosen and Gladys Zimmerman arrived in Los Angeles after a transcontinental walk from New York, during which they did stenographic work en route after the meagre funds with which they started were exhausted. So far, these names indicate a Hebrew preference for long walks, but the Misses Margaret Poplewell and Stena Johnson are evidently not of this adventurous race. These young ladies made an 800-mile trip on horseback from Oketoks, Alta., across Saskatchewan and Western Manitoba, over the Narrows of Lake Manitoba, to their homes at Inwood and Lumdar. They made the journey with two horses and saddles and $14 in cash.

At a meeting of bank officials held recently in Philadelphia, it was advocated that women tellers be employed exclusively henceforth, as they are more patient and courteous to customers.

Then there is the lady in Dresden, Frau Anna von Hobsendorf, who has been conducting a lucrative business in forged titles by which rich noblemen were enabled to marry rich heiresses, divorce them shortly, leaving the bride a nice little title in return for her money or part of it. This promising concern has been interrupted by an outbreak of curiosity on the part of the police, who enquired too closely into the methods employed.

Of women farmers in the United States of America there are a great number; Mississippi has 18,932, Alabama 16,262, Texas 16,128, Georgia 13,082, North Carolina 12,161, South Carolina 11,579, Kentucky 11,309, Tenessee 11,374, Arkansas 11,027, Virginia 10,028.

Aisha Hanum, aged 52, a stern, dark Turkish woman, who sees visions and believes she is inspired by the prophet, is aiding the Nationalist cause as head of a woman's fighting unit called the Kadin Brigade. Although this lady has cast aside skirts in pursuit of her warlike occupation, she still continues to wear a veil. The eternal feminine. A woman soldier with a veil.

Madame Nazimova has announced that she will shortly make a picture with an all-woman cast, in which none but women will direct, edit, cut and produce.

Then there are the women legislators, Mrs. Nellie McClung of Edmonton, who is an ardent prohibitionist, and Mrs. Walter Parlby of Lacombe, who is recommended for a Cabinet post in the Alberta Legislature.

And, to cap it all, a gentleman in Chicago, treasurer of a soap factory, comes along, and in a contest with 45 women at a local fair, gets the prize for the best loaf of bread. The prize was a dainty, blue-ribboned work apron. It's a queer world.

FERDINAND FAILS TO REGAIN THRONE

SPECTACULAR EFFORT HAS BEEN FRUSTRATED.

ATHENS, August 9 (United Press). — Former Tsar Ferdinand of Bulgaria had failed in a spectacular effort to return from exile and regain his throne, it was learned here to-day.

The attempt was made last Thursday.

PULPWOOD EXPORT RESOLUTION GOES TO WHITE HOUSE

PRESIDENT EXPECTED TO APPOINT COMMISSION AT EARLY DATE.

WASHINGTON, August 9 (Canadian Press). — The joint resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to confer with the Dominion authorities as to restriction of the export of pulpwood from Canada went to the Whate House this morning, and it is expected that the President will sign it this afternoon.

It is also expected that the President will name a commission at an early date.

"FAMINE SHIP" OF LEGEND IS REPORTED SEEN

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 9 (Canadian Press). — Extreme heat prevails over the Near Eastern countries, particularly this city.

Intense forest fires are reported in Asia Minor. The heat wave has led to many stories of strange animals coming to the surface of the Black Sea.

Inhabitants near the mouth of the Bosphorus are alarmed by the reports of an apparition of a steamer painted a brilliant red, which they believe is the 'Famine Ship of Sebastopol," the fabled craft which a legend says used to plough the waves of the Black Sea in troublesome times.

DYNAMITING BIG BOULDERS CAUSEE EVENING STRAFE

The series of explosions that have reverberated over the city almost every evening, and nearly always at the same hour beginning shortly after six o'clock, have aroused general curiosity as to their cause and origin. Those citizens who were aware of the work being carried on by the Provincial Government on the Gravel road conjectured that this "strafing," to use an obscelent term that appeared frequently in the war news, was due to some phase of the road building. And their surmise was correct. According to the information the Examiner received, the Government is widening the road to approximately 70 feet, which necessitates the pushing back of fences here and there. The new highway thus absorbs an old fence of field stone in front of H. G. Webber's farm, in North Monaghan, and those boulders which were too big for the crusher have to be blasted with dynamite. When the day's work is done, the "mines" that have been laid to these mammoth stones are sprung with repercussions that reach all over the city. This old fence of field stone is one of many that may be seen throughout the country, which have stood for a generation or more as a monument to the toil of the pioneer farmers who cleared the land. The long straight pile that has fronted the Webber homestead will be replaced by a fence which, it is understood, will be built by the Government, the province and the Dominion paying 80 per cent. of the cost, and the Peterborough townships in the good roads group providing the remaining 20 per cent.

FLORISTS OPEN CONVENTION HERE

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY DELEGATES. HERE—OPENING SESSION.

The 24th annual convention of the Canadian Florists' and Gardeners' Association opened yesterday afternoon in the lecture room at the Armories, with an attendance of nearly 150 interested members from Ontario and Quebec. Not since 1913 has Peterborough been the scene of the Florists' Convention. The meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. Harold Young, and an address of welcome was made the visitors by His Worship, A. A. McIntyre, replied to in suitable terms by Mr. C. J. Hay, of Brockville. Greetings from the Peterborough Horticultural Association were extended by the president, Dr. J. E. Middleton, who read a letter of regret from the president of the Ontario Horticultural Association, Miss Mary Yates, of Port Credit, on her inability to be present. Mr. W. E. Groves, of Hamilton, the president of the Canadian Florists' and Gardeners' Association, gave an address which was the subject of much enthusiasm, and characterized "the best address we have ever heard from any president." He emphasized the need of a brisk campaign for membership, and suggested the advisability of closer affiliation with the American Association of Florists and with the Florists' Telegraph Delivery, closing his address with an appeal for further recognition of the great principles of co-operation and the need of practising the gospel "of the other fellow."

Discussion of the president's address was led by Mr. A. Simpson, of Toronto, followed by the reading of the secretary-treasurer's report for the year by Mr. Herbert J. Eddy, of Montreal. Reports of the educational, registration, legislative, press and publicity and tariff committees were read by Messrs. W. W. Gammage, H. J. Moore of Toronto, E. B. Hamilton, of London, E. C. Hayward, of Montreal and Major John Connon, of Hamilton.

These reports were discussed freely from the floor by different members and were all passed with commendation to the various chairmen of the committees represented.

A very interesting address with a humorous introduction, was given by Mr. E. J. Hayward, of Montreal, on "Culture of Commercial Ferns," followed by the reading of a letter by the speaker with regard to the tardy and inefficient inspection of imported stock in the City of Montreal, which results in the loss of a great deal of money to dealers. This matter was left over for the consideration of the meeting.

Messrs. W. W. Gammage, of London, W. C. Hall of Montreal, and A. Simpson, of Toronto, were appointed on the Resolutions committee.

TELLS OF BEING BEATEN BY A N. Y. DETECTIVE.

J. W. Black Testifies to Brutal Treatment by Police — Kicked at the Station, He Says. Theatened to Crucify Him If Not Silent.

INVESTIGATION ON.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The Meyer Legislative Investigating Committee heard testimony that Detective Charles F. Tighe, held on a felonious assault charge for alleged brutal treatment of women and children in a raid on a cafe at Ninth avenue and Forty-third street last Thursday, had savagely beaten a young man named John William Black.

According to Black, the assault occurred at the Cocoanut Grove, atop the Century Roof. He admitted knocking Tighe down when the detective, whom he did not know, called him an approbious name, but he said Tighe beat him all the way to the West Sixty-eighth Street Station. Arriving there, without provocation, some one threw him to the floor and kicked him in the face until his nose was broken, he said. Later, Black said, he was told that if he did not say that he had received his injuries by falling downstairs the police would "crucify" him.

Black's recital of his treatment deeply stirred Senator Schuyler M. Meyer, Chairman of the Investigating Committee, and he said it seemed to him as if a 'police Mafia" existed. After Black had told his story, which, he said, he had been afraid to do before because of police threats, Senator Meyer made this comment:

"One of the most amazing stories of police brutality which has been brought to the notice of this committee is that of the experience of Mr. Black with Clubber Tighe, the policeman whose bestial record has been placed before the public, thanks to the committee's efforts.

Sees a Police Mafia.

"Mr. Black appeared voluntarily as a citizen because he was persuaded for the first time that an agency was at hand to protect him from the vengeance which Tighe's associates promised him if he made any attempt to secure redress. It is a shocking indication of the collapse of police morale and discipline that an incident such as befell Mr. Black could go uninvestigated.

"Why did not the Police Lieutenant who saw Black take action in the matter? Why was the case not brought before the Precinct Commander? Why was it not reported to headquarters? The only answer to these questions, apparently, is that the Police Department, under Commissioner Enright, backs a policeman against a citizen. Mr. Black's story seems to reveal the tactics of a police Mafia."

Black's story is that he left the Cocoanut Grove the night of either the 17th or 18th of February, 1919, with Captain Sheldon Wittlesly of Oplelike, Alabama, who had just returned from overseas and who was in uniform. They saw a man slapping a young girl, and when they interfered the man fled, but a short, stocky man in citizen's clothes who Black later identified as Tighe interfered and said, "Who the h—— are you!" Black said he replied, "I might ask who you are," whereupon the detective said, "I'll show you who I am," and called him a foul name.

"When he said that," continued Black, 'I hit him. I did not know at the time, of course, that he was an officer. He was in citizen's clothes. He stepped forward and struck me over the head with a blackjack. Even then I did not realize he was an officer. I thought he was a holdup man. I thought he was holding up the place, so I kept on fighting. He kept hitting me four or five times so I went down. I was not unconscious, but stunned. He kept on beating me while I was on the floor."

Black said Captain Wittlesly then interfered and took some of the blows across his arm. After that Tighe let him up and placed him under arrest, revealing for the first time that he was an officer. When they got downstairs, with the army Captain following, Black said they met another policeman and he, Black, was handcuffed between them.

Beaten Station, He Says.

"Each had a free hand," Black's testimony continued, "and they hit me over the head with blackjacks and punched me, dragging me from Sixty-second street to the Sixty-eighth Street Police Station. On the way Captain Wittlesly protested, and they placed him under arrest. They also met another soldier, who interfered, whereupon the detective said, 'Get out of here or we'll drill you.'" Black's story of what happened at the station house was as follows:

"They took me into a dark room with several other officers, some of whom were in uniform, and threw me down on the floor. Then some one, I don't know which one, kicked me in the face and broke my nose. In a little while one of them stepped in and said, 'Wash up. We've got to go before the Lieutenant.' He took me downstairs and then said, 'I was with you, understand. I saw you. Fix up your testimony. Tell him that you fell downstairs. If you don't we will crucify you.'"

Black said Captain Wittlesley was turned over to the Provost Guard, while he was arraigned on a charge of resisting an officer and disorderly conduct, and the Lieutenant fixed bail at $500, which he did not have, so they kept him in a cell all night.

Next morning, Tighe wanted to buy him a drink, but "I would not drink with a cur like that," said Black, who was fined $5 by the Magistrate.

WAS ASTONISHED AT THE RESULTS

"IT'S BEEN YEARS SINCE I FELT AS I DO SINCE TAKIFG TANLAC," SAYS TORONTO WOMAK.

"Tanlac is just grand, it helped me after everything else had failed," said Mrs. J. Bexfield, 649 Lansdowne avenue, Toronto, Ont.

"Ever since I had the 'flu' two years ago I have had stomach trouble and neuritis. My digestion became affected and I could scracely eat anything without its harming me. I was extremely nervous too, and I frequently suffered from headaches. I became generally debilitated and just pulled myself around the house. I slept very little and often would get up in the morning just as tired out as when I went to bed.

"I heard many complimentary remarks about Tanlac, and as I knew several people who had been helped I determined to try it. I was surprised at the quick results. It benefited me in every way. My appetite is good, I never have indigestion and I sleep soundly every night. It has been years since I felt as strong and well as I do now. I am never bothered with neuritis now except in rainy weather, and even then I barely feel it. I just think it's my duty to join in with others in telling about this truly remarkable medicine."

INTERFERING WITH SANITARY INSPECTOR NOT BE ENDURED

BOARD OF HEALTH SERVES NOTICE ON PUBLIC THAT ANY REPETITION OF RECENT OBSTRUCTION WILL BRING IMMEDIATE PROSECUTION—INSPECTOR'S POWERS IN DAIRY INSPECTION WILL BE DEFINED.

Only their extreme reluctance to resort to the courts restrained the Board of Health this morning from prosecuting a prominent citizen for obstructing Sanitary Inspector Stapleton in the course of his duties.

In a matter of fact report Mr. Stapleton briefly narrated the incident which occurred a few days ago in the yard of a Water street garage. "I didn't want to take the matter to law, but I am asking the Board for their advice."

The members present G. H. Duncan, presiding, E. F. Mason, James Lynch and Dr. T. W. H. Young, M. O. H. were unanimous that the public must understand that the Sanitary Inspector has certain rights in connection with his duties, which must be recognized.

It was suggested that action be taken in this case for its salutary effect, and Mr. Mason proposed that at least an apology should be demanded. Mr. Stapleton remarked that he did not wish for an apology, and the Board compromised by calling in Chief Newhall and requesting him to call in the business man and explain to him the seriousness of his act.

The intention was also expressed of inserting a public notice in the press warning the people that if any such interferences occur in future they will be referred immediately to the police with instructions to take action.

Will Buy Electric Stove.

After a lengthy discussion it was decided to buy an electric range and an electric toaster for the Isolation Hospital. Dr. Young pointed out that the kitchen is in the basement of the hospital, poorly ventilated and very uncomfortable. If at any time during the day apart from meal hours water had to be heated or food prepared a wood fire had to be built in the stove. It was shown by a salesman of electric goods that a very considerable saving could be made by installing an electric range Experience had shown its costs were $8.25 on the basis of a cord of wood at $14 and $8.75 as the equivalent of a ton of coal costing $15. On Dr. Young's motion seconded by Mr. Lynch the purchase of the electric range and toaster was refered to Mr. Duncan and Mr. Mason with power to act.

A petition to the Utilities Commission to lay a water main on Bethune street, between Sherbrooke and Dalhousie streets was forwarded on Mr. Lynch motion seconded by Mr. Duncan.

Will Appear in Court

Repeated notices to L. Anthony, at the corner of Water and Charlotte streets, to remove manure from his garden adjacent to the C. P. R. freight offices failed to effect the desired results. Sanitary Inspector Stapleton was authorized to lay a charge against Mr. Anthony.

Definition of Powers.

Dr. Young stated that the work of the Health Department had developed so rapidly this summer that either another inspector should be appointed or Mr. Stapleton be provided with a car.

Mr. Lynch remarked that there were enough officials, but that Mr. Stapleton should have the facilities to perform his duties thoroughly. Although nothing definitely was decided on this point, it directed the conversation along the lines of publicity.

Mr. Mason affirmed that the Board of Health had failed to keep the public informed as to the work done by the Medical Officer of Health and the Sanitary Inspector. We know what Mr. Stapleton is doing, but the public has little means of knowing," he said.

Dr. Young instanced the work on Monday, a holiday, alone when four cards were placed in widely separated sections of the city. Many persons had the idea that this placarding was all the Inspector did. As a matter of fact it was only one of the minor duties.

Passing to another question of the Inspector's authority to enter upon the premises of farmers for the purpose of inspecting the source of production of all the milk consumed in the city, the Board decided to write the Provincial Board of Health for definite instructions.

A request form H. Sowden, 111 Gladstone avenue, for a sewer connection to a new house at 137 George street, was approved and recommended to the Council.

An application from Monsignor McColl for a sewer connection to the new annex to St. Joseph's hospital was received. Dr. Young moved seconded by Mr. Mason that the Council provide adequate sewer connection to new wing of the hospital.

Creamery butter in 1920, with an output of 110,030,390 pounds, showed an increase of 6,130,692 pounds over 1919, and cheese made in factories aggregated 140,521,008 pounds a decrease of 16,000,000 pounds from the previous year.

There were in operation throughout the Dominion 2,165 dairy factories with a capitalisation of $32,767,317.

LONDON MEMORIAL TO THE ANGLO-AMERICAN BROTHERHOOD-IN-ARMS

To Be Erected on Hampstead Heath at a Cost of $80,000.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—Bunker Hill, a slight eminence adjoining London's popular playground, Hampstead Heath, is to bear a monument commemorating Anglo-American brotherhood-in-arms during the great war.

A fund is being collected to purchase the site, and the plans are to erect a memorial in the shape of a curved wall, displaying the names of the regiments and commanding officers of the American and English armies who fought together. Metal tablets would record the battlefields and the names of the English military training camps where the Americans stayed after reaching England. The whole is to be surrounded by flower beds.

The cost of the memorial is to be from $50,000 to $75,000 and among the supporters of the scheme are Nicholas Murray Butler of New York, Lord Bryce, Lady Astor and the Bishop of London.

THIS WOMAN'S RECOVERY

Shows Remarkable Restorative Power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Chesley, Ont.—"Before using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had terrible pains in my sides and was not regular. Finally I got so weak I could not go up stairs without stopping to rest half way up the steps. I tried two doctors but they did me no good. I saw your medicine advertised in the newspapers and thought I would give it a trial. I took four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and was restored to health. I am married, am the mother of two children, and do all my housework, milk eight cows, and do a hired man's work and enjoy the best of health. I also found Vegetable Compound a great help for my weak back before my babies were born. I recommend it to all my friends who are in need of medicine, and you may print this letter if you wish."—Mrs. HENRY JANKE, R. R. No. 4, Chesley, Ontario.

It hardly seems possible that there is a woman in this country who will continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial after all the evidence that is continually being published, proving beyond contradiction that this grand old medicine has relieved more suffering among women than any other medicine in the world.

To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Helen James, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her away. She was attired in a very pretty dress of cream satin and georgette and wore the customary wedding veil, with band of pearls, and carried a huge bouquet of pink and cream roses. She also wore the groom's gift, a sunburst of pearls. They were unattended. After the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. James, the bride and groom, accompanied by a few of the immediate relatives, motored to the home of the bride, where a bountiful dinner was served. Later in the evening the happy couple motored to the groom's farm east of the village, the bride wearing a navy suit with hat to match.

KIDNEY TROUBLE

Is quite common, gradually becoming more severe, and if prompt action is not taken, serious results will follow. The symptoms are headache and pain in the back, sleeplessness, ashen complexion, white coated tongue and frequent urination. If a puffy swelling is noted in the feet or ankles the disease is well established and you must give the kidneys all the help possible by stirring the liver and bowels into action. Take Henderson's Herb Tablets every night according to directions, watch the digestion carefully, drink plenty of cold water between meals.

Mrs. T. Bevington, 303 Wilton ave. Toronto, Ont., says:

"I wish to express my gratitude for the great benefit I have received through Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment. I suffered for a number of years with kidney and liver trouble and at times could scarcely do my work with the pain in my back, and cramps in my muscles. I am now 67 years of age and after using one box of Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment I feel like a new person.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment can be purchased at Warne's Drug Store. Price 25c., 50c. and $1.00.

TO MAKE WORK IN KINGSTON.

KINGSTON, Aug. 6.— The civic authorities are doing everything possible to help out the unemployment situation in Kingston. At a special meeting of the civic finance committee was held and the following resolution was passed:

That the sum of $150,000 granted for the construction of a infectious disease hospital be placed at the disposal of the building committee of the General hospital, and that they be requested to construct the same; the mayor from time to time to represent the council on the building committee of the hospital.

The hospital authorities are ready to carry out the request of the city council, as building costs have come down materially during the year. Work on the new service building is under way and a start is to be made on the central heating plant. The contagious building can also be taken on, so that a large number of men can be employed during the fall and winter.

PUNCH WAS LACKING, PETES LOST SATURDAY

COULDN'T HIT GOYER IN PINCHES AND BELLEVILLE WON 5 TO 3—RAE ROSE DID THE HEAVING FOR THE HOME TEAM AND SURPRISED THE FANS.

Inability to come through with the punch when a timely wallop meant runs cost the Petes the decision in Saturday's ball game with Belleville, the Bay of Quinte team winning the Central League fixture by 5 runs to 3. Although Fred Goyer had them tied in a knot for the first five innings they had opportunities galore from that stage on, only to fall down when a safe tap would have been prolific as counters. They had three men on with only one out in the sixth, but the next two were easy. Murray opened the seventh with a double and the next three batters hit nothing but the August breeze. In the eighth, after scoring a run and having two men on the sacks with not a hand down, Harrison, Ross and Murray whipped in succession. It was great pitching or wretched batting, which ever angle you wish to judge it from. Goyer was found for eight hits, hit two men, and had three wild pitches, but when the timely bingle was needed the Belleville ace twisted the ball past the bats of the Peterboro men so continuously that the performance became monotonous. Fourteen of the Petes ensued by the ozone route and it was one of the strange features of the engagement that the wrecking crew, Swanston, Harrison and Rose, failed to neck a solitary hit.

Manager Solomon surprised everybody, including the Petes, by sending Ray Rose to the rubber. Outside of pitching a seven innings' exhibition game against a Toronto team last season, Rose has done no twirling in years and the form he showed was an eye-opener to all fans. He had a world of speed and a sharp breaking curve, and, barring the first and third innings, when Belleville bunched six of their nine hits for their five runs, he had the visitors buffaloed, eleven of them whiffing, while they only got three scattered singles after the third session. The batting of the Mills brothers kept Rose from scoring a victor in his Central League debut as a pitcher. William Mills busted in with a triple that drove in the first run and his brother scored him with a clean single, while the Belleville backstop followed with a double in the third that chased in the first run in that innings and once more his brother came through this time with a scratch hit that sent home two more tallies, so that between them the Mills pair hammered in all of Belleville's runs.

On the Pete's side it was the Rose brothers who did the damage. Lornie had two hits and scored twice and on both occasions brother Ray, who had a triple, double and single to his credit, supplied the wallop that sent Lornie over the home station. There was some snappy fielding the battle. Holyman had a nice stop and a perfect peg to first on a hard tap from Mills. Murray made a one-handed pickup of a fast roller from Williams and Jackson tore off a fine running catch of a neat hit by Kelleher. To Belleville Ross' catch of Ray Rose's hard smash in the third innings was a feature. It cut off a run for Lornie Rose who was on second at the time.

Rose got away to a great start by fanning Weir and Casey. The Ross followed with a lucky double down the third base line and W. Mills promptly landed on a fast one for a line drive that rattled against the left field fence. Ross scoring and Mills perching on third. Harry Mills cracked a single over second that provided transportation home for his brother. Smith fanned to end the innings.

Belleville got their last three in the third. Weir walked to start with and Casey singled through short. Ross fanned but Peeney Mills, whose triple in the first innings caused so much trouble, busted a hot one down the third base line for two sacks, scoring Weir and sending Casey to third. Harry Mills scratched a hit off Ray Rose's glove, the pitcher deflecting it away from Harrison and Casey and Mills scored on the lucky one. Williams fanned. Smith also missed three but the third was a wild pitch on which the batter reached first. Rose then fanned Kelleher for the third out and Belleville were through for the day.

The Petes did not threaten seriously until the sixth. Lowe led off in that innings by beating out a roller to Weir. Lornie Rose struck out after trying to sacrifice. Lowe stole second. Then R. Rose was hit and when Swanston tapped to Goyer Kelleher muffed the pitcher's throw to third and the bases were full. With Harrison and Ross next up the chances looked rosy for a scoring bee but Goyer put the clamps on by whiffing both of them and one glorious chance faded into oblivion.

In the next innings another fine opportunity was lost when Murray opened with a long double to left only to be stranded when Holyman, Jackson and Lowe fanned in succession.

The Petes did a little better in the eighth. Lornie Rose opened with a clean single to right and Ray Rose promptly tripled to the same field, scoring his brother. Swanston was safe on his tap in front of the plate where Mills threw low to first. Rose was held at third on the play. Swanston promptly stole second and with runners on second and third it was again up to Harrison. "Hap" missed three, however, and Ross' best was a high fly which Goyer and Mills nearly balled up the ball, bouncing out of Goyer's hands into Mill's mit.

RUTH REACHES 1920 RECORD

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Babe Ruth again is on even terms with his 1920 home run schedule.

The mighty slugger dropped behind last Friday for the first time this season and lost ground on Saturday, though he hit for the circuit that day. On the same date a year ago Ruth hit two homers, so he was two behind his schedule at the close of the Detroit series. By collecting two against the White Sox yesterday Ruth came on even terms with the 1920 figures and he cannot fall behind again until August 14, the date of his forty-second home run last season. As Ruth got only three homers last season between August 6 and September 4 he now faces an excellent opportunity to go far ahead of last year's figures. Ruth needs only 14 more homers to break his 1920 record and the Kilties have 54 more games to play.

DODGING BASEBALL PESTS.

Players Often Put to It to Shake Too Ardent Pests.

Big league ball players being popular idols, are followed by admirers off the field as well as on. Some fans are so strongly attached to the national game that they follow their favorite club around the circuit. Such fans are highly thought of by the players and cause them no annoyance.

There is, however, another type of fan who occasionally becomes a good deal of a pest. Players encounter him when they are on the road. He learns the hotel at which the club is stopping and saunters into the lobby at an hour when he is sure to find several of the players resting there. Picking out a seat beside them he listens eagerly to their talk and chatter. Sometimes on finding himself comfortably ensconced on a lounge beside a hero of the diamond he does not hesitate to introduce himself. Like other pests, players do not always like to talk shop, especially the kind of shop talk that the hotel lobby fan choses as his topic.

To escape these pests ball players have devised a sign language of their own. When a pest takes a seat beside an unsuspecting player, a fellow player who has encountered the pest on a previous occasion signals from across the lobby, "Beware of that fellow; he is a chronic bore. I had him last night, and I had a devil of a time to shake him." The unsuspecting player on reading the signal arises hastily and departs for the writing room or to some other place where he is not likely to be disturbed.

When his club was on the road, the manager of a team found himself greatly annoyed by these fellows. He was not averse to discussing the generalities of the game with them, but they pestered him with all sorts of questions that he could not answer without violating the ethics of his club. They wanted to know who was going to pitch tomorrow, if it was true that so-and-so's poor form was the result of a rumored "glass arm," if there was any truth in the report that he was going to relegate a veteran infielder to the bench and questions along similar lines.

Sometimes, to his annoyance, he found himself surrounded by a group of curiosity seekers, who were too cheap to view a ball game except from a free score board. No matter where he went he could not escape them; they were forever on his heels. He finally hit on a plan to rid himself of them. He could not entirely get rid of them, but his plan went far to relieve the situation. When he was beset by a particularly obnoxious pest, one of his players would rush up to him, apologize for interrupting the conversation and tell him that an Francisco or some equally far away city wanted him on the long-distance telephone. His new acquaintance, believing that the manager would be detained a long time, would then take his departure.

EASY WIN FOR PETES

CENTRAL LEAGUERS HAD LITTLE TROUBLE IN BEATING TORONTO AGGREGATION IN HOLIDAY GAME.

The Petes did not have much trouble in beating the outfit representing the Simcoes of the Riverdale League, Toronto, in the exhibition game at Riverside Park yesterday morning, the Solomon crew winning 7 to 3. Kirn did the gunning for the home talent and held the visitors to three hits, which were bunched with a base on balls and an error in the third innings to give Simcoes their trio of runs. Kirn fanned ten of the Queen City gang and in six out of the nine innings only three men faced him.

"Red" Cockburn, a big youngster, with considerable stuff, worked for the Simcoes, and outside of the second innings when the Petes piled up four hits and with the help of an error, a wild pitch, and a passed ball, scored five runs the visiting twirler got by in good style.

For the home brigade Swanston had a double and three singles in four trips to the plate, while "Lefty" McElroy had a triple and single, both of which helped in the run-getting.

The Petes scored five in the second. With one out Jackson turned a slow ball into a fast one by singling sharply to left. Holyman bunted for a sacrifice and Cockburn threw to second too late to force Jackson. McElroy singled past second scoring Jackson. The runners moved up on a wild pitch and Holyman scored when another ball got away from Hickson, Kirn rolled to Robinson who made a nice stop and, driving McElroy back to third, threw the runners out. L. Rose walked and stole second. Ray Rose singled down the first base line, scoring McElroy, and when Mickie threw low to third, L. Rose scored and his brother reached second. Swanston singled to left, scoring R. Rose. Ross fanned to end the innings.

Simcoes got all their runs in the third. With one out Cockburn singled past Murray and Mickie hoisted a fly which was allowed to dip safely between Holyman and Lornie Rose. Spellman drew a walk filling the bases and McEwan singled solidly to centre scoring Cockburn and Michie, while Spellman also came home when Swanston's throw got away from Murray, McEwan reaching second. Robinson bunted down the first base line and was out when he ran into the ball. Hickson fanned.

The Petes picked up another run in the sixth when McElroy crashed a triple over first base and scored on a passed ball. There were two out at the time.

In the eighth Murray singled over second and went to second on Jackson's sacrifice. Holyman struck out. McElroy hit to McEwan who threw low to first, Murray scoring. Kirn walked but L. Rose was out on strikes.

PENALTY SHOT BY M'DOUGALL GIVES PETE'S WIN IN PLENTY CUP

GRIFFIN'S GREAT WORK IN NETS HOLDS BRANTFORD BACK AT CRITICAL STAGES.

Peterboro won the round with Brantford in the second game of the Plenty Cup competition at Riverside Park on Saturday evening, by scoring the only goal of the contest. It was 3 to 3 at Brantford. The locals will now play a game with the Ottawa entry, the Capital team playing here on Saturday.

It was McDougall who kicked the winning goal, following a penalty kick awarded to the locals, on a foul by Taylor, the visitor's left back. Pratt, the clever goaler for Brantford, was beaten by a hard shot as McDougall's range was on the corner. The play came in the second half with the period well advanced. And the goal arrived at an opportune time. The visitors had been pressing hard, bringing critical moments for the Petes. The back division had weakened, Ralston and Frost slowing up from the effects of injuries sustained in former games. Only the stellar work of Charlie Griffin in goal was keeping his team in the race. The goal by McDougall pulled the team together, strengthened their morale, and victory rewarded their efforts.

Griffin's Great Save.

The spectacular play of the contest occurred early in the second half. Ralston, in relieving just outside the goal, caught the ball on his arm, and the foul gave Brantford a penalty kick. To the majority of the spectators, one goal was good enough to win the game, and Peterboro's chances went down to zero. Poised, and alert, Griffin stood ready to meet that shot. His was one chance in a hundred. The ball came waist high. The big goaler made a beautiful save, and kicked the ball out to middle field to the accompaniment of roars of applause. At the close of the game a crowd of admirers carried Griffin off the field.

The Petes were lucky to win, the visitors unlucky in their loss. Both teams missed opportunity after opportunity to score at the mouth of the nets The game should be a lesson for the locals. There appeared to be lack of systematic play, when opportunities to score came their way. The forwards showed some pretty combination plays, with Manders and Bartley being the most effective.

Brantford had the advantage in weight. They were good on the attack, and strong on the defense. Taylor, their left back, with Pratt in goal, being prominent from whistle to whistle. The teams:

YESTERDAY'S RACING CARD BROUGHT OUT LARGE CROWD TRACK FOLLOWERS

PETERBORO TRACK RECORD LOWERED BY A BELLEVILLE HORSE —THE RESULTS.

One of the finest racing cards that the Fair Directors have put on in several years was presented to a large crowd of track followers at the Exhibition Grounds yesterday afternoon and 20 horses were sent to the wire in four premier events by Dr. J. A. Sinclair of Cannington, the well known starter, Perhaps the most notable race happenings was the cutting down of Peterboro track record by one and one-quarter seconds. "Day Spring" owned by George Powell of Belleville, trotted around the mile of track in 2.10 in the first heat of the Free-for-all beating Her mann Wenger's previous high mark of 2.11 14-3 made four or five years ago when she was owned by Tom Hodgins of Orillia. Hermann is now owned by Culverville and Lavery of Sutton. "Day Spring" is a fast horse and had no trouble winning the Free-for-all. In the last heat she again smashed Wenger's record, going the time round in 2.11.

Black beauties won three of the races yesterday and only in the colts race did a brown horse do anything Luck must have been with the blacks on the holiday. "Sunny Jim" a big black horse owned by Bert Allen of Colborne won the 2.30 from a field of eight although pressed all the way by "Montell", "Harry L", a lean, black the property of Walker of Toronto, got first money by three straights in the 2.20; "Day Spring", a powerful black horse, who has been on the track for many years showed strength in the Free-for -all eliminating "Hazel H" and "Bub" in the race for first money.

A Good Card.

The races pleased the several thousand racing fans. The stand was filled and the Exhibition Board was reminded that even with the ad dition to the grand stand more accommodation must be provided as soon as finances warrant it. So many horses went to the wire that there was considerable delay in getting them off but the crowd bore the delay in a sporting manner and supported Doc. Sinclair in his persistence in giving a fair start. It was 2.30 when the first race was held and after six when the colts race was left draw with the prize to be divided among first and second horses.

The track was a trife tiring but in very good shape. This year automobiles were not allowed to park around the judging circle inside the track and the crowd in the stand had an unobstructed view of the track. The plan resulted in a large number of the motorists going into the stand.

Reta Hal, J. Elmhirst, Keene—1-3.

Juby's horse would have won the first heat of the colt race but broke on the last corner. Ret Hal, broke a hobble when finishing the first lap of the second heat when in the lead and Dan won. A second and a first Dr. Sinclair said gave Juby's horse first place. It was 6 o'clock then and the crowds were leaving the grounds. He left it with the owners if they wanted to run another heat and they decided they would split the $50 worth of goods allowed the winners of the colt race.

The prize money was as follows: —2.20 race—$400; 2.30 race $300; Free-for-all $400; cold race— $50 worth of goods. The purses were attractive and the Fair Board deserve merit for arranging the best racing card in Peterboro in a long time. J. A. Brown of Lindsay was timer yesterday and Gus. White, J. M. Brooks, judges of the races.

FOOTBALL NOTES

Burrows, the right half of the Plenty Cup team, was injured at the game at the Exhibition grounds yesterday. He received a cut on the leg that he hurt in the Plenty Cup game and rather than take any further chances on his being disabled for the game with Ottawa, he was urged to leave the field.

Members of the P. and D.F.A. executive are reminded of the meeting in the G.W.V.A. hall at 8 p.m. tonight. With many matters of importance to be discussed a full attendance is desired.

LACROSSE NOTES

The decisive game in the local junior acrosse group will be played here on Thursday between Hastings and Peterboro. Arrangements to stage it at Riverside Park in connection with the garden party given by the church of the Immaculate Conception failed, but the youngsters should have a big crowd of spectators at the Oval where the Foresters' convention will meet in a field day of sports.

The Hasting's team is regarded as a championship possibility. On their own home grounds against Peterboro they ran up a string of counters in a businesslike way, in the meantime showing three or four boys of outstanding ability. Since that game they have had the benefit of the coaching of "Dot" Phelan of Cornwall, and only a week ago defeated Campbellford juniors, strengthened by four of the seniors by a big score, and will make the most of their last chance for the group honors.

Havelock will help keep in shape with an exhibition game on Friday ext with the Shamrocks of Toronto. Some of the Havelock team were here for the races yesterday and declared their determination of defeating Campbellford in the game on the 26th.

AT THE THEATRES

Crowds of people were turned away from the Capitol Theatre last evening, and the house was packed with an appreciative throng of holiday amusement seekers. The programme was exceptionally good the feature picture being something out of the ordinary in the story of a reformed crook, "one of the slickest con men," who turns butler and lives up to his determination to go straight through manifold temptations. He takes with him along the righteous path his sweetheart, who also possesses crooked tendencies, but gives in finally that "honesty is the best policy." The pair have some exciting times in carrying out the hero's plan for abstracting valuable paper from the villain of the piece, a former warden of a state penitentiary, but everything ends in the most satisfactory manner. Noah Beery as man Kerry as Peter, the butler, and Zena Virginia Keefe, his sweetheart do some fine acting, and the picture has an attractive indoor setting in the millionaire home of the Darleys.

The startling serial, "The Avenging Arrow," continues to extract exclamations from a thrilled audience, a Century comedy, "Harem Skarem," with lions in the stellar role and a "Snub" Pollard mix-up, provided the funny element in a well-balanced programme.

ERE WELL CONTESTED EIGHT HUNDRED PRES-

The weather rable and during the af- veral showers came which failed to quench the ardor enthusiasts, though in some he bad weather prevented ontestants entering the lists. the regatta was under the s of the Stoney Lake Cottag- sociation, the committee were all young men who made first official appearance on a atta committee, and did their bit ery capably indeed. Much of the credit was due to the efforts of Mrs. Laurence Grahame, who has become a popular figure at the regattas for some years.

The regatta was attended by about 800 people. The Stoney Lake ran n excursion from Peterboro and the intonia from Sturgeon Point. Both ats were crowded.

The men's single can- ce for the Oxley Cup and the pionship of the Kawartha lakes, one of the best races and was by Braden (Chubb) Blewett who as held the champoinship for years with the exception of last year when he was unable to enter because of an accident.

The men's fours was one of the specially good events and was unique as the prize was won by a crew of ladies who received only a slight handicap.

The tilting race was good also; there were six entries and the interest never lagged.

The Prize List.

The following is the prize list:

Canoe Stunts.

Mr. Braden Blewett gave an exhibition of canoe stunts which were heartily applauded. Mr. Blewett is a wonderful performer and can do practically anything in a canoe.

The regatta committee are grateful for the following companies for their generous donations and prizes: The Lakefield Canoe Co., the Peterboro Canoe Co., the Canadian Canoe Co., the Brown Canoe Co.

The prizes were distributed at the dance which took place in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. J. O. McCarthy and Mrs. L. H. Grahame distributed the prizes.

The dance was a huge success and was one of the events of the season. The scene was like a fairyland with its bevy of pretty girls in their "flosiest frocks," and the goodly representation of gallant cavaliers.

Comparing the regatta with those of former years the committee unanimously declared the crowd to be less than the average, which was undoubtedly due to the inclement weather.

The G. A. Cox cup for dinghy sailing was won by Gerald Curry.

The Fletcher cup for canoe sailing was won by Roslyn Russell.

The Underwood cup, whih has been the property of Harold Knapman for years, was held by him.

The Oxley up for the Men's single canoe was won by Braden Blewett.

The regatta of 1921 has passed nito history and in spite of the weather conditions was quite up to the average in most particulars.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, August 9. Canadian Press. — Prices started off to-day with a continuation of yesterday's late upward tendency. Gains, however, were slight in most instances and business small, the traders holding off for further developments in general conditions before taking definite stand in the market.

American Car gained 1 1-4, and Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Peoples Gas 1-2 points. Mex. Pet. was heavy.

The completion of yesterdays urgent covering in demand sterling and more liberal supply of commercial bills carried it down to 366, compared with 372 1-2, yesterday's highest.

Speculation languished and prices ruled below the morning levels. Affairs of particular corporations had a restrictive effect on the buying of specialties, Pressed Steel Car, Wells-Fargo Express, American Woollen, Woolworth, and Western Union declined 1 to 1 1-2 points.

There was a broad demand for railroad stocks at midday. Great Northern Preferred, Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Southern Pacific, New York Central, Reading Chicago and North Western, Louisville and Nashville, Missouri Pacific Preferred and Baltimore and Ohio moved up one to 1 1-4. Elsewhere apart from Mex Pet and the Mex oil issues, higher prices ruled with the tire, sugar, American Car, Great Northern, Ore and Peoples Gas issues in the best demand. Call money held at 6 per cent, with the demand from interoir for agricultural needs increasing.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9. — Canadian Press.) — Wheat prices showed firmness to-day in conection with signs of further export buying and with the belief that the government report this afternoon would confirm private bullish crop estimates.

Moreover country offerings were only moderate. The houses with northwestern connections led the buying. The initial quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to 1 cent higher, with Sept., 1.22 1-4 to 1.22 3-4, and Dec., 1.25 1-2 to 1.26, were followed by gains all around, and then something of a reaction.

Corn sympathised with the wheat strength. After opening unchanged to 1-4c higher, including Sept. at 57 1-2 to 57 5-8c, the market continued to harden.

Oats were governed by the action of other cereals, starting unchanged to 1-8c higher Sept., 37, and then scoring additional upturns.

Higher quotations on hogs helped to list provisions.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, August 9 (Canadian Press). — The Toronto Stock Exchange experienced another quiet session this morning. Trade was very light, with only one stock recording sales of more than 100 shares —Steamship Preferred, the stock in question, opened 3-4 above yesterday's close, and maintained its overnight gain, closing at 53 1-2. Imperial Bank, second in point of activity, was a point higher on the opening, and later lost 3-4, but at the close had regained this loss with the last sale at 185. Spanish River Preferred was off 1-2 point at 65, while Wayagamack, opening at 38, sold off to 35.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, August 9 (Canadian Press). — With the exception of a bad decline in Wayagama, which closed for the morning at 35 1-4, a drop of 4 3-4 points since yesterday. The Stock market to-day was uninteresting. Abitibi remained unchanged at its opening figure, as did also Brazilian at 24. Brompton weakened a point to 21. Dominion Steel was quiet at its opening figures, Laurentide strengthened 1-4 point to 71 1-4. Riordon did not vary from its opening.

FORMER KAISER'S ORDERS TO NAVY.

His Ideas on Moustaches, Marrying and Dueling.

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—Former Kaiser Wilhelm's interest in minor details concerning the officers of the late German navy is revealed by a set of secret orders just uncovered.

The Kaiser insisted on having his fingers in everything, from forbidding the wearing of mustaches by naval officers to letting out broad hints that there was not enough dueling going on, or that too many officers were getting engaged to be married to suit him. The following is a typical example of the secret orders issued by the Kaiser himself or the commanding admiral:

"His Majesty, the Kaiser, recently was gracious enough to point out that he, the All-Highest Lord, did not wish to have naval officers wear mustaches only. The Imperial Commanders are requested to see that this wish is obeyed."

Even more amusing is the indignation expressed by the Kaiser in an order which he issued following the narrow escape of one of the battleships from being sunk.

"I will not tolerate any foolhardiness on the part of officers to the extent of endangering my battleships. I require my battleships to be in the highest possible number and strength to carry out my political programme."

Drink Only in Clubs.

Other orders deal with drunkenness among officers. the Kaiser expressing the wish that all drinking on the ships, and that if anybody insisted on getting drunk he should be confined to the officers' clubs and do so in private. Another order forbids the publication of obituary notices of officers committing suicide as they were not worthy of sympathy. Of more importance, however, is the order issued on June 13, 1900, concerning the behaviour of His Majesty's officers while passing through the English Channel. The order follows in part:

"Aside from the special orders which the Admiralty issues all ships must unostentatiously steer a course along the northern coast of France for the following purpose, unless prevented by bad weather:

1. Commanders and all officers under them must make themselves familiar with navigation conditions along the French coast in case of war.

2. They must check up on the correctness of the present reports, particularly of the views of the French Coast issued by the Admiralty in 1899.

3. This report must be completed by means of new photographic pictures of other points which are important for navigation purposes.

This document is just another piece of evidence that the Kaiser thought of war 14 years before it actually started.

PET RATTLESNAKE ROAMS SKYSCRAPER

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.— A five-foot rattlesnake has been enjoying the unwilling hospitality of the Hudson Terminal Building since Tuesday morning and the other tenants have been visibly agitated. The reptile crawled out of a box in which it had been checked at the parcel room at 30 Church street by a circus man, and wriggled its way to freedom.

A negro porter, awakening from a siesta, saw the snake crawling over one of the telephone booths. He hastily retired for reinforcements. He recruited a doubting squad of guards and watchmen, but the snake in the meantime had wiggled out of sight.

Like the Ancient Mariner, the terrified porter found only skeptical listeners to his tlae until a man in a cowboy hat and bandanna called at the parcel room for a box. He lifted the cover and found two rattlesnakes sleeping peacefully—but the third, the biggest and strongest, had escaped. The circus man, as he confessed himself, asked the girls who attend the several counters in the big building where milk is sold, to be on the watch for his pet, as rattlesnakes, he explained, are partial to milk.

In the meantime all frequenters of the building are avoiding dark corners. According to the traffic guard, a reward of $100 has been offered for the capture of the snake, but nobody wants to win it.

EAST PETERBORO WINNERS EASY FOR THE C.G.E.

The C.G.E. team, the local City League champs., failed to find much opposition in their clash with the Keene outfit. East Peterboro League winners in the O. B. A. A. intermediate series fixture at Riverside Park last evening, winning hands down by 14 to 2. Despite the vocal encouragement of a goodly flock of followers the Keene team seemed to be suffering from stage fright and performed much below their standard as the total of fifteen at the bottom of their error column shows, while George O'Dette, their box artist, was anything but a puzzle, C.G.E. collecting fifteen hits, including a homer, two triples and a brace of doubles.

On the other hand the East Peterboro winners could do little with the offerings of Len Johnston who pitched the first seven innings for the electricians and who allowed them only one hit and a run less than that. McCarney finished the game and two errors and a hit gave the visitors their only counters in the eighth.

C.G.E. got two in the first. Rutherford led off with a double to left and although caught between second and third, reached second safely when Fletcher dropped the ball. He scored on Barrie's out to Reid. Corrin reached first on Reid's mess of Fletcher's throw, stole second and took third on Hawkins' catch of Froste's foul. A wild pitch sent him home. Helson walked but Dugan lined to M. Hawkins.

In the second Foley singled over third and stole second. Batten fanned but Johnston bunted safely and when Reid dropped the throw Foley scored. Rutherford hit to left for three bases scoring Johnston and registering himself when Hawkins muffed the throw in. Barrie was safe on Fletcher's fumble and eventually scored on a wild pitch.

Rutherford was safe on Nelson's wide throw in the fourth and Barrie hit safely. Corrin grounded out to Reid and the first baseman threw to second to head off Barrie. Fletcher forgot to touch the runner but Barrie thought he was freed and ran into the bench. Frost singled to centre to score Rutherford. Helson fouled out.

C.G.E. made it 11 to 0 in the seventh, with one down, Foley tripled to left and completed the circuit on M. Renwick's wide throw home. Batten rolled to Paudash but Johnston singled through short and Rutherford was hit. Singles by Barrie and Corrin and a fumble by Paudash sent three runs in before Helson ended the innings by flying out to J. O'Dette in centre.

With McCarney pitching for the C.G.E. the East Peterboro champs broke into the scoring column in the eighth. G. O'Dette got a lift on Rutherford's miss at his grounder to short and stole second. Fletcher fanned but Paudash singled past third, scoring O'Dette and taking second on the throw to the plate. J. O'Dette bunted and McCarney threw over Corrin's head, Paudash registering. The next two were easy.

C.G.E. got them back with an extra one in their half. Dugan opened with a single thrown short and a miss by Paudash, Foley's single and a bad throw by Hawkins let in two runners. Batten fanned and Johnston hoisted to Fletcher after which Rutherford cupped a slow ball over third for a home run.

Alabama has a medical man who is less sensitive on the question of advertising than the profession generally. He appears also to have a genius for picturesque condensation. A sign on his door announces, "Doctor of all diseases of the skin and contents!" For the nearest approach to the Alabama case the Orillia Packet editor's memory goes back to the Coldwater of twenty or twenty-five years ago, when one Dr. Butler displayed on the side of his house a sign in letters measuring about three feet deep, and whose professional card announced, "Skin and all other diseases a specialty!"

Native to New Guinea is a giant spider, its body as big as a hazelnut, with hairy legs two inches long. It spins a web six fet in diameter and very strong. Advantage of this fact is taken by the cannibals of the island, who set up long bamboo sticks in places frequented by the spiders thereby offering an invitation to the arachnids to spin webs across them By this simple means ready made nets are obtained which the cannibals use for catching fish.

CHANGE OF WATER

DIARRHOEA

People moving from place to place are very much subject to diarrhoea on account of the change of water, climate, diet, etc. Prompt treament with in such cases relieves the pain, checks the diarrhoea, and thus does away with the suffering, the weakness and oftentimes collapse associated with an attack of this kind. It does this by checking the too frequent and irritating stools, settling the stomach and bracing up the weakened system, thus rendering it without a peer for the treatment of all bowel complaints of both old and young.

Mrs. Ernest S. Beaton, Grayburn, Sask., writes:—"Coming out here from the East, my two little girls took very sick, the change of water, etc., giving them diarrhoea. They were so pale, and used to vomit everything they would take, so I finally got a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and I must say it certainly helped them. I have also used it when my children were sick, and it is all you claim for it."

CHIROPRACTIC
Spinal Adjustment

DR. A. P. ROGERS wishes to inform the Public he has OPENED AN OFFICE in the City for the PRACTICE OF CHIROPRACTIC AND GENERAL DRUGLESS HEALING.
CHIROPRACTIC is not a fad—it is a system of Healing based on Scientific facts and proven correct by very careful Clinical investigations.
It has to do with the main factor in the "Tripod of Life"—Nerve Energy and without which the other two factors, Respiration and Circulation, could not function.
A loss of Nerve Energy means loss of Function and lack of Resistance, the result of which is Disease. The most likely place where loss of Nerve Impulses occur is where the Nerve Trunks have their exit from the cord through the openings in the Spinal Column.
Due to slight Misplacements or slipping of one Vertebrae upon the other (Subluxation) the exit is narrowed and pressure is brought to bear upon the Nerve, causing a blocking of the impulses to a greater or lesser degree.
By Adjustment of the Misplaced Vertebrae the normal flow of energy is resumed and the part involved is restored to Normal.
Health is mankind's greatest asset. If you have it, we will help you keep it.
If you have lost it, we will help you regain it.

PLUMB ASSAILS POLICY ADOPTED BY RAILWAYS; UNEMPLOYMENT THE FIRST QUESTION, HE STATES

SHUTTING DOWN REPAIR SHOPS BIG MISTAKE, HE TELLS CONVENTION OF RAILWAY CAR MEN IN TORONTO.

EXPENSE OFFSETTING SAVING ON PAYROLLS

TORONTO, August 10 (Canadian Press). — "The most important question is that of unemployment," stated Glenn E. Plumb, counsel for the Railway Carmen of America, in addressing the convention at Massey Hall this morning.

The American railways, in their zeal for retrenchment, have shut down very largely their repair shops. In that way they have mistakenly supposed they have been working huge economies. As a matter of fact, the plan has been most disastrous and most uneconomical. The little they have saved in reduced pay rolls has been more than offset by the excessive cost of the few repairs made outside and the vastly excessive accumulation of bad order cars and equipment.

"The cost of repairs made in outside shops," continued Mr. Plumb, "is from 300 to 600 per cent. in excess of like repairs made in their own shops ,and this excess does not take into consideration at all the accumulating fixed charges on these, their own shop capacity. The car equipment shows about 23 per cent. bad order, which means to-day over 700,000 freight cars, which is three times the number considered within the margin of safety. The accumulation of bad order locomotives is at about the same percentage.

"When they do resume their shop operations, if they ever do, under private management, their shops will be taxed far beyond capacity, for a bad order car is like an untenanted house. Depreciation is much more rapid when it is standing on the side track than when in use.

"Not only will repair demand exceed shop capacity, but it will exceed labour capacity as well. The men available when business resumes will not have a labour capacity sufficient to meet this accumulation of unmaintained equipment.

"While the question of unemployment has been forced upon their men by this policy of retrenchment, that of the reorganisation of the railways so as to remove and prevent the recurrence of such conditions is first in its immediate and vital importance to the public. We have proposed a plan which would prevent that recurrence. It would give workers security of employment, and at the same time give the public insurance against this extravagant economy."

DASHING FIANCE WAS A WOMAN IN MALE CLOTHING

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(Canadan Press.)—How her romance of two years was blasted when she learned that her dashing fiance was a girl affecting a boy's attitre was told by Mary Haldowaelz, 23 years old, counter girl of a local restaurant, to the Assistant District Attorney to-day.

The intended bride asked that the alleged impersonator be hailed into court for causing her to lose her matrimonial chances and to prevent "him" from duping other girls. The girl said her "fiance," known to her as "Jack Brown," in reality is a Kingston, N.Y., girl. "Jack" was handsome, wore overalls, short hair and said that to avoid shaving he used a preparation to destroy his beard. The girl was told that "Jack" could not be summoned unless "he" came to the city.

FIRE DESTROYED BOYS' CLUBHOUSE

FIER DEPARTMENT HAD A RUN TO THE BOUNDARY.

Caused, it was believed by the firemen, from youths smoking in the tumble-down building, a fire destroyed an old shack across the bounadry at the end of Bolivar street at 10.0 last night and made a pretty bonfire for the residents in that vicinity. A few old boards and sundry other debris formed the structure, which was almost in ruins when the firemen arrived. The alarm came in from Box 32, Bolivar and John stheets. The blaze consumed the rendezvous of youths in that part of the city and mothers will shed no tears over the loss of the shack, where wilfulness was engendered in young hearts.

FALSE ALARM AT BOX FIFTY-NINE

FIREMEN HAD A TWO MILE RUN FOR NOTHING

Malicious criminality was displayed in this city on Monday afternoon At 2.50 p.m. the fire alarm at Box 59 Auburn rang out as resonantly as ever and was promptly answered by the fire department. After a dash through the city they reached the supposed scene of the fire only to be informed by several residents that they knew nothing of a fire and it must have been a false alarm. The alarm had plainly been rung in the box showed that; and the only conclusion was that boys or youths in a dangerous spirit of adventure smashed the glass and called the department to the northern outskirt. In this action a dangerous element to the safety of others showed themselves. Boys or young men who will ring in a false alarm are the same class as take enjoyment out of putting sones on railway tracks, throwing fire crackers at horses or putting glass on the road. While the fire department were at Auburn a serious fire might have occurred and the men and equipment two miles away been unable to reach the fire within many minutes. The person who would set fire to a house is no more dangerous to the community than youths who ring in fire alarms "just for fun".

NEW STAR MIGHT HAVE BEEN SEEN FROM THIS CITY

Citizens who have reported seeing an exceedingly bright star-like object on the western horizon during the past few days may be among the few observers of what astronomers at the Lick Observatory, California, believe may be a new star or comet. The object is now under observation of the astronomers at the Lick station, and if it proves to be a new star the credit for its discovery will go to Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, former U. S. airman and ace, and Major Reed Chambers, also a U. S. army flier.

Rickenbacker and Chambers, guests at the observatory, drew the attention of the astronomers to it. Observations with the naked eye were made on Sunday and telescopic study of the object by night since has convinced the officials of the observatory that it is an astral body, though whether new or not is still in doubt.

A telegram to Harvard University announcing the discovery, said: "Star-like object, certainly brighter than Venus, three degrees east ,one degree south of the sun. Chances favor nucleus of bright comet; less probably nova."

QUEBEC STORK BEATS INCOME TAX GATHERER

LARGE BIRTH RATE IN THAT PROVINCE RESULTS IN EXEMPTION FROM INCOME TAX FOR MOST, ESPECIALLY THE FARMERS.

MAN WITH $4,100 INCOME PAID NO TAX

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

QUEBEC, August 10. — Canada's income tax coffers would be about as well filled as the collection plate at a misers' meeting if the families in the cities, towns, villages, and rural districts of the Dominion mustered the same strength as in the Province of Quebec.

In brief, the Quebec stork has entered into a conspiracy to defeat the aims of the Federal Minister of Finance.

Such, at least, is the subtle hint conveyed at the local branch of the Income Tax Department, which is now busy combing its lists for 1920 delinquents.

"The reason why there will be so few taxpayers in the rural districts," explained Mr. L. G. Auvin, assistant inspector of taxation in the districts of Quebec, "is that the number of children per family entitles the head of the family to exemption which more than offset the tax.

"There is a case I have just reviewed of a Chicoutimi farmer who reported a net income of $4,100.00 for 1920, but who escaped all taxes.

"He has eleven children under the age of 18 years. Thus, deducting $200.00 for each child and his personal exemption of $2,000 as a married man, it actually leaves him a margin of safety of $100.00."

CHANGE OF VENUE OFFERED TO SMALL

STATE WILL ALLOW TRIAL IN ANY COURT, IT IS ANNOUNCED

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Aug. 10. — (By United Press.)—Len Small, arrested Illoinois Governor, to-day was offered a change of venue by Stotes Attorney Fred Mortimer.

The Governor has frequently been quoted as saying he would not be given a fair trial in Sangamon county court, where warrants charging him with embezzling large sums of State money were returned.

In a statement to-day Mortimer outlined a plan whereby the Governor could obtain a change of venue into another county when his case comes up for trial.

There will be six days of motor boat racing at the C. N. E. this year starting Thursday, Sept. 1.

BACK TO EDEN STYLES SEEMS THE TENDENCY

SO REV. C. E. ROSS SAYS OF ROLLED HOSE AND OTHER EXTREMES OF ERA OF REVELATION IN FEMININE ATTIRE.

THANKFUL PETERBORO NOT AFFECTED GREATLY

According to the despatches, the young ladies of the northern towns, including Cobalt, Haileybury, New Liskeard and Englehart, are becoming very much addicted to the habit o fthe "rolled top" stocking, the latest importation from the bathing beaches. At dance halls and on the streets are seen constant displays of dimpled and otherwise knees.

Rev. Father O'Gorman of St. Patrick's church in Cobalt, has for two years refused communion to young women who patronize too conspicuously the extremes of fashion, and regarding the latest decree, says: "It is ridiculous that any young woman should wear roll stockings after she has reached the age of ten years."

Rev. G. E. Ross of Mark street Methodist church, in East City, although he regards his own congregation as being almost free from excesses of this sort, says: "Any woman who allows her child to appear in these ridiculous "roll top" stockings, should be strongly censured, and any young woman who wears them should be ashamed of herself." The reverend gentleman expressed himself strongly on the subject, saying that with the tendency of feminine apparel to ascend from the bottom and descend from the top, there appeared to be at one time a likelihood of the present generation reverting to the dress of the aboriginal savages, or possibly, in time, to the initial stage of dress, the figleaf of the Garden of Eden. However he feels that there is a strong feeling abroad against the modern style of dress, and is thankful that Peterboro has very few (comparatively speaking) of these tendencies to war against.

TELLEGEN TURNED TARZAN AND THAT CAUSED FINAL SMASH IN PLATONIC AFFAIR WITH FARRAR

LONG BEACH, N.Y., Aug. 10.—(By United Press.)—"Tellegen turned Tarzan; he started to love her 'rough'; that caused the trouble."

This was the laconic summing up by an intimate friend of both principals in the Tellegen-Farrar domestic shipwerck which is now in the Westchester county courts. The final smash-up came on a day late in July when the famous prima donna visited Tellegen at his fishing shack here, according to the story. It was their first meeting, say the friends, in ten months, and Tellegen forgot the platonic role which friends allege he had played for, five years with his beautiful wife.

The little fishing shack, the friends explain, where Bernhardt's actor lover had sought seclusion in an effort to "forget," echoed and re-echoed with the sounds of loud voices. Then Farrar, flushed and angry, was seen to hurry from the house, enter her car and start at break neck speed for New York.

"We passed the afternoon together," Tellegen is said to have told his friends. "What happened will never be told by me." Farrar visited Tellegen at his beach camp, it is said, on "diplomacy bent." The man who had thrilled thousands with the passions of his kisses had failed to thrill the one woman in the one way his heart desired. Rifts appeared on their domestic horizon with results now known.

BYNG OF VIMY COMES BEFORE EXPECTED TIME

CANADA'S NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL REACHED QUEBEC ON EMPRESS OF FRANCE THIS AFTERNOON.

QUEBEC, August 10. Canadian Press. — Baron Byng of Vimy, Canada's new Governor-General, arrived here on the Empress of France this afternoon. As the ship arrived earlier than anticipated arrangements have been made to entertain His Excellency privately, until to-morrow, when he will be formally sworn in.

GLADIOLI SHOW ATTRACTS CROWDS

MODEST INITIAL EFFORT BRINGS OUT BRILLIANT SPIKES.

Unsheathed swords with tips of glorious color from flaming reds to ivory whites and soft flesh tints, but with never a flash of steel, made a beautiful display in the Redfern store window of the A. W. Cressman Company.

It is Peterborough's first gladiolous show and considering the fact that it is the result of only a four days' effort it is really a splendid exhibit. Less than a week ago the idea had not been born, but at the week end it was suggested as a little feature in connection with the Dominion Florists' convention. And today a window full of brilliant spearheads greeted the florists and the public. The familiar varieties, "America," "Mrs. Francis King," "Halley," "Glory of Holland" and others seemed crowded into the background by newcomers that wore a conscious air of superiority in their exotic colors and splendid forms. The special exhibit of the Peterborough Floral Company was in itself a fine display. It included an exceptionally striking group of a rare pink with an illusion of a fluted edge effect that claimed first attention. This is "Roen Van Kummerland." One of finest spikes, to the writer the best in the whole window, was the centre one in the first prize lot shown by Joseph Grierson. It is full formed with every blossom a gem, and while its coloring lacks the flamboyancy of some of its companions, it has a soft richness, shading from a flesh color to a faint blush.

"But old America is as good as any of them" was the opinion of one of visiting florists discussing the exhibit with firends.

Much of the success of this first attempt at a gladiolus exhibit is due to Mr. Leonard Fraser, secretary of the Horticultural Society, but the co-operation of those citizens whose entries were indispensable, was the main factor in the achievement. It was an agreebale surprise to discover that quite a number of Peterborough gardeners have gladioli from which this exhibit was collected. But at the other end of the province, St. Thomas is holding a gladiolus show, which some regard as the premier in America.

The Cat Show at the Canadian National Exhibition will be Aug 30, Aug. 31 and Sept. 1.

Carpenters are now at work on alterations that will give the needed extra accommodation and permit of an improved service that will meet the new demands and amplify the service this specialty shop in ladies wear has provided since its successful opening. The second floor is being remodelled into a new department exclusively for suits and coats. This will not only provide more room for the display of these goods but will also increase the service of entire store, the main floor of which will now be devoted to ladies' dresses, skirts, and blouses. With the greater accommodation and an augmented staff La Mode Limited will be in a better position than ever to serve the ladies of the city to their fullest satisfaction. The alterations will be completed in about fifteen days, and in the meantime the regular business will be carried on as usual. The enlarged store, however, will mark a new phase of La Mode Limited's progress, and especially in the advantages of service which the management has endeavored to provide for the ladies of Peterboro and this district during the last seven months.

TO GIVE HUNS GREATER PART OF U. SILESIA

EXPERTS WHO WORKED MOST OF NIGHT DRAFTING TENTATIVE DIVISION PROPOSE TO AWARD MINING REGION TO POLES.

TONE OF FRENCH PRESS IS BITTER

BY WEBB MILLER,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, Aug. 10.— The Council met again to-day to consider the report of the experts who worked most of the night in drafting a tentative division of Silesia between Germany and Poland. Following Lloyd George's suggestion they proposed that German should have the greater part of the region, while Poland will be awarded the richest mining region.

French Press Bitter.

Premier Lloyd George was charged to-day with using "strong arm" tactics in forcing an agreement on the partition of Upper Silesia.

Typical of the comment on the Supreme Council session yesterday, in which the Premier swung the gathering to the British view of the situation, was the complaint of "Bertinax" in the Echo De Paris. "Britain has forced us to accept a Downing Street settlement on the penalty of being abandoned by the Entente. That is going rather far."

America's attitude toward commerce at the beginning of the Worl War was used by the Allied Supreme Council to decide its course on the Greco-Turkish question.

The Allies decided to preserve strict neutrality with no intervention in the shape of military or credits assistance. There will be no interference with private commerce.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, August 10. Canadian Press.—Prices broke with some severity after the dull opening; Mex. Petroleum and New York Shipbuilding losing almost 4 points. Prices having recently demonstrated their inability to rise, traders sold the general list freely, the possibilities of the bear side being more promising for the moment.

Equipments, motors, shippings, steels, sugar and railroad stocks showed little support. Gen. Electric dropped two points, to a new low level for the year, and South Porto Rico Sugar, 5 points. Foreign exchange rates were steady and call money held at 6 per cent., with the government announcing that $19,000,000 would be withdrawn from local institutions to-morrow.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10. Canadian Press. — The government confirmation of big damage to crops led to higher prices in the wheat market to-day. Buying was general at the start on the subsequent bulge in values. However profit taking sales broadened out. Initial quotations which varied from 1 to 2 1-4 cents higher, with September 1.24 3-4 to 1.25 1-2, and December 1.28 1-4 to 1.29, were followed by a moderate set back though not sufficient to wipe out all the gains.

Evidence of increasing receipts weakened corn. After opening 1-4 to 3-4 cents higher, including Sept. at 58 1-4 to 58 1-2, the market receded to well below yesterday's finish.

Oats paralleled the action of corn, starting 1-8 to 1-2c higher. Sept. 37 1-4 to 37 1-2, and then undergoing a material sag. Weakness in the hog market pulled down provisions.

TORONTO

TORONTO, August 10. Canadian Press.—Upward movement that has held sway for some time received a check this morning during the dull session of the local stock market. Declines were fairly numerous and included 1 1-2 points in Steamship Preferred, Steel of Canada 3-4 lower, Toronto 1 lower and Brazilian 3-8 lower. Wayagamack, an unlisted paper stock, was 1 1-4 lower at 33 3-4; while Brompton was off a point at 51. An odd lot of Spanish River went at 51 1-2 as compared with 54 bid last night. Dominoin Steel, the most active stock, however, advanced 3-4 to 27 1-4.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Aug. 10.— (Canadian Press.)—Considerable weakness prevailed in the local stock exchange during this morning's session. Abitibi, however, did not vary, but closed at its opening quotation. Brazilion was weaker by a quarter of a point at 23 1-2c. Brompton remained unchanged all morning. Laurentide rose a 1-4 point to 69 1-2.

LIVESTOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Receipts 1,228, trade fairly active. Quotations:

DO VOTES MEAN MORE THAN MERE ECONOMY?

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—On account of the unpopularity of the task and by reason of inevitable heavy unemployment during the coming winter, the Government's plans for civil service reconstruction and cutting down of staffs which under Griffenhagen and associates was commenced in the Customs and Post Office Departments, may be discontinued for the time being at least, and not extended to the other departments. However desirable in the interests of economy and efficiency the re-organization may be, the dismissal of employees is not calculated to secure votes for the Government in Ottawa at least.

The re-organization last year of the Printing Bureau was carried out with a considerable amount of ruthlessness and with little interference on the part of the Government. Several hundred employees were turned out without, it is said, imparing the efficiency of the bureau But a committee of Cabinet has undertaken a revision of the prescribed lists on the Post Office and Customs Departments, as a result of which a very large proportion of those listed for dismissal have been retained. In fact, the amount of economy effected will scarcely justify the heavy expense incurred through the services of the experts.

DISARMAMENT PROSPECT NOT ALL OPTIMISM

UNDER THE SURFACE IN OFFICIAL CIRCLES COMING CONFERENCE IS VIEWED WITH HOPEFULNESS, COUPLED WITH MISGIVINGS.

OBSTACLES IN WAY LOOM FORMIDABLE

WASHINGTON, August 10. — (By Canadian Press.)—Not all is optimism with respect to the forthcoming disarmament conference. It is true that most of the official outgivings and the comment seen in print assumes the conference will be a success and result in a definite and satisfactory agreement for the reduction of armaments, or, at least, of naval armament. But under the surface, talk is of a decidedly different nature.

Everybody is hoping, of course, that the conference will succeed and will result in such a start in the reduction of armaments as to mean lighter tax burdens for the world. Americans have been fond of thinking of themselves as lightly taxed in comparison with other peoples, but they have abandoned that sort of an impression. Thinking men are saying that the tax burdens of the United States are getting to be intolerable and cannot continue and that expenses—especially those of navy and army—must be reduced so as to lighten this load. No doubt if entertained that statesmen of other enlightened countries take the same view as to their own national tax problems.

But granting all this, there is under the surface much doubt and misgiving about the success of the disarmament conference. The obstacles in the way of success are formidable. In the first place, there is doubt as to how far the Pacific complications with Japan can be adjusted. A part of the Japanese people are anxious to settle them, but there is the militaristic element to be taken into account. How far its influence will prevent an agreement, no one can tell but it is recognized here as an obstacle.

French insistence that if she disarms on the land side, the other countries must agree to protect her eastern border, will block any arrangement with this country, and probably mean failure of movements to reduce armies. The senate will not ratify any such agreement any more than it would ratify Article 10.

It is assumed here that Great Britain though anxious for reduction of naval burdens, will still insist that this be so effected as to insure British supremacy. This is taken to be the meaning of the recent statement attributed to Lloyd George that Great Britain would go on building. While it is recognized here that Great Britain by reason of her position could hardly be expected to abandon her naval supremacy, on the other hand when it comes to this country entering into an agreement which recognizes such supremacy, there arises the very practical question whether the senate will approve it. Obviously such an agreement would be under fire from many elements in the United States the instant it was announced.

On the whole, therefore, it is a good deal to talk about disarmament and reduction of armaments than to formulate a programme which will get anywhere.

If the Anglo-Japanese alliance were thrown overboard, there is no doubt it would contribute to the possibilities of success of the conference. Feeling is here that the influence of Canada and Australia as well as other dominions, will be highly useful in this respect. If this were effected and the United States would yield a certain degree of naval preponderance to Great Britain by reason of her geographical and maritime situation — something which some able men here advocate —the road to disarmament, or large reduction of armament, would be comparatively easy.

Here is the thing which farseeing men are asking and they think the question may overawe the conference into doing something worth while. It is: 'What will happen if the disarament conference fails? Will the United States then in spite of itself be driven headlong toward another war, presumably in the Pacific?" Another war is too terrible to contemplate. It might mean the wreck of western civilization. After all, the fear of this untoward thing, suspended like the sword of Damocles over the conference, will be the most potent force working toward an understanding.

15,000,000 WOMEN DUE FOR CELIBACY

PARIS, August 10. — Canadian Press.) — Fifteen million women in Europe are doomed to die unmarried, to become "old maids," unless the problems presented by the superfluity of women are solved. This melancholy statement is supported by the international statistics published here to-day which show that the numerical superiority of women has increased by ten millions since 1914.

U.S. WILL SLASH TAXES $600,000

DRASTIC CUT IN EXPENDITURES DECIDED ON.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Taxes will be reduced six hundred thousand dollars and there will be no new taxes levied except a small increase in the corporation tax. This was decided upon at a conference at the White House late yesterday at which President Harding, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and the Republican leader of the House agreed to slash government expenditures and reduce the tax burden even more than the House Ways and Means committee had contemplated.

FIRST SHIPMENT OF CANADIAN CHILLED BEEF

LONDON, Aug. 16.— (Canadian Press.) —The first consignment of Canadian chilled beef to come to this country is expected to arrive next week. The meat, which is shipped from Montreal, will be placed on sale at once on the London, Liverpool and Manchester markets.

Hitherto Argentina has been the largest exporter of chilled beef to Britain ,and if the present Canadian experiment meets with success, the chilled beef trade is likely to become one of Canada's important industries, says the Times.

FOUR DROWNED IN ATTEMPT TO SAVE ANOTHER

FIVE OF ONE FAMILY LIVES NEAR SMITH'S FALLS—FATHER AND THREE CHILDREN TRIED TO SAVE FOURTH CHILD.

CHILD HAD WADED BEYOND HER DEPTH

OTTAWA, Aug. 10.— (Canadian Press.)— Five lives were lost in a tragic accident at Lombardy, Ontario, yesterday, when Thomas Toohey, aged 53 years, and his four children were drowned in the waters of Otter Lake, one of the Rideau chain of lakes situated about four miles from Smiths Falls, after the father and three of his daughters had made a gallant effort to save the life of Laura Toohey, aged nine years, who while bathing, waded beyond her depth.

The dead are Thomas Toohey, aged 53 years, father of the Toohey family, Bernard Toohey, aged 27 years, his eldest son, Kathleen Toohey, aged 25 years, Dorothy Toohey, aged 11 years, Laura Toohey, aged 9.

CROP CONDITIONS

Following is a summary of the reports made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The harvesting season is said to be the earliest in the memory of Ontario farmers. Some have already completed the cutting of their grain, although others are now engaged with their oats. A considerable quantity of grain is being threshed in the fields.

What barley and oats have been threshed have been a disappointment. The general yield is below the average, and in the cast of oats much of it is light in weight. Rust is also reported. Very little grain so far has been marketed.

Corn is likely to be the most satisfactory crop of the season for both the crib and the silo, although Lambton reports the presence of considerable smut.

Potatoes as a rule are yielding poorly, although a few good fields have been reported.

Most of the sales of hay during the week were made around $20.00 a ton for this year's cut.

Kent reports that a good deal of fall ploughing is being done for fall wheat, some of it with tractors.

Lambton says that the acreage of fall wheat will be normal, or more, judging by the number of hay and clover fields that are being ploughed up.

Grasshoppers have been doing considerable injury to crops in Lennox and Addington. One farmer estimates the damage to his oats at $500.00.

Several carloads of live stock were shipped from Paisley during the week. Ten heavy finished steers brought $7.55 a cwt., others $6.50. All these animals were purchased around 12 cents a pound last fall.

Dundas says that a few dry cows have been disposed of as low as from $12.00 to $15.00 each, and that some milkers have changed hands at $20.00.

Lennox and Addington quote milk prices at from $1.10 to $1.16 a cwt. at factories, and at $1.25 for the Farmers' Dairy. Western condenseries are paying prices very much higher.

Hogs are going slowly to market at from $12.15 to $15.00 a cwt.

DOMINIONS NOT TO HAVE VOTES AT CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON DECIDES THAT THEIR REPRESENTATIVES MUST SIT AS BRITISH DELEGATES AT DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE.

JAPANESE COMPLETE LIST OF ACCEPTANCES

WASHINGTON, August 10. Canadian Press.—The Japanese Government in a message received at the State Department yesterday formally notified the United States Government it was "happy to accept" the sugestion of the United States that an international conference on limitation of armaments and Far Eastern affairs, should assemble in Washington on Armistice Day, November 11th.

This completes the list of acceptances.

Washington takes the position, however ,that if Canadian or other British overseas dominions, are to sit at conference they must do so as delegates of the British government, not as separate Dominion governments.

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 10TH, 1921.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

With the return to Canada of Premier Meighen, speculation as to the next development in Federal politics is renewed. Ottawa advices represent a majority of the Cabinet as favouring a speedy dissolution of the House, while the private members as a whole are inclined to cling to office as long as possible, and to support the holding of another session before going to the country. Which policy will finally be adopted there is no definite means of deciding, but it seems reasonable to expect that the result of the five by-elections which will have to be held shortly will determine the course to be followed. If the majority of the seats are won by the Government, it would be idle to look for anything else than another session of the present House. On the other hand, if the result of the by-elections is against the Government, it seems probable that a general election would have to be held this autumn.

WHY CARE IS NEEDED.

A motorist, resenting some of the harsh things that have been said recently about the number of accidents in which motor cars figured, declares that the majority of mishaps are due to the carelessness of pedestrians rather than to neglect on the part of car owners. Undoubtedly some pedestrians are careless. They walk blindly across busy streets at any point they take the notion, step out suddenly from behind a street car, cut across a corner, and do half a dozen other thoughtless things as if they had never heard of such a machine as an automobile.

But this tendency to ignore commonsense principles does not absolve the motorist from blame in case of an accident. Rather should it cause him to be more careful in the handling of his car, to always have his powerful machine under absolute control, and to avoid dangerous speeding. The very fact that some absent-minded person is likely to suddenly walk off the pavement in the path of his machine should make every driver realise that only by exercising every reasonable precaution against accidents can he feel safe. A more general appreciation of that simple truth would make conditions in our Canadian cities more secure for motorists and pedestrians alike.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

Unfortunately the industrial situation is not improving, and although by reason of seasonal activity in certain lines of outdoor work the percentage of unemployed in Peterborough shows a slight reduction, it is only too clear that the coming winter will see a large number of men unable to find employment.

It is time that the question of what Peterborough as a municipality is going to do to grapple with the problem was reviewed, and an effort made to decide upon a policy that will alleviate as far as possible the ill effects of a general depression.

The Dominion and Provincial Governments have, of course, a share of the responsibility, but it would be unwise to let the matter drift along, so far as local action is concerned, until the crisis is upon us. What can be done by the municipal government to assist in solving the problem is not readily apparent, and the difficulty of finding a way out only emphasises the necessity of an early consideration of the whole problem. The City Council will have no more serious or pressing matter than the unemployment situation to deal with, and a consideration of ways and means cannot safely be deferred much longer.

"WHERE POPPIES BLOW."

On many occasions the suggestion has been brought forward that Canadian cities should commemorate the men who gave up their lives overseas by planting beds of poppies in parks and cemeteries in honour of the memory of those who sleep beneath the red poppies of France and Flanders. Invariably agricultural authorities have frowned upon the proposal, pointing out the obvious truth that the poppy itself is a veritable nuisance, and that its introduction into Canada on a large scale would cause much trouble to the farmers, for it spreads quickly and is very difficult to kill off once it obtains a hold.

But while the real flower must of necessity be kept out, Canadians are being given an opportunity of using the poppy for commemorative purposes. Over in France a large number of widows in the devastated portions of the country are being employed in the manufacture of artificial poppies, and these are being sold in Canada to be worn on Armistice Day, Veterans' Decoration Day, and other similar occasions, while wreaths and crosses of silk poppies are to be sold for use by the banks, stores, and manufacturing plants. In a number of Canadian cities these artificial poppies have been sold in aid of patriotic causes, and the movement is likely to spread to Peterborough.

THE TRAGEDY OF LOST TIME.

The wastage of man-power through strikes is given constructive attention in the August bulletin of the Royal Bank of Canada. Very distressing are the figures which accompany the article, and it is assumable that they have a deeper meaning to the men who, like bankers, have their fingers constantly on the pulse of the nation's industrial life than to the casual onlooker. Be that as it may, the facts in relation to six leading nations are as follows:

	No. of Strikers.	No. Working Days Lost.
Germany	1,866,378	18,201,660
Italy	1,781,250	21,650,200
France	1,186,670	19,358,400
Great Britain	1,117,040	16,926,900
United States	959,700	11,287,400
Spain	727,700	11,630,100

Commenting on these facts, the editor makes the following pertinent and impressive observations:

"A great many of these strikes have arisen from the fundamental error of one or both sides in the dispute in estimating the value of labor and commodities only in terms of money prices, and overlooking the real meaning of value —the ratio in which things exchange for one another.' If this conception of value were generally and fully appreciated, a normal relation between wages and profits would speedily be reached and maintained. In a time of falling prices, both employer and employe would receive a smaller monetary reward, but in the actual purchasing power each would receive the equivalent of his own productive contribution."

Efforts have been made in these columns from time to time to emphasize the same fundamental aspect of wages. If the plain and indubitable truth in the matter were generally recognized it is conceivable that the resistance which is being offered to deflation by some classes of workers would cease. The underlying and compelling idea in this attitude seems to be that a cut in pay means a direct and real loss. Reflection ought to make it obvious, as the Royal Bank bulletin points out, that if falling wages are accompanied by an equivalent drop in commodity prices loss does not follow. If the cost of necessaries declines, and wages remain stationary, then to the precise extent of that decline wages would be raised. Increased wages must always be reflected in the cost of production, and while the cost of production remains high the prices of products must also remain high. The hope of reducing the cost of living, and restoring stability to industry, rests entirely on bringng down the cost of production.

Neither wage earners nor producers can afford the losses arising out of wasted earning time at this critical juncture in the world's history. The bulletin from which the above quotation was taken goes on to accentuate the fact that "in this country unemployment is increasing, though the seasonal demand for labor is affording some relief." Some rather alarming statistical facts are then given. For example, in the second quarter of 1920 the percentage of unemployment among Canadian Trades' Union members was 2.7 per cent. In the fourth quarter a rise to 9.8 per cent. occurred; and then for the current year the figures are given as follows: January, 13.10; February, 16.12; March, 16.48; April, 16.27. Although authentic information is not available, it may be assumed that at the present time, due to harvest operations throughout the Dominion and to seasonal activity in building, the percentage is considerably lower; but all who are in contact with trade and industrial conditions are looking forward to the approaching winter apprehensively. In such a situation, and turning our eyes backward, every day of lost time assumes the aspect of a tragedy. —Ottawa Journal.

It is proposed that a series of pageants and fetes similar to that at Penetanguishene last week be held at various points along the Trent Canal next summer to commemorate Champlain's expedition through this district from Lake Huron to Lake Ontario three hundred years ago. KENT FIGHTS IT OUT.

Chapter 33.

"I don't think I can stand having that lamp around," Kent told me suddenly one evening. "Even when it isn't lit I—I can't stand seeing it. It's like an accusation always before me."

"I'll put it away some place if you are going to feel better, dear," I said. "I am sorry though—I like to see it over there."

"Don't you see, Babs," he cried, flinging his arms out desperately in front of him. "It's like a living lie—having that thing around. It doesn't belong to us—it shouldn't! We are accepting a lie when we keep it."

I got up from my chair and went over to Kent.

"There, dear—move over and make room for me beside you. I want to talk to you," I said, slipping my arm around him and nestling down beside him in the big soft cushioned chair.

Kent took my hand between his two big ones and patted it gently.

"Having that lamp here isn't the hardest part—the terrible part, dear. It goes back further than that—and putting the lamp away some place isn't going to help us forget or wipe out the wrong you did. You can't forget, Kent! It's by remembering and facing it squarely that you are going to gain peace for your soul."

"You don't understand, Babs," Kent pleaded. "It's because I hate myself for doing it. I want to forget. I can't if I have to look at that all the time."

"But if you don't hate the thing itself—if you don't remember—then sometime you might be tempted again." I breathed softly, catching his long fingers and gripping them hard.

I knew that my words would hurt Kent, but I had to say them. I wanted to be honest with him. I knew that unless the wound to his self-respect and the sting of his conscience were deep enough and more terrible than the temptation had been, then he might some day again be tempted. I wanted the lamp to burn into his conscience—to sear it deep.

"Try to see it my way and let me help you, dearest," I coaxed eagerly. "I want the lamp kept there right where it is. Having it there tells me that you tried to make amends—that you did everything to try to straighten out your mistake. Please?"

"It's hard, but I, I'll try, Barbara," he answered slowly. "You are so wonderful and you have helped me so. I don't believe I could fight it out alone, dearest."

"You won't have to Kent—I'll be right with you always. We are going to fight it out together."

Kent leaned over and hid his head against my shoulder, pressing his lips again and again to my throat.

"I'm just a big foolish boy, Babs. I need you to help and comfort me," he whispered softly.

I put my two arms around him and drew him to my breast, and sat for a long time holding him so. Neither of us spoke. I could tell by his easy breathing as it rose and fell against my heart that my words had comforted him a little.

I was thinking. I realized that no one could build their security upon the ideals of another person. I knew that Kent would have to fight this thing out for himself. A man's nature is supposed to be stronger and more robust and far more equal to the combats and battles of this life, and yet it seemed to me that it is the women who has to stand and face things and the men who are always eager and glad to throw off the difficulties and responsibilities. Men are always ready and equal to the quick, decisive battles of the world, but when it comes to the long day in and day out struggles, it is usually the women who display the greatest fortitude.

I determined to stand by Kent and I believed that together we might win the battle. But it was his battle and the fighting was really his. My love believed in him, but love is so apt to be a little too hopeful.

Chalmers Owners Know Its Wonderful Value

Chalmers owners know that they drive a wonderful car. They do not hesitate to say so.

They have found that its remarkable performance is accomplished at exceedingly economical upkeep charges.

Repair Costs Low

These are held down by the infrequency of extensive repairs and replacements. The Chalmers stays out of the repair shop longer and renders steady, reliable service.

This makes its value greater and adds to the owner's enthusiasm.

The exceptional performance of the wonderful Chalmers motor is aided by pre-heating the fuel mixture with the hot-spot.

Fine Motor Performance

As a result, more power is obtained from less fuel. Combustion is better. The explosions are more powerful. Acceleration is faster. Carbon is reduced.

But it is not the fine motor performance alone that pleases our owners.

They also place high value on the beauty of the Chalmers and its marked comfort and convenience.

You should know the superiority of the Chalmers in order to buy a car wisely. You can learn that superiority in a Chalmers demonstration.

FRUIT SUPPLIES ON LOCAL MARKET

PEACHES ARE BEGINNING TO COME IN—EARLY GRAPES.

Piled up like so many six-inch shells were 45 huge watermelons averaging 25 pounds apiece in front of a Charlotte street fruit dealer's yesterday. There was a neat pile of the melons and there were 27 more to be added to it when brought over from the station. The big green grounds were worth many "greenbacks." Each one forsook its native Louisiana for a clime where it is worth four times as much. Fruit wholesalers in Toronto ask $1.00 to $1.25 for them. Freight from Toronto to Peterborough tor 72 was $18—25 cents each—so the dealer said he would, to make 25 cents profit, have to get $1.50 to $1.75 each. At that though these are about the cheapest melons sold in Peterborough this year.

Taking a Chance.

The dealer stated that in buying so many he was taking a chance of a considerable loss if a few days of warm weather arrived. If one fruit was lost it would take away the profit of five.

Muskmelons or cantaloupes are selling better than watermelons, dealers say.

Canadian Pears.

The Canadian stuff is selling by the basket containing a dozen or so fruits at $1.75 or $2.00. The choicest of fruits of the Niagara fruit belt are pouring into this city. Canadian pears, peaches and plums are filling all the fruit shops. From early in the morn the dealer is busy fixing up the front of his shop for the late morning and afternoon sales, and then he has a big job at night getting all the stuff in again.

The Peach Crop.

Crawford peaches are not in yet. Clingstones were selling at $1.25 an 11-qt. basket today. Plums vary in price, regulated by quality. Green gages are $1.65 and $1.75, ordinary blues $1.50, white and yellows $1.75, fancy gages, blues and reds, $1.75. Pears are selling at $1.25 a basket.

Grapes In.

Californian grapes, selling at 40 cents a pound, were new on the market today and egg plants at 10, 15 and 20 cents were a new purple in the yellows and reds of the shop fronts.

Yellow bantam corn is hard to get, one dealer said, who has been paying 30 cents a dozen. He was getting 35 cents for it. Tomatoes are cheaper and big baskets are only 65 and 75 cents.

METROPOLITAN ANNUAL PICNIC WAS BIG SUCCESS

Although Saturday was far from promising in the weather line, being cloudy and cool, nevertheless the 4th annual picnic held by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company to the T.A.S. Park was very largely attended. The steamers, "Stoney Lake" and "Manita" handled the crowds in good shape and at 2o'clock, the G.W.V.A. Band, who very kindly donated their services for the occasion, arrived at the park and during the afternoon played many fine selections which were much enjoyed.

Mr. G. N. Gordon M.P. opened the pic-nic with a eulogy of the work of the company along thev lines of health and welfare work, in providing free the services of nurses who, in the year just past, paid a total of 1,639,038 visits to the homes of sick policyholders and "by their careful administrations undoubtedly saved some of these little lives right here with us to-day."

Mr. Gordon mentioned the G.W. A.V. Band wrich he said had few superiors in Ontario, and the excellent program of events which had been arranged for the occasion, also the competition amongst boys and girls under 15 years of age for the best essay on the pic-nic. The first prize for this competition is $3.00 and the second $2.00, and the essays are to be turned in at the companys office in the Barrie Building before August 15th.

Dancing was enjoyed during the afternoon, with races for children and adults, the prize winners in the various events being:

CARUSO'S MESSAGE FROM OTHER WORLD

Tells Friends in Seance Singing Only Noise Compared to Divine Harmony.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—"My singing was miserable noise compared to the divine harmony here."

This answer came from the spirit of Enrico Caruso, immediately after his death to intimate friends who arranged a seance, according to story telegraphed to the Daily News on Sunday from its correspondent at Milan. A series of questions, it is related, were put to the late songster and the answers, as given, were without equivications. He was asked especially about his new surroundings.

"Do you prefer your new home?" the spirit of Caruso was asked.

"Absolutely yes," came the answer.

"Do you not regret the loss of your glory?" was the next query.

"No," was the response, "for the world is all misery and vanity. My singing was miserable noise compared to the divine harmony here."

Q.—Are you perfectly happy?

A.—No, for I am afraid some trouble will happen between my relatives on account of my bequests. Ih-ao- hau cda. .t 6- a,i-,,kKo girt

PETERBORO SENT 125 HARVESTERS

MOSTLY YOUNG FARMERS, BUT CITY WAS WELL REPRESENED, TOO.

Of the 8,000 harvesters who left Toronto this week for the western provinces, Peterboro and its district contributed 125. Most of them were young farmers, according to Mr. James Skinner of the local C. P. R. ticket office, and quite a number of them were young men from the city. Some of them have been out of work and the call from the granary of Canada held out the attraction of employment at good wages. Some were returned sodiers, others were young men responding to the spirit of adventure and the novelty of an unusual experience. And part of that experience will be working from sunrise till sunset on the bald prairie. One office man who has been through the mill states that not infrequently the work continues at night in the light of a headlight attached to the engine of a threshing outfit. If any of these harvesters expect a picnic or a frolic they will hardly find it working round the clock. And it is reported that there is no scarcity of help this year. The inefficient and the hands unhardened to toil may find themselves cast up in the cities. Thirty thousand men are required in the western provinces this season, the advertisements announce, and the first contingent from Toronto has already passed through Winnipeg, with more to follow from Ontario and the more easterly centres.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Peterborough, Aug. 9th, 1921.

Dear Mr. Editor.—There seems to be a mistaken idea abroad with regard to the Capitol Theatre Concert Orchestra, some people saying that this orchestra is playing unfair to organized labor. So that the people of Peterborough may know the truth of the matter, I would like to say that the members of the said orchestra are members in good standing of Local 191 of the American Federation of Musicians, receiving the rate of pay asked for by the local union. The management of the Capitol Theatre and the members of the orchestra are working together in perfect harmony. I would like you to please give this letter publicity through your columns.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your courtesy in this matter, I am,

Yours respectfully,
W. F. LEADER.

Editor of Examiner.

Mr. Editor,—I understand there is a city bylaw which says: "You must not ride a wheel on the sidewalk." Now, Mr. Editor, I would like to know whether that law applies to the city only or does it also apply to North Monaghan. Frank street is as good a street for wheeling on as any street in the city, but from five o'clock in the evening until long after dark a person walking along on the sidewalk has got to be very careful or he will get a bump off the sidewalk. A little child living on Frank street has been knocked down on two occasions, the second time quite severely.

This is but a warning. If it does not stop the Chief will have to give the next "warning." Yours for SAFETY FIRST.

TRUE DEMOCRACY OBVIATES POVERTY.

Editor of Examiner.

Sir,—Mr. Tooms' letter and query, "Is poverty a crime?" should arouse discussion.

Canada is rich in natural resources and our people are surpassed by none in industry and in resource.

Why should there be poverty here? We have poverty because there is no land on this earth which has yet become a true democracy, and the people rule in reality.

The true democracy (to become such Canada is in the very forefront of progress) will be a land where a vast majority of its people will be qualified to think on public matters and will think themselves and vote "each for all and all for each," an individual and collective responsibility.

Those amongst us who will not read, mark, learn and inwardly digest and practice in themselves are the material which make autocracies possible and a bar to that milennium for which the church and earnest men in all ages have striven.

The difference between autocracies such as were overthrown in the World War and countries ruled by corporations, cliques, classes, etc., is mainly in degree rather than effect. Rule by and for the few, through blood and sweat of the many.

As I understand it, Christian teaching, based on love, reacts in giving rather than in receiving.

May I suggest that millions, who were not pressed men, offering their lives in the war for the good of the whole, show that the hearts of the common people are more and more attuned to this beneficient teaching, consciously or sub-consciously, and these should be the nucleus of true democracy.

We have in Canada a land great in natural wealth, virile people, but also of unequalled (though as yet not equal) opportunity. Give the worker the opportunity rightly his as a producer. The inalienable right to happiness is said to belong to every human. Each one of us has our bit to do to realize this for all.

J. S. BELL,
451 Water street.
Peterborough.

NORTHERN INDIANS ARE FACING FAMINE, DECLARE REPORTS.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 10.—Famine is ravaging Indian tribes in the Far North, according to reports received by the head office of the Hudson's Bay Company here. Stories sent in by trappers and prospectors state that in the tribes worst affected cannibalism has been practised. The Caribou Indians of the Northwest Territories are declared to be in the worst condition, and the R.C.M.P. has sent a detachment of men from Fort Smith to investigate. Reckless slaughter of caribou and other animal food supplies on which the tribes are dependent is said to be responsible for the famine.

In 1920 the Indians destroyed large herds of caribou and practically drove out or exterminated all of these animals. Hundreds of carcasses were left on the plains, only the choicest parts of the animal being eaten by the Indians. No pemmican, preserved meat, was made, and this year the tribes find themselves without any food supply.

When the time arrived for the annual trek of the caribou no animals appeared, the slaughter having reduced the size of the herds and driven them to other areas. The light snowfall permitted them to remain in more northern districts where the grass was not covered. Without this trek the Indians were unable to obtain food and reports of wholesale starvation are coming into Hudson's Bay posts.

KILLED INSTANTLY.

Oshawa Young Man Killed on C.P.R. Tracks.

OSHAWA, Aug. 10. — Joshua Whitfield, one of the most popular young men in Oshawa, was struck by an east-bound C.P.R. freight Saturday, and killed instantly. The accident occurred about a half mile east of Whitby depot, where the young man was seen by the locomotive fireman standing directly on the track. This was at four o'clock in the morning and quite dark, and as the train was practically on top of him before noticed by the fireman, the train could not be stopped in time to save Whitfield, whose body was terribly mutilated. The head and both arms and legs were severed. Deceased was acting as relief signal man at the Whitby ducat.

The inquest was adjourned till August 22.

Hints For Buyers of Gloves

(By EMMA M. WISE.)

When buying gloves remember that, though a certain size may fit you perfectly in one make, it will not necessarily do so in all makes. Size in gloves is fairly well standardized, but hands are not, and in consequence littel variations in cut may make a great deal of difference.

Having bought your gloves, fit them on for the first time when you have leisure to do so properly and slowly. First, stretch them carefully, then work in the four fingers—never the whole hand at once—pushing the glove down on each by a gentle pressure at the front and back, being careful to avoid any twisting of fingers or crookedness of seams. Do not be rough with them, and never force them down by pressing between the fingers. If there is any weak material it will be found there. When the fingers are well home and the kid lies smoothly on them, slip the thumb in by turning up the wrist in the case of short gloves, and work it into place in the same way, taking care that the long inside seam is not visible from the back of the thumb.

Put as little strain as possible on the gloves when removing them from the hands. Loosen the ends of the fingers first, and then the glove can be turned back from the wrist without straining it. Never, under any circumstances, pull gloves off by the fingers.

When a glove has been removed it retains the shape of the hand, so the wearer should inflate the glove with her breath, and then pull gently with the fingers in one hand and the wrist in the other, holding the thumb on the inside.

A Cleaning Tip.

Most gloves absolutely refuse to be presentable after having been wet with rain. For some reason it is almost impossible to efface the wrinkling and shrinking and hardening effects of the water. The best plan is to place the gloves in a cool, dry room, never near a fire, and when dry massage a little olive oil into their texture before putting them on again. This will restore their pliability if anything will, but the glove will never be really the same.

It is well to keep on hand a perfectly clean piece of Indian rubber or art gum for removing spots from white gloves. If the dirt is rubbed off in this way after each wearing it will be a long time before they need be sent to a professional cleaner.

All these directions may seem to entail a great deal of time and trouble, but if you have been careful in your selection of gloves in the first place the process will not take long, and the result will be a pair of smoothly clad hands. A more sordid consideration is the reduction of your glove bill, for by this exercise of patience and care you will be able to make one pair last twice as long as two pairs would last under less favorable conditions.

Trotting and pacing races will occupy four days at the C.N.E. this year, Sept. 3, 6, 7, 8.

DR. STONE'S BODY BEING RETURNED

DIFFICULTIES OF TRANSPORTATION WERE GREAT.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 10. — Konrad Kaine Lindsay and Rudolph Aemmor, Swiss guides, were met here yesterday returning from the recovery of the body of Dr. Stone of Perdue University. Rudolph Aemmor's story is that Dr. Stone's body was found at an altitude of 1,000 feet. Mount Eon is only 10,000 feet high. According to traces, the body only fell several hundred feet and was found by Aemmor, a Swiss guide from Lake Louise, on a ledge, and was in a wonderful state of preservation.

The body was found Friday, August 5 about 1 p.m, Rudolph says the body was not anywhere near the place reported by Mrs. Stone. The task of bringing the body down was difficult. It was impossible to carry it so it was securely wrapped in canvas and rolled from ledge to ledge to the improvised camp of the Swiss guides after they had spent one night in a mountain cave. It is now being brought by pony to Eauclaire Camp and will reach there to-day.

Undertaker Reid is at present at Eauclaire awaiting the body, when it will be taken to Banff and in all probability shipped to Lafayette for burial. Mrs. Stone is at a fishing camp 22 miles from Banff, and is making good progress towards recovery. She is able to walk and ride carefully and may reach Eauclaire Camp to-night. She has not seen the body of Dr. Stone.

CHURCH SERVICES AT MARK STREET

Communion service on Sabbath was one of the most deeply spiritual meetings yet held, the attendance was large and the choir offered a splendid contribution to the success of the service on this occasion. "Heaven and Its Citizenship" was the subject of the morning sermon, and was a development of John xiv:2, "In My Father's House Are Many Mansions." The following is an outline of the discourse:

We turn away this morning from the rush of commerce, the roll of traffic, the din of industry, the hot discussions of real estate problems, bank clearings, social questions, outlook of the world's harvest, and the surge of the maddening crowd, as it looks, with jaded body and bloodshot eye for a new source of pleasure. Drawing away, then, from all this, we shall study the rich and beautiful problem of heaven, or the "house of many mansions." I think the old folks have had so much of earth and its cares, and conflicts, and sorrows, and bereavement, and death, that the discussion will be very sweet to them. Yes, and it may be that we haven't put as much of heaven in the way of the young people as we might have done. Yesterday at Riverside Park I heard some small boys ordered from the benches that we who were older might sit down to watch the game. It seemed to me that the order had not much of heaven in it, from the boy's point of view. Oh, it was law, and it was right enough to give that order, but after all, we might put a little more of heaven into the life of the boys and girls.

Where is That "House of Many Mansions."

Some where in the great universe of God stands this "building of God, not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." Among the thousand million suns that flash in the eternal depths of space, God may have planted His new paradise. Somewhere up among the flaming and dazzling worlds may be found the abode of the redeemed. When Jesus left the world he went up, and a cloud received him out of the disciples' sight. What if the universe be the "house" and the millions of worlds in the universe be the "mansions?"

Could Life Exist Away in Yonder Sphere?

Since we do not know the nature of the resurrection body, we cannot know what kind of an environment that body will require, but God knows. It may be that the future abode of the blest will be in this world, transformed and made anew. But somewhere in space, is the house of mansions. Yes, we cling to the idea that heaven is somewhere above us, and all through the ages the attitude of prayer has been accompanied by the upward glance of the eye. Angels are spoken of as descending, and the Holy Ghost came down.

What is the "Father's House?"

"Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." What beauty and glory have been unfolded before the human eye. In nature, the mountains reveal, in their wide sweep, the coloured landscape bathed in beauty. The sun, issuing from the gates of the morning, rolls up the azure steeps, while from between his chariot wheels a million shafts of golden light speed away to gladden the world. There is light on hill and in vale, on rolling river and tossing sea. There is light for palace and cabin, mansion and hovel, prison cell and hall of fame. There is light for the baron and light for the beggar, light for the peasant and light for the prince, light for the king's cornet, and light for the sewing girl's needle. Oh the beaut yof this world, which millions never enjoy. But the human eye can discover no beauty in this world that will, for a moment, compare with the beauty of the Father's House.

The Ear Has Never Heard Anything Like Heaven's Music.

What floods of melody this world pours into the human ear; and how worthy of pity are those who cannot appreciate the harmony of sweet sounds. Have you heard the choir of the Crystal Palace with its five thousand trained voices, its five hundred violins, while the mighty anthem rolled forth in ravishing melody on the enraptured ear of thousands? Well, that would be just like a drop in the ocean of heaven's harmony. Yes, Patti, and Handel, and Beethoven and Mendelssohn, and the great Caruso himself were only babes in music compared to what they would be in heaven. Nor can man's iamgination grasp the least idea of heaven's riches.

Heaven Will Meet Every Longing of the Soul.

Why does wealth and power and fame and position fail to satisfy the longings of the soul? Because the soul and its cravings are spiritual, and not of earth can quench the spiritual thirst. All of earth is fading, crumbling, dying, heaven is an eternal reality. The human eye cannot behold reality; for the real is the unseen. Things that are seen cannot be eternal. Then let poverty and weariness and age, and decrepitude and loneliness and bereavement look up to the House of Mansions, for there is wealth, and vigor, youth and eternal elasticity, beloved companionship and rapturous re-unions, in the Father's Home, in the golden 'Somewhere.' And remember there can be no heaven without Jesus. And Jesus is the way that leads home.

Heaven's Citizenship.

We shall dwell forever in the white light of the eternal city. Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, with all the worthies of the ages, shall be fellow-citizens in the great commonwealth of the skies. Nor want, nor disease, nor sorrow nor death, nor darkness in the House of Many Mansions, for there is no night there. "The wolf also shall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid, and the calf and the young lion and the fatling together, and a little child shall lead them."

INSPECTOR WAS QUITE ANNOYED.

Case Against Jordan Resident Dismissed in Court.

ST. CATHARINES, August 10.—License-Inspector King appeared to be quite annoyed at the outcome of a case in Police Court this morning. Peter Kinnish, of Jordan, was charged with making a hootch-brew out of cherries. Analysis proved that the stuff registered as high as 23.36 alcoholic content.

But Mrs. Peter swore that it was for family use only; and the Magistrate held that as the cherries were boiled in the usual way, he couldn't see that it was any different from the ordinary process of preserving.

Mr. King argued that the stuff was fermented, but the Magistrate held that if all the women were in Court whose preserves fermented, the place would be cluttered up all the time.

"I'm satisfied that these people were not selling this cherry juice," he said. "There isn't the slightest evidence of sale. Go into many a house and you will find cherry wine and dandelion wine put up for family use that may be a little strong; but that doesn't mean that it is kept for sale. On the evidence before me, I canont record a conviction. Case dismissed."

David Duncan of 128 Oak street, Toronto, is another enthusiastic witness to the merits of Tanlac. Mr. Duncan is a veteran of the recent World War and lost his left leg on the firing line in France. He is now employed by the Dunlop Rubber Co.

"My wife and I both have received wonderful results from Tanlac," said Mr. Duncan, and I am glad to pass the good word along to others who are suffering like we did.

"My stomach had been all out of order ever since I came home from the war two years ago. I had no appetite and had to be very careful of the little I did manage to eat. At times even the smell of food nauseated me, and I also suffered a great deal from constipation and dizziness. I was badly run down and out of sorts, and my work was a mighty big effort for me.

"My wife's troubles were very similar to mine, only worse. She was in severe pain and distress after every meal and was simply miserable.

"But Tanlac has put us both in the best of condition, and we are eating good and hearty and enjoying our meals without having to suffer a particle of distress afterwards. In fact, we are in the very best of health and just can't say enough for Tanlac."

Over $3,000 in prizes will be given in the Band Competitions at the Canadian National Exhibition.

NORTH MONAGHAN NEWS

NORTH MONAGHAN, Aug. 10.—The fete, which took place Monday, August 8th, at Braundport, was a decided success, despite the threatening rain and occasional showers.

The tents were gaily decorated with coloured lanterns. The booth, which was presided over by the ladies of the camp, was festooned in gay lanterns, and flanked at the four corners by large vases of golden rod. Ice cream, home-made candy and fancy work were sold.

The evening programme was carried out enthusiastically by the younger members of the camp. "When Father's Sick" was one of the recitations given, which caused much laughter. Songs, and choruses were sung lustily by the wee folk. "I'm Forever Washing Dishes," a parody on "Bubbles" was repeated several times, at the request of the delighted audience.

As nt grew darker, huge bonfires were lighted, and the children formed a procession around them, waving lighted bulrush torches and singing.

INCRIMINATING EVIDENCE

An amusing incident in the career of the late Chief Justice White is related. As a young lawyer he was called upon to defend a man who was accused of stealing a pair of "pants." The man was seated with his legs under a large table, when Mr. White sat down, and asked him something about the case. The man was most reticent. Finally the lawyer for the other side called the accused to take the stand. The prisoner turned to Mr. White and said:

"Why not?" asked Mr. White. "You're perfectly innocent, aren't you?"

"Yes, sir; I'se perfectly innocent as long as I sit with my feet under dis table, but if I get up on the stand—oh, Lord, jedge, the trouble is, I'se got them pants on!"

DOMINION Tires

The King of the Road

But—if there can be one tire in all Canada that is the national favorite, this tire is "NOBBY TREAD."

Everybody likes "NOBBY TREAD"—the proud possessor of a lordly limousine as well as the happy owner of a Ford, Chevrolet, Overland, Gray-Dort or McLaughlin.

The big, tough, long-wearing, springy nobs are proof against punctures, blow-outs and road-cutting. They simply wear and wear and wear. And when your speedometer gets up in the thousands of miles, you begin to appreciate the sound economy as well as the easy comfort of these famous DOMINION TIRES.

The big nobs, however, do not account for all this popularity. It is the workmanship—the perfect materials—the faultless construction throughout—that make "NOBBY TREADS" the KING of the road.

When you consider their greater mileage, their wonderful durability, their freedom from ordinary tire troubles and their greater ease and comfort in driving, "NOBBY TREADS" are sound economy, no matter what size or make of car you use.

There are DOMINION TIRES for every car, for every purpose, business and pleasure. The Dominion Tire DEALER will show you the different treads and explain the special features of each. He also carries DOMINION INNER TUBES and DOMINION TIRE ACCESSORIES. Have a tire talk with him—he knows.

HALF A DOZEN MORE WASHINGTON CLUBS WOULD GIVE THE PENNANT TO THE HUGGINS-RUTH COMPANY

(By HENRY L. FARREL, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Put about a half dozen more Washington clubs in the American League and the New York Yanks would have to win a pennant.

The bumping that the Cleveland Indians got in the national capital last week forced the erratic Huggins clan into first place and furnished the only feature of the major leagues.

Today Ruth and company are hanging on by one slim point, but with the White Sox on hand and with Cleveland sitting at Connie Mack's table, one point doesn't offer the Yanks much solace.

Back on the old home grounds, after wobbling on the tail of their eastern jaunt, the Pittsburg Pirates are again creeping away from the Giants and making it look like the pennant is "in" in the National League. The Giants are not hustling and are being bothered with internal troubles as well as with a lack of first-class pitching. Against Pittsburg the Giants look like champions. Against the second raters they are second raters.

The Pirates won five games last week, while the Giants dropped two out of eight. The Braves split even in six starts, and the Robins and the Cards speeded up a little and nabbed five out of seven. The Reds split even in eight games, while the Cubs won only two out of seven games.

The Yankees went into first place by winning three out of five games, while the Indians hit a bad slump and landed only one out of six starts. Washington played the most consistent ball in the circuit by winning six out of their seven games. Detroit dropped two out of six. The Browns and the Red Sox won four out of seven, and the White Sox and the Athletics dropped three out of five.

Right now Tris Speaker is in trouble. The team is not working at all to his liking, and the next two weeks look like they would determine the championship of the American League.

The same pitching problems that face Speaker are in McGraw's way.

CLUB APPOINTED A NEW SECRETARY

EXECUTIVE MEETING OF THE FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION HELD LAST EVENING.

W. G. Nicholls is the new Secretary-Treasurer of the Peterborough and District Football Association. At the executive meeting in the G. W. V. A. Hall at 8 p.m., last evening, two applications for the position were received from W. C. Nicholls and John W. Stott. Mr. Nicholls, when Fred. Sutcliffe flatly refused though pressed to continue in office after the Plenty Cup games, was appointed, and he will take office at the next meeting. Fred. Sutcliffe said that he wanted to see the Plenty Cup games through. His work as Secretary was commended. Because of the central position of his shop and his zeal in all football matters he was urged to remain Secretary, but declined.

The Secretary is awaiting a reply from the Ottawa club about the game on Saturday, meanwhile preparations for this big game are proceeding. Tomorrow night the team will do some track work. All players are asked to meet at the G. W. V. A. Hall at 7.30 for a sprint in the park, followed by a rub down at the hall. The desire of the executive is to save the team for Saturday and the run is merely to keep the men in condition.

BANKERS CAPTURE THE JUVENILE CHAMPIONSHIP

Louis Yeotes' Bankers won the championship of the City Juvenile League last night and qualified for the O.B.A.A. semi-finals by beating the Lakeviews in the second game of the play-off series between the two clubs by 15 runs to 6. The issue was never in doubt after the 1st innings when the Bankers put over four counters. The Champs pitched snappily, hit hard and had all kinds of "pep." Geoff Hardill started the game for the winners and after blanking Lakeviews for four innings allowed them three hits and a walk in the fourth session netting them four runs. There were still two on three sacks, and one out, and although Hardill might have weathered the storm, with the score still 7 to 3 in favor of his team, the Bankers took no chances, and "Lefty" Turner was sent to the firing line. The Lakeviews got but one scratch hit off him for the balance of the game and he whiffed eight men in 4 2-3 innings.

Shaughnessy was Manager Lebarr's pitching selection and he was hit hard from the start, giving away to Lou Lebarr in the fourth. The second pitcher did not succeed in stopping the winners either, and finally Moore was called upon. He got by him without a run being scored on him in the two innings he pitched, thanks to Jack Hardill who overlooked the trifling formality of touching first base. Hardill came through with one of the longest hits of the season in the seventh, his drive landing in deep right field and bounding into the river, for what should have been a clean home run. He did not touch first base however, and was called out.

The Bankers did not waste any time, scoring four in the first. Hensley reached second on Moore's fumble and high throw and Jack Turner singled through short to score. Hensley going to second on the throw in. J. Hardill popped to second. Wilgar was safe on Moore's miss. Turner scoring from second. J. Hardill singled through the short scored Wilgar and Hardill. McLean was safe on Moore's error. C. Turner flied to Whitlow who doubled Johnston off third.

In the third with one down Johnston singled to centre, stole second and went on to third when Rogers throw hit him on the head. C. Turner singled over third to send the run in.

With Lebarr pitching for Lakeviews the Bankers added another in the fourth, Jack Turner beat out a tap to Lebarr and went to second on the pitcher's high throw to first. J. Hardill rolled to Moore, Turner going to third. Wilgar and J. Hardill walked filling the bases. McLean fanned Turner scored on a wild pitch and McLean lifted one to Shaughnessy.

The Lakeviews put over their first runs in the fifth. After Rody had fanned Pethick singled to left and Fitzgerald drove a safe one through short. J. Lebarr walked filling the bases. Rogers doubled over Jack Turner's head in left scoring Pethick and Fitzgerald. This was enough for Hardill and Lefty Turner was sent to the rescue. He cut loose a wild pitch that scored Lebarr but L. Lebarr popped to Hensley and McLean tossed out Moore.

The Bankers came right back with five counters Lefty Turner singled to centre and Hall walked and the two pulled off a double steal Hensley fanned but Jack Turner doubled past third scoring C. Turner and Hall. Geoff Hardill singled to centre scoring J. Turner and going to second on the throw in and Wilgar ripped a single over second to register J. Hardill. J. Hardill hit safely over second. Wilgar going to third. Hardill stole second. Johnston grounded to Moore. Wilgar scoring and McLean fanned.

The winners bagged three more in the sixth C. Turner and Hare walked to start with and after Hensley struck out C. Turner scored on J. Lebarrs miss of Jack Turner's fly to left. A wild pitch scored Hall and J. Turner came home when G. Hardill singled to centre. Wilgar's fly to Whitlow doubled Hardill.

Lakeviews got there final runs in the ninth. Pethick fanned but Fitzgerald was safe on Hensley's miss and J. Lebarr walked. Rogers hot to Lefty Turner who threw Lebarr out at second but Johnston threw high to first in an attempt to double the batter and Fitzgerald scored. The third strike on Shaughnessy was a wild pitch and the batter was safe. Rogers scoring. L. Lebarr fanned to wind up the game.

COMMENT ON THE PETERBORO GAME

Belleville Intelligencer: Making very few errors and swatting the old pill all over the lot, the old Grand Trunks of this city, beat Jake Solomon's nine at Peterborough on Saturday, to the tune of 5—3. Freddy Goyer was in supreme form till the seventh when he had a little bad luck. R. Rose was on the mound for Peterborough and the way that Belleville knocked him about was a shame. It's a wonder Jake hadn't tried out his other twirlers, McElroy, Rose, Harrison or any others he might have had. The Peterborough team miss Cherrett, although Holyman played a good game at shortstop. A large crowd of Belleville rooters were in attendance and helped cheer the boys along to some extent, while Freddy's perfect pitching and the disappointed look on Jake Solomon's face did the rest. The game was impartially handled by Mr. Wilson of Oshawa on strikes and balls and Mr. Butler of Lindsay, on bases. The only decision on bases worth disputing was when Jackson of Peterborough started for third and when some one was caught at first the ball was thrown to second for a double play. Jackson spiked Weir who was on the bag but Butler called him safe. The game was called at 3.15 by Wilson.

GIRL "DIP" HEROINE IN "THE SILVER LINING"

A crowed Sixth Avenue elevated train in New York, was approaching the Seventy-second street station. There was the usual surging forward of those preparing to get off. The grinding of the brakes drowned out the startled exclamation of a fashionably dressed young woman as she was tapped roughly on the shoulder.

"I've got you this time, young lady," said an exulant voice as nearby passengers watched with keen interest. Turning to a young man standing beside the girl he said, "I'm an officer and this woman has just taken your watch."

The man made a quick movement toward his vest pocket, looked keenly at the girl shrinking in terror under the detective's hold, then smiled blandly. "I think you are mistaken officer" he said. "I never had a watch."

As the nonplussed detective released his hold upon the girl the train stopped at the station and the man and girl got out. The girl hurried toward the stairs when the man caught up with her. "Now I'll take my watch", he said curtly. The girl handed it over with a smile.

"Why didn't you turn me in?" she asked curiously.

"I don't play with the bulls", coldly replied the man, slipping the fime piece and broken chain back in his pocket.

And Roland West, motion picture producer and head of the Roland West Productions, who had been a witness of the human drama, thus made the acquaintance of the characters whose stormy careers form the main setting for "The Silver Lining", the thrilling story of love and law, released by Metro Pictures Corporation with the beautiful Jewel Carmen and an all-star cast.

Mr. West wrote and directed "The Silver Lining" which was adapted for the screen by D. J. Buchanan and Charles H. Smith and photographed by Edward Wynard and Frank Zucker.

This big picture and a well balanced program and the excellent music of the New Capitol Orchestra will be the atraction at the popular and cozy Capitol Theatre the balance of this week commencing To-morrow Thursday night. Fan, Fan

DANCING MASTERS TO DROP THE WESLEYAN.

Defend Its Position, But Bow to Antagonism of Church Members.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The Wesleyan, the dance which caused such a storm of protest among Methodists when it was created at the convention of the American National Association of Masters of Dancing last year, has been withdrawn from the list of dances approved by the association at the association convention now being held at the Hotel Astor. Fenton Bott of Dayton, O., the director of dance reform, said yesterday that the purpose of the Wesleyan had been entirely misunderstood by the members of the Church, but since they considered it an affront the association was very ready to withdraw it.

"The dance was a very graceful one, showing the proper position of the dancer and created to meet with the approval of the most rigid church member," said Mr. Bott, 'but our effort was misinterpreted and, unfortunately, the people we were trying to win over to our side were further antagonized, and additional attacks upon dancing followed. In view of this we have withdrawn the Wesleyan, and for the present will take no further action in trying to win our religious antagonists.

"We are making great headway with our dance reform program. We have literature which we send to welfare organizations, owners of dance halls and dancing teachers throughout the country. This literature explains the dances approved by the association and urges those in charge of the various dancing resorts to aid the organization in its efforts to raise dancing to a higher level. We have large charts showing the different positions, and these can be found on the walls at dancing halls, at least they are sent to these places, and, in our investigation, we have found a splendid willingness on the part of the owners of these places to co-operate with us."

The Spanish schottische was the most popular dances taken up yesterday. It is a mixture of the Walk Around, a dance in itself which was approved at the session yesterday, pivot turns and clicks steps in both fast and slow movements.

ADVERTISEMENT NEEDS 5 THINGS TO BE SUCCESS.

Requirements Outlined By Editor of Trade Publication.

NEW YORK, August 5. — The advertisements of a retail store, to obtain and hold the interest of the reader, must do five things, according to Ernest C. Hastings, managing editor of the Dry Goods Economist, New York, who addressed the retail section of the world convention of advertising. They are:

First—Acquaint people with unfamiliar goods.

Second—Remind people of things they need.

Third—Give information about goods wanted.

Fifth—Educate people how to use the goods.

First—Move goods out of the store by telling people you have what they want.

Second—Stimulate interest in different kinds or similar goods.

Third—Sustain people's interest in the store between purchases or between visits.

Fourth—Develop a sense of value in the customer's mind.

Fifth—Multiply the customer's buying impulse. That is, induce the buying merchandise which will leave so favourable an impression that customers will come back to your store for their other needs or wants.

In the preparation of advertising copy, he said:

First—Tell how you got the merchandise.

Second—What it is.

Third—What it is used for.

Fourth—What it is made for.

Fifth—What colourings.

Sixth—How trimmed or ornamented.

Seventh—What size.

Eighth—Prices.

Ninth—Any other information

DEMONSTRATION OF FIRE FIGHTING HERE

THIS MORNING FOR BENEFIT OF VISITING FLORISTS.

From Box 28 the fire alarm sounded at 11.45 this morning. "Corner of Brock and George," everybody shouted and hurried to the spot. They looked and sniffed for smoke, but a cigar a man was smoking on the corner was the only evidence of fire in sight. One minute passed, then two minutes and the firemen had not appeared. Someone said they had gone up Aylmer street and people concluded the alarm had been wrung in wrongly, it was 38 or 48 or 58 that was meant. Some said there was no fire.

They were right. The fire department were giving a demonstration of fire-fighting to the florists assembled in convention. The alarm was rung in to get the pressure up on the mains and then for the benefit of the florists, Central Park was sprayed with water from a battery of hose. The demonstration concluded, everybody was happy, but business men down town who were still anxiously looking for the fire, and a disappointed crowd of excitement seekers.

The Chief's car shortly after, just at noon, had to attend a chimney fire at 569 Concession street. It was just a splutter in the chimney and was smothered out without even using a quart of chemical.

Strickland, counsel for Mr. Stewart and Mr. Gordon found Friday, Aug. 19, satisfactory to both parties and the case was enlarged till then. On Aug. 4, the case was enlarged till to-day. There was an array of witnesses amid the prosecution in court this morning with sundry bags and satchels but they covered up their disappointment and agreed to meet again on the 19th.

JOSEPH GRIERSON WON FIRST PRIZE GLADIOLI EXHIBIT

JUDGE CONGRATULATED CITIZENS UPON THE EXCELLENT SHOWING.

At the conclusion of judging the gladioli exhibit, Miss Campbell, the recognised largest grower of gladioli in Canada, said, "The exhibit is wonderful, and the gladioli are by far a great deal better than the ones exhibited at London, Ont., which I also judged. The citizens are to be congratulated on their excellent showing in this exhibit," she remarked, "and it was very difficult for me to decide the prize-winners."

With a very short time to prepare for the exhibit, the showing in Cressman's store window demonstrated the ability of Peterborough enthusiasts in the production of beautiful flowers.

Miss Campbell anounced the prize-winners as follow:

2nd Prize—W. H. Young, 592 Chamberlain Street.

There was a total of sixteen exhibitors.

Every exhibit was acclaimed by Miss Campbell as being wonderful, and it was unfortunate that the Horticultural Society would only give four prizes.

Miss Campbell particularly commented on the excellent exhibit donated by the Peterborough Floral Company, and the spirit of co-operation between the locol florists and the society is a particular asset to any city, and an advantage to both the florists and the society alike.

An illustration showing the activities of the Horticultural Society was clearly shown in the mounted photographs of the corner of Park and Reid Streets, as at 5th November, 1920, and then again beautified at 6th August, 1921.

The proceeds from the sale of the gladioli to-morrow morning between 9 and 11 o'clock will be used by the society to help in this good work, and all citizens interested in the society would assist materially by purchasing these exhibits.

The society directors, represented by their president, Dr. J. E. Middleton, stated to The Examiner that they thoroughly appreciate the co-operation of all the exhibitors in making this exhibit a success; of the Cressman Company in permitting the use of window space; of the efficient work of C. Nicholls in the window dressing; of M. Long for the printing of the cards; and of the Peterborough Floral Company for its magnificent display.

CONVENTION WILL CONCLUDE TO-NIGHT

OFFICERS FOR RETAIL FLORISTS SUB-SECTION — TO-DAY'S SESSIONS.

The Florists' Convention enjoyed a sumptuous banquet at the Empress Hotel last evening. About 125 attended. There was a long toast-list, with responses from various delegates, and the musical part of the programme was provided by local artistes. The little Cassidy Sisters danced some Highland steps to the music of the pipes, Miss Alma Stinchcombe gave a reading, Mr. Alex. Clarke a vocal solo, accompanied by Mrs. W. Hyde.

This morning's session was occupied by addresses from Mr. A. M. Terrill, of Calgary, on "Managing a Retail Store," in which he pointed out many items of interest to retail merchants, emphasising the need of service in every line, and a very interesting address and demonstration from Mr. S. A. Frost, of Toronto, on "Art in Floral Arrangments." Mr. Frost illustrated very effectively the best methods of wiring and setting up ornamental wreaths and baskets, and his talk was followed by animated discussion from the floor.

Florists' Sub-Section.

President—S. A. McFadden, Toronto.

Vice-President—W. C. Hall, of Montreal.

Secretary-Treasurer — Mrs. Percy Waters, Toronto.

Board of Directors — Messrs. Terrill Gibson, Calgary; W. W. Gammage, London E. B. Hamilton, London; C. J. Hay, Brockville; E. J. Hayward, Montreal; J. J. Higgins, Toronto; S. A. Frost, Toronto, and C. A. Williamson, Peterborough.

The Peterborough Fire Department gave a good demonstration to the visiting delegates at 11.45 this morning. They responded in three minutes to the fire alarm turned in, and gave a short demonstration with the hose waggon.

Messrs. Campbell Bros., of Simcoe, have a fine exhibit of gladioli at the convention, a long table covered with blooms in all the gorgeous colours of this beautiful, orchid-like flower, ranging from almost pure white, through different shades of mauve, yellow, orange, and crimson.

This afternoon's programme for the entertainment of the visitors included a motor ride around the city, sports at the Oval, with visits to the Capitol Theatre, local greenhouses, or the bowling alleys, to wind up the evening.

LAKEFIELD ROAD BEING REPAIRED

LAKEFIELD NEWS OF INTEREST —ORGANIST RESIGNS

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 10. — The roads between Peterborough and Lakefield are receiving some much needed repairs between Warsaw and Carnegie's hill. We understand the government is undertaking the work and it is high time, as the road, which is a main highway between Peterborough and the northern part of the county, is a disgrace. Hundreds of tourists have motored over it and one and all pronounce it "the limit." No road work ever seems to be done and in places the stone foundation is laid bare. The Apsley road is much better and some local chauffeurs prefer to motor to Burleigh than to Peterborough.

Officers Elected.

The newly formed Lakefield Amateur Athletic Association has elected the following officers:

Honorary Pres.—W. Sherin.

Pres.—Reeve J. C. Strickland.

1st Vice-Pres.—Dr. S. J. Gibson.

Patrons—W. H. Casement, E. W. Bailey, W. J. Charlton, A. E. Dawson, Rev. A. W. Mackenzie and Thompson Braden.

Has Resigned.

Miss K. S. Atwood, who has been a faithful and efficient organist of St. John's church for the past twenty-eight years, has tendered her resignation, which takes effect immediately, as Miss Atwood is taking a well earned vacation. Mrs. Jack Twist has been appointed as her successor.

Crops Lighter.

The farmers are busy now with their harvests and are finding that the exceptionally dry weather has made the crops small. Corn will be extra good but oats and wheat will be very light.

Canadian Clothes

"Women's Wear," a publication devoted to the furthering of Canadian interests, has this to say about the fabric situation:

"Although cloth was made in Canada prior to the outbreak of the great war, it was during and since the war that the mills experienced an impetus in the direction of the finer grades used for women's wear. During the greater part of the war woollen mills and others with the necessary machinery were engaged in making cloth for soldiers' uniforms, blankets, puttees, etc. Many had increased their capacity because of the rush of orders from the Government War Office, and when these dropped off after the Armistice was signed they began to put into operation plans for making the finer materials which had been formulated while the mills were still busy on war work. The result is that today many merchants are selling over the counter and many manufacturers are cutting up materials from Canadian looms, such as velours, duvetyn, silk and wool jersey cloth, bolivia, tricotine, gabardine, crossbred and botany serges, as well as the plaid back and plaid blanket cloths and tweeds which were manufactured before the war, and grey, white and cardinal curl cloth for children's coats.

"Wool jersey cloth came into prominence during the war, about the first that was shown being an imported article. But we are told by a Canadian mill that just before the outbreak of war they had made sample pieces, which they sold, but could not deliver as their mills were virtually commandeered by the Government for the production of army cloths, and it was not until the war was over that they were at liberty to turn their attention to them again and get their share of the trade. In the meantime, wool jersey cloth had lived down whatever opposition it met at the outset, and is today one of the most desirable sports material available. Two Canadian mills are making it in large quantities, one of them doing a great deal of good missionary work in the artistic advertising it is using to familiarize the Canadian woman with a domestic product of acknowledged excellence. It comes in three weights, namely, dress, suit and coat. The special knitted weave of this material lends itself to a mixture of colors in the threads which are known as heather or lovat mixtures, one tone, such as brown, green, blue, grey, red, etc., predominating, the others blending with it. It also looks well in plain colors and is purchased largely in navy blue, brown, taupe, henna and the soft greys, tans and blues. It has great wearing qualities and is serviceable for everyday wear as it does not crush and therefore does not require frequent pressing. It has had a great run for sports suits this summer and in the heavier qualities sold well as sports and storm coats for the early summer. Manufacturers tell us that the dress manufacturers are buying sample pieces for fall and they are looking for large business in dress weights.

BOUND BROOK, N. J., Aug. 6. —A "lion" for which residents of South Bound Brook searched last night with lanterns and shot guns turned out to-day to be a ferocious mastiff, which was killed after it had bitten two persons on the esate of Jack Northworth, actor, at South Bound Brook.

When four persons reported they had been attacked by the 'lion" just after dark last night a citizen's posse was organized to hunt down the animal. The hunt was without result other than to give the searchers a thorough drenching as they tramped about in a steady downpour of rain.

Shortly after 7 o'clock this morning Jacob Herman, 16 years old, employed on the Norworth estate, was attacked by a large mastiff that no one about the place had ever seen before. He was bitten in the right hand and arm. The boy was taken to the Pasteur Institute in New York and the dog was killed by Martin Herman, superintendent of the Norworth estate and father of the injured boy, who ended the animal's career with a shotgun. The animal's head was sent ot the Pasteur Institute to ascertain whether it was suffering from rabies.

BOWLING NEWS.

Four Peterboro bowling rinks are playing in Oshawa to-day against the British bowlers in the tournament there. The four rinks were skipped by Dr. Hammond, Walter Oke, J. W. Mayneord and Andy Ross. The British bowlers will not be able to come to Peterboro, and it is at the special request of the Oshawa club that Peterborough is playing against the noted Britishers to-day.

PETERBORO TASTE FOR WATERMELONS

Yesterday's sales practically obliterated the neat pile of watermelons in front of a Charlotte Street fruit shop. There were 45 to start with in the morning, and by 11 p.m. there were only five left. Altogether, the fruit man was very well satisfied with the watermelon patronage, and he felt genially inclined towards melons and people in general to-day.

When he has sold the 32 he has left, he said, he would decide if he would get any more.

It has been known as the Canadian National Exhibition since 1904. Previous to that it was the Toronto Industrial Exhibition.

STOP THAT SUFFERING

with Sciatica, Rheumatism, Gout, and similar complaints. Let Chiropractic, Nature's way, correct the Cause and remove the seat of the suffering.

Chiropractic is the only scientific philosophy and art that has thoroughly tested and proved that Disease is caused by the interruption of mental impulses, as they pass through the Nerves, at the intervertebral foramina wherever the Vertebrae (Spinal Bones) are not in perfect alignment with each other. Such conditions are called Subluxations, which impinge the Nerves that pass through these openings, thereby interfering with the mental impulses and, consequently, causing Disease in the organs or tissue in which the Nerve ends.

Chiropractic further proves that scientific adjustments will be followed by the return of Health.

Chiropractic is no longer in its infancy.

Chiropractic Vertebral Adjustments are quickly given by means of a skilful movement of the hands alone. This method is in harmony with the modern spirit of Progress, which demands RESULTS.

BYNG OF VIMY LANDS AT QUEBEC WHERE HE IS SWORN IN AS NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF CANADA

POMP AND IMPRESSIVENESS PROBABLY UNEQUALLED IN HISTORY OF CANADA MARKS FORMAL CEREMONY IN PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS.

TASCHEREAU EXPRESSES LOYALTY OF THE FRENCH

QUEBEC, August 11.— Canadian Press. — With the guns from the ancient citadel boooming out the salute, the whistling of the river craft, with the ringing of bells and the applause of the crowds, Lord Byng of Vimy, Canada's new Governor-General, landed at King's Wharf to-day, proceeded through beflagged streets, to the Provincial Legislative Buildings, where he was sworn into office with a pomp and impressiveness probably never before equalled in the history of Canada.

A guard of honor and an escort awaited Baron Byng, when dressed in the uniform of a British general, and accompanied by Lady Byng, he stepped on the wharf. Most of the Provincial and Federal Ministers were present.

The crowds cheered as the Vice-Regal party drove through the streets, and Lord Byng was given a great ovation at the Parliament Buildings.

Addresses of welcome were presented by Premier Taschereau on behalf of the Province of Quebec, and Mayor Samson on behalf of the city.

Premier Taschereau referred to the Governor-General's distinguished military career, and extended the sincere good wishes of the French-Canadian people—"loyal, contented subjects, desiring no change in our government, working in a spirit of emulation with our neighbors."

Replying, Lord Byng explained how proud and delighted he was when His Majesty the King informed him he was to be Governor-General of Canada.

Although he entered upon the duties of his office with some trepidation he hoped that he would receive the same sympathy and confidence as given him by gallant Canadians with whom he served in the war.

ON CANADIAN SOIL.

Shortly before 11 o'clock this morning the little government steamer Lady Gray, with gay pennants fluttering and brasses shining under the sunlit sky, drew alongside the sombre bulk of the Empress of France, and Byng of Vimy descended the carpeted steps to her deck, having received a few minutes before the formal respects of Right Honorable Arthur Meighen, Prime Minister of Canada.

The Lady Gray pulled out immediately from the big steamer, and headed for the King's wharf, a mile and a half up the river.

As she cleared into mid-stream, there came a crashing roar from the ancient citadel on the rock, and nineteen guns paid tribute to the King's delegate to Canada. It was not the first time that the big guns have have thundered the triumph of Byng. Ten thousand guns in France have spoken his name in victory. There were men in the waiting throng who remembered the morning, the hurricane of death at Vimy, which was his salute, at the sweeping barrage of Cambrai, the flame and roar of a dozen battles which have resounded his prowess.

As the Lady Gray swung in towards the King's Wharf, waiting thousands along the shore, lined along the esplanade of the upper town, broke into waves of welcoming applause.

Flags and handkerchiefs fluttered merrily and ships' sirens shrieked their greetings amid the boom of the citadel's guns.

It was just 11 o'clock when the government steamer reached the wharf and a dozen blue clad sailors sprang to make hold fast. The short gangway was placed and without any delay; Lord Byng stepped ashore accompanied by Lady Byng, and his three aides, Major H. Willis O'Connor, D. S. O., of Ottawa; Lt. the Hon. H. G. H. Joliffe, and Lieut. the Hon. H. R. B. Erskine.

As Lord Byng's foot touched Canadian soil a sharp command rang out, and from the 22nd Regiment came the general salute, the bands playing a bar of the National anthem, the khaki lines standing stiffly at the present and the officers, including Lord Byng, with rigid arms at the salute.

A HOMECOMING.

NEW YORK, August 11. Canadian Press. — "There is more of homecoming than introducton in Lord Byng's arrival at the historic fortress of Quebec to take up his duties as the Kings representative in Canada," says the New York Times this morning.

"Lord Byng's popularity with the men under his command was marked and he may rest assured that "Byng Boys," as the Canucks were nicknamed in London, will do their utmost to make his stay in the Dominion memorable."

SAMOA DESIRES CANADIAN RULE

VANCOUVER, Aug. 11.—(Canadian Press).—H. J. Moore of Samoan Islands, formerly owned by Germany, referring to dispatches announcing the inhabitants were disatisfied with rule of New Zealand, who was given a mandate over them, said here yesterday that public opinion in the islands is that they should be ruled by Canada.

Sydney Dutton, an Englishman, who has made a close study of conditions there, also endorsed that view. The chief grievance of the Samoans is the drastic prohibition law.

Urge Dominions Be Represented

NEW YORK TIMES SAYS THEIR INTERESTS ARE IDENTICAL WITH THOSE OF UNITED STATES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(Canadian Press).—Discussing the renewal of what it calls the "six British votes myth" at Washington New York Times strongly urges the representation of the British Dominions in the coming disarmament conference, not as members of the British delegation which will "be led, commanded and dominated by Lloyd George" but as separate units.

The paper outlines the stand taken by the Dominions' premiers against the Japanese alliance which forced the putting off of the whole question and cleared the way for Harding's proposal for a Pacific conference as proof that the Dominions and the United States interests in this problems are virtually identical.

W. ARTHURS FELL FROM SCAFFOLD

LITTLE HOPE FOR RECOVERY—SKULL FRACTURED.

William Arthurs, a steam fitter, employed by W. R. Turner, Simcoe street, while wrapping steam heating pipes in one of the new buildings at the C.G.E. to-day, fell from a scaffold nine feet to the cement floor beneath, and suffered a fracture of the skull and other serious injuries.

At 2:30 this afternoon Dr. B.Mann advised Mr. Turner there was very little hope for his recovery. Dr. Mann attended him and he was removed to the Nicholls Hospital in Comstock's ambulance immediately after the fall.

Arthurs had just started in to work when he fell. Only one other of the workmen was near him, and he believed that the man must have taken a dizzy spell or made a misstep.

William Arthurs is about 55 years of age, and is a widower. He has a grown up family and has been living with his sister, Mrs. H. E. Connolly, 461 Murray street. He has been working for W. R. Turner for one year.

"Early Summer Early Autumn"

MONOTONOUS RASPING OF KATYDIDS CAUSES OLD WEATHER SHARPS TO PREDICT FROSTS SOON.

Old weather sharps believe that there will be an early autumn.

"Early summer, early fall," said one old prognosticator. He placed great weight on the activity of the Katydids these nights, and affirmed that "the Katydids' song brought the fall fast along."

"Frosts are not far away when the music of the Katydids start," he declared. "Mark my words, there will be frost within 30 days. The summer is nearly over," said another old fellow.

It seems only fair to assume that the autumn should be early this year. Nature has been two or three weeks ahead of schedule in her harvest and the general assumption is based on several chilly nights that have been a sort of warning that the frosty nights are not far off, brown leaves and dreary days closer are more real than a couple of weeks ago when Old Sol was so relentless. There have been several nights when the thermometer dipped dangerously near the freezing point. In fact most of the August nights so far have been cool. This has not been reassuring to citizens who dread the Canadian winters with their fuel bills, overwhelming snowfalls, woollen undergarments and heavy footwear and who dream longingly of some day reaching that status in life when a winter's stay at one of the much-advertised points in Florida, the Bahamas, or radiant California, wil be commensurate with an extended pocket book. Such cool nights of late have been accepted ominously by many people and it is true that many householders have desperately considered the fuel problem and the coal men have been denounced in unmitigated terms.

An Old Rhyme.

An old rhyme about the Katydids, on whom weather prophets place so much reliability, contains no comfort—this is the way it runs:

"When Katydids commence to play,
Chill frosts are but six weeks away."

It is difficult to find any optimism in this. Katydids have been playing around the city for some time. From trees and shrubbery the rasping of the busy insect has charged the atmosphere with repeated "Katydids" until the monotony and intensity of their notes have cleared verandahs whose gay chatter and laughter did not disturb them in the least. The repertoire fell pleasantly upon some ears tuned to Nature's music, and it was these who recalled the old ryhme about this particular insect family.

If this ryhme is true this brief article is an obituary to summer and the Katydids must have a true "line" on the weather, for to-morrow the weatherman speaks of cooler weather.

EAST ONTARIO FORESTERS IN SESSION HERE

110 DELEGATES AND 30 MEMBERS OF WOMEN'S AUXILIARIES HAD ARRIVED HERE UP TO NOON.

COMPLIMENT IS PAID CITY BY A VISITOR

The seventeenh convention of the High Court of Eastern Ontario of the Independent Order of Foresters opened at 10 o'clock this morning in the G.W.V.A. hall. Up to the hour of noon, 14 officers and 96 delegates, brothers and companions had registered, making this one of the largest and most successful conventions in the history of the Order. About 30 women members of auxiliary societies are in attendance also.

High Chief Ranger J. S. Eagleson, of Ottawa, presided. Other officers prominent in the order were present, among them Bro. Harvey Lloyd, of Toronto, assistant S.C.R., officer in charge of the organizing department, Bro. Fellman, Toronto, Bro. R. S. Graham, Kingston, High Vice Chief Ranger, Eastern Ontario, J. S. R. McCann, Kingston, High Treasurer, Alex. L. Smith, K. C. Cornwall, High Councillor, L. G. Morgan, Ottawa, High Secretary, S. B. Lynde and A. Bradshaw, D.S.C.R's, Toronto, and many others.

Encouarging Report.

The High Chief Ranger, J. S. Eagleson, presented a most encouraging report, paying a compliment to Peterborough in the following words: "I congratulate you upon the place of meeting. Peterborough, with its beautiful homes, its stately public buildings, its churches, its hospitals and its orphans' homes, would seem to be a fitting place for a society such as ours to meet in. I am sure we all enjoy our stay in this picturesque "Electric City," and I take this opportunity of thanking the Companions and Brethren of Peterborough for the painstaking way in which they have planned and provided for our entertainment, our convenience and our comfort."

The report recorded 1519 applications for membership during the past five years, of which 1393 were accepted. In the work of securing these applications 25 courts had a part. The Independent Order of Foresters has paid to its beneficiaries to date the sum of $72,000,000. During the years 1916-17-18-19-20 there was paid $21,330,351, of which approximately $250,000 came to Eastern Ontario. The benefits paid in those years amounted to $17,000 for each working day, constituting nearly one-third of the benefits paid during the whole 4[illegible]rs of the history of the Society. Assets increased during this pe[illegible]rom $24,400,092 to more than $4[illegible],000, making the Society in 1921 [illegible]ually 101.35 p.c. sound.

Welcomed Delegates.

Ald. J. J. Turner, in the name of Mayor A. A. McIntyre, who is absent from the city, extended a hearty welcome to the visiting delegates in a brief, well-worded address. He spoke in glowing terms of the natural advantages which the city possesses in the form of beautiful parks and waterways, and dilated on the good roads, school and public buildings of our home town. The ideals of the citizens of Peterborough, Ald. Turner said, are for the furtherance of the spirit of industry, thrift and honesty, so that it need only be said that one comes from Peterborough to know "that everything is O.K."

Mr. G. N. Gordon, who followed Mr. Turner in an address of welcome, alluded to the first speaker as "the greatest optimist in the city of Peterborough." Mr. Gordon reiterated the complimentary allusions to our home town and eulogized the work of the Independent Order of Foresters, which he considered one of the greatest fraternal societies in the Dominion of Canada. Services rendered the widow and the orphan who otherwise would be left to dire need and poverty, were commended by the speaker, who remarked that the members of this Society were outstanding figures in times of sickness, need and distress.

Burst Into Song.

The convention rose to its feet and sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," followed by three cheers and a tiger, at the conclusion of the speeches of welcome, which were replied to in a neat little speech from the High Chief Ranger, J. S. Eagleson, Bro. A. Webb, who is in charge of the arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors, made a few announcements.

On account of the inclement weather, the picnic which was to have been held at Nicholls Oval this afternoon, with a progamme of sports, has been trans/ferred to the Armouries and Central Park. The G.W.V.A. Band will entertain the visitors with a concert to-morrow (Friday) evening at the G.W.V.A. Hall.

Reports of the finance and distributing committees were read and nominations were made for the election of delegates to the Supreme Court, and the meeting adjourned until 8 o'clock this evening, when the High Standing committee of the High Court meets at the Empress Hotel for election of these delegates.

SHOOTS FIFTEEN WITH BUCKSHOT WHILE CHASING MADDENED BULL

PHILADELPHIA, August 11 (United Press). — Fifteen persons were picking buckshot from their hides to-day, and several others were nursing bruises and lacerations, as the result of a wild chase through the streets last night after a maddened bull.

The bull finally fell dead after a two hours' chase, with 27 bullets in his anatomy.

The bull escaped from a herd, chased the patrons out of a saloon, and not finding there what he was looking for, charged out again, knocking over a policeman and several other persons.

William Dunn then appeared with his double-barrelled shotgun, loaded full of buckshot. He fired three barrels at the bull, missed, and hit fifteen persons in the pursuing mob.

Shortly after Dunn's futile effort, an ex-soldier appeared on the scene and finished the enraged bull.

FIRE LEAVES AYLMER SCENE OF DESOLATION

PROPERTY LOSS IN BORDER TOWN NOW ESTIMATED AT $1,250,000—700 HOMELESS AND ONE LIFE LOST.

TENTS ARE ORDERED TO DEVASTATED TOWN

OTTAWA, Aug. 11.— (Canadian Press.) — Aylmer, the picturesque little town of seven thousand inhabitants, which was swept by fire yesterday, is the scene of grief and desolation to-day, with 700 persons homeless and their belongings destroyed.

D. R. Lortie, aged 68, is dead, and property damage is estimated at $1,250,000. Most of the principal buildings of the town are destroyed.

The fire spread with such rapidity that most of the sufferers had barely time to escape with their lives. Lortie was trying to save his house with a hose from the roof when the building fell in and he was burned to death.

Senator Robertson, Minister of Labor, this morning ordered a large number of tents and mattresses to the scene.

DROWNING AT RICE LAKE

William Rowden, son of John Rowden of Port Hope, and brother of Clifford ("Kip") Rowden, the Oshawa second baseman and of Johnny Rowden, second baseman for the Port Hope Club was drowned in Rice Lake near the mouth of the Otonabee River at 6.30 a'clock last evening when a skiff in which he was a passenger with Dr. Armstrong and Mr. Morris of Oshawa, was overturned. Dr. Armstrong and Morris clung to the overturned boat for over an hour before two canoes went to their rescue. Rowden's body was recovered about 9 o'clock.

Rowden, who was 26 years of age was a partner with his brother Clifford in a garage business at Oshawa He had gone to Thompson's Point, Rice Lake in company with Dr. Armstrong and Mr. Morris and the three went fishing in a row boat, taking turns at the oars. It was during one of these changes of position that the boat went over and Rowden lost his life.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at Port Hope.

GERALDINE IS TO REFUSE ANY RECONCILIATION

BREACH BETWEEN OPERA STAR AND FAMOUS ACTOR TO BE FOUGHT OUT IN LAW COURTS

DOOR IS SLAMMED IN FACE OF THE PUBLIC

NEW YORK, August 11 (United Press). — Geraldine Farrar slammed the door in the face of the public to-day.

There will be no reconciliation between the beautiful song bird and the stage's noted lover, Lou Tellegen, according to Farrar's attorneys. It will be a fresh fight, but it will be in the Courts. If the public doesn't like it, the public can—well, Geraldine doesn't care. She's going to deal with what her attorneys call her "arrogant husband" in her own way.

Here is the statement of Alvin Untermeyer, Farrar's lawyer, given exclusively to the United Press:

"I have conferred with Miss Farrar. We have decided to maintain perfect silence. She will neither justify or explain her motives or reasons for dealing with her arrogant husband as she did. She cares nothing for any opinion the newspapers or persons who read them may have about her locking her husband out. They can think what they like and as they like.

"Let the other side talk their heads off. She neither reads what they say, nor is she interested in what they do."

STATE INSTRUCTS MARRIED FOLK TO HOLIDAY TOGETHER

BERLIN, August 11. — The German state is taking a hand in answering the vexed economic problem of whether husbands and wives should pass their annual holidays together. Thousands of wives and husbands who had hoped to escape the cares of matrimony, for a little while at least, were refused by the railway administration when they asked for the use of special seaside excursion trains, known as "Grass Widows' and Grass Widowers', Limited." The director of railways, in giving hs decision, said: "It is the wish of every republican state that married couples pass their holidays

NEW U.S. POLICY TOWARD VETERANS

MISTREATMENT OF DISABLED EX-SERVICE MEN TO BE ENDED.

BY RUSSELL BROWNING,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—"Tell the disabled soldier that he is going to get a square deal from a new dock. Warn the vultures who have been preying upon the veterans' misfortunes that it is about destroyed." This was the gist of the message sent to-day through the United Press to soldier veterans by Col. Charles R. Forbes, director of the new Veterans' Bureau.

In his first official pronouncement since taking office Col. Forbes laid down three cardinal principles that is the duty of the government not only to equip a disabled man, but to make the best living in the highest profession of which he is capable that the responsibility of the government toward its soldier claimants cannot be delegated to private persons, and that disabled soldiers are wards of the government and as such must and will be protected.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. — Canadian Press. — Industrial shares repeated their recent familiar performance at the opening of the stock market to-day initial prices being sharply lower in many instances.

Virtually all of the shares which featured yesterday's selling movement were again weak. American Sugar and General Electric touched a low level for the year at 61 1-4 and 114 respectively.

Sterling Exchange ruled about a cent higher.

Emphasis was placed on unfavorable features in the industrial situation by the bear element, the possibilities of further dividend and price readjustments producing a fresh supply of stocks from speculative sources. International paper dropped 4 1-2 points and losses of 1 to 3 were numerous elsewhere.

Confident short selling produced an extensive array of substantial declines in the forenoon. Heavy pressure was exerted against Oils, but no section of the market was exempt from weakness. Additional low records for the year were scored, including Utah Copper, which sold at 44 5-8. Doubts as to the maintenance of dividend caused pressure against various shades but the entire market suffered from the widening scope of bear activities. Call money was retained at the recent ruling figure of six per cent.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Aug. 11. — Canadian Press. — During this morning's session of the stock exchange, closing at 2. This stock was at one time well over the hundred mark.

Wayagamack, whose extreme weakness, was a feature of the early trading, closed at a little stronger, at 31 1-8. The other issues remained steady.

LIVESTOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, August 11. — Canadian Press. — Cattle receipts were 49. Quotations: Heavy beef steers, $7.25 to $8; butcher steers, choice, $6.75 to $7; butcher cows, medium, $5.25 to $6.75; calves $9; lambs $10.25 hogs, selects, $14.50.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, Aug. 11.—(Canadian Press.)—Weakness in paper stocks featured the morning session of the Toronto stock exchange. Led by Riordan, losses were sustained by all members of this group, extending to other sections. Riordan on sales of 125 shares, dipped to 1 1-2, a loss of one point and creating a new low price for the old stock. Spanish River preferred, which sold on Tuesday at 64 1-4, opened this morning at 61 3-4, sold down to 60 and later recovered 3-4, closing at 60 3-4. The common stock was off a full point at 50 1-2. Wayagamack on an odd lot sold at 30 1-4, compared with 33, yesterday's close. Steel of Canada was two points lower at 48, while Steamships Preferred was off half a point at 50 1-2. Other losses included Atlantic Sugar 3-4 at 25 1-2, MacKay 1-4 at 72 3-4, Breweries 3-4 at 51 and Hollinger two cents at 51.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.— (Canadian Press.)—Activity on the part of export and milling interests rallied the wheat market to-day from the condition of yesterday's decline. Considerable export buying appeared to be in progress and it was said that millers have signs of having disposed of round lots of flour. Country offerings were light. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to 1 1-4 cents lower, with September 121 1-2 to 121 3-4 and Dec. 123 3-4 to 124 1-4, were followed by upturns all around to well above yesterday's finish.

Corn was steadied by the rally in wheat. After opening unchanged to 5-8 cents lower, including Sept. at 56 to 56 1-4, the market recovered in full.

Oats lacked support, starting unchanged to a shade higher, Sept. 36 3-8 to 36 1-2, and then dragging lower.

Provisions at first were weak with hogs but later followed the upward tendency of wheat and corn.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.— (Canadian Press.) — Sterling exchange firm, Demand 365 1-2, Cables 365 3-4, Canadian Dollars 9 5-8 per cent. discount.

OPINIONS FROM WALL STREET

Laidlaw & Co.—Rumors of unfavorable developments overhanging the market apparently are based upon fresh banking conferences relative to the position on a foreign trading banking concern, whose troubles have been taken care of.

Miller & Co. wired Fairbanks, Gosselin & Co.—Still in the grip of an intense midsummer apathy, the market has developed some weakness in spots. The Equipments and Oils are most under pressure.

Hornblower & Weeks wire O'Brien & Williams as follows:—Numerous industrials we feel have new lows to make during the next four to six weeks.

Pynchon & Co. wire Craig Luther and Irvine:—The market is working into a position wheer a technical rally may result at another time.

LLOYD GEORGE URGES ALLIED CO-OPERATION WITH U.S. AND SOVIET TO STEM THE FAMINE

SAYS NOT ONLY RUSSIA BUT WORLD IS IN PERIL FROM RESULTANT PLAGUES WHICH MAY TAKE GREATER DEATH TOLL THAN WAR.

MAKE ARRANGEMENTS WITH RED GOVERNMENT

PARIS, August 11. Canadian Press —The allied supreme council yesterday discussed plans for aiding famine-stricken Russia.

The allied representatives agreed that the Russians who had helped them in the war should be able to look to the allies for help now.

Premier Briand suggested that the allies join with the United States in giving aid through the Red Cross Society.

"I heartily agree to this,' said Mr. Lloyd George, "but I wish to point out that such efforts could not reach many of the sufferers. The Red Cross cannot perform the miracle of the five loaves and the two fishes. Relief must be organized immediately on a great scale, not only for the sake of Russia but for the sake of the world, because typhus, cholera and other plagues incident to famine would cause more losses than the last war.

"I have no admiration for the Soviet government, but relief is impossible without its co-operation, inasmuch as it controls transport and all official machinery. No one could move about Russia without its permission. I think for this purpose (and for this purpose only) the allies should make some arrangement with the Soviet government."

AUSTRIA TO REDUCE GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES

VIENNA, Aug. 11.—(Associated Press).—The Retrenchment and Economy Commission of business men appointed by the Government some months ago has submitted its first report. Its most interesting feature is a plan for decreasing the number of Government employees.

It purposes gradually to select men in groups from various departments and give them full pay for a certain period to enable them to find new positions to make themselves self-supporting. The Government also is urged to establish an employment bureau.

YELLOW PERIL BIG CLOUD ON HORIZON, SAYS

FRENCH STUDENT OF ORIENT—DECLARES ASIA, 900,000,000 STRONG, "IS AT WHITE MAN'S DOORS."

JAPAN GAINED WHILE WE SUFFERED IN WAR

PARIS, Aug. 11.—(Associated Press).—Dr. A. F. Legendre, a French writer on Chinese and Asiatic subjects, gained from 25 years of travel and observation in the Far East, warns the world in his latest work that "Asia is at the white man's doors, 900,000,000 strong." The biggest cloud on the horizon of the future, he says, is the "yellow peril."

The white race, Dr. Legendre says, "lost face," as the Oriental puts it, when Japan defeated Russia. During the great war, he writes, Japan multiplied her resources and saved her strength while Europe lost 20,000,000 men and today suffers depressing, intellectual, moral and economic debility. Great Britain, the author holds, erred in supporting Japan through her "marriage of reason" with the Pacific Empire, an alliance "now proving so emuarrassing."

"Imperialistic Germanism and Sovietism now are a union," he adds, in expounding his theory that Japanese and German expansion, each toward the other, threaten to bridge the old Russian bulwark against Asiatic invasion of Europe and call for prompt action by the white man to save himself from the domination he sees impending in the steadily increasing crystallization of "Asia for the Asiatics" sentiment, particularly among the Mussulmans. Russia, he says, cannot save herself; she must be helped with a new brand of statesmanship.

Detailed studies of Asiatic economic resources are given by Dr. Legendre to support his assertion that the yellow race may become sellers instead of buyers unless the white race develops its commerce in every way and seeks to produce cheaply, anticipating Asiatic competition by establishing factories in Asia and by increasing production in all of Europe's colonies.

Among many illustrations of Asiatic resources, the author cites Siberian exports of butter that went from 36,000,000 pounds in 1900 to 100,000,000 pounds in 1913 and much of which was sold as "Danish" butter.

Formidable and imminent as the author deems Asiatic competition, he nevertheless concedes to the white race superior working ability and greater leadership. "It must at last be realized, however," he says, "that hereafter it is Asia face to face with Europe."

"Pan-Asianism is a reality," he concludes, "and the Peace Conference ingenuously did all it could to favor it, particularly on the Shantung question." This "error," Dr. Legendre says, the United States, the only champions of China, saw and from now on "America will raise herself against any show of political immorality or spoliation."

Mounties Back After 6 Years In the Arctic

ACTIVITIES OF R.N.W.M.P. HAVE HAD SALUTARY EFFECT ON ESQUIMAUX, WHO NOW BOW TO WHITE MAN'S LAW.

(Special Despatch to the Examiner)

EDMONTON, Aug. 11.—In May of 1915 Corporal Corneleus of the R.N.W.M.P., left Edmonton for Herschel Island. He departed quietly without any flourish of trumpets. August 9, 1921, he returned to civilization again for the first time, as silently as he had left it. Over six years of his life has been spent in the Arctic wild, four of them in the company only of the two Esquimaux murderers sentenced in 1914, and freed by order of the government later.

Two years were passed at Fort McPherson, where the big supply of provisions and building material were disposed of. Comfortable winter quarters were established there, and patrols of the surrounding country were undertaken. The two Esquimaux murderers who were taken out by the corporal and offered their freedom, were so much taken with the ways of the white man, that they asked permission to enter the service of the police, and were both engaged, much to their delight. They rendered great service as guides and interpreters and the white man's law has never had a better advertisement in the Arctic Circle than that given to it by these two men, tried, punished and released by its officials as a warning to others.

In 1917 Corporal Corneleus was joined by Constable Brockie, and the two men set out for Herschel Island, where they spent two years, with frequent patrols into the far corners of the unchartered wilds. Their next move was along the shores of the Arctic to Corporation Gulf, a dog sledge trip of some eight hundred miles, where another two years were passed, patrols to Bathurst Inlet, Kent Peninsula, all points of the south and west side of Victoria Island, to Victory Land and Prince Albert Sound being made during that period. The final trip was taken by Corporation Gulf, via Bear Lake to Port Norman, down the river to Fort McPherson, then north to the Herschel Island, back by coast to Coronation Gulf, once more another return trip via Herschel and through Fort McPherson up the Mackenzie river home by the summer steamboat. This latter trip was taken by dog sled, a distance of 1,100 miles being covered in this manner, and the total patrols by dog sled last winter ran around 2,500 miles.

New headquarters were made at Fort Epworth, the patrol, accompanied by Staff Sergt. Clay, establishing this post, the two Esquimaux, Ululsuk and Sinnisuak, accompanying them. The party lived in snow huts for the greater part of this time and subsisted on the simple diet of the wilds, eked out by such rations as they were able to carry on the sleds. They built a wooden hut at Fort Epworth, however, and enjoyed a mild taste of civilization.

In 1918 two other Esquimaux murderers were brought in by the coast route by Sergeant Conway. These two men, Kayugana and Kumuk, had been tried by Inspector Phillips for the murder of an Esquimaux woman both of them claimed as a wife. They were, however, acquitted, owing to lack of evidence, and Clay, Corneleus and Brokie took them back by Herschel Island and the Arctic to Coronation Gulf, where the two were allowed to return to their tribes. Corporal Corneleus says that the trial of the four Esquimaux has had an excellent effect on the general conduct of the tribes as a whole, and the conduct of the four principals has been most exemplary. Kayugana and Kumuk were seen several times on later patrols, their bands being usually found on the ice at the head of the Copper Mile River, and each time the patrol received a warm welcome at the hands of the tribe. Despite their years of isolation and hardship, both Corporal Corneleus and Constable Brockie are looking forward to a return to the north in the near future. They will now enjoy a well earned holiday, and both are leaving at once for their respective homes, Corneleus going to Halifax and Brockie to Winnipeg.

DAY OF FANCY SHIRTS AND VOCIFEROUS TIES OVER, SAY DEALERS

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—The fancy silk shirts and socks, and loud expensive cravats of the war prosperity period are doomed to give way to cotton, lisle and plain knitted goods because men are slashing their clothing bills, haberdashers today told the Board of Review when questioned about their personal property taxes.

Most of the dealers say that the value of their socks is decreasing because the public is demanding cheaper goods, said a member of the board.

PRINTERS ENDORSE THE SHORTER WEEK

QUEBEC, Aug. 11.— (Canadian Press.)—A resolution urging members of the International Typographical Union to bend all their energies toward securing the establishment of a 44-hour week in job plants in the United States and Canada, and this having been accomplished to begin operations toward securing a shorter week in newspaper offices was adopted by the convention of the union in session here yesterday.

CHARGES DOMINION STRETCHED THE B.N.A.

ST. THOMAS, August 11. Canadian Press. — Charges that the Dominion Government stretched the British North American Act beyond the legal stretching limits, and overstepped the rights of the Province of Ontario when the bill was passed by the Senate last May giving Federal control of the Winnipeg and English Rivers, and the Lake of the Woods in New Ontario, were made by Premier Drury yesterday afternoon here.

Referring to Hon. G. Howard Ferguson and the timber inquiry, the Premier said:

"There will be a reputation made for him in a few days when the commisson appointed to investigate the timber muss makes its report."

"The reputatoin of the former Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines will be made when the government takes matters to the law courts and tries to recover some of the money that has been improperly expended in connection with the timber limits."

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

MRS. HENRY REDDEN PASSED AWAY YESTERDAY—PERSONALS

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 11.. — The news of the death of Mrs. Henry Redden came as a great shock to the townspeople yesterday morning. The deceased was in her usual health until Friday, when she became ill. An operation was advised and performed, but it proved too much for her strength, and despite all that medical skill and nursing could do, she passed away. Mrs. Redden, who was a daughter of the late James and Mrs. Jacobs, of Seymour, later of Campbellford, was a loving wife and mother and had a host of friends, who extend sympathy to the family in their bereavement. Surviving their mother is a family of four daughters and three sons, Mrs. Williamson and Miss Elsie of Wetaskawin, Alta., Mrs. (Dr.) Conn, Edmonton, Alta., and Miss Hattie at home, Arthur of Lindsay and Harry and James of town. There also survives a loving husband, an aged mother and two sisters, Mrs. Ira Loucks, of Seymour township, and Mrs. Bamber, of Percy township. The deceased was a faithful member of the Methodist church. The funeral arrangements will be announced later, pending the arrival of the daughters from the west.

Attended Races.

A large number of townspeople spent yesterday in Warkworth, taking in the races and sports of their Civic Holiday. All report a pleasant time.

Trent Services.

Rev. A. Imrie, of Toronto, will conduct tent services on Sunday at Mr. Peter Bounds, near Meyersburg, at 3 and 8 p.m. Rev. Mr. Imrie has a host of friends in Campbellford, having preached in the Baptist church here on several occasions and also with Evangelist Sharpe at the Tabernacle, Meyersburg, last year. No doubt he will draw a large crowd.

Personals.

Mr. Clarence Rowe of Peterborough, spent Monday in town.

Secured Scholarship.

Rev. J. J. Black, pastor of St. Andrew's church, Burnbrae, has secured a scholarship and purposes going to Glasgow University this fall to take the course. This will be Mr. Black's first visit to his native land since his arrival in Canada about fourteen years ago. Mrs. Black and children will spend the winter with her parents in Nova Scotia.

Miss Ida Grant, of Peterborough, is visiting friends in town.

AUTOMOBILE WAS STRUCK BY TRAIN

OCCUPANTS OF CAR HAD A NARROW ESCAPE NEAR OMEMEE.

EAST EMILY, Aug. 11. —Last Monday while a motor party were on their way from Bobcaygeon to Trenton the car was struck by a train at the railway crossing near Mr. Ben McCarrel's. The driver did not see the train until the car was right on the track. The engine hit the front of the car breaking one front wheel and the wind shield and threw the people and suit cases out of the car but fortunately none of them were hurt.

Mr. W. Irwin from Omemee just happened to come along and fixed the car so they could get to Peterboro.

Repairing Road.

Men from Lindsay have started to work on the County Road between Peterboro and Omemee. They are now putting in a cement culvert just west of Fowler's Corners. The road is closed for the time being, making it very inconvenient for people travelling that road. They have to go north around by East Emily cheese factory or else south to the third line.

Busy Threshing

The threshing machines have started to work in East Emily district. This is a reminder of the near approach of autumn.

Hairs Will Vanish After This Treatment

(Toilet Helps)

You can keep your arms, neck or face free from hair or fuzz by the occasional use of plain delatone and in using it you need have no fear of marring or injuring the skin. A thick paste is made by mixing some of the powdered delatone with water. Then spread on the hairs and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and all traces of hair have vanished. Be careful, however, to get real delatone.

DEPRECIATION OF LEVA STEADY IN BULGARIA

SOFIA, Aug. 11.—Steady depreciatio onf the Bulgarian leva is causin ganxfety in state circles and the government has taken coercive measures to stop all speculation in exchange. Heavy fines and even jail sentences will be imposed on any one dealing in exchange without having the payment of some foreign bill in view.

The Bulgarian leva before the war was worth about the same as the French franc or about five to the American dollar. During the war the dollar at one time had a purchase value of 80 to 90 levas and now an American dollar is worth 125 levas.

All the big banks have expressed their desire to collaborate with the government in an effort to check the fall of the leva, btu it seems that no remedy has yet been found.

TIME TO PREPARE.

Municipal authorities in a number of cities, discussing the unemployment situation, have expressed themselves as being thoroughly opposed to the system of doles that was used last winter. There are many obvious objections to that method of dealing with the problem, but during last winter's crisis it was the only practicable policy that suggested itself. People could not be allowed to starve and the payment of "doles" was the only other alternative. But Canada should profit by that experience and have in readiness a more commendable method of handling the situation during the coming winter months. Provincial and Dominion unemployment conferences are announced and it is to be sincerely hoped that as a result of these gatherings it may be possible to deal with the unemployment problem in a more business-like and effective way than has hitherto been devised. At the same time municipal councils everywhere should have the matter under consideration in order that the municipalities may be prepared to do their share when the pinch comes. The situation is serious enough to engage the attention of all communities.

THE THEATRICAL OUTLOOK.

On this page to-day appears an article from the New York Times in regard to conditions in the theatres of the United States. In this connection it may be mentioned that a similar state of affairs exists on this side of the line, and with the theatrical season drawing near, the matter is approaching a climax. Wage reductions to stage crews, moving picture operators and musicians are considered by the theatre owners as absolutely necessary in the face of an industrial depression and a prospective falling off in business. Otherwise the overhead expenses cannot be met, and a number of theatres will be compelled to close their doors. In some cases the unions affected have consented to a reduction; in other cities they have refused to accept smaller pay and a deadlock seems imminent. The theatrical business, like everything else, must return to normal conditions. The public is no longer able to pay the prices that were cheerfully paid during the period of war-time prosperity, and organizations who depend for their livelihood upon the theatre will sooner or later see that they are hurting their own interests if they place obstacles in the way of a return to pre-war prices. Unless all those affected show a willingness to compromise, the outlook for the coming theatrical season cannot be described as bright.

THE ART OF SWIMMING.

The necessity of learning to swim well has been tragically demonstrated by the shocking calamity near Smith's Falls, in which five members of one family met death by drowning. A young girl who could not swim, got beyond her depth, two older sisters, also ignorant of the art, rushed to the rescue and then went down, and the father and brother, plunging in in an attempt to save their loved ones, were unable to extricate any of the girls from their predicament and lost their own lives in the attempt. Had any of the older members of the party been a swimmer of average ability, it is probable that all would have been rescued, as the five were drowned within a few feet of a ledge which could have been easily reached by a person able to take care of himself in the water. The facilities for learning to swim are so much better than they were some years ago that there is little excuse for failure to acquire a working knowledge of this most useful accomplishment. In the larger centres especially, the Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A. and other organizations are doing splendid work in the teaching of swimming, and municipal governments are more and more recognizing the importance of providing safe and adequate bathing beaches. The time seems to be coming when a person would as soon say he cannot read or write as to admit that he does not know how to swim.

LABOUR IN THE SILLY SEASON.

In quitting the moving picture theatres, the Musicians' Protective Union appears to have been acting on the theory of the Maintenance of Way Employees, who applauded their vice-president's declaration that organised labour is a supernal power and can run "every d——n thing in this country if it wants to." Mr. Planten, of course, was talking for effect on the Labour Board, which, as he remarked, "is expected to give its decision on the eight-hour question the first of the month." There is no present fear that the railway men will take his advice and "go on a fishing trip." The industrial waters are uncommonly troubled, and August is the worst of all months for piscatorial adventure. But the musicians do not seem to have considered this. Whatever the state of the waters, they are going fishing.

Seldom has a strike been so inauspicious. The general depression has hit the theatres a retarded but no less powerful blow, and at best the dog-days bring the ebb tide of the amusement world. If the managers voluntarily closed their doors, they would only be acting upon the most ancient of precedents. Labour generally has bowed to the inevitable, yet the musicians, whose wage scale is almost double what it was in 1914, balk at a reduction of 20 per cent. The striking union, moreover, has been suspended from the American Federation of Labour for insubordinate conduct, so that the many regular union men who are suffering from unemployment in other cities are eligible as strike-breakers. Non-union organists abound and a large variety of mechanical orchestras, operated by electricity that does not strike, are eager to lead into the breach. Thus far the only effect of the walkout has been to increase attendance at the picture houses by advertising the fact that they are open.

It is only from the point of view of the musicians that the situation is serious. Not all playgoers have savage breasts many of them are so far from soothed by the music of the theatre that they positively welcome its departure. Only a few years ago a musicians' strike in the regular theatre revealed to the managers of the more artistic houses the fact that to a majority of their patrons the absence of an orchestra is the sweetest of sorrows—and ever since in the entr'actes conversation has been possible. The fact is that the managers are aghast at the continued high level of overhead charges and at their wits' end to know how to met the current depression. The most hopeful idea thus far broached comes from Philadelphia, where it is seriously proposed to do away with musicians altogether and cut prices of admission to the pre-war levels.—New York Times.

THE TRADE SITUATION.

The monthly commercial letter issued by the Canadian Bank of Commerce declares that an early change from the existing state of depression cannot be expected, in view of the slow though sure pace at which an adjustment is taking place in other countries. The most noticeable tendency, so far as foreign trade is concerned is the almost universal determination to seek prosperity and solvency by maintaining restrictions upon imports. European countries, with the exception of the United Kingdom, show no signs of relaxing the stringent regulations already in force, and a similar attitude is manifested on this continent. The United States has under consideration a revision of the tariff which will include the provisions of the temporary measure now in force, and will affect a wider list of articles in which Canadian exporters are interested.

A further hindrance to trade is to be found in the state of the foreign exchanges, as for example in Brazil, where the fall in the value of the milreis has resulted in a widespread refusal to accept shipments from abroad. At one time as many as forty-eight vessels were reported to be in the harbour of Rio de Janeiro, unable to discharge their cargoes because every available cubic foot of warehouse space was occupied, and the importers of the goods had neither the power nor the desire, at prevailing prices, to take delivery. Similar conditions existed in Buenos Ayres, where it was estimated that North American merchandise to the value of $20,000,000 lay in the customs warehouses. The congestion during the first half of the year in Brazilian ports is attributed to the liberal placing of orders in December, 1920, when the milreis was valued at 13d, as compared with 8d in May of this year. The measures adopted to relieve these conditions were not designed so as to maintain the credit of the country as a whole, but for the temporary benefit of certain sections of the community.

Canada is fortunate in having so large a proportion of her exportable surplus in the form of essential foods, for which the demand will be stimulated by the revival of industrial activity in those countries which prohibit, either absolutely or by tariff, the importation of manufactured articles. The tariff imposed by the United States against so many Canadian food products will merely divert the latter to other markets. Germany and other important European consumers are seeking credits for the purchase not only of foodstuffs but of raw materials. They must have both in steadily increasing quantities, as their people become more regularly employed in executing orders obtained by underbidding competitors. On the basis of the current scale of wages in Germany and on this continent, and at the present rate of exchange, the equivalent of labour costing $40.00 in Canada or the United States costs in Germany only $5.00. Such disparity in labour costs can only mean that the outlook for export trade in those articles of domestic manufacture in the cost of which labour is the main item is not encouraging. This phase of the inevitable adjustment is, however, of a passing character, for as industries revive in continental Europe, the needs of its population will expand. Moreover, as the basis of all trade is an exchange of commodities, these nations will sooner or later have to accept the products of other countries in order to dispose of their own manufactured articles. The economic law concerned will continue to govern, despite the superabundance of tariffs and restrictions.

There are many thin Oils on the market that are not suitable for internal use; other Oils have irritating qualities which render them also unsuitable. The one we are selling is Guaranteed thick and entirely pure.

It is recognized that a good grade of Mineral Oil is one of the best remedies for CHRONIC CONSTIPATION that is being used. It acts mechanically and does not irritate the intestinal tract, nor does the dose have to be constantly increased as is the case with ordinary purgatives.

It is much better and cheaper than Castor Oil as a laxative for Children, since Castor Oil has two effects, the first of which is purgative and the second or after-effect, which is Constipating.

TOM BARNEY TAKES HIS ADVANTAGE.

Chapter 34.

After Kent had returned the diamond to Victor Lachman I almost forgot Tom Barney. Now that the diamond was back, all danger of detection seemed past. It never entered my head that as long as Tom Barney knew the truth of things there was still danger of being discovered.

Then one day the realization of what Tom Barney might do was brought forcibly before me. He called me up on the telephone early in the morning.

"Can I step in again this afternoon to see you for a while, Barbara?" he asked eagerly.

"I'd rather not, Tom," I answered. "Oh, come now, Barbara—please?" he teased.

"No, I'd rather not let you, Tom. Kent would not understand, and I don't want to deceive him in any way."

"You are not very grateful," he returned. "You forget that you asked me not to do anything to hurt Kent and that I have honored your request. I have done that for you, and you refuse to reward me ever so little."

I felt decidedly uneasy. Tom's words frightened me and set me thinking.

"Come as early as you can," I said, "and I can't let you stay very long," I added, and hung up the receiver.

I was greatly perturbed and nervous. Tom Barney was a dangerous person. He was forcing me to the wall.

He came sharp at 3 o'clock. I was flushed and excited when I greeted him. His manner seemed natural and friendly, but instinctively I felt afraid of him.

I tried to think of Kent and remember that I would have to endure this for his sake. For I was afraid that if I angered Tom he might hurt Kent—he might tell about the diamond.

I wished I had not let him come that other time when I asked him about the tin stock. But I had only done it to try to keep him from telling about the diamond. Now I did not dare be cross with him, as I would like to, because he had it in his power to harm Kent.

"May I smoke?" he asked, seating himself on the end of the couch.

I said "Yes," reluctantly. Kent might smell the tobacco smoke when he came home, unless I had time to air the room well before 6 o'clock. I could pretend that I had been smoking myself. I knew Kent did not like me to, but that would be the best way out of it.

Tom pulled out a cigarette and fitted it carefully into a long slender, violet colored cigarette holder. He poked a couple of cushions back of his blond head.

"O, say—will you get me a match, Barbara? I'm so comfortable."

I crossed the room and got a match from Kent's smoking tray.

"There, be a good little sport and light it for me," he said, his blue eyes narrowing a little as he looked up at me when I went to hand the match to him.

My heart was pounding against my side. I hated the fact that he had an advantage over me. I was not anxious to be pleasant to him. But I lit the match and held it over toward the end of his cigarette.

He put up his right hand and closed it firmly over my wrist. He held it like that until the cigarette was well lighted. His eyes moved rapidly back and forth from my face to the burning match as he drew little quick puffs on the violet colored holder.

Then with his other hand he removed the match from between my fingers.

"Come on! Sit down by me," he said, still holding on to my wrist.

I was suddenly very much afraid of him. But I did not want to show it.

"You can be just a little bit nice to me. Can't you?" he smiled, as I sank down uneasily beside him.

Miss Ella Johnson Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples

"My trouble began as small pimples and in a few months they got worse and my forehead was just a mass of large pimples. They were hard and red and caused me to scratch, and I was disfigured for the time. They made me embarrassed when out in company. I tried sassafras tea but it was of no help. I saw a Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and sent for a free sample. After using them I bought more, and when I had used one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment for about a month I was completely healed." Many Improvements Provided at The Lake Street Bathing Beach

Benches, Spring-board and a Raft for the Use of the Bathers--A Community Effort

What might be termed an ideal little community effort is the erection at the Lake street bathing beach of benches for those men and women who supervise the swimming attempts of the children at this point and who hitherto were obliged to sit, on the damp ground or lean against the wall of the bath house if tired.

Through the direct efforts of Mrs. W. R. Morris, a number of contributions were made in this regard. and also towards procuring a raft and spring-board for the bathers; Adjutant Bunton was kind enough to loan the benches; materials donated by the Utilities Commission and by the Peterborough Canoe Co. went to the foundation for the raft and spring-board, and bolts from Mr. Jas. Hamilton will hold them together. The actual construction work has been accomplished through the kindness of Police Sergeant J. Deannard and his corps of voluntary workers.

The Queen Mary Playgrounds Are Well Patronized by the Youngsters

The Queen Mary playgrounds, on their high elevation and with a magnificent view on all sides, are very attractive. Facilities for baseball and football are here, while long lines of swings, teeter-totters, a giant stride, which is very popular with the boys, two sand piles under cool shade trees, all contribute their quota to the pleasure of the kiddies large and small, who frequent the grounds.

On a recent visit the little girls were absent from the grounds on a swimming expedition, but the boys were there in quantities and appeared to have taken entire charge of all the play equipment, under the keen eye of a conscientious young man supervisor. They played ball energetically, swarmed on the stride and swings and patronized the two sand piles. Under shade trees a group gossiped and a tiny lad sat on a big stone with a frolicsome puppy. A baby carriage bespoke the presence of one of that usually unwilling class of the community, the small boy who is compelled to "mind the baby." The playgrounds must be a haven for these harassed youngsters.

The children at this school have a fine collection of raffia baskets of their own designing and construction.

Big Times at the Y.W.C.A. Camp

The "Y" Camp, Stoney Lake,
August 8, 1921.

Dear Friends,—

We are all busy this morning getting ready for Juniper regatta this afternoon, but many hands make light work and there is a full camp this week. One of the cottagers is coming at 1.30 to take us all to Juniper. Some of us are to tow behind the motor boat and that is a new sensation and always enjoyed. Some of the girls are going out now to practise rowing and paddling—of course, our swimming needs no extra practise. We shall write you all about the regatta in next letter.

But even of more interest is a regatta of our own, which we are going to have. We think it will be next Tuesday and we shall invite all the cottagers. Every one is to bring a prize, all wrapped up, and then we shall have them presented in the evening and no one will know what they are getting. I think it will be fun. We shall send you a list of our races as soon as we get them made up. The cottagers are to bring picnic lunches and we shall all have supper together. We wish you could all come. Next week will be a lovely week, as there will be about 22 up all week.

We have been out for lots of motor boat rides lately. Last week we were all for a sail around the lake and on Sunday we all had a ride to church at Juniper Island. Services are held in a lovely big open pavilion and the singing and sermon were very much appreciated. We met a great many people we knew. Then last night we had a bonfire sing-song on our bonfire rock and the cottagers all came and joined us. It was nice to sit around the fire and sing all our favorite songs. There were about ten launches and several small boats, besides the group that landed and sat on the rocks. We are planning to have a song service every Sunday night at camp.

Last week we had a donation of fish and enjoyed it at one of our shore dinners. Every newcomer seems to want to go to Sunset Bay, so it has become one of our weekly excursions. It is a very pretty place. Coming home one of the boats loitered behind and thought they were lost. But we won't say any more about that. However, it is a standing joke around camp. We have lots of these, and none of our campers will forget "stunt" night last Saturday. Grace and Helen had charge and made everyone do something funny. Then we had cocoa and hot biscuits before going to bed.

Well, we must stop this time, but more later. We are going to try and send you some extracts from Helen's camp diary, if we can get hold of it.

HIS "COLLEGE."

During debate in the New York State Assembly one day, when Gov. Smith was a member of that body, another member arose to a question of personal privilege and announced that Cornell had won the boat race at Poughkeepsie, adding that he was a graduate of Cornell. This started a reminiscence meeting, other members arising to tell the name of their alma mater. Smith finally rose and announced:

"I am a graduate of the F. F. M."

"What college is that?"

CHOLERA INFANTUM
THE FATAL DISEASE OF CHILDREN

Mothers should look well after their young ones during the hot summer months as this is the time of year when this summer complaint is most prevalent. It begins with a profuse diarrhoea, the stomach becomes irritated, vomiting and purging set in, and the matter ejected from the stomach has a bilious appearance; the child rapidly loses flesh and is soon reduced to great languor and prostration, which in a great many cases, terminates fatally.

To quickly offset the vomiting, purging and diarrhoea

DR. FOWLER'S

should be administered.

Mrs. Charles Kretlow, Wideview, Sask., writes: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for summer complaint. I think it saved my little girl's life one time as she was so bad that I thought she was going to die. A friend advised me about "Dr. Fowler's," so I got a bottle and it helped her right away."

Don't endanger your child's health by accepting a substitute, but get the genuine "Dr. Fowler's," price 50c a bottle; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CHOICE RECIPES

Chocolate Kisses.

One pound of sugar, two ounces of chocolate, pounded together and finely sifted; then mix with the white of eggs well beaten to a froth. Drop this on buttered paper and bake slowly.

Bird's Nest Pudding.

Peel and core eight tart apples; in each hollow stuff sugar and a blade of mace or a little cinnamon; make a batter of a pint of flour, a spoonful of fine corn flour, a large teaspoonful of baking powder, milk or water, and a tablespoonful of melted butter. Mix thick, pour over the apples, and bake three-quarters of an hour. Eat with sauce. To make a richer pudding, stew the apples first, but gently and not so as to break them, stuff them with sugar and spice and citron, pour over them a sweet custard, and bake. Boil it two or three hours and serve with sauce.

Red Robin.

Put one pint of water into a stew pan, throw in one pound of lump sugar, boil till it becomes thick, add two pounds of tart apples, peeled and cored, and the rind of a lemon cut thin, boil all together till it is quite stiff. Stir it often. Pour into a mould; when cold turn out. Serve with custard.

Baked Indian Meal Pudding.

One quart of milk scalding hot, one cup of Indian meal, half cup of treacle, a piece of butter the size of an egg, a small teaspoonful of salt, a small teaspoonful of ginger, a large teaspoonful of cinnamon. Wet the meal with cold water and pour the boiling milk onto it to scald it. Add one egg when cold, before baking. Bake one hour and a half.

MARIANA.

With blackened moss the flower-pots
Were thickly crusted one and all:
The rusted nails fell from the knots
That held the pear to the gable-wall.

All day within the dreamy house
The doors upon their hinges creak'd;
The blue fly sung in the pane;
The mouse behind the mouldering wainscot shriek'd,
Or from the crevice peered about.
Old faces glimmer'd through the doors,
Old footsteps trod the upper floors,
Old voices called her from without.

On Growing Old

(By ROSALIE NEISH.)

"Why do not the women's pages sometimes give useful advice to the women who are growing old?" This was the question asked by a well-known public woman at a debate on "Women's Pages," which took place at the Forum Club, London, recently. The following article by a London writer is for the benefit of readers who are no longer young in years:

Of course, we poor women have to grow old (so do men, but it does not matter so much for them!), but we should try not to show it more than we can help. It is a sad fact, but nobody wants a semi-old woman, although a really old woman is often very popular.

When your hair is snow white it may look delightful. When it is just "on the turn" it often looks singularly unattractive. It is the same of us when we are half young and half old. We do not want to settle down to old age, for we don't feel a bit old, yet, alas! we often look it.

Avoid Skittishness.

Now, how can we best stave off the appearance of age? Not by dressing like a young girl. Elderly flappers, please note this. I have seen apparent girls tripping along—rather painfully, but so many girls walk painfully—and I have thought that is a smart girlie, and then "she" has turned round. Oh! shades of Rider Haggard's "She"—an old woman lined and painted and dyed, and so on, had put on a short skirt and high heels and false red hair and powder and paint, and she had added thereby a truly pitiful number to her years.

It is no use; you cannot serve mint sauce with mutton when it wants red currant jelly.

Do not be too skittish if you are getting on. Be sympathetic and cheery and kindly and humorous, but don't be a lambskin. Your gambolling days are over.

We can to some extent avoid the appearance of old age, not by dressing youngly, not by being too playfully lamblike, but by suitable clothes (and, if possible, suitable lights), and by avoiding all sorts of things. Not reaching old age before we need requires many don'ts. Here are some of them:

Don't overdress or underdress.

Don't be sarcastic—it gives you such a nasty expression.

Don't make faces—you do this far more often than you are aware of.

Don't neglect your skin—or your hands.

Don't let your voice grow harsh and loud.

Don't overeat.

Don't sleep too much.

Don't dwell in the past and always be comparing the present to the past, to the disadvantage of the former.

Don't condemn youth.

There are heaps more don'ts, but here are some of the do's:

Do be kind and gentle and sympathetic.

Do smile and try to be an optimist. Keep cheery, and take a vivid interest in everything and everybody.

Do keep your enthusiasm for life, for love, for children, and flowers, and for the tender sunshine, and for God's sweet flowers, and, above all, be young in spirit as long as you can.

Never be childish, but try to keep childlike in mind and soul. Put away all thoughts of age and sickness and weariness and contention.

Do your best to keep the priceless companionship of the Spirit of Youth, and it will shed its radiance on your slowly, ageing countenance.

In short, feel young and you will look young, long after your grumbling pessimistic condemnatory friends have grown old and unattractive, for late youth and early old age are more or less a question of the spirit than the body, and of thought than flesh and blood.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Fall Fashions

While tweeds and homespuns have been in usually good demand this spring, it is felt that in the fall the bulk of business will be done in velours and soft napped fabrics. Nevertheless, popular priced lines show a liberal sprinkling of staple tweeds as well as twills and tricotines for early fall wear. There is also duvet de laine, peachbloom, broadcloth and Poriet twill. There is greater variety in the furs used for trimming than last year. Nutria is still a favorite, as is grey squirrel, and now they are dying squirrel taupe. This is especially attractive on brown velours. Black lynx is a favorite on rust-colored suits. Caracul and seal are other popular black trimming furs. There are also mole, kolinsky and skunk, for almost all the short-haired pelts are used for trimming.

Both hand and machine embroidery are used on the suits. Chenille and wool yarn give solie striking effects. Cire braids and brocaded braids are another popular trimming.

Hand-made batiste and voile blouses continue to have a big sale, but there is a growing demand for opaque fabrics. One manufacturer, who believes that women are looking for something different in blouses, sums up the situation by saying:

"Georgette is very good for late summer and early fall; it is by no means out of the running for winter. But we intend to stress such materials in our overblouses as crepe satin, crepe de chine, wool jersey and duvetyn."

Embroidery on the fall blouses is conventionalized along the lines of the European peasant's work. Not a few of the blouses have the designs worked out in color. Black cellophane is often combined with the embroidery. In the heavier silks and velours cut-out effects are worked in border and scroll motifs. Wool and silk fringe is introduced in many new and interesting ways.

There is a good deal of brightness in the new coats. Lighter, brighter blues and rich mahogany red stand out among the staple navy blue, dark browns and lovely caramel shades.

New Shorthand

The Winnipeg Free Press gives the following review of a new system of shorthand, which has recently been perfected by a commercial school teacher in Winnipeg and is published in that city:

A new system of "short writing," whose popularity is shown by the fact that the Russell Shorthand book, now in its second edition, is finding its way into the public and private schools of the country, has been devised by H. J. Russell, F.C.I., commercial master at St. John's Technical High School, Winnipeg, for the nine years since it was erected, and a certificated teacher of a number of shorthand systems.

It is 333 years since Timothy Bright published his "Characterie: The Art of Short, Swift and Secret Writing, by Character"; and, though there were other systems, both before and after Bright's—shorthand having been, in fact, used after a fashion in very ancient times—his is mentioned chiefly because it introduced that principle of joining vowels to consonants, which is the basis of Mr. Russell's scheme. In addition to the joined-vowel plan, Mr. Russell's is a one-position system. For the benefit of those who may not yet be shorthand writers, but are contemplating studying it, one should perhaps explain that a joined-vowel shorthand system is one where a word may be written without lifting the pen from the paper to put in the dot or dash that represents its vowel. Lifting the pen from the paper loses time. Referring to the "one-position" characteristic of Mr. Russell's shorthand, it may be explained that some shorthand systems have a plan, where rapid writing is necessary, of indicating the vowel by writing the word above, on, or through the ruled line of the shorthand notebook. This is all very well where one has time to practice the position method until it becomes automatic; but the Russell shorthand is intended for those who want an efficient system that can be learned quickly. Another feature of some systems which is banished from the Russell, is shading, by which "s," for instance, becomes "z," and "t" becomes "d," simply by writing the same sign with a heavier stroke.

Ease in learning is facilitated by having only 25 word signs or logograms and only 10 rules to be mastered. Logograms in shorthand are that new procession of horrors, called arbitrary symbols," which the young David Copperfield faced after he learned the alphabet. It is necessary that there be a few of them; but Mr. Russell has thinned their former regiment to a corporal's guard.

One of the author's most interesting discoveries is an ingenious device for representing words containing the sound of "-tion," "-sion," etc. By means of this plan, it is possible to represent clearly by two strokes only words of from three to six syllables in length.

The book itself provides for the learning of the entire alphabet as the first exercise. The ten simple rules are then added to the alphabet, and the student is able to proceed at once to the writing of business, literary and scientific words. The entire system is covered in a pocket size book of 21 pages. The book is almost as easily carried around as shorthand is, once learned.

This a stern and startling thing to think
How often mortality stands on the brink
Of its grave without any misgiving;
And yet in the slippery world of strife,
In the stir of human bustle so rife,
There are daily sounds to tell us that Life
Is dying and Death is living!

CARVES PLAN OF MELBOURNE BANK ON PRISON TABLE

Prisoner's Mind is Constantly Occupied With Tragedy of April 11.

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 11.—Apparently the Melbourne incident still occupies the mind of Henry Jack Williams, who is awaiting trial for the murder of Russell Campbell during the attempted bank robbery at the village, to the obliteration of all else. Since he and Sidney and William Murrell were captured on April 11, the day Campbell was shot, Williams has been boring his fellow-prisoners with the story of his experiences. Now he amuses himself by drawing diagrams of the Home Bank of Melbourne, where the trio battled with the employees and residents of the village.

On the table in ward 5 at the County Jail, where he is confined, he has carved a plan of the bank, it is stated, even the brick foundation being shown. As No. 5 ward is occupied for the most part by out-prisoners and prisoners on remand, several men who have since left the jail have had an opportunity of seeing Williams' handiwork.

Until quite recently Williams would not play cards with his cell mates. During the latter part of last week, however, he consented to play with some of the prisoners, but with others he would not sit in a game.

ANOTHER MOVE BY CARL OF HUNGARY

Activity in Hapsburg Movement Designed to Cause Election.

GENEVA, Aug. 11.—Private information from various European centres confirms despatches from Budapest reporting unusual activity in the Hapsburg movement, apparently leading to a second attempt to restore either King Charles or Archduke Albrecht to the Hungarian throne.

There is every indication that this month will witness a new effort to bring about the political coup, in spite of official denials from those now in power in Hungary that such action is contemplated.

The recent fiasco of Charles' dramatic return has encouraged the pretentions of Archduke Albrecht's supporters, whose active campaign on behalf of their leader have forced Charles to action in order to protect his own claims to the throne.

Heretofore the restoration factions in Hungary have been split into four groups, supporting various royal candidates. Now they are almost exclusively devoted either to Charles or Albrecht, with the other aspirants out of the running.

Mother to Supply Money.

The present movement dates from the recent visit to Hungary of the Archduchess Isabella, mother of Albrecht. It is said that in addition to obtaining some political support at the capital, she made it known that she was able to finance the movement adequately, as a result of mortgages placed on the archducal estates with certain American financiers.

Previously, Albrecht's father, the Archduke Frederick, visited the King of Spain and secured some political support for his son's movement in Spanish and French quarters. His candidacy is backed by the Young Magyar part which is gradually lining up a strong element in behalf of the Archduke.

All this has forced the legitimatists supporting Charles to redouble their efforts for the former ruler. In spite of Charles' recent failure, political leaders, including Count Czernich, Apponyi, General Lehar and Stefano, are rapidly working out plans which will include dissolution of the present parliament and an election.

There are in England and Wales 17,600 miles of first-class roads and 10,700 miles of second-class roads.

CHEF OF JOFFRE CONTRIBUTES TO REMINISCENSES

PARIS, Aug. 11.—(Associated Press).—The latest war reminiscenses to be printed are those of the "chef" who presided over the destinies of the French General Staff during the battle of the Marne and who prepared the simple but abundant menu that Marshal, then General, Joffre sat down to at very irregular hours.

If the chef's culinary accomplishments were not superior to his literary talent then one pities poor General Joffre and it must have been a relief to the Commander-in-Chief to leave the mess table and return to the battle line.

"During the battle of the Marne," says the chef, "the General put away enough food to feed three ordinary men." Then he adds naively: "I hope, Monsieur le Marechal won't mind, what I say about the General."

One of the most amusing incidents related by the chef is that on September 12, when it became clear northward and that the battle was won, congratulations were in order and he received instructions that the menu for the dinner should be as much of a banquet as his raw material would permit.

Just as the meal was about to be completed a British automobile came up to headquarters with a basket of champagne as a token of congratulation to the French staff. It came from a British unit "in liaison." The chef was just getting ready to serve it when he noted that the bottles bore a German mark and he informed the officer of the fact. That worthy forbade him to serve the champagne to the staff and ordered him to throw the bottles away. "We did," says the chef, "but only the next morning, and they were empty."

ENOUGH HELP FOR WESTERN HARVEST

RAILWAYS ANNOUNCE CANCELLING OF SECOND EXCURSION.

MONTREAL, August 11 (Canadian Press). — The following announcement was issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway yesterday:

"The second harvesters' excursion advertised to be run on 17th August will be cancelled owing to the fact that the first excursion run by the Railway has sent forward sufficient help to meet demands at this date. If it is found that further demand for help is made for farm labourers, the railways will arrange for additional excursions to be run."

INCOME OF KING SHOWS A DEFICIT

ASKS PERMISSION TO LIQUIDATE ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND POUNDS.

LONDON, August 11 (Canadian Press). — The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Austen Chamberlain, announced in the House of Commons last night that a serious deficit has been shown in the income of the King for the past two years.

King George, the Chancellor said, has refused to allow his Ministers to ask a grant of aid from Parliament.

Instead, the King has asked permission to liquidate a hundred thousand pounds of his capital to wipe out the deficit.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Editor, Will you allow me space in your valuable paper in which to express my personal appreciation of the weekly report of the sermon at Mark street Church Although not a member of that sect or organization, I have found great help and blessing in reading these sermons andlook forward eagerly for them to appear. And I am sure that there must be many others who could say the same. Not all the people remain away from church services from choice or even careless ness, but there are many invalids, mothers of small children, and old people, who are barred from attendance, and whose souls are hungry and thirsty for the words of life.

Is there any reason why others churches and ministers should not follow so good an example and in turn have a sermon printed each day in the columns of the newspapers When whole pages are given over to theatre advertisement and sport comment, surely space could be found for the claims of God and eternal things. Indeed, it seems to me to be a glorious opportunity and an open door to the people and could b made a wide avenue of bless ing. If the people will not come to the Church. (and who has not heard the complaint) then let the church go to the people through the daily press.

I sincerely hope that this may catch the attention of the Ministerial Association and results follow. I feel sure that great blessing and good would follow and very many would be helped and cheered, who otherwise seldom hear the Word of God preached.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your kindnes, I am,

Yours respectfully,

MRS. A. M. FOUND.

NEW SCOURCE OF ROMAN HISTORY NOW DISCOVERED

Italian Savant Has Unearthed Relics Bearing on Augustus' Reign.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—(Associated Press).—A discovery which, it is claimed, will form one of the fundamental sources for a history of the Roman Empire under Augustus has been made recently by Dr. Oliverio, an Italian savant in Cyrene, the ancient Greek colony in Africa, founded in the seventh century.

A Morning Post correspondent, writing from Cyrene, says that excavations at Bengasi—the ancient Berenice which stood in the midst of the Gardens of the Hesperides, near the mouth of the River Lethe—have resulted in the unearthing of a block of marble eight feet long, one face of which bears a flawless Greek inscription of over 100 lines; the translation of a letter from Augustus on the government and administration of justice in Cyrenaica, giving a wonderful insight into the financial and judicial conditions of the country at that time.

Other interesting finds are a sanctuary dedicated to eastern divinities, probably of the time of Julian the Apostate, with a remarkably well-preserved black marble statue of an Egyptian goddess. An extensive Ptolemaic cemetery also has been located. At Apollonia a Christian basilica of the fifth century is being excavated, and at Merdj, the ancient Barce, some Cufic inscriptions have been found, which are held to be of great importance when the history of the Arab conquest comes to be written.

The membership of the Automobile Association in England now exceeds 160,000.

OTTAWA, August 11 (Canadian Press). — A drop in the customs revenue of Canada amounting to $34,435,586 for the first four months of the present fiscal year, as compared with the same period in 1920, seems to indicate that the Canadian public is learning to buy goods made at home. URIC ACID IN MEAT BRINGS RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

Dancing keeps him young, says a headline, in a contemporary. It's paying the piper that brings the grey hairs.

YOUTH WHO STOLE EIGHTY-FIVE CENTS GIVEN ANOTHER CHANCE

POLICE COURT DOCKET PROVIDED ADDED RESPONSIBILITIES FOR THE SALVATION ARMY.

A 17 year old youth who was once tired among the cow s and chickens left the atmosphere of the farm for the super-changed air of a restraunt. His success as a hash-slinger was short-lived and when he saw a ten year old boy with 85c greed took possession of his heart. He fell upon the lad and secured 82 of the 85 cents. Some time later he was arrested charged with theft remanded and stood under the magistrates benign gaze this morning. It was a sad case of wilfulness and downfall. Magistrate Dumble said Adjunant Bunton told him of the youths remorse and desire to lead an honest life and his abhorence of restraunts and desire again for pastoral scenes. The magistrates heart was touched. I want to give you a chance. Keep away from shows. You can get along without shows as well as I can. Exercise self-denial. Learn economy. Don't be like an animal. You were cowardly. You were evil. The first money you make you should pay he little boy. Be a man now, you're discharged. The youth stepped down out of the box and his mother placed a kiss on his cheek. Adjunant Bunton said he would watch the boy. Restitution was made before court was over and the youth left with renewed ideals in life.

Will Report

Ruby Lovell and Fannie Sims were allowed to go on the charge of being out late at night etc. "No evidence was taken in these cases. Ald. G. N. Gordon M.P. represented Mrs. Sims. A promise was made by both women to lead better lives and the case was speedily dealt with.

Dr. J. E. Middleton, the President, stated that the Society had been fortunate in securing the services of the delegates for the competition, also for the gladioli exhibit, and he believed that the judging had been wholly impartial, and he was particularly pleased in the interest of the citizens in the competition, as shown by the large number of entries in the various classes.

WELL CONTESTED LIST OF EVENTS AT THE CROWE'S LANDING REGATTA

COMMUNITY SPIRIT MANIFEST AMONG COTTAGERS OF THE UPPER STONEY LAKE.

CROWE'S LANDING, August 11. — The fifteenth annual regatta of the Upper Stoney Lake Cottagers' and Campers' Association was held yesterday afternoon at Crowe's Landing, opposite Belvidere. While there was not as large a crowd as in other years, the regatta was well managed and run off quickly. The rain which threatened all afternoon kept off till all the races were over, and then did not amount to anything.

A number of Norwood people motored to the Landing, taking advantage of the village half-holiday, and parties from Kawartha Park and the central part of the lake helped to make a jolly and appreciative crowd which thronged the shore and cheered lustily for their friends.

Upper Stoney Lake, like Kawartha Park, is a community and has a well-developed community spirit, and that is a big asset toward a successful regatta.

Mr. J. J. Crowe, the grand old man of Dummer, was present, and enjoyed it as well as the young folks.

The Officers.

Mr. B. L. Simpson is president of the Upper Stoney Lake Cottagers' Association, and Mr. Rod. Pakenham the secretary-treasurer, the other officers being Messrs. A. B. Mitchell and D. A. Glassy and Dr. R. Griffith.

The judges were A. E. Cuff, Geo. Burnham, Lloyd Duffield, J. R. McKelvie, John E. Roxburgh, B. M. Chapman, and T. E. Finlay.

A particularly interesting feature of the regatta was the large number of entries in so many of the races, which kept everyone on the qui-vive till the finish.

The Results.

Boys' single canoe (18 years and under), a Waldemar chain presented by Mr. Alex. Gibson—1 Turner Chapman, 2 Eric Finlay, 3 Wilbur Glassey. There were 8 entries.

Special Prizes.

Special prizes for points were given, but only those were eligible whose association fees for 1920 and 1921 had been paid.

The girls' point prize, a wrist watch presented by B. M. Chapman, of Toronto, was awarded to Helen Willoughby.

The men's point prize, a wrist watch presented by A. E. Cuff, of Toronto, was in grave doubt, as the eligible men had won it in previous years, and were out of the running.

The Regatta Dance.

At the dance which came off very successfully in the evening, the prizes were presented by Mr. B. Simpson, the president.

The committee deserve credit for their successful endeavour to provide a pleasant afternoon for the cottagers and their friends. Competition was keen, and in the main very fair, and it will remain a pleasant memory and an incentive to even greater efforts for 1922.

OSHAWA AND LINDSAY WIN

OSHAWA, Aug. 10.—Oshawa defeated Cobourg in a Central Ontario League fixture here this afternoon by a score of 9 to 7. Shafer, who started to pitch for the visitors was hit hard in the fifth inning, when the home team showed across five runs. He was replaced by Campbell, who was ineffective. Patton, twirling for the locals, pitched air-tight ball until the eighth, when the visitors staged a rally and by connecting for three hits, one of them a homer, together with a walk, gathered three runs. They added another pair in the ninth, which resulted from an error and another home run.

The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Oshawa ...001050210	9	14	2
Cobourg ...000110032	7	11	4

Batteries— Patton and Belding: Shaffer, Campbell and Tyson.

LINDSAY 9, PORT HOPE 4.

LINDSAY, Aug. 10.—Lindsay Greybirds had no trouble in defeating Port Hope here by the score of 9 to 4, gathering ten hits off Moyse, the new pitcher for the visitors. A feature of the game was the all-round playing of Pitcher Oulette, who had ten strike-outs, a two-bagger, a single, and scored three of the Lindsay runs. Two clever catches by Chambers in left, and one by Star, on third for Lindsay, brought the crowd to their feet. Scores:—

Port Hope	4	6	7

Batteries—Oulette and Bates; Moyse and Weir. Umpires —Wilson (Oshawa) and Anderson (Lindsay).

PETES DROP ANOTHER GAME TO THE BELLEVILLE CREW

ARE BEATEN 5 TO 2 IN HARD-FOUGHT GAME IN BAY OF QUINTE TOWN---SOLOMON OUT-FIT WERE AHEAD 2 TO 1 UNTIL LAST HALF OF SEVENTH.

For the third time this season the Petes were beaten yesterday by the Belleville crew, losing in the Bay of Quinte city by 5 runs to 2 after a hard fight, the closeness of which is hardly indicated by the final score. For six innings it was a duel of southpaws between Lefty McElroy for the Petes and Goyer for the G. T.R. team, and the rival organizations were on even terms with one run each, Belleville scoring in the first, and Murray driving in the tieing run for the Petes in the fourth.

The Petes took the lead in the first half of the seventh when, with Lornie Rose on second, Swanston singled through second to send the run in, and the Solomon gang were in front 2 to 1.

Their advanage did not last long, however, for the first Belleville batter in the enemy's half of the seventh doubled, and the next man up was hit. A wild pitch put runners on second and third and Ray Rose was sent to the rubber, Jackson going to second, Kirn to first base and McElroy to right field. Rose struck Goyer out, but the umpire lost track of the count and although he admitted his mistake afterwards, gave the Belleville pitcher another chance. The next ball hit the batter and he should hae been sent to first, but His Umps called it a ball and allowed the runner on third to score. Then Goyer hit a sacrifice fly to McElroy, scoring run No. 2. Eventually Belleville chased two more counters over before the inning closed and the game was on ice, as neither team scored again.

Lornie Rose led off in the ninth with a clean triple, but expired on third when Ray Rose and Swanston struck out and Ross was thrown out.

BASEBALL COMMENT

Guide: Harold Dainty, Oshawa's much tooted pitcher, has left the automobile town and Patton must shoulder the responsibility of the box for the balance of the season. Dainty's work for the first few games was very effective, but lately he had to take second place to old reliable Patton. Manager Peacock has leadned no doubt that imported ball players are not the easiest people in the world to handle.

PETERBORO HORSES WON AT WARKWORTH

GOOD LIST OF SPORTS FOR CIVIC HOLIDAY.

Two Peterboro horses captured first prizes at the horse racing at Warkworth yesterday afternoon. Yesterday was Civic Holiday in the town and in the afternoon there was sports and racing at the Exhibition Grounds. Over five thousand people were on the grounds and the horse races were a feature attraction. Bubs owned by Charles Moise, of Port Hope got first money in Class A race the fastest panel of the afternoon. "Honey Boy" owned by Jas. Thomas, Colborne, stepped into second place and William Elmhirst's "City Limit" was third across the wire in every heat. Herb. Gilmour's horse "Lloyd George" was winner of Class B. In the second heat of this race he and "The Judge" owned by J. McNutt of Tweed crossed the wire neck to neck and the judge had to call it a draw. Lloyd George got the third heat. "The Judge" won second money and "Jack R" was third. There were five horses in this class. One of these was "Swift Lion" owned by Joseph Vasar of Trenton.

"Dan Bingen" owned by A. Juby of Peterboro who looked well in Peterboro on Monday last won the third class. "Willa Mack" was second and "Starlight Dan" and "Red Bird" tied for third honours. Nine horses were entered in the third race.

Altogether it was one of the best racing cards presented in Warkworth for a long time the Examiner was assured. The baseball match between Roseneath and Warkworth was an interesting fixture of the afternoon.

NEW PRO LEAGUE WILL COMB EAST FOR HOCKEYISTS

ATTEMPT TO ROB COAST LEAGUE OF PLAYERS NOT LIKELY.

CALAGARY, Aug. 11.—(Canadian Press) That an invasion of Eastern Canada wil be made by promoters of the western professional hockey league for players for this season appears almost certain Many of the players will not be available next winter and in order to establish a standard equal to that in other parts of the dominion, it will be necessary for the Alberta officials to seek high class material in the older districts. In view of the fact that negotations will be entered into with the Patricks of the Coast League to arrange for a play off it is practically certain that no attempt will be made to rob the Coast League of any of its players. The Alberta Big Four which has presumably has been operating as an amateur orginization has decided to form a professional league.

SPORT COMMENT

Not keeping fit and point decisions are the two great faults of the English ring. Too many of these boys do their training on beer, so this analyst further claims as a reason for their lack of toughness. Wilde was a freak amongst British boxers, but the only other English boxers to amount to anything the last few years, Lewis and Freddy Welsh, took their training cues from the American boys.

Training on beer might produce a paunch, but not a punch, we tike it.

Cullen Cain has visited Matty Mathewson in his eerie perch at Saranac Lake, where he is making his tremendous fight for life and he tells the fans that reports of this and that about Big Six are mostly untrue. The famous pitcher is neither gaining in his fight nor losing.

It is taking all the coolness and courage, qualities for which the master was noted, on the diamond, to make this fight, but he is waging it patiently far away from even the faintest echoes of the sporting world, whose greatest idol he was a few years back, and is yet for that matter.

"Tell them that I appreciate their remembrance very much and that I send back greetings. Yes, and tell them I am glad they are for me and that it will surely help."

BASEBALL

PETERBORO' LOST TO BRITISHERS IN YESTERDAY'S BOWLING GAME

THE GAME WAS WELL CONTESTED — RECEPTION FOR THE VISITORS.

Peterborough bowlers were given a distinctive honour in Oshawa yesterday afternoon when, at the oowling tournament arranged for the British bowlers, Peterborough was drawn to play against the fastest rink in the Britishers' party, skipped by the captain of the team, J. J. Jagger.

It was a gala day in Oshawa. The Mayor had declared a public holiday. Shops and places of business were closed, and the townsfolk turned out in large numbers to give a welcome to the Britishers who are visiting Canada for the first time since 1913. In those piping days, they visited Peterborough, but on this first visit since the war, it was decided that Oshawa being centrally located could best entertain them, clubs from the district participating in the games and welcome.

The Local Rink.

Peterborough, Cobourg, Whitby, Bowmanville, Port Hope, and Oshawa each sent one rink, with several other representatives of the city or town.

Dr. Hammond, W. J. Oke, Andy Ross and J. W. Mayneord formed the local rink, and R. M. Waddell and Robert Hicks were guests at the function.

There were six rinks of Britishers and 31 in the party in all, including their wives.

At 10.20 a.m. the Britishers arrived on the C.P.R. from Toronto, and were met at the station by the assembled bowlers and city representatives, and taken for a drive around Oshawa and shown through the large factories of the Pedlar People and General Motors. The civic reception took place at a club luncheon at Welsh's Parlours at 12.30, and fraternal greetings were extended to the party by all the clubs.

The bowling tournament commenced at 3 p.m.

While the bowling was in progress, the Women's Council of Oshawa entertained the ladies of the party, and at 5 p.m. tea was served by the ladies on the beautiful green.

A fitting climax to such a splendid programme took place in the evening, when R. S. McLaughlin dined the entire fraternity of bowlers at lovely Parkwood. Under the large marquee on the lawn the banquet was held, followed by speeches in which the men from England, Scotland, Wales, and the Channel Islands spoke kindly of their warm welcome wherever they had been, and the hospitality of the Canadian people as a whole. The grand old game of bowls was eulogised, of course, and the ties between bowlers on both sides of the Atlantic were bound closer by the culminating affair.

After it had been called a day, the party of Britishers were motored to Toronto by the Oshawa club.

The Game.

Britishers.	Peterborough.
W. Morrison	Andy Ross
A. Curtis	Dr. Hammond
J. Sandilands	W. J. Oke
J. J. Jagger	J. W. Mayneord

The game ran to 21 ends, and the final score was 20 to 15, with the Britishers on the long end of the score.

The Peterborough rink played a fine game, but the Britishers were superior players, and placed their shots with a nicety that marvelled the bowlers who had not seen them in action before. Several other rinks went down ignominiously before them. In fact, Peterborough played about as good an end as there was. The oversea visitors swept the day, but all the bowlers had a good time, and laughed good-naturedly at their defeat.

Tournament Souvenirs.

The bowlers came home with very fine souvenirs of the tournament. The Britishers presented each player with a gold enamelled chaste medal, with the British arms surmounted by a fine-wrought crown, and the words "British Bowlers, 1921," encircling the base of the medal. From the Dominion Lawn Bowling Association each player received a splendid medal, bearing in enamel the Dominion coat-of-arms, with the rose and thistle on either side, and also suitably inscribed.

The British bowlers were presented with souvenirs from each club, with a small badge and medal, with the name of the club and date inscribed on it.

GOURDIN, GREATEST NEGRO ATHLETE

On the list of members of the negro race who have won laurels by feats calling for muscular skill or endurance all other names are led by that of Ned Gourdin, the Harvard athlete who established a world's record of 25 feet 3 inches in the running broad jump at the recent inter-university games.

Only those who have taken part in actual jumping contests or are familiar with this branch of sports can appreciate fully the merits of Gourdin's performance. It called for great speed on the part of the athlete to attain the necessary momentum and a thrust from the thigh of tremendous power to throw the body high enough into the air to accomplish the result obtained. Gourdin is a fleet sprinter. Like all other broad jumpers, he knew exactly how many strides would bring him to the takeoff, and he was no doubt moving at a ten-second gait for the 100 yards when he hit the mark with his right foot and projected his body through the air.

The previous record at the broad jump was held by O'Connor of Ireland, with a leap of 24 feet 11¼ inches. Gourdin's mighty effort surpassed this by 3¼ inches. Ireland for many years has produced the best jumpers, just as men of Irish blood have long been at the top in weight putting and hammer throwing. The reason for this is twofold, if we may accept the explanation commonly given. Athletic sports are a passion with the youth of Ireland. Irishmen are famous for their size and bone. So are their horses. The limestone foundation of the soil is credited with producing this condition in horse and man.

That Gourdin has been able to surpass the greatest Irish jumper in evidence of his quality as a jumper and should be a matter of pride for the colored race. He will take his place alongside Howard Taylor, the University of Pennsylvania's marvel at the quarter mile; the crack 100-yard collegian Howard P. Drew; the English sprinter Wharton and the Australian flier Samuels.

Good as all of these were, Gourdin's is the first best on record in any branch of athletics to be scored by a negro.

THREE YEARS AGO MONDAY, AT AMIENS, MAD CANUCKS' FIRST SPEARHEAD THRUST WENT HOME

BIGGEST SINGLE PUSH OF WAR, REGISTERED BY CURRIE'S MEN IN THREE DAYS OF RAPID DRIVING, FIGHTING AND THRUSTS—FIRST OF FOCH'S HAMMER BLOWS WHICH CHARACTER ZED THE LAST ONE HUNDRED DAYS OF GREAT WAR.

Three years ago on Monday, at 4.20 ack emma, the mightiest cannonade of over three years of war crashed out along the outer fringes of Amiens, which the Hun had threatened in his huge March drive.

Canadians and Aussies, at the sound started "over" heralding the beginning of the last 100 days with the biggest and most rapid attack of the whole war. In the half dawn, lines of horizon blue on the right of the Amiens-Roye road listened to the oily bark of their own beloved soixante-quinze mingling with the tinnier crash of the British 18-pounder and heavy Hows of all sizes, and watched impatiently the line of khaki surge over the Luce and on toward the line defined by the Bois de Hangard on the eastern slope of the Luce valley. They were to start an hour and a half after, their objective, Roye and Nesle.

The isolated, half-dazed, greyish-clad Huns fought valiantly to stop the tide that surged up the long slope. The First and Third Divisions, leading the van of the Two Division attack of the Canadians, lost heavily in the first 1,000-yard zone, commanded by the Fritz machine gunners. Epic hand-to-hand battles were fought in the early a.m. uncanny mist by the small bodies of Canucks, filtering through, sure and unfaltering, and then the whole vast machinery of modern warfare, in one huge co-ordinated programme, for the first time since the war began, creeked forward in an unstemmable tide.

Surging Tide of War.

Across the Domart bridge, a little stone structure, cavalry clanked impatiently behind lumbering tanks, following up the trail of their more nimble brothers-in-arms, th newest whippets. Batteries detached themselves from the loud-mouthed chorus and limbered up, either the bridge for it or fording the Luce on and on, up the slope and in a mad chase of the advancing line of the infantry. Soon the whole area was alive with the surging tides of war—war as it had been dreamed of and longed for through years of weary, monotonous vigils in the mud-cavalry and "guns" in mad gallop, tipsy waddling tanks nosing out machine gun nests in the sunlight which by now came streaming down fine and clear, and opened up a vision of gently rolling green slopes and small patches of leafy woods—a whole panorama of "war in the open."

All the vast complement of the modern army on the move, from the brass-hat to th peaceful soup-kitchen, composing the most modern corps in the world.

Unbelievable day. With the first feeling of success and the first burst of sunshine, exultant smiles illumined the faces of Tommy and general alike, and all in between, the "staff" able to see for the first time, the moves of their chess plan worked out in efficient and fast moving execution.

Sabre and Lance.

A mad, exultant mood permeated the whole. Cavalry, with sabre and lance gleaming in the sun, were the maddest of all. Horses, which had had years of peaceful watering and waiting at French troughs, in villages like Divion, far behind the line, caught the spirit from their riders who did unbelievably made things like charging woods full of machine gun nests in the wildest abandon—gunners unlimbered and fired round after round over open sights, the while the P. B. I. waited for them to crack the "hard nuts" contentedly easing sore, tired, aching feet after the long 14-days' trek down, and watching their own show from the bald-headed row, aplauding the wildest sights they saw, and there were many.

The glorious rush was still going in late afternoon. Those on the Canadian right paused in their efforts to watch the long lines of French advancing down along the Roy - Amiens Road. Dust-covered Canadian machine gun motors sputtered noisily over the paved road going and coming, telling wonderful tales of the quick, rapid fighting on beyond. Cavalry were still making mad gallops in every direction, coming back with still more alluring tales of deeds and experiences.

Herculean Struggles.

Quick futuristic impressions as the mass moved over the ground which was lately trod by fleeing French women and children and dog carts and chattels before the oncoming Hun rush of March. Here a small boy's gaily-threaded peanut cap; groups of our own and Hun dead recording Herculean struggles in their postures; there a group for a sculptor—a machine gunner tugging at a refractory truck-like gun carriage, his comrade a few yards ahead in running posture—both overtaken by the avenging lance-point of the mad cavalry, and in the late afternoon sun looking as bluish as the sculptor's but lately-fashioned clay; a German canteen, with the beer still wet upon the glasses, and outside the door a fat German who had lingered too long for his last thirst-defying drink of beloved "bier"; piles of equipment and stores, coffee in great bags, greatcoats hastily dropped, pencils on tables in small dugouts half-way underground, furnished with red plush chairs taken from nearby village homes, everything left just as Prussian officers had sat in security a few hours before idly pencilling notes or winning the war in their own way.

Biggest Advance.

And at sunset and gathering dusk, the biggest single advance of the war attained—the lines of Le Quesnel, Caix, Marcelcave and ahead consolidated. And at night, what of the monotonous drone of the night birds overhead, which meant the whole countryside spurting up in sudden tongues of flame and after-explosion of the German bombs. Tired bodies in bivouac scenes that surpassed those after Waterloo, and the slumber of emotional intoxication paid no heed.

The next day, the same with more purpose, earnestness, and steadiness about it and harder fighting. At night the Rosieres-Vrely line achieved, and still more undying "hell-for-leather" exploits.

And the next, a still more orderly mark, with the opposition in a more poiseful state, and showing it with a heavy reply of big guns, and finally in late afternoon the old 1915 French line, with its weed-grown trenches from in front of which old "Hindy" had withdrawn in the winter and the spring of 1917; the whine of machine gun bullets, which meant another stalemate there, and Chaulnes, important railway junction, just out of reach a few thousand yards in advance.

Three glorious days, and the result: Confidence for the whole Allied Army, the biggest single advance of the war before, and for that matter afterward, by the Canadian corps, with thousands of prisoners and guns; new hope, new heart for the ranks in this dreamed-far war of movement. It was the first of those spear-head attacks of Canadians, the polish of which never dimmed until the morning of 11th November in front of Mons, the spot of first contact between Hun and Briton.

SQUASH GROWING CONTEST IN THE CITY

Some years ago a squash was grown in Goderich weighing 403 lbs., and to-day a friendly rivalry is being engaged in by three west end residents to see who can produce the largest fruit from seed of the Goderich record breaking plant.

With two months or more growth yet, Mr. Riddell reports as the result of his efforts to date, one squash measuring on August 9th 26 inches in length, and 43 inches in circumference. This same fruit on July 28 measured 13 1-4 inches in length and 22 inches in circumference.

The other two squash-growing contestants have not yet been heard from.

FIELD DAY EVENTS AT CITY PLAYGROUNDS

QUEEN ALEXANDRA PUPILS VISIT CENTRAL SCHOOL—SWIMMING MEET TO-MORROW.

The girls baseball throw proved very interesting although it was won handily by Queen Alexandra. Perks of Central won in the standing broad jump; distance 6 feet, 7 inches. In the baseball game Central were better with the bat and defeated Queen Alexandra 12 to 1.

The Baird brothers playing 2nd base for their respective teams played good ball as did Lewis, pitcher and Sage, right field for Central. Miller hit the ball out of the field for two bases.

Queen Mary's Surprised.

The Queen Mary boys and girls visited King Edward and met with a surprise. They were defeated by ten points. The boys lost all of their events while the girls partially saved the day by winning three out of four The scoring was very close, making it hard for the losers. In the volley ball, King Edward won by one point while in the girls baseball, an extra innings had to be played to break a tie, the final score standing seven to six in favour of Queen Mary.

Swimming Meet.

To-morrow afternoon the children of the four play grounds will congregate at the lakeside to hold their annual swimming meet. The following events are scheduled:

Girls, 50 yards speed; 25 yards speed; toboggan slide, dive for distance; fancy dive; 25 yards on back.

Boys, senior, 14 and over,—75 yards speed; 50 yard on back; long plunge.

Boys, junior, 13 and under—25 yard crawl, 50 yard speed; long plunge.

Decision as to Whether All Houses Shall Be Connected to Sewer—Some Not Worth the Act.

Whether or not sanitary plumbing shall be installed in all houses on streets upon which sewers have been laid remains in the discretion of Dr. T. W. H. Young M.O.H. He asked the Board of Health for a ruling on this question, following the criticism of Dr. G. Clinton District Officer of Health, but the members of the Board declined to set a hard and fast rule.

"If a house is good enough it should have a sewer connection' said G. H. Duncan, "but there are some houses dilipated that they are not worth the expenditure of putting in plumbing."

Dr. Young was authorized to use his judgment in regard to ordering householders to conform with the policy which the civic health authorities desire to extend throughout all the streets with sewer services.

WEDDING BELLS

MONCRIEF—WARD.

At 3 o'clock on Wednesday, August 10th, at St. Andrew's Manse, Myra Olive, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ward, of Cavan township, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to John Leonard Moncrief, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moncrief, of Fraserville. Rev. Jas. Rollins performed the ceremony. The attendants were Miss Roxie Mary Annie Monchief, sister of the groom, and Mr. Thomas McElroy, of South Monaghan. Mr. and Mrs. Moncrief left on the 3.35 train for points west. They will reside in Fraserville.

SOUTAR—CORBMAN.

The following is from a Vancouver exchange:

A pretty wedding was solemnized this morning at 9.30 o'clock in the Mount Pleasant church, Rev. O. M. Sanford officiating, when Miss Lillian Katherine Corbman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Corbman, was united in marriage to Mr. James Soutar, also of this city. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a becoming suit of light blue taffeta, beaded and embroidered in the same shade, opening over a pretty blouse of sand-colored Georgette. She wore a black mohair hat, faced with blue and trimmed with French flowers and carried a shower bouquet of pink and white roses. Miss Fern Smyth as bridesmaid, wore a frock of pearl grey crepe de chine, rose trimmed and a leghorn hat. She carried a bouquet of swet peas and roses. Mr. A. G. Fraser supported the groom and the wedding music was played by E. Parrington Salvage, organist of the church. After a honymoon spent at Shawnigan Lake Mr. and Mrs. Soutair will take up residence at 3435 First Avenue west. They will be at home to their friends about the middle of July.

IN LOVING MEMORY

of Mrs. James Yates, who died Aug. 11, 1920:

The midnight stars are gloaming on a lone and silent grave,
Beneath sleeps one we dearly love,
but who we could not save;
Her weary hours and days of pain,
Her troubled nights are past,
Her ever-patient worn-out frame has found sweet rest at last.
The happy hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet their memory still,
But death has left a vacant place
The world can never fill.

Inserted by mother, sisters, and brother.

CORONER'S ILLNESS CAUSED ADJOURNMENT OF INQUEST

Peterboro Boy Has Been Unable to Secure Bail.

TORONTO, Aug. 11.—For two consecutive days untoward circumstances have prevented the resumption of inquests at the City Morgue. On Tuesday Coroner M. M. Crawford had to adjourn the inquiry into the cause of death of a boy, named Elliott, owing to the absence of witnesses. Last night the illness of Dr. J. H. McConnell, the coroner in the case of Harold Farmer, the 12-year-old lad killed with another boy Percy Wemyss, in a motorcycle accident on the night of August 2nd caused an adjournment of that inquiry until the 24th inst. The chief coroner, Dr. George W. Graham, explained to the jury the cause of Dr. McConnell's non-attendance, and then postponed the hearing.

Ernest Hawthorne, the returned soldier from Christie Street Hospital, the driver of the motorcycle, who is held on a charge of manslaughter, was present, in custody. He has been unable to secure bail, despite the fact that he is a relative of the dead boy.

ALLIES REFER SILESIA DISPUTE TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS COUNCIL; SEND MORE TROPS IN MEANTIME

PRACTICAL IMPASSE REACHED OVER BOUNDARY QUESTION AND DESIRE OF LLOYD GEORGE TO RETURN TO LONDON LEADS TO DECISION.

TO MAINTAIN ORDER BY FORCE, MEANWHILE

(By Webb Miller, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, August 12. — The Allied dispute over Upper Silesia to-day went back to the League of Nations for settlement.

The decision to refer the question to the League Council was reached at a hurried session of th Supreme Council this morning.

Premier Lloyd-George dominated the gathering and nervously urged the other delegates into disposing of the question in order that he might return to London immediately to consider the Sinn Fein's reply to the British peace proposals.

Although the French indicated the session was breaking up because of a disagreement over Silesia, the British contended that only a recess was being taken to let Lloyd-George return to London.

Troops to Silesia.

Pending the adjustment of the dispute by the Council of the League of Nations, reinforcements will be sent to Silesia to maintain order, the Supreme Council decided, it was officially anounced later.

The Inter-Allied Commissioner will return to Silesia immediately, it was announced, and an appeal will be made to the German and Polish authorities to use their utmost influence to prevent another outbreak.

Premier Lloyd-George proposed that the Silesian question should be referred to the League Council after the French Premier, Briand, definitely refused previous suggestions for the division of Silesia between Germany and Poland. Japan and Italy supported Lloyd-George, and Brian accepted the solution.

It was pointed out here that a League decision probably would be along the lines proposed by Lloyd-George in the first place since Britain probably will be able to swing the majority to her side.

Col. Harvey, American "observer" at the Council session, had lunch with Briand at the close of the meeting.

Was a Sudden Inspiration.

The League suggestion was adopted after Briand had proposed that the United States be asked to arbitrate. Turning to Col. Harvey, Briand asked what America's attitude would be on that. Harvey replied that he couldn't say off-hand, but that he would cable Washington to inquire.

Harvey had barely completed his answer when Lloyd-George jumped to his feet with an inspiration.

"We're both members of the League of Nations; why not have the League arbitrate?" he asked.

The others immediately approved the suggestion.

CRISIS IS AVERTED.

PARIS, August 12 (Canadian Press). — France and Great Britain have decided to refer the Silesian question to the League of Nations, as was announced to-day.

This question, which involved drawing the frontier between Poland and Germany in Upper Silesia, threatened yesterday to bring about a break in the meeting of the Supreme Allied Council.

This decision is considered here to have solved the crisis that arose between France and Great Britain.

The announcement said "Certain insurmountable difficulties which had arisen between Italy, Japan, and Great Britain on the one hand and France on the other," had given rise to the solution decided upon.

It is understood that the Supreme Council will continue its agenda, particularly the discussion of relief to Russia.

Whole Question Referred.

Not only the boundary question, but the whole Silesian problem has been referred to the League of Nations, a later announcement stated.

The decision was reached by Premier Briand, and afterwards approved by the Council.

Trial of Hun Criminals

Before adjournment the Council briefly discussed Germans' trial of her war criminals. It was decided to ask Allied representatives who attended the trials at Leipzig to formulate a report on how the hearings were conducted and how the sentences compared with the guilt indicated by the testimony.

Lloyd George left on a special train for London. Lord Curzon remained. The French Cabinet was said to have approved fully the attitude Briand took toward the Silesian Proposals.

TORONTO, Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press.) — Nearly 700 immigrants from the British Isles arrived in the city in the course of yesterday. For the greater part the men were agricultural workers who had come here to start life in the new world by taking part in harvest work in this province. Quite a number of the newcomers continued their journey westward, while several hundred stayed in the city, where they were noticeable along the streets yesterday and will be added to those in quest of work within the next few days.

Commend Action of King George As to Finances

APPRECIATIVE CRITICISM OF REALIZING CAPITAL ON ROYAL ESTATES.

LONDON, August 12 (Canadian Press Cable). — The action of the King in realising capital on the Royal estates in the Duchy of Lancaster to avoid the cost of maintenance of the Royal household falling further on the public funds, has produced appreciative criticism.

The comment, however, s accompanied by a variety of viewpoints concerning some aspects of the question, more particularly the announcement of His Majesty that he is prepared, if it is thought desirable, to make a curtailment of the splendour that has usually been associated with the Throne.

The Daily Telegraph is convinced the people, not only of the British Isles, but of the whole Empire, want the dignity of the Crown fully maintained without the sacrifice of this character.

The Daily News takes the opposite view.

FRANCE-POLISH SECRET TREATY IN EXISTENCE

SAID TO HAVE BEEN THE CAUSE OF BREAK-DOWN IN SUPREME COUNCIL'S EFFORTS TO SETTLE SILESIAN PROBLEM.

FORCED THE FRENCH TO WITHDRAW CONCESSIONS

(By Charles M. McCann, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, August 12. — A secret Franco-Polish Treaty broke down the Allied Supreme Council's efforts to settle the Silesian question, according to newspaper reports here to-day.

These reports said Premier Briand of France was forced to withdraw concessions he had made when President Millerand revealed the existence of the Treaty.

The British Prime Minister, Lloyd-George, it was stated here, could not consent to the French idea of dividing Silesia between Poland and Germany, first, because it would be an injustice to Germany, and second because such a settlement would provoke future war.

Newspaper comment here on the Council's adjournment was divided between the possibility that Lloyd-George was recalled by the Irish situation and that France insisted on dividing Silesia so as to give Poland the richest portions.

GRUNDY RULING ROUSES FORCES OF TEMPERANCE

UPHOLDING OF LEGALITY OF EXPORT OF LIQUOR FROM CANADA TO UNITED STATES ALARMS DOMINION ALLIANCE

URGE LEGISLATION TO REMEDY SITUATION

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, August 12 (Canadian Press). — The temperance forces in this city view with considerable alarm the situation which has arisen at the border as the result of Police Magistrate Grundy's ruling in Windsor that shipments of liquor and beer may be legally made from Canada to the United States, so far as this country is concerned.

Rev. J. Bailey, of the Dominion Alliance, stated that the situation would undoubtedly be discussed at the next meeting of his association's legal committee, and he considered it probable that representations would be made to the Government to introduce measures to remedy the situation. He pointed out that this question of export was one falling within the jurisdiction of the Federal Parliament. He also noted that as the law stood it permitted not merely export from Ontario to the United States, but also to British Columbia, since that Province had not prohibited its importation within the meaning of the Doherty Act.

In the absence of the Hon. W. E. Raney, Attorney-General, no pronouncement could be obtained from the Attorney General's Department as to the action which could be pursued by them in coping with the situation.

SEA-GOING SALOON IS OPERATING OUTSIDE U.S. THREE-MILE LIMIT

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—New York yachtsmen were telling to-day of a sea-going saloon which is alleged to be purveying all sorts of pro-Volstead drinkable a safe distance outside the three miles limit off the Massachusetts coast.

The ship, which made its appearance during the recent cruise of the New York Yacht Club, was said to be the schooner Arethusa of Nassau, Newfoundland, a converted Gloucester fishing craft. Whiskey in quantities ranging from a drink to a barrell full was obtainable. Massachusetts authorities were reported to have admitted they were powerless to interfere so long as the schooner mad no attempt to land her cargo.

While this situation was being discussed, coast guard officials received a report of a "mystery ship" sighted a hundred miles south east of cape Hatteras by the American steamer Lake Ardene. They believed the craft, a full rigged ship with two motor boats in her davits, was a rum runner. She was described as apparently going no where in particular and in no hurry to get there.

DIES OF WORRY IN FIGHT OVER LOST FORTUNE

MICHAEL CONNOLLY, WHO ACCUSED ARTHUR ECREMENT OF MULCTING HIM OF $125,000, DIES IN MONTREAL.

FOUGHT HARD BATTLE OVER ALLEGED LOSS

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

MONTREAL, August 12 (Canadian Press). — Michael Connelly, a well-known contractor, who accused Arthur Ecrement, a former member of Parliament, of having aided in a conspiracy which mulcted him, Connelly, out of $125,000 by a fake wire-tapping scheme at Buffalo, was found dead in his bed yesterday by his son H. Michael Connelly, a local stock broker.

Connelly's death was ascribed to heart trouble, caused by the worry of the legal battle he made to regain his lost money or punish the men he claims defrauded him out of a good-sized fortune.

Connelly, a native of Ireland, emigrated to Philadelphia, and was at an early age engaged in the oilfields of that State. Later he was a well-known contractor in New York and of British Columbia.

GROUSE SHOOTING OPENED IN SCOTLAND THIS MORNING

To-day, 12th August, opens the grouse shooting on the moors of the Mother Land. This day, looked forward to for weeks, especially in Scotland, brings many English guests to the land north of the Tweed, there to enjoy the shooting on the estates rented by them for the season. From morning to night may be seen the knickerbockered sportsmen, with guns, dogs, and ghillies, or beaters, trekking over the purple heather, and at the end of the day returning with the spoil—maybe anywhere from one to a dozen or more brace of grouse, according to the size of the party. The season is short, probably about three or four weeks at the outside, when the close time is in force for another year for grouse.

VALERA LETTER NOT REJECTION OR ACCEPTANCE

COMMUNICATION OF REPUBLICAN LEADER TO LLOYD GEORGE MERELY RAISES VARIOUS QUESTIONS.

IT MAY FACILITATE DEALINGS IN FUTURE

DUBLIN, August 12 (Canadian Press). — DeValera's letter to Premier Lloyd-George delivered yesterday, contains neither the acceptance nor the rejection of the proposals, it was learned here to-day.

The letter raises various questions, and the answer may facilitate future dealings.

LONDON, August 12 (Canadian Press). — Rumours that the reply of Eamonn DeValera to the British Government's Irish peace proposals, which was received here yesterday, had produced a serious crisis in the Irish situation, were generally discredited here to-day.

Lloyd-George intended to leave Paris this forenoon for London, and rather alarming reports were given credence for a time, but the attitude taken at the British capital to-day was that although the terms of the Irish missive still were unknown, the negotiations between the Government and the Irish Republicans would continue under favourable circumstances.

Well informed circles say DeValera's message was that the Government's proposals furnished a basis for possible settlement, but asked for more explicit explanations.

WON'T ENDANGER PARLEYS.

BY ED. L. KEEN.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Aug. 12.— Irish peace negotiations reached the second stage to-day when Premier Lloyd George returned from Paris to consider the Sinn Fein communication.

Despite the secrecy which surrounded the message brought here yesterday by representatives of the Irish "President," it was stated authoritatively that the Sinn Fein had suggested amendments to the peace terms submitted by Lloyd George. It was believed that suggestions might have something to do with Ulster which has insisted on being recognized as a third party in the conference instead of a subordinate to Southern Ireland.

Sinn Fein leaders here were close-mouthed but they managed to let it be known that the note was not to be considered as an ultimatum or anything which would endanger the negotiations.

London Mystified.

London was mystified when the note arrived, especially when great importance was attached to it by a solemn announcement in the Commons. To-day it was regarded as nothing more than an indication that the Sinn Fein is working on the problem and that she is ready now to dicker on terms. "President" De Valera is in the southern portion of Ireland now with Cork as his headquarters. He will return in time to address the Dail Eireann Tuesday and report on the peace negotiations.

London newspapers expressed surprise over the note before the Dail Eireann had considered Britain's proposals. It was pointed out, however, that the Sinn Fein was supposed to favor a settlement when certain changes had been made in the terms. It was believed De Valera desired Britain's acceptance or rejection of the articles before the Daily Eireann meets next Tuesday. The Daily Chronicle, a Lloyd George organ, printed a despatch from its Paris correspondent to-day stating that the Sinn Fein note delivered to Lloyd George there "was a big step forward."

EXPLAINS WHY "GULL" DID NOT RACE MONDAY

Broke Rudder Off Juniper Island Wharf at Stoney Lake Regatta.

Appreciating that it must have been a disappointment to many that he did not race his boat in the open sailing number at the Stoney Lake regatta on Monday last, Mr. G. E. Oxley, of Toronto, offers the following explanation:

"Mr. Oxley regrets that he was unable to start his "Gull" against Mr. Knapman's "28" at the Stoney Lake regatta, as he most unfortunately broke his rudder fifty feet from Juniper Island wharf. Mr. Knapman offered to sail the race on Tuesday at two p.m. over the same course, on condition that if he won he could hold the cup for one year, but not to constitute a win for the final possession of the cup. This I refused to do, but offered to sail on Tuesday as suggested under conditions governing the cup. Mr. Knapman refused to do this and sailed around the course without a contest, constituting his second win for the Underwood cup."

GIRLS PADDLE OVER 300 MILES

From Ottawa to Kingston, in 16 Ft. Cedars.

KINGSTON, Aug. 11.—Four Ottawa girls—Miss Jeanette Stewart, Miss Constance Wright, Miss Irene Dawson, Miss Belle Roger— made approximately a three hundred mile canoe trip down the Rideau river from Ottawa to Kingston and return. The crafts were 16-foot cedars, and this is the first trip of its kind ever attempted to be carried out by women. Miss Stewart has seen service overseas; Miss Wright and Miss Dawson hold Humane Society bronze and silver medallions, and Miss Roger in addition to Humane Society medallions, won the Humane Society medal in 1916, when she saved Miss Beatrice Guertin from drowning in Britannia Bay. Miss Roger is also the organizer of the "Alerts" in hockey, and captained the team which went to Cleveland in 1916. She is an all-round athlete.

TO-DAY'S NEWS OF THE DISTRICT

SCARCITY OF FEED WILL BE PROBLEM THIS YEAR

APSLEY SETTLERS VIOLATE UNWRITTEN LAW—HARVESTERS OFF TO THE WEST.

APSLEY, Aug. 12.—The scarcity of feed is going to be quite a problem this winter and several farmers have decided to let their catle go in the fall for whatever they will bring rather than risk the possibility of losing them by starvation later. All who can be spared from the haying and harvesting are busy cutting marsh hay. Much marsh hay grows with marshes on government land throughout this country and is cut for feed by the settlers. It has been the custom from the unmemorial, indeed it might be called an unwritten law, for a man who cuts a marsh on unlocated land that has not been cut the previous year to have an undisputed right to cut it every following year, and a settler would as soon think of going into his neighbours barn as to cut on such a marsh. This year however due no doubt to the light hay crop, several cases have been reported where this right has been violated, setlers finding an going to their customary marshes that some one with less principle and honor than neighbourliness had forestalled them. To cite one case—two settlers who had cleaned up and cut a marsh for nine consecutive years found on going last week to commence cutting that the hay was all cut and hauled away. Their feelings can better be imagined than described. Two other cases of an equally mean kind occured this week. The victims of course have no redress, but it is felt that legislation might be effected to protect their rights in this respect if representations were made to the proper authorities.

Left For West

Jack's Lake

The fame of Jack's Lake as a fishing resort is becoming widely known, judging from the large numbers of parties that have been visited it during the last week. One man captured a five pound bass and last Wednesday a local lady caught an eel weighing the same amount.

Blackberry Season

Never has there been such a prolific blackberry season, size and quanity almost pheiomenal. As an example one man claims to have picked in less than twenty-six quarts in four hours. Nearly two hundred pickers were counted in one patch on Monday last.

The Visitors

The following guests were registered at the Union Hotel last week: W. J. Griffin wife and son, Peterboro; Dr. W. N. Cadmus and wife, Rochester; J. S. Mullan, T. A. Tucker, Peterboro; M. Robertson and wife Belleville; Mrs. Moffat, Belleville; E. N. MacDonald M.P. and Mrs. MacDonald, Warsaw; Geo H. Barr, Mrs. Barr, Miss Anna Barr Warsaw.

Wedding Bells.

A very charming wedding was solemnized in St. George's church on Wednesday afternoon, August 10th, when Miss A. M. Booth, only daughter of Mrs. Booth and the late C. R. D. Booth, Esq., became the bride of Mr. C. Stanley Windsor, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Windsor. The bride entered the church, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion, on the arm of Mr. Jim Downing, to the strains of the bridal march from Lohengrin, played by Mr. E. L. Spence. She was attired in white taffeta silk, w ith veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of pink ophelia roses and wore the groom's gift a gold pendant necklace. She was attended by her bridesmaid, Miss Myrtle Windsor, sister of the groom, dressed in apricot crepe de chine, trimmed with ecru lace, with hat to match. She also had a bouquet of cream roses. Mr. John Coones acted as groomsman. The service was choral, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. C. A. G. Spence, Rector of Apsley. The bridegroom's gifts were, to the bridesmaid a pearl ring, to the groomsman gold cuff links

FATHER OF U.S. PRESIDENT, AGED 76, HAS ELOPED

By C. F. BEAMAN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 12.—"We just thought we'd just like to get married—and so we did."

And that is the whole story of the "elopement" of Dr. G. T. Harding, father of the United States' President, with Miss Alice Severns, nurse, as the bridegroom expressed it to the United Press here to-day.

"It was all so sudden, you know," Miss Severns explained. The new couple, all smiles and fidgety over the fulfilment of their design to unite, were eager to tell "just how it was."

"It was simple as could be. We"—Harding who is 76, said, pointing to his bride, 52—"just thought there was no time better than the present. I had planned to go to Detroit to see L. B. Sanborn, a canned fruit merchant, who is a good friend of mine. Then on second thought I said to Alice, "better come on and go with me."

LLOYD GEORGE IS TO ATTEND

BRITISH PREMIER DESIRES TO PARTICIPATE IN WASHINGTON CONFERENCE, PROVIDING DOMESTIC AFFAIRS PERMIT.

BY ED. L. KEEN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Premier Lloyd George will attend the Washington d sarmament conference, domestic affairs permitting, it was stated in authoritative circles to-day.

The British leader is anxious not only to succeed in the conference but to establish personal relations with President Harding and Secretary Hughes, it was said. The only thing that would interfere with his attendance would be the pressure of home problems according to persons close to him.

HYDRO SUBMITS COUNTRY POWER PLAN TO GOV'T

START THIS WEEK IF SANCTION GIVEN

TORONTO, August 12 (Canadian Press). — Commencement of actual construction activities on the rural Hydro lines under the bonus legislation of last session only awaits the authorisation of the Provincial Government. The Provincial Hydro Commission at its meeting yesterday decided to apply to the Government for approval of the construction of the first lines into a dozen townships.

The first programme of rural Hydro extension which, with prompt action on the part of the Government, might conceivably be started early this week, involves the construction of 175 miles of line to serve 1,065 consumers in 12 townships, at a total capital expenditure of $375,277.

Of the total capital expenditure, $220,000 is necessary for the construction of primary lines, of which the Government, under legislation passed last session, will bear half the expense.

The Government's first expenditure under the new system will be, therefore, $110,000.

THE WEATHER

The rainfall of Thursday was one of three heavy rains we have had this year. It amounted to almost one and a half inches, 1.48. On March 19th we had 1.11, and on July 19th, 1.55. Yesterday's rain gave 150 tons of water on every acre of land in this section, and the farmer who owns or rents 160 acres of land, yesterday received 24,160 tons of water as his portion of nature's bounty.—W. THE PRIZE WINNERS.

The winners in the annual competitions of the Peterborough Horticultural Society are to be congratulated upon their success. To be selected by such well known authorities as the committee of visiting florists who judged the local competition is an honour over which the winners have every reason to be gratified. Peterborough is a city of beautiful homes and well kept lawns, and splendid gardens are to be found everywhere throughout the residential sections, and it is, therefore, a distinction indeed to have been designated as a winner in one of the various classes. In other years it is hoped that there will be a much larger number of entries in the competition, because the incentive of trying for one of the awards will naturally tend to produce better results all around and a correspondingly greater progress towards the city beautiful, that is the goal of the Horticultural Society and of all other citizens who take a real interest in Peterborough.

THE WASHINGTON CONFERENCE.

There is a growing sentiment in the United States in favour of the various Dominions of the British Empire being represented as separate units at the disarmament conference at Washington. A number of influential newspapers, notably the New York Times, has unhesitatingly advocated the individual representation of the Dominions on the ground that their interests are identical with those of the United States, and especially because it was largely due to the action of the representatives of the Dominion at the recent conference in London that opened the way for the gathering proposed by President Harding. Undoubtedly, the various units of the Empire would prefer to have their own delegates at Washington, and it is evident that many Americans are of the opinion that they should be given that privilege. The President's final decision will be awaited with great interest.

THE KING'S REPRESENTATIVE.

Canada's new governor-general, Lord Byng, whose praises have been sounded by the Canadian soldiers who fought under him in France, and whose record as a military leader captured the imagination of Canadians during the war, has already established himself in the affections of the people of Quebec, and there seems every reason to expect that the verdict of the rest of the Dominion will be equally favourable. His democratic attitude and modest bearing, and the unaffected tone of his first public address, particularly his reference to the Canadians under his command at Vimy, and his promise to stand behind them here, have all served to make a most happy impression upon the people of the Dominion. The New York Times puts it very neatly when it declares that his arrival in Canada is more like a home coming than anything else. If a sincere and hearty welcome tend to create a home-like atmosphere the hero of Vimy should feel at home in Canada.

SOLDIER FARMERS.

The announcement that the returned soldiers who took advantage of the soldiers' settlement scheme and accepted land in the northern sections of the three prairie provinces, will harvest on an average of between 20 to 25 bushels of wheat per acre is splendid news. The soldier farmers who saw the opportunity offered them to get a new start in life and seized it while others of their comrades were wasting time in a fruitless effort to secure cash gratuities, have on the whole succeeded remarkably well, and the splendid crop prospects this year should leave them in a very favourable position. The experiment of organizing community settlements has proven a fine success and the settlements with populations ranging from 200 to 600 people, and with each settler having an average of 80 acres under cultivation, are flourishing. The land settlement policy adopted by the government has been one of the most creditable features of Canada's repatriation work. There have been, of course, soldiers who failed at farming and they have in some cases been the cause of criticism of the scheme, but the fact that thousands of ex-service men are apparently comfortably settled upon prosperous farms is proof of the general success of the enterprise.

SEASONAL EMPLOYMENT NEEDED.

One of the drawbacks in the building trades is the heavy reduction in employment during the winter months, and it would appear to be curable in some degree by co-operation and the application of more common sense methods than now prevail. Millions of dollars in wages are lost annually under existing conditions. At bottom the difficulty in developing seasonal work arises from the apparent inability of employers and employees to get together and consent to mutual sacrifices, on the sound principle that half a loaf is better than no bread. If this obstacle could be removed, at least some of the inactivity which prevails could be offset by an equivalent of employment; for it has been demonstrated quite satisfactorily that building operations need not be wholly suspended because of low temperature.

This matter has received very careful attention at the hands of the Committee on Elimination of Waste in Industry, which Mr. Herbert Hoover set in motion before he was called to President Harding's Cabinet, and which has been carrying on its inquiries in New York City for several months past. The report which has recently been drawn up, sets forth, among other things, the following means for the reduction of seasonal unemployment:

"Allowance of a small margin of profit for both labor and capital during the winter months, developing of methods of conducting the work in cold weather, arrangement of work to provide indoor operations in cold and stormy weather, organization of a clearing house for co-ordination of activities, increasing the usefulness of employment bureaus, and educating the public.

"Contractors must prove to the public that they can carry on operations during the winter period as economically and substantially as during other periods of the year. To do this, contractors, labor, transportation, and material men in a locality must get together, and after joint study of the situation, agree to reduce profits and wages an amount that will offset the increased cost of carrying on work in the winter months.

"The education of the public is vital to a sensible distribution of work throughout the year. Owners making interior repairs or slight additions should be encouraged to have this work done in the off-peak season. Old buildings to be demolished to make room for new ones, should be torn down in cold weather in advance of the new construction."

These are sensible suggestions and they apply with just as much aptness to Ottawa as they do to any American city. The rigidity of union scales might well be relaxed to meet the conditions which obtain in Canada every winter. A great deal of unemployment during the frigid months is probably avoidable, and those who are directly concerned ought to have the sagacity to get together on a give-and-take basis, looking to the working out of ways and means which would keep the pot boiling for thousands who now pass many weeks in idleness. When demand exceeds supply the logic of circumstances is on the side of those who are unyielding; but when the conditions are reversed it is time to throw all nonsense about an uncompromising front out the window.

There is a good deal of well-founded anxiety about the outlook for next winter, and this would seem to be the proper time to develop something in the nature of a constructive plan for meeting the prospective emergency. It goes without saying that all efforts in that direction will be nugatory if the spirit of compromise is lacking. Contractors would probably be willing to meet the men half way if there was a disposition to get together on a co-operative footing. There is no need for mincing words. What the situation needs, as has been said, is simply the assertion of dommon sense on both sides.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The German government is compelling husbands and wives to spend their holidays together. Wait until the next election.

A visiting Forester compliments Peterborough upon many of its advantages, but spoils it all by failing to call attention to the Hunter street bridge.

The modern version of the old weather rhyme, quoted in the Examiner last evening, would seem to be, "When Katydids commence to play, The ladies put their furs away."

Lord Byng declares that he will stand behind the veterans. And the men who fought will stand behind him.

Up in Toronto they seem to have the idea that the principal duty of Governor-Generals is to open the Canadian National Exhibition.

Toronto Telegram says the way to fool bandits is not to carry any money. A lot of people find the advice easy to follow.

The British bowlers must be made of the right stuff. They can wrap themselves around two or three banquets a day and then go out on the green and bowl rings around the native sons.

The regatta will in a little while give way before the advent of the fall fair. And soon the old familiar warning, "only so many buying days before Christmas" will appear in the newspapers.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

A Chicago despatch says that fancy silk shirts are going out of style. A number of young men will find it difficult to dispose of their incomes.

We were under the impression that such material things as food were not required in heaven until the famine began in the Lenine-Trotsky "paradise."

Speaking of marriage reminds of what an old friend down south said to the young man who asked for the hand of his daughter.

"I am confident that you do not know who I am," said the young man after he had made the formal request, and noticed that his prospective father-in-law hesitated perceptibly. "I am superintendent of my Sunday School and teach a class personally. I was one of the local lecturers for the Prohibition movement. I do not swear, I do not smoke, and I never have. I do not drink, and never have taken a drink in my life. There is more I could say, but these things are sufficient to show you the kind of life I lead."

"Young man," replied the old southerner, "from what you tell me of yourself, I am convinced that you will make my daughter a mighty good husband, but you're going to make me one poor darned son-in-law."

A lot of local boys who were gifted with vivid imaginations, lean an elbow on the rail, down a buttermilk highball, and reel through the door.

It Is To Weep.

Why is it that the papers
Insist on giving space
To "Home Cooks and Their Recipes"
When Paddock wins the race?

What is the use of "Beauty Hints"
And International hate,
Hot air from Ottawa and such
When Dempsey knocks out Carp

Why are the dailies' columns filled
With stuff that is so tame,
When Faber of the White Sox wins
His twenty-second game?

And how can news-sheets get away
With tales of broken hearts,
Hints on styles and things like that
When the world's series starts?

But things are in an awful shape,
We're going to "what's not,"
When Lovers' Letters take the place
Of Babe Ruth's four-base swat

Mothers! Keep Syrup Pepsin Handy

An absolute household necessity, a wonderful emergency remedy for constipation. Someone may need it any minute!

ALL in the family look to the mother for guidance and advice in the multitude of little disorders that arise almost daily. Chief of the minor ailments are those that precede or follow constipation. The experienced mother will tell this one to exercise more and that one to cut down on certain binding foods, but when these cautions fail she has to advise medicine.

Modern people are getting away from the notion that simple constipation, a headache, biliousness, colds, feverishness, indigestion, require a drastic, weakening drug. They take a teaspoonful or less of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, which is but a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin. The full formula is on every package. It is a mild, gentle remedy that does not gripe or weaken. The taste is syrupy and pleasant, and as it is free from narcotics and mercurials, mothers have for thirty years past felt safe in giving it to infants. A sixty-cent bottle will last a family months, and it is guaranteed to produce the results claimed or your money will be refunded.

You will find nothing better for disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels than this same Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. Every member of the family can use it with safety and feel sure of results. Many thousands of families are never without a bottle in the house, and last year over eight million bottles were sold in drug stores, the largest sale of its kind in the world.

These believers in Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin no longer take calomel or castor oil, salt waters, physics or purgatives even if made into a sugar-coated pill, for they have learned that they can get better, safer and more agreeable results with Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. If you will once bring a sixty-cent bottle into your home and take a teaspoonful the next time you feel constipated you will never thereafter be without it.

Try It FREE

There are heads of families who will want to prove to their own satisfaction that my Laxative Syrup Pepsin is as effective in constipation, as mild and gentle in action, as pleasant-tasting and safe as I claim. Let such write me for a free sample. It will be sent postpaid. Simply say "Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 19 Front Street, Bridgeburg, Ont.: Send a free trial bottle of your Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin to—" and give your name and address. I will see that the rest is attended to promptly.

A HIDEOUS CLIMAX

CHAPTER 35.

Tom Barney let go of my wrist and leaned back with his head against the pillows at the end of the couch.

I relaxed a little and tried to appear natural. I did not want him to know that I was afraid of him.

He smoked quietly for a few minutes.

Finally I tried to talk to break the tension.

"Did Kent tell you about that property he has leased over on 44th street to one of the big managers? They are going to build a new theatre," I said.

"Oh, forget Kent for a few minutes, can't you!" he answered laughingly.

He turned toward me.

"I think you do care for me a little bit," he mused between his teeth and the stem of the cigarette holder.

I wanted to say something, but I couldn't find the words. I did not stand having him talk like that to me.

He took the cigarette holder from his lips and rested it on the table at the end of the couch.

"If it wasn't for Kent—if you didn't love him—if you knew—" he cried drawing over nearer to me. I wished with all my heart that the door bell would ring. If some one would come, Margaret Gray—or Kent. I would have been so thankful to have seen Kent right that very minute.

But the bell did not ring, and I heard Tom's voice low and threatening in my ear.

"I think I could make you love me," he cried.

Before I had time to jump or prevent him he had me in his arms and was pressing his lips against mine.

For a very few seconds, but what seemed like a hideous hour to me, I struggld to free myself from Tom Barney's embrace.

Finally with flaming cheeks and my hair dishaveled and half falling down, I struggled to my feet. Tom let me go and dropped back sullenly among the couch cushions.

My heart was beating wildly, but I was too angry and roused now to be afraid. I turned on him furiously.

"How dare you!" I panted. "Do you think you can claim one atom of even my coldest respect when you dare to do a thing like that?"

I brushed back the hair from my eyes with my hand, and turned at him fiercely again.

"I hate you! I hate you! You are not worth as much as one hair of Kent's precious head. No matter what Kent has done, or even could do—he is a million times bigger and better than you."

I came over by Tom and stood glaring down at him.

"I know. I know everything about Kent—and about the diamond and I know that you know, but nothing could make me stop loving him. Even if he has to go to prison I'll still love him, and I'll go with him and wait for him,' I cried, bursting into tears.

I rushed from the room. I reached my room somehow, and threw myself headlong across the bed.

I must have lain there for a long time. I forgot that Tom was in the other room. My terrible experience had completely exhausted me.

Finally I realized that Kent would be coming home soon. I knew I would not be able to keep up or hide my feelings from him.

I did not know what to do. I could only lay there on the bed and cry and press my hands against my aching temples.

Tomorrow, A Necessary Subterfuge.

WASHINGTON, August 11. — The Department of Justice to-day began gathering evidence for a new raid on profiteers. The latter are not to escape, it was made plain, despite the fact that the Supreme Court recently knocked out the anti-profiteering provisions of the Lever Act.

"The Justice Department still has behind it the powerful anti-trust laws and other acts designed to prevent artificial price fixing," declared Guy D. Goff, assistant to the Attorney-General, to-day. "The new line of attack will be mainly against the open price associations and organisations of dealers and speculators. During the war the Government took action against the individual profiteer under the Lever law. But the anti-trust laws are broader and likely to result in greater benefit in the long run to the average citizen," Goff said.

"There are instances in which the Department have five or six laws under which it can bring prosecution. The individual who attempts to defraud the Government through a false income tax return often may be made to suffer although he stays within the anti-trust laws. It is important that no one carry the impression that the Department now is handicapped because of the repeal of the wartime laws. Under the anti-trust laws prosecution and conviction of men who go beyond the pale will be just as quick and effective as during the war."

RAILWAY SITUATION IN RED "PARADISE" BLAMED FOR FAMINE

INEFFICACY OF BARTER SYSTEM CONTRIBUTORY FACTOR.

RIGA, Latvia, Aug. 11.—(Associated Press).—Chief among the causes of the threatened famine in Soviet Russia this year, which Bolshevik newspapers themselves admit is likely to be even worse than last year, is the utter disorganization of the railway traffic. This disorganization has become worse, despite efforts of the Soviet Government to alleviate it.

Little or none of the locomotives and other railway equipment ordered from abroad has as yet arrived. The inadequate supply of workable rolling stock has, in the meantime, been even further depleted by the necessity of fulfilling peace treaties which Soviet Russia made with the Baltic States, such as Latvia. To these States Russia has turned over scores of locomotives, hundreds of cars and other equipment, much of which had been taken from the Baltic States by the Czaristic and provisional Governments of Russia in their hasty military evacuations before the advancing Germans.

Added to this shortage of equipment is an almost generally prevailing condition of deterioriated roadbeds. The Commissariat of Communications, says a Moscow dispatch taken from various Bolshevik newspapers, is expecting soon a new railway traffic crisis. The tracks are so much in need of repair that next spring, officials say, it will be dangerous to travel on many lines.

Embankments have sunken down, ties are rotten, rails are worn out. If the Chief Forest Committee is not able to supply, by the beginning of 1922, nearly 15,000,000 ties, it will be necessary to interrupt traffic on some main lines. Even if it were possible to get the necessary materials, says the dispatch, it is probable that through scarcity of labor or some other unexpected crisis, it will be necessary to stop traffic on some branch lines. On double-track lines only one track is to be repaired, stripping the other track of its rails to do this, in order to have at least a fairly efficient single track.

The Railway Commissariat has little revenue because most travelers are Government officials and very seldom are traveling private persons. To travel one must get a pocket full of permits, unless he desires to take his chances with the mobs riding on the tops of trains carrying bags of food to the cities. Practically no one pays fares, but the Government has just instituted a new tariff by which it hopes to charge for tickets, in Bolshevik rubles, about two thousand times the fares prevailing in 1917.

The Railway Commissariat budget calls for the expenditure of 348,000,000,000 of rubles for 1921 and shows no expected revenue. To transport sufficient food to the cities is one problem; to produce in factories sufficient articles to barter with the peasants for grain is another. This latter task is admittedly difficult. The Government estimates called for manufacture of tradeable articles to the value of 160,000,000 of poods (each 36 pounds) of grain. Speakers before the food supply conference at Moscow expressed the opinion, Bolshevik newspapers themselves say, that the Government would be lucky to get, by this means, half of that estimate.

Brukanoff, speaking at the conference, gave what he said was accurate data of the decrease in industry in comparison with pre-war times. The 1920 production, he said, of iron ore was 2¼ per cent. of pre-war; salt, 17 per cent.; coal, 20 per cent.; pig iron, 2½ per cent.; other raw iron, 2 to 3 per cent.; cotton manufactures 5 to 6 per cent.; linen thread, 25 per cent.; matches, 15 per cent.; sugar, 6 per cent., and tobacco, 5 per cent.

"Therefore," said Brukanoff, "home manufactures will in no way be sufficient for goods exchanged with the peasants. From abroad must be imported at least eighty to ninety millions of gold rubles worth of goods, but under present circumstances this is impossible."

Halatoff, one of the actual directors of supply, said the Government would be lucky to get from all sources 300,000,000 poods and, therefore, either foreign imports or decreased rationing would be necessary.

Complicating both the food and transport crises is the extremely serious fuel shortage, causing on one hand curtailment of rail traffic and, on the other, the closing down of factories. By imports from abroad the Government is endeavoring to get coal to operate the factories, but while the Third Internationale was approving the English strike the strike was delaying shipments of coal to Petrograd for this purpose.

CHORUS GIRLS STAR AS MONEY GETTERS

NEW YORK, August 11. — The case of the three young women who were taken into custody at the request of Richard T. Bell of the American Legion as a step to clear up "fake charities" took on new complications yesterday when Magistrate H. Stanley Renaud in the Yorkville court again adjourned the case, this time until September 20. The adjournment was made at the request of Assistant District Attorney O'Shaughnessy and Harry C. Mannhe, representing the three youthful defendants—Mecia Philips, of 526 Fifty-sixth street, Brooklyn; Marei Wendell, 215 West Fifty-first street, and Daisy Russell of 163 West Forty-second street.

The girls are charged with soliciting funds for the Timely Service Bureau, in violation of the City Charter. Mr. O'Shaughnessy said that the Timely Service Bureau was being investigated, and asked for further time to complete the inquiry into the collections, and to learn if the money collected was really used among the ex-service men, who according to the bureau, are working on a farm supported by the organization.

"We had thirty chorus girls out at one time collecting funds,' said H. C. Messervy, who styles himself manager of the commercial department of the bureau. "These young ladies brought in as much as $200 each in a day." He went on to explain that 97 per cent of the men serving on the farm controlled by the bureau were veterans of the war or had served in the navy or army. These men, he said, received money from the bureau to take them to the farm where they were employed and paid a stipulated sum, from which board and other incidentals were deducted.

A letter was read in the court which OShaughnessy said had been written by one of the ex-service men so employed and according to which the ex-soldiers received scant meals and absolutely no pay. The understanding, the writer said, was that the men were to receive $15 a month. Fifteen of the workers, he said, had become disgusted and left.

Mr. Bell told the Court that his investigation of the Timely Service Bureau disclosed that the bureau leased the farm. The contention of the attorney of the defendants is that the bureau had received proper permission to solicit funds.

"PUSSYFOOT" OFF FOR INDIAN TRIP

Goes at Request of Indian Temperance Workers.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 11.—(Associated Press).—William E. ("Pussyfoot") Johnson has sailed from England for India. The trip of the famous American prohibition leader is in response to numerous invitations from various temperance organizations in India, including those among the missionary organizations and natives.

"Pussyfoot's" itinerary includes Bombay, Poona, Baroda, Lahore, Amritsar, Delhi, Cawnpore, Lucknow, Allahabad, Benares and Calcutta and has been mapped out by the temperance forces in India. From India Mr. Johnson will go to Ceylon for a brief visit, in response to invitations from temperance organizations there, and then sail for England.

Among the temperance organizations arranging Mr. Johnson's itinerary are said to be some of the most prominent persons in the social and civic life of India. The various native religions of India are what may be termed "prohibition religions." While native liquors are made and sold, and drinking has increased to a great extent even among many of the people whose religious tenets are opposed to the use of intoxicants, the temperance forces of India say they must combat the operations of the drink traffic which is largely in the hands of foreigners.

SHOOTS A WOMAN IN DARK FOR WIFE

Planning Murder After Estrangement, Norristown Man Picks the Wrong Victim

NORISTOWN, Pa., Aug. 12.—Mrs. James Quoiser of this city was shot in the head and seriously wounded last night by James Bosley of Conshohocken, who then killed himself. In the shadows of Elmwood Park he mistook the woman for his estranged wife. In Bosley's pocket was a letter addressed to Albert Boyd, his father-in-law, in which he explained why he had planned to shoot his wife.

Mrs. Quoiser, whose husband is said to be in Texas, lives with her parents at 917 West Washington street, Norristown. Bosley was a stranger to her. She was seated on a park bench about 10 o'clock with Gerald Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. J. Hurst relatives of Marshall.

Bosley was noticed by the Hursts as he approached along the main driveway. The benches were in semi darkness, and Mr. and Mrs. Hurst noticed that the stranger came close to their bench, peered at them and looked toward the other bench, where Mrs. Quoiser and Marshall were conversing.

After a single glance at the second bench Bosley drew a revolver and fired one shot at the young woman The bullet struck her in the forehead. Bosley then fired one bullet into his own head.

Marshall and the Hursts fled as Mrs. Quoiser fell from the bench. Bosley dropped with the weapon still in his hand. Two men who heard the shots ran up and called an ambulance. Both were taken to the Norristown Hospial, Bosley did not become conscious and died several hours after the shooting.

The police found Mrs. Bosley at the home of her parents. She had left her husband three weeks ago.

FIRING ON LAUNCH "A PLAIN STUPIDITY"

Fleet Commander Comments on Wounding of Girl.

NEWPORT, R.I., Aug. 12.—Rear-Admiral A. H. Robinson, commander of the destroyer fleet here, last night characterized "as plain stupidity" the action of the crew of the Navy seaplane 92, which while flying over Narragansett Bay Monday, riddled a launch with machine gun bullets, wounding a girl. He refused to make any further comment.

A Naval board of inquiry picked from officers of the U. S. S. Sawmut, mother ship to the seaplanes, went to Oakland Beach late yesterday to investigate the affair.

The board on return refused to divulge its findings. Membe.s said a report would be forwarded immediately to the Navy Department.

The machine gun on the plane had not been working well and efforts were being made to adjust it, according to statements made by naval authorities who withheld the names of the crew.

LACROSSE GAME WAS POSTPONED

WASHED OUT WITH OTHER HALF HOLIDAY ATTRACTIONS.

The junior game between Hastings and Peterborough, which was scheduled for Thursday afternoon, was postponed on account of the rain, and will be played in Campbellford next Wednesday. When the downpour ceased about 4.30 o'clock, the local team and a few of its loyal followers accepted the lull as a promise that the weather man had knocked off for the day. They straggled up to the Oval and set up the nets. By that time J. Pluvius got back on the job and turned loose the meanest shower in months. Some of the boys got soaked, among them Johnny Ward and Jimmy Lawson. Others found shelter in automobiles. Dr. Sutton brought down a car full, including Fred Doughty, Bert Todd, and Jack Sutherland, all of them interested big brothers of the local Juniors.

The incidence of this fixture upon the date of the Chemong Regatta should have been sufficient warning of a washout, but the lacrosse team found some comfort in the realisation that they had many companions in disappointment, such as the Chemong cottagers and their visitors, the Independent Order of Foresters, whose field day at the Oval was transferred to the Armouries, the Immaculate Conception Church workers, who had arranged a lawn social at Riverside Park, and the professional and retail rank and file, who chalked up another spoiled half-holiday against old J. Pluvius.

PRINT WARNINGS ON PACKAGES OF TOBACCO

THREE RIVERS, Que., Aug. 11.—(Canadian Press.)—The Canadian Fire Chiefs in a resolution at the annual convention last night, urged as the use of tobacco caused many fires, tobacco, cigar and cigarette packages should contain warnings against the risk of fire instead of pictures of women scantily clothed.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is fastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before eating more food.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

COMB SAGE TEA IN FADED OR GRAY HAIR

If Mixed With Sulphur it Darkens so Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural colour and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural colour and looks glossy, soft and beautful.

CANADA'S RECONSTRUCTION

In many respects there is a striking parallel between problems of economic reconstruction in the United States from the Spring of 1865 onward and those of Canada after November, 1918. In 1860 the public debt of the United States was less than $60,000,000. The tariff was depended upon almost entirely to provide the needed revenue, and in the fiscal year 1859-60 customs duties furnished approximately 95 per cent of the federal revenue. The early part of the struggle was financed largely by public borrowings. There were some tariff increases in 1861, but it was not until the following year that a serious effort was made to deal with the problem of taxation on anything like the scale which was required by the Government's needs. The Internal Revenue Act of July 1, 186 , imposed many additional taxes, including license fees for practically all occupations and trades, even that of retail merchants; taxes on most products and manufactures, ranging from one mill to $10 specific, or 3 to 5 per cent ad valorem; taxation of carriages, yachts, billiard tables, plate, slaughtered cattle, hogs and sheep, railroads, steam boats, ferry boats, railroad bonds, banks, insurance companies and advertisements; taxes on income; succession duties; and an extended list of stamp taxes.

On July 14, 1862, the tariff was increased with a view to compensating for the internal taxes. In June, 1864, the internal revenue levies were greatly increased until their yield became twice as great as that from customs duties. The new excise taxation was offset by a further increase in the tariff, which also provided substantial increases in protection for the industries of the United States. The average rate on dutiable commodities was increased from 37.2 per cent under the Act of 1862 to 47 per cent. As a result of the internal revenue levies and the increases in customs duties, tax receipts for the year 1865-66 were nearly $500,000,000, or as much as was collected in the eight years preceding the war. The income tax, which was first imposed in 1861, was increased until incomes between $600 and $5,000 were taxed at 5 per cent, and those above $5,000 at 10 per cent. Such taxation was heavy, but the demand for agricultural and manufactured products of those portions of the United States apart from the area of actual warfare was great and pre-war development and war-time prosperity enabled such taxation to be borne without great difficulty.

Problems Before U. S.

In the Spring of 1865, after hostilities were over, the principal problems of economic reconstruction were:

1. Proper re-organization of the National debt. Such debt stood at $2,674,815,857 on July 1, 1865.

2. Revision of the tax system. The war-time levies were unsuited to peace conditions, and there was a widespread demand for relief from the burden.

3. Restoration of an effective gold standard. Particularly in the early part of the war, the Government had financed its requirements in large measure by issuance of legal tender, non-interest-bearing notes, and these were outstanding at the end of June, 1864, in the amount of $431,000,000. This fiat money, or "greenbacks" as the Government notes were called, depreciated to a value of 35 cents to the dollar as compared with gold.

4. Protection of domestic industry from destructive competition from abroad after the abnormal development resulting from war conditions.

The National debt was re-organized under the Refunding Act of 1870 and supplementary legislation in 1873 and 1875. Moreover, the interest and principal on such debt were paid in gold and not in depreciated paper money.

An early start was made in reduction of the internal revenue duties. On July 13, 1866, the Government repealed the tax on coal and pig iron and lowered the levies on manufactures, products, and gross receipts. This one bill cancelled taxes which had yielded revenue in a single year of $45,000,000. On March 2, 1867, the rate on cotton was reduced and the taxes on a considerable number of manufactured products were repealed, while the exemption on income was raised from $509 to $1000. The Government also abolished the taxes on gross receipts, advertisements and toll roads. In February of the following year the tax on cotton was repealed. In March, the Government finally removed all taxes on goods, wares, and manufactures, except those on gas, illuminating oil, tobacco, liquors, and banks, and articles upon which the tax was collected by means of stamps. In July, the tax on distilled spirits was reduced from $2 to 50 cents per gallon. In 1870 the internal revenue taxes were still further reduced. The income tax was continued until 1872, but with the rate reduced to 2½ per cent upon incomes in excess of $2,000, the exemption having been increased. The tax on manufactures, which in 1865-66 had yielded more than $127,000,000, had been so far withdrawn or reduced that in 1869-70 the revenue from this source was only $3,000,000. Stamp taxes on matches, bank cheques, bank notes, perfumeries and patent medicines were finally abolished in 1883. Customs revenue in 1864-65 represented only 28.7 per cent of the total taxation revenue of the Government, but, as a result of abandonment of the internal taxes, the proportion of the revenue derived from customs was increased to 61.4 per cent by 1873-74 and import duties were again recognized as the main dependence of the Federal Treasury under peace conditions.

Adverse Trade Balance.

In 1865-66 imports of merchandise into the United States were valued at $434,812,066, while exports of domestic merchandise represented a value only of $337,518,102. It was recognized that the problem of resumption of specie payments in very large measure was a trade problem. As long as the trade balance was adverse, the return to an effective gold standard was impossible. By relieving domestic industries of crippling protection, production at home was greatly stimulated and before the end of 1878 the Government had accumulated a large reserve of gold and specie payments were resumed.

The effective protection to domestic industries was increased by repeal of the internal revenue duties, without at the same time lowering the tariff. Indeed the tariff duties were actually increased in a number of instances. Protectionist sentiment was strongly re-inforced by the depression of 1873. As a result of redundant revenue, some reduction in tariff duties was made in July, 1870, but principally on articles in which domestic industry had little interest, such as tea, coffee, wine, sugar, molasses and spices. The plethora of revenue in the Treasury continuing beyond requirements, a 10 per cent horizontal reduction in tariff was made in 1872. The duties on tea and coffee were abolished and some special reductions of duties were made as in the case of salt and coal. The free list of raw materials also was extended. After the panic of 1873, the revenue fell off sharply, however, and the horizontal reduction was repealed in 1875. Even in the tariff reduction of 1883 duties were advanced on protected articles, in cases where importations continued in considerable volume.

We Are Better Off in Some Ways.

In some respects Canada is now in a better relative position than was the United States to deal with the problem of reconstruction but in other respects our position is not as good. Our territory, of course, has escaped the ravages of actual warfare. The population of the United States in 1865 was approximately 35,000,000. That of Canada is less than 9,000,000. At the conclusion of the war, the United States had a public debt of approximately $2,675,000,000, or a per capita debt of $76.98 as compared with $1.91 in 1861. Canada's net debt at the end of March, 1921, was officially reported as $2,311,294,444, or a per capita average of approximately $260. Before the war our net debt was only about $336,000,000. The wealth of Canada in 1914 was estimated at only slightly more than the wealth of the United States at the beginning of the Civil War, so that the burden of the war debt is proportionately much heavier on this country.

Although Federal taxation in Canada is in a somewhat different form than the immediately after the Civil War, nevertheless the sales tax, income tax, excise and internal revenue taxes appear to represent a much heavier burden in Canada than did even the highest war taxes in the United States. It must be remembered, too, that provincial and municipal taxes in Canada are much higher than were the State and local taxes in the United States in the decade 1860-70.

Canada, like the United States, is faced with the problem of a return to an effective gold standard. That is essentially a trade problem and can be solved only by a curtailment of imports or an increase in exports. Moreover, the present exchange situation involves a menace to Canada to which the United States never was subject d. The depreciation of the "greenbacks" was such as to discourage imports into the United States, to promote industrial development at home and to encourage exports to practically all other countries in the world. Similarly, the exchange situation now tends to discourage imports into Canada from the United States, but it also operates strongly to encourage imports from all European countries.

In 1861 the average ad valorem rate of duty on all goods imported into the United States was 14.21 per cent. The average was steadily increased to 28.28 per cent in 1863, 38.46 per cent in 1865, and 46.49 per cent in 1868. On the other hand, the average ad valorem rate of duty on imports into Canada was lower for the last fiscal year than it has been for an previous year since 1878. For 1889-90 the average was 21.4 per cent; in 1909-10, 16.5 per cent; and in 1913-14, 17.3 per cent. By reason of the addition of the war tax in 1915, the average ad valorem rate, including war tax, increased to 20.5 per cent in 1914-15, but as a result of tariff changes the average has been steadily declining since that time. The war tax removed in part in June, 1 19, and last year was taken off entirely. As a result, the average ad valorem rate of duty on dutiable imports has declined to 14.5 per cent for the year ended March 31, 1921. This reduction ought to be considered in connection with the problem of restoring an effective gold standard of value in this country.

At the conclusion of the Civil War, the United States speedily returned to dependence upon import duties as the mainstay of its Federal revenue system. Internal taxation was rapidly reduced. Import duties provided ample revenue to meet all requirements. The currency of the country was put upon a stable basis. All debt obligations were paid in gold. In addition, a great industrial development was promoted. Canada is confronted with problems at least as difficult as those which faced the United States in 186 , and some of our National problems are much more difficult. Yet this country is being urged to continue to depend to a very large extent on direct internal taxation. Such advice is being tendered in the face of a world-wide movement towards higher protection for home industrie , a movement which, together with the exchange situation, makes it impossible for Canada to hope for any large and immediate expansion of the export trade.

Buy "Made-in-Canada" Goods.

With the Canadian public more favorably disposed than ever before toward Canadian products and manufactures in preference o imported goods, and with exchange discouraging imports from the United States, Canadian business men have a unique opportunity to consolidate their position in the home market. In this connection the importance of getting their trade names before the public and keeping them before the public ought to be emphasized. If the Made in Canada movement is to be of permanent value it should be looked to not as a means of selling inferior goods but as an additional aid in getting Canadian merchandise of honest value before the attention of the Canadian people.

The opportunity which the exchange situation, so far as the premium on United States money is concerned, offers to Canadian producers may pass sooner than some people think. Immigration into Canada in large volume is inevitabl . With easier conditions in the money markets of the world, Canada probably can look for United States and perhaps also British money to be invested before long in the Dominion for development purposes on an unprecedented scale. Such investment would operate to offset the adverse balance of our international account; to make possible the restoration of an effective gold standard for our currency; and to correct the discount on Canadian money. That will mean still keener competition from United States merchandise, and unless Canadian producers "dig themselves in" now they may lose ground later on. There is a genuine and widespread desire to know what brands of goods are made in Canada and to give the preference to such articles. We are told that the natives of certain South American countries buy goods by pictures. For example, they will call for "Indian" brand hatchets, "Star" brand soap, or "Eagle" brand hoes, the brands in each case being impressed upon their memories by trade-mark pictures. The mental processes of men and women are pretty much the same the world over. There is real value in a brand or trade mark, but only after such mark has been impressed upon the minds of the purchasing public and they have been educated to ask for goods so labelled or branded. The Made in Canada movement ought to assist Canadian manufacturers to establish their own trade-marks linked with a clear indication that their goods are of Canadian origin.

CHINESE DIVORCES DEAD WIFE

How a Chinese merchant divorced his wife after she had been dead for several years is the gist of a story which appeared in the Chinese press recently. A Soochow tea merchant, the narrative says, by the name of Lyuh, had taken a second wife some time after the death of his first. As a result of the second union a daughter was born. Several days after giving birth, the young mother was taken ill and grew worse and worse as time went by.

All sorts of healing methods were tried without avail, and it was feared that the young wife would die. At last a woman was called in and gave the opinion that the spirit of the man's former wife was causing the illness. Prayers were then offered to the dead wife, but still there were no signs of the living wife's recovery. The woman then suggested that the husband draw up a deed divorcing the dead wife just as if she were alive. This the husband, for a time, refused to do, but was later prevailed upon to do so in order to save his second wife's life. The deed was then taken to a temple and burned on the altar.

Immediately afterward the living wife showed signs of recovery and was soon her normal self again.

HOW VEINS OF GOLD ARE FORMED

One of the most interesting of nature's processes is that by which cracks in volcanic rocks are filled in with materials brought up in hot solutions from the bowels of the earth. It is by this means that "veins" and "lodes" of gold and silver are formed.

In the eastern part of Iceland there is a locality where such cracks in rocks have been filled in with a pure carbonate of lime which forms clear and beautiful crystals. These crystals, called "Iceland spar," have a peculiar property of "polarizing" light, which makes them valuable for use in connection with microscopes and other optical instruments.

Within the last few years deposits of Iceland spar have been discovered in Sweetgrass County, Montana, and in the Warner Range near Cedarville, Calif. Efforts are being made to develop them.

EGYPTIAN BARBER MADE FIRST ORGAN.

It was a barber named Ctesibius, who put together the first organ in Alexandria in 250 B. C.

Thirty years later the great Archimedes improved the instrument to such an extent that he produced pleasing sounds; but the fame and claim of Ctesibius has been well established by research.

Pope Vitalianus is credited with having brought this eastern invention into the West, and in 658 A. D. the first organ was used in a Roman church.

Not until 1000 were material changes made in the original construction, but after that profgress became rapid, and organs of the Thirteenth and Fourteenth Centuries were nearly equal in volume and tone to the most modern instruments.

A good many men who have explained the details of Prof. Einstein's theory of relativity have been called on by the treasury department to correct their income tax returns.—New York Herald.

FATHER OF LOCOMOTIVES

In the railroad yards at Riverdale Park, N. Y., a big crowd witnessed the departure of the DeWitt Clinton tugging three cars used by our ancestors ninety years ago, and filled with a gayly costumed party of men and women dressed in the old-fashioned clothes of 1831. The pageant was staged by the New York Central, which will exhibit in Chicago, July 30 to August 14, the various stages of railway progress, attained during the ninety years since 1831.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

MAN, TO LIVE A LONG TIME, MUST CULTIVATE THE "MILK HABIT"

STORY OF MAN IN THE MAKING, AND HOW TO FOSTER GROWTH IN CHILDREN — RESULTS OF DEMONSTRATIONS.

A reader of The Examiner, whose interest in milk has been keenly aroused by the articles published every week recently on milk as Nature's own food, enquires: "But how much milk should we use?" Professor Edward C. Callaway, an American expert in chemistry and one who has made a life study of economics and the action of all known foods on the human system, says each member of a family should consume a quart of milk a day. In any case, not less than one-fourth of a person's food money should go for milk. He himself spends 25 cents out of every food dollar for milk and 35 cents for milk, butter, cheese and ice cream. For the family's best health the milk bill should be two and one-half times the meat bill and twice the bread bill. And it should be borne in mind that if a future day is to see men and women with more prfect bodies and minds more generously developed, there can be no food substitute for milk, and its consumption should be distinctly increased instead of diminished, regardless of cost.

Man in the Making.

As to the present generation of Canadians, the question arises, "Are we all we might have been?" In a material sense food has made us what we are, physically, to say nothing of affecting our mental capacity. The brain, bone and flesh of a young man of twenty-five is built up on materials collected by Nature in some 25,000 meals. Then, how simple is the fact that the food one consumes is responsible for what one is and shall be.

We know that all foods are not alike. Foods are concentrated and dilute, rich and inert, nitrogenous and fatty, good and poor. Food is to supply all the materials for body construction. How important, then, that foods containing the proper ingredients be selected; that a well-balanced diet, which cannot just happen, is carefully planned. And if the family's food is wisely selected, milk will occupy a large place in their diet, since it is the only natural food specifically provided to nourish the growing human or animal. In fact, milk is in scientific circles known as "the sugar of the brain;" it contains also lime and phosphorus (both of which ingredients are essential for bone and teeth), iron for the blood, and its water plays an important part in body growth and repair.

Make Children Grow.

And so milk stands at the head of the list of all protein foods and furnishes the substance for developing muscle and new flesh as one's body grows. An athlete, to increase his muscle, should use a liberal amount of milk; a child must have milk to grow rapidly. A startling number of children are under-nourished; a regrettable condition due to lack of sufficient milk, the health value of which so many parents do not appreciate.

At Ithaca, New York, U.S.A., a demonstration took place showing the value of milk in the diet of boys and girls. This demonstration merely adds to the abundance of proof that has been obtained since Dr. McCollum made known the results of his experiments.

It would seem, due to the vast accumulation of evidence showing conclusively how important it is to the health, growth and vitality of human beings to use milk abundantly in the diet, that the time would soon come when there would be no further agitation regarding the price of milk and its products—especially when they are by far the cheapest of all foods of animal origin.

Relative to the Ithaca demonstration The Extension Service News said:

"The addition of milk to the diet has much the same beneficial effect on children as on animals in the laboratory, if the brief experiment conducted by the school of home economics at the New York State College of Agriculture can be accepted as sufficient evidence.

"Winifred Moses, of the food staff of the school, supervised this demonstration of value of milk in the diet of undernourished children. The work was done in co-operation with the Ithaca tuberculosis preventorium, the associated charities, and several families of the city and of the college faculty, with material assistance from the Tompkins County Dairymen's League. Children from the groups represented took part in the feeding demonstration.

Gains Shown by Eight.

"The 10 children selected at the preventorium were undernourished. They had contracted tubercular tendencies, and were receiving a quart of milk a day as part of an adequate diet. The children were weighed carefully at regular intervals and a record was kept of their weights. From these the percentage increase in weight was reckoned. During the four weeks in which their gain was carefully watched all but two of these children made a gain in weight of from 2.8 per cent. to 13.6 per cent. Of the two who failed to gain, one had enlarged thyroid glands and the other suffered from homesickness. Miss Moses states that although this group showed an interesting gain they did not prove what the sudden addition of milk to an inadequate diet would do for the child.

Benefit Plainly Shown.

"Ten undernourished children were selected from families known to the associated charities. No milk was added to their diet during the first week. A record was kept of the weight during that week. During the rest of the period, through the co-operation of the Tompkins County Dairymen's League, a quart of milk was supplied to these children daily. The children showed no noticeable gain before the quantity had been brought up to one quart each day for each child. After the quart-a-day rate was established, seven of the 10 children gained almost immediately. At the end of the period the gain ranged from 9 to 18 per cent.

"The children of the city and faculty families were used as a check group to show what approximate normal gain might be expected from children on a carefully selected diet which contained an adequate quantity of milk. All of the children in this group showed a gain which averaged from 2.7 to 9 per cent.

"According to Miss Moses many things affecting the health and home life of the child must be taken into consideration in attempting to draw conclusions from a demonstration of this kind. Authorities on the subject say that malnutrition as well as every other social problem must be met through contact with home conditions. However, the demonstration showed that sufficient growth occurs on the addition of milk to the diet to point the moral clear to doubting parents or to public authorities. The charts which showed the gain made by the underweight youngsters indicate that the climb is as regular as that of a plant which struggles toward the sun."

Similar demonstrations might be made in every Canadian community to advantage, for mothers, health associations, and all organizations purporting to guide, instruct and aid in conserving and fostering a physically perfect childhood, manhood, womanhood, to attain that end must inculcate the knowledge that to live a long time in health and strength, a people and individuals will have to form the milk habit.

SIGHTS VANISHED HISTORIC BIRD

ORILLIA MAN CLAIMS TO HAVE SEEN PASSENGER PIGEONS.

A. F. Kean, of Orillia, claims to have sighted a pair of Passenger Pigeons, and if he is not deceived he is in a fair way to capture the $500 reward the Smithsonian Institute of Washington has for years been offering for proof that the vanished historic bird has not been totally exterminated.

Scientists scoff at Mr. Kean's report that he accidentally located a living pair while fishing not far from Orilla a fortnight ago. The Passenger Pigeon, they assert, is as nonexistent as the dodo. Two years or more ago an appearance of the Passenger Pigeon was reported from Rondeau Park, in the southeast corner of Essex county. Elaborate and extended research failed to produce bird or proof that it was not a case of mistaken identity.

Attracted by Call.

"The only particulars I can give in reference to the Passenger Pigeons seen by me are these:

"I was fishing a small trout stream about five miles from Orillia on the 21st of July and the first thing that attracted my attention was hearing the call peculiar to Passenger Pigeons alone, and then the flutter of wings. I looked and saw the female flying across a small opening, for a distance of probably 100 yards or more. I was not over twenty-five yards distant.

"About two hours later and about a qaurter of a mile from there I saw the male not any further from me, but not as extended a vision, although enough to be sure it was the male. I have shot lots of these pigeons as a boy over 50 years ago. I saw a pair about 21 years ago, about half a mile from where I saw these. Twenty years ago also I saw a pair up on the Sturgeon river, 20 miles from Orillia.

"Some pepole here claim it was those 'doves' that have lately, come to these parts. Well, to me there is too marked a difference for mistake to be possible. I had one of these doves alive in my hand last summer. It had got down in the long, thick grass and evidently could not rise. I gave it a thorough examination, and then let it go."

The last duly authenticated appearance of Passenger Pigeons was in 1902. Audubon certifies that in the days of their glory an average flock of these pigeons would number "at least a billion and a quarter birds, which consumed no less than 87,500,000 bushels of mast in one day's feeding." As recently as 1880 the Passengers were among those present in the middle west in "quite inestimable millions."

FASHION HINTS

In coats for the coming season, the wrap is no longer the mode of the hour, its successor being the coat with full back, possiby draped side, straight front, wrap sleeves, very wide at the wrist and a large collar. The materials are soft and pliable as silk. The colors are those soft, brownish-taupish-brown and blues mostly, and fur is the trimming for this year. Canadian Beaver is most popular, with some Australian oppossum. There will be a great deal of embroidery, mostly silk, although some effective wool work is being used in the carpet stitch. Fring and tassels als have their specializing in plush coats, in long, short and medium lengths, trimmed with fur or fur-resembling fabrics.

A high-grade wrap for a juvenile wearer is made of brown suede cloth with silk turning stitching around the back of the collar and the bottom of the cape. The fronts of the collars are banded wih Hudson seal. There is a clever cape arrangemnt over the sleeves.

The fall suits are neat and practical They carry an air of exclusiveness whether primly tailored, embroidered, or luxuriously trimmed with fur. Suit jackets will be long, averaging thirty-six inches and the skirts will be straight and moderately narrow—about a yard and a half wide. The silhouette will be slender and straight, the sleeves long and tight at the top with perhaps a flare at the hand and the collar either high and close-fitting or built on the Directoire order. Suede cloth, duvetyn, velours, velvets and tricotine ar the popular fabrics, and the trimmings will be embroidery, stitching and fur. A fall model from an exclusive line is made of a very fine quality of deer colored French velours, embroidered with a darker shade of rope silk and trimmed with Canadian beaver. The collar is a choker model, and the tight sleeves flare slightly at the wrist.

CROWN ATTORNEY HATTON RECEIVES NOTICE RE FAIRS

PRACTICES PROHIBITED BY GOVERNMENT NOT TOLERATED BY LOCAL DIRECTORS.

Applications for display space at Peterborough's Industrial Exhibition are coming in earlier and in greater numbers than ever, Mr. W. F. Turner stated this morning in substantiation of his prediction that all local records will be swept off the boards this year.

"It is really surprising the inquiries we are getting. There will be no space go begging, and there was none last year, but the present interest is the keenest I have ever seen, and these exhibitors are all prepared to pay the regular rates for concessions."

F. J. A. Hall, secretary of the Exhibition, reports many requests for prize-lists from new sources. "The only department that is quiet in these preliminaries is the flower show, and I suppose it is too early for that," he remarked.

Crow nAttorney G. W. Hatton read to Mr. Turner and Mr. Hall in the latter's office a notice he had just received this morning from the Attorney-General's Department It set out explicitly the regulations prohibiting gambling devices, such as wheels and games of the "Crown and Anchor," "Housie House," and others in which chance is the only element for the players.

According to the letter the directors could permit betting and bookmaking on the races, but they have never countenanced that practice, and have shown no intention of departing from their policy. The new laws pertaining to Fairs do not disturb the local Board for the reason that they have been careful to exclude even appearances of gambling.

FILTRATION PLANT IMPRESSED VISITORS

SUPERINTENDENTS OF WATERWORKS IN KINGSTON AND ST. CATHARINES, GO OVER THE GROUND.

Recent visitors to Peterborough's new filtration plant were Alex. Milne, Superintendent of the St. Catharines waterworks, and Thomas Hewitt of Kingston, who was Superintendent of the waterworks in that city for twenty-five years and is now a Commissioner n charge of Kingston's water, light and gas.

To The Examner Mr. Hewitt said he had visited the filtration plant yesterday and was favorably impressed with the manner in which the construction is being carried on. "It looks to me like a very good job," he said. "It is costing quite a bit of money and there is considerable work to be done yet, but from what I saw I think Peterborough will have a fine filtration system when the contract is completed. I was impressed with the design of the plant and also with the way the work is being carried out."

Mr. Hewitt voluntarily remarked that he was very favorably impressed with Peterborough. "Your city gives every evidence of being well kept. Your homes appear to be comfortable and I saw no sign of unemployment. You have excellent opportunities here with your cheap power. In fact, your rates are cheaper than Toronto, London and Hamilton's."

Mr. Hewitt was interested in the filtration plant particularly because Kingston has no filter system, and Peterborough's undertaking was something outside his twenty-five years' experience.

BRIAND MAY ACCEPT THE "SFORZA" LINE

GIVES POLAND WEST PART OF INDUSTRIAL REGION

PARIS, Aug. 12.— (Canadian Press.) — Premier Briand late last night informed the British delegation that he would be willing to accept as a last resort the "Sforza" line in Silesia, according to the Havas Agency. FROM THE DEPTHS OF THE OTONABEE

Whatever style of profanity was in favor amongst fishermen at the time, probably very ancient, when beads were in fashion for use on trolling baits, must have startled the fishes, little and big, on a calm summer's night down the river, many years ago. It must have been a big fish that escaped from the three-hooked line, or maybe an unforeseen log caused all the trouble. The unlucky fisherman whose line broke while trolling with this bait doubtless was met with interrogative eyebrows when relating the tale of the monster which was strong enough to make off with the hook, sinker and bait. But he was right, after all. Perhaps it was a big lunge which would have put all subsequent fishermen to shame, if the line hadn't snapped right off. Whatever it was, this old trolling bait with its ancient double coupling, its red and white beads, and its barb rusted off, sank down, down in the turbulent waters of the Otonabee, waiting for the dredge to come along after many years and bring it once more to the light of day.

BOY CONFESSES GUILT IN DEATH OF MOTHER

Says First Shot Accidental, Others "to End Suffering."

BOONEVILLE, Ind., Aug. 12. — Willie Deffendoll, 17 years old, who confessed he killed his mother rather than see her suffer after he hadaccidentally shot her, was held without bond to-day. He pleaded guilty to murder in the first degree when arraigned before a justice of the peace.

Willie's younger brother, Dolly, who was first accused of the crime by the older boy, was held as a material witness. According to the story told by Willie, he first shot his mother accidentally, then, "rather than see her suffer," he held the shotgun within six feet of her head and shot two more times.

A grand jury investigation will be started to determine whether the first shot was accidental. Willie said his mother had "fussed with me" all day because he didn't get a job. Officials declared their belief that the accident story was absurd.

It is also stated that Krist Jansson and George Little, who deserted the Farmer group last session, are anxious to return.

CARUSO JEWELRY WORTH $400,000

Italian Physicians Believe American Doctors Treated Caruso Wrongly.

NAPLES, Aug. 10. — (United News.)—Alarm over the jewelery of Enrico Caruso was allayed, when examination of the late singer's baggage revealed intact the famous pearl necklace valued at 1,500,000 lire —about $65,000—and a diamond of rare beauty and fineness, set in a ring valued at 1,00,000 lire. Caruso0 was said to have paid 1,000,000 francs for the necklace in Paris several years ago but the true value has not been announced.

For several hours the authorities responsible for the preservation of Caruso's estate until the will has been approved, were uneasy about the jewelery. The baggage yielded other jewelery bringing the total value to 10,000,000 lire.

There is a very active controversy among Italian physicians and surgeons as to whether the American doctors who attended Caruso treated him correctly. Neapolitan physicians are commenting in bitter condemnation of the methods of the Americans. Professor Bastianelli, of Rome, said on Friday, however, in ardent defence of the Americans, that they had used every means known to science to cure Caruso.

The municipal authorities of Naples have decided to rename the Avenue San Giovanni Paolo the Avenue Enrico Caruso.

Since Caruso's death the aristocracy of Naples has forgiven him the slight which he offered in refusing ever to sing here and in choosing Florence as his residence after retirement. Caruso was hooted one evening in the San Carlo theatre. He was only a youth then. The insult so offended him that he never sang again in Naples and the "better class" bitterly resented this the more famous he became.

THE NEW WAY TO END CORNS

The Scientific Method—Easy, Gentle, Quick and Sure

A famous chemist, some years ago, discovered a way to end corns. A surgical dressing house of world-wide repute adopted and produced it.

Millions of people use this instant relief and quickly rid themselves of throbbing corns.

The method is Blue-jay—liquid or plaster. One applies it by a touch. The pain stops instantly, and the whole corn quickly loosens and comes out.

Old, harsh methods are supplanted by it. So with corn pads, so with paring. All such ways are folly.

Try Blue-jay on one corn now and see. You will be delighted

CARUSO AND FARRAR QUARREL RECALLED

Temperamental Artists Soon Got Over Tiff, However.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—The recent death of Caruso, and the domestic troubles of Geraldine Farrar and her husband, Lou Tellegen, recall to San Franciscans a quarrel and a physical encounter between Farrar and Caruso, one night when the opera "Carmen" was presented here, with Farrar in the title role, and Caruso, as her associate, singing the part of Don Jose. The verbatim report of the dialogue that took place between Farrar and Caruso when they reached the wings after the first act, was about as follows:

"You are no artist to push yourself in front of me as you did!"

"I didn't push myself in front of you!"

"You did!"

"I didn't!"

"I never shall sing Carmen with you again!"

"You never will get the chance!"

The rest of the narration dealt with glaring and sputtering indulged in by the pair of artists during the balance of the evening. But Farrar and Caruso did sing in "Carmen" together many times thereafter, and continued to be friends.

BAGGY SUIT BRINGS ARREST, CONFESSION

Detectives Shown Where the Goods Were Hiden.

DETROIT, Aug. 11.—Charles Smith, 28 years old, 2010 Trumbull avenue, wore a suit much too large when he took a walk Sunday afternoon on Twelfth street. It drew the attention of three detectives, Lee Hicks, Charles Bicklev and James Neville, of the Grand River Avenue Station. They watched him, and they say, saw him examining a window of a house at 6232 Twelfth street. So they questioned him concerning the suit and its size.

At the station they say he admitted breaking into the homes of Charles Walters, 3765 Blaine avenue, and Herbert Webb, 8835 Wyoming avenue. Monday afternoon he helped them recover loot worth more than $500 from these two places, and admitted, they say, that he broke into two other places. The suit he wore when arrested was stolen from Webb's home.

WORK ON HUNTER STREET BRIDGE PROCEEDS DESPITE RESOLUTION

ACCORDING TO CORRESPONDENCE MR. FRANK BARBER DELIVERED ULTIMATUM TO THE CONTRACTORS

After all the council's efforts to bring the work on the Hunter St. bridge to an end, it was surprising and somewhat mysterious to observe that the orders from the City Hall failed to accomplish the desired results.

A resolution instructing Frank Barber, the engineer in charge of the work, to notify the Russell-Townsend Company to discontinue the granite chipping, might as well have been thrown in the waste basket for all the effect it produced. The work is still proceeding! And the impression obtained from an official source that Mr. Barber had withheld the notice which the council asked him to forward to the contractors, remained for a time, until a copy of Mr. Barber's letter to the contractors, carrying out the wishes of the council exactly, turned up in the council's correspondene at the last regular meeting. No explanation of the situation was demanded by any of the Aldermen, who had before them the plain facts that their dismissal order was delivered to the contractors, and in spite of that gesture the work on the bridge showed no signs of immediate ending.

According to Ald. G. N. Gordon, that resolution was a piece of perfection. What is the answer? The only aftermath were the retractions made by Ald. Turner and Ald. Gordon to the Russell-Townsend Company, disavowing any intent to disparage their abilities as contractors. Hence, although Ald. Gordon's resolution was perfectly drawn, he himself has proclaimed that, and and although it was fulfilled to the letter by Mr. Barber its only consequences were the apologetic explanations made by Ald. Turner and Ald. Gordon. For the work has never faltered, and according to Mayor McIntyre's latest statement yesterday it is still in progress until the chipping on the south side is completed. So much for official orders and perfect resolutions!

ONE QUART OIL FOR 400 MILES

Remarkable Record on Automobile Tour.

OTTAWA, Aug. 11—Mrs. John Strang, 507 King Edward avenue, with a party of seven, recently completed an automobile tour in her new car, covering upwards of 800 miles through Ontario towns as far as Peterboro and Toronto.

The remarkable record was made running this distance on 40 gallons of gasoline, while only one quart of oil was added during the trip. Likewise, the radiator left Ottawa full, and returning here without any water being added. No mishaps of any kind were encountered, not even a tire puncture or a blowout.

WILLIAM ARTHURS SUCCUMBED TO-DAY

DID NOT REGAIN CONSCIOUSNESS AFTER FALL FROM SCAFFOLD.

At 2 a.m. today after never having regained complete conciousness William Arthurs died at Nicholls Hospital, as a result of a fracture of the skull received when he fell nine feet from a scaffold to a cement floor in ane of the new buildings in the Canadian General Electric Co. at 9 a.m. yesterday morning. William Arthurs was an expert steamfitter and was employed by the steamfitting firm of W. R. Turner, Simcoe Street who had the contract for fiting the new buildings at the C.G.E. and would have finished the work this week. Mr. Arthur was the principal fiter and he with a helper yesterday morning were wrapping the steam pipes and painting them with a solution that contained wintergreen as a protection against mice nibbling the wrapping. Mr. Arthurs had complained of the nauseating smell of the wintergreen to his sister and family only the night before and said he would be glad when the job was over.

A Dizzy Spell

Although he left home in the best of health and had never been ill for a long time his sister, Mrs. H. E. Connolly, stated today that he may have become faint from the penetrating odour of the wintergreen and fallen off the scaffold. His helper who was on a ladder could not say whether he had made a misstep or was seized with a weak spell. Mr. Arthurs had refused to use the ladder and for this reason and from latter examination it is known that the scaffold was secure. In his sister's opinion a dizzy spell would be the only cause of his falling for other workmen had always described him as a very careful worker.

When first picked up by workmen who hurried to the scene of the accident, Mr. Arthurs seemed a brifle concious but later sank into unconciousness from which the family stated he did not recover and passed away quietly at 2 p.m. today. Drs. J. B. Mann and G. S. Cameron attended him and examination showed a fracture of the skull and very little hope for his recovery was held out.

For fifteen years Mr. Arthurs has lived in Peterboro and was highly respected. In his trade he was regarded as an expert. His wife predeceased him 16 years ago and two sons and four daughters survive. The are, Robert of Winnipeg and William at home and the daughters, Mrs. D. H. Landers of Tulsa, Texas; Miss Madeline, nurse-in-training at New York city; Miss Betty a home and Pauline of Toronto.

Mrs. Henry E. Connoly of 461 Murray Stret where Mr. Arthurs has made his home sinc his wife's death is a sister and Mrs. G. R. Runnett, Sherbrooke Street is another sister.

Mr. Arthurs was born in Kingston 50 years ago. His narents are dead. In religion he was an Anglican and a member of All Saints Church.

The funeral will take place on Monday. Further arrangements cannot be made till the family are more fully communicated with.

The first mention of fountain pens is found in a book published in 1600.

SON'S ARREST WAS CAUSED BY MOTHER

Youth Married Three Women—Mother to Provide for Them.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 11.—"I will protect my son's wives, provide for them like a good mother and give them a home in my own household and see that, they want for nothing."

Weeping bitterly and wiping away the tears as they streamed down her face, Mrs. John Smith, of 2029 Howard street, North Side, sitting in an outer room of Morals Court, made the above statement today after her son, George Smith, aged 21, was held by Magistrate DeWolf on a charge of bigamy. Smith is alleged to have three wives, all of whom are living, and he is said not to have been divorced from any of them. His arrest was caused by his mother.

Sitting by the side of Mrs. Smith, the aged mother of the youth thus charged, was wife No. 2 and wife No. 3, her husband, and other relatives, attempting to comfort her.

Wife No. 2, formerly Miss Eleanor Gaschwend, aged 16, of 2023 Howard street, and wife No. 3, formerly Miss Frances Solner, aged 16, of Altoona, unknown to each other, until yesterday, were today the greatest of friends, determined to remain so until the end in spite of what may have happened to their mutual husband. The elder Mrs. Smith has taken into her home wife No. 3, a dainty bit of femininity who formerly was a wire walker in a carnival, and has promised to take care of her.

The story of the alleged triple plunge into the sea of matrimony by a youth of but 21 years, reads like the adventures of the villain in a dime novel.

Smith, it is said, took his first "dip" in El Paso, Texas, taking as wife No. 1 a Mexican girl, said to be formerly Miss Margaret Davis, of the Texas City. Smith is next alleged to have walked to the altar with the Gaschwend girl at Wellsburg, W. Va., on April 17, 1920.

Wife No. 3, on the witness stand, said she and Smith were married in the office of a local downtown aldern an, on June 9, of this year.

ALBUMINURIA.

Albuminuria or albumen in the urine is a very important condition but it does not necessarily indicate serious changes in the kidneys as has been supposed by some writers.

People frequently remark that there can be nothing wrong with their urine because it is perfectly clear.

As a matter of fact this is no guide or indication at all of the constituents of the urine for the latter may be as clear and limpid as spring water and yet bear evidence of serious mischief in the bladder or kidneys or both.

Albumen may be completely dissolved in urine that is clear and form a considerable percentage of its volume.

Furthermore it may be present indirectly in combination with pus or blood or some other albuminoid substance in which case it will respond as readily to the test for albumen as if it were free and uncombined.

It is even possible to say that the presence of albumen in the urine is not incompatible with a condition of health, some writers asserting that it may always be determined though in very minute quantity in perfectly normal urine.

It can usually be found in the urine of almost any person after a hearty meal has been eaten, after severe exertion, great excitement or a cold bath.

Examination of another specimen from the same person a few hours later may fail to detect its presence.

Albumen is normally present in the circulating blood to the extent of 50 parts in 1000. As the blood passes through the intricate structure of the kidneys the urine is filtered out and with it may be passed more or less of the albumen it contains.

This event may be due to some disturbance in the circulating blood, to changes in the cell lining the tubes through which the urine passes, to changes in the walls of the blood vessels of the kidneys, or to changes in the composition of the blood.

When the vessels of the kidneys are gorged with blood after the stimulus of a hearty meal the pressure is increased and the albumen may pass, or the same condition may injure the lining cells of the filtering tubes, or these cells may be injured by poisons which have been taken into the body, or finally albumen in excess may be taken with the food and be passed out through the kidneys.

Albuminuria is present in such diseases as anaemia, jaundice, scurvy, and diabetes, also in all kinds of fevers, epilepsy, apoplexy, neurasthenia, goitre and it is one of the most common abnormal symptoms during pregnancy, especially in its latter months.

The presence of a large quantity of albumen in the urine toward the close of pregnancy is always to be considered a symptom of gravity and importance.

It is a constant symptom in all diseases of the kidneys and frequently in those of the intestines, stomach, heart and skin.

It is known to have been caused by the action of certain remedies, particularly those of an acid character, and it is frequently due to the influence of tobacco.

There are many tests for determining the presence of albumen. One of the simplest and at the same time one of the most delicate and practical consists in boiling a small quantity of urine in a glass tube and adding a few drops of nitric acid.

The heat precipitates all the solids which the urine may contain but the added acid dissolves them all with the exception of the albumen.

If any of this is present it is distributed through the fluid as a cloudy or a flocculent substance and after standing a sufficient length of time is precipitated.

The greater the quantity of albumen in a given specimen, the more important the diseased condition.

In connection with life insurance examinations the presence or absence of albumen is regarded as one of the most important and essential matters to be considered.

SPAIN RETAINED MOST OF WAR GAINS

REDUCED IMPORTS STIMULATED OUTPUT AND REVEALED COUNTRY'S VAST RESOURCES—NOW A CREDITOR NATION.

GOVERNMENT BANK IS GREATLY STRENGTHENED — FORTIFIED FOR FUTURE TRADE STRUGGLE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12nd.—Viewed from an economic angle, no country offers a more interesting study of the changes brought about by the war than Spain, says the National City Bank, in a review of that nation's trade progress in and since the world conflict. As the largest nation in Europe, both from the standpoint of population and resources, to remain neutral throughout the conflict, Spain was directly affected from the very first by economic and other considerations over which the rulers and people had no control, and, although some discomfort and considerable industrial unrest were occasioned from time to time, there can be no denial of the fact, says the bank, that Spain profited enormously on the whole.

There are a number of points of similarity in the Spanish and American post-war situation, it is pointed out. Spain was heavily indebted to neighboring nations prior to 1914, but today the country is in the creditor class and large amounts of capital borrowed outside of the country have been transferred from alien to native ownership. The forced curtailment of imports had the effect of stimulating native production in many lines which had never before been attempted and opened the eyes of the Spanish people to the really enormous resources of their peninsula. Geographical reasons caused the powers at war with Germany to turn to Spain for all the surplus products the Spaniards could export, with the result that a trade balance favorable to Spain was built up between the outbreak of the war and the end of 1919 exceeding 4,000,000,000 pesetas, which, at the normal rate of 19.3 cents to the peseta, is about $772,000,000.

Dollars at Premium.

"A writer in El Economista of Madrid," continues the bank, "estimates that in 1918 the excess earnings of Spanish ships over payments to foreign ship owners amounted to 3,000,000f., while the earnings of Spanish laborers in France remitted to the home country would total 5,000,000f. At the moment the foreign exchange situation is such that imports are being curtailed, while export trade is facilitated. Dollars are now at a considerable premium in Spain from causes which are due not so much to the Spanish situation itself as to causes which are the result of general European conditions, and which Spanish trade is not strong enough to overcome. During the first seven months of 1920 the imports from the United States showed a tendency to drop as compared with those from the European countries, especially such items as coal from England, steel from Belgium and automobiles from France and Germany. There is at present in Spain a condition closely approaching overstocking, and this has, of course, some influence in curtailing imports.

"This overstocking has been especially noticeable in curtailing the Spanish inquiries for wheat, flour, sugar, cotton and hides, as is shown by the current trade figures. Stocks of olive oil, oranges, fruits and nuts are reported to the Department of Commerce to be normal for this time of year, although prices show plain indication of further declines.

"Trade statistics make it clear that as the war progressed Spanish manufacturers put themselves in a position to satisfy a continually increasing volume of demands from the belligerent countries. The freedom from the submarine menace which was accorded to Spanish goods shipped from Spain to France by rail was a substantial advantage by Spain in competing with the United States. A number of Spanish ships were destroyed during the submarine warfare, but, on the whole, the Germans showed more consideration for the Spanish merchant marine than they did, for instance, in the case of the Scandinavian countries, the only other European neutrals except Holland.

Many Rapid Changes.

"Surely, few countries at peace have ever shown the changes in their import statistics shown by Spain in the years 1913 and 1918. In the short space of half a decade the imports were reduced practically two-thirds, while exports about held their own. Considering the changed position of the country from a debtor to a creditor nation, and the large sums entering into the foreign trade figures through the so-called invisible items, the showing is quite remarkable. While the United States found that gold imports would be inadequate to keep international balances anywhere near parity quite early in the war, Spain was able, for a number of reasons, to induce a flow of gold imports for a longer period than most of the other countries whose favorable foreign trade balances grew during the war. The result of this inflow of gold is clearly shown by the greatly increased reserve position of the Bank of Spain and by the generally favorable monetary conditions which prevailed at all times in Spain in spite of the difficulties which were being suffered by its immediate neighbor.

THE HOME CIRCLE

GO INTO THE WOODS FOR FRESH AIR

Go into the woods for revivification. Get away from the hard pavements, the stony buildings, the severe limits of the city into the soft air and rounded outlines of the country. The woods are the fountain of youth, to the spirits held in check by stone walls and narrow streets, and to the memory, which carries one back to boyhood days. The trees, the stumps, the prostrate trunks, have not changed while you have been growing old. There is the same old seat in the oaken crotch, and the mossy bed where you used to lie in the shade and dream the summer afternoon away. The chipmunks are as festive as though the gray was not creeping into your locks, and the birds sing as sweetly as though it has been perpetual spring in the woods since you were there so long ago. Ah, how all things grow old and gray but nature and her children.

If there were no sickness or sorrow or suffering in the world there would be nothing to call forth the sympathies of humanity. In fact, if there were two storms or tempests of the soul, we would never know how to appreciate the restful calm and sunshine—the joy that comes of gentle peace. The view of life is necessary to reconcile us to an endurance of life's ill. It teaches us to take things as we find them; to stop quarreling with our surroundings and mourning over what cannot be helped, but rather to set ourselves diligently at work to improve conditions and circumstances in which we are involved. If there are any brambles and rocks in our pathway, instead of sitting down placidly and ignoring the fact, we should realize the necessity of great personal effort in making the way smoother for those who must follow, and with ready heart and hand we should lend ourselves to th work. So will life become sweeter from dut performed, and we shall mount heavenward as we grow into the image of a better manhood and womanhood.

Show me a family with the stamp of labor upon their foreheads, gathered around the family circle, thanking God for His protection over them through the day that has just passed, with a bright hope for the future, not only in this world, but also in the world to come, and I will show you a happy family.

It is but for a day—one day at a time—and that is all. It may be a day of joy or grief, of ease or pain, with its closing, these end up to the last hour of the twenty-four, to return to us no more. Whatever may be in store for us in the future, the scenes of the past shall know no tomorrow will soon be numbered with the past. The man of wealth and fame is hurried along on the swift wings of time, as rapidly as the poor man oppressed with his heavy burdens, no faster, no slower. Days come and go, with their clouds and their sunshine, their lights and their shadows, and with their coming and their going, hurry us all to the approach of that day that will come but never go. In that one eternal day we shall reap the harvest from the seeds sown in this life. "And what shall the harvest be?"

There are some lovely people in this world of ours that remind us of fragrant flowers. Whenever they draw near, we are glad, but know not why. They may not possess physical beauty, or riches or marvelous intelligence, but embodiment of peace. They inspire us for they are full of inspiration of the highest order. These people are like a quiet lake beside which grow tall and beautiful plants, which, when reflected in the water, make a pleasant picture. There is no jarring, nor a ripple on the mirror-like water. The colors of earth and sky harmonize exquisitely. Birds sing a soft lullaby into their ears. The world with its din is only a sweet song. They themselves make harmony.

SUPERSTITION PLAYS BIG PART IN CONGO

"Charms" Are Worked For All Activities Of Life.

Nearly everything a Congo native does is done at the dictation of superstition. Witch doctors and their strange and somewhat horrible "medicine" are in demand for all sorts of curious things. Their charms are "worked" for everything, from curing sickness to bringing bad fortune upon an enemy. There may be a demand that a curse be removed from a whole town, or perhaps a curse is to be laid upon a single enemy.

One of the least unpleasant and most innocent of charms is that which is "worked" to invoke good luck in hunting. It has a certain picturesque quality that is engaging.

The Lower Congo is not a sportsman's paradise. Game is not always to be easily found. Therefore when a hunter whose prowess is admired and envied, is about to die, a curious thing happens. Just before he expires a few threads are drawn from his loin cloth. These threads are tied about the arms of a young man. This young man then has a special duty in life, and certain very definite obligations.

He superintends the burial of the mighty hunter. Then, whenever the hunters of his neighborhood are about to set out the young man goes with them to the mighty hunter's grave. He kneels with his face toward the hunters and his back to the grave. The hunters approach on hands and knees until close, then they dance about the young man and the grave to the rub-a-dub-dub of a "charmed" drum. Palm wine is poured over the grave, while each hunter drinks to the departed.

A bit of the mud formed of the wine and the earth on the grave is rubbed on the forehead, the arms and the insteps of each hunter. This is supposed to give the hunters keenness of vision, sureness of aim, and swiftness in the chase.

At last the charm is completed. The hunters sing a song in praise of the mighty departed. Then off they go, assured they will have success in the field.

"Over Here" an all Canadian spectacle will be the feature at the Canadian National Exhibition. The scene will show the Rockies, Halifax and the grain fields and will be 800 feet long.

JOHNSTON ALMOST READY TO GIVE UP

TORONTO MAN WAS IN BAD SHAPE FOR FIVE YEARS BEFORE HE STARTED ON TANLAC—FEELS FINE NOW.

"Since Tanlac has done me so much good, I'm sure there's no stomach medicine that can half way come up to it," said Charles Johnston, 257 Sterling Road, Toronto, Ont., a well-known tailor.

"A good deal of the time for five years my appetite was off, and no matter how careful I was of what I ate, my food would sour and keep me in pain and distress for hours after meals. I suffered from constipation and sick headaches, and felt languid, tired, and lazy most of the time. My sleep seemed to do me no good, and mornings I felt worn out and miserable. I got to where I felt wretched all the time—so tired I could hardly move around, and was just about ready to give up entirely.

"What I needed was an all-round building up, and Tanlac has done that very thing for me. After my first bottle I felt much better, and now I can eat and digest anything I want. My constipation has been relieved, and I never have a headache or that tired feeling any more. Tanlac is a great medicine, and I'm only too glad to praise it to others."

DO YOU LIKE CROWDS?

"Let's not go," said the Author-man's wife. "There will be a tremendous crowd."

We had been speaking of the advisability of going into the city, to be present at a celebration the identity of which you may suspect.

"That's why I want to go," said Molly, the little stenographer-lady. "I love crowds."

And with heart and voice I said, "Me, to."

Ever since I was a child I have been held back from this or that by people who said, "Let's not go, there will be an awful crowd." Nevertheless (or is it consequently?) ever since childhood I have loved crowds.

Jolly, Goodnatured Crowds.

Not awful, suffocating masses that get wedged in somewhere and can't move either way (though I don't mind these as much as most people do—if you hold on to yourself and don't let yourself get panicky and nervous and just smile at your neighbor and make a joke of the thing, it's all right), but good-sized, jolly, excitable, irresponsible crowds,—election-day crowds, foot-ball game crowds, parading crowds.

It has long been my theory that some great artist should paint a gigantic crowd at some big football game, say, for instance, the Harvard and Yale. I cannot imagine anything more typically American than that crowd—its bigness, its rollicking youthfulness, its intense interest in the sport, the unwrecking expenditure of time and miles and money that the gathering represents.

The First Trade Union.

I love the description in Acts of what the early days could do in the way of a crowd. Do you remember it? Paul had gone to Ephesus, preaching the Christian gospel and saying that, "There be no gods which are made with hands." Whereupon a silversmith who made shrines for Diana "called together all the workmen of like occupation" (how ancient is the new, how modern the old—here, almost 2000 years ago, we have a trade union) and warned them of the danger if Paul's gospel spread. They at once, seeing their livelihood threatened, became vastly excited, the contagion spread to the rest of the town, and everyone crowded into the theatre. Then comes the description of the mob:

"Some therefore cried one thing and some another: for the assembly was confused; and the more part knew not wherefore they were come together."

Isn't that a wonderful description of mob psychology?

Two Hours Cheering.

And later on we are told a fact which puts to shame our nominating conventions and their cheerings for one candidate or another:

"All with one voice about the space of two hours cried out, Great is Diana of the Ephesians."

I think it is Emerson who says, "A crowd thinks by infection."

I suppose that is why people love them. They stop reasoning, stop thinking things out sanely, and just feel for a while. Which, of course, is most dangerous if the wrong sort of person gets hold of them (like friend Demetrius) and makes them feel the wrong things. But it certainly is exciting and exhilarating

THE GREATER GAIN.

The heart of me no longer seemed in tune;
The things which in the past delighted me
Now seemed outgrown; even June was not sweet June.
Since, gazing deeper into life, I saw
Beneath its beauty lay its filth and slime.
The knowledge of its haunted midnight hours,
I felt the call to arms against the grime.

I sought and thought I found the thing to do,
The magic cleanser for the filth and waste;
My heart and hands with zest to labor gave,
And joy came back and held a sweeter taste;
Then, rising up I gazed upon the spot
Where I had known the joy of serving
And thought so little cleaner was the world,
I felt my own soul turned anew and shriven.

—Flora Shufelt Rivola.

ON AN OLD BATTLEFIELD

Let Thy softest sleep come to them,
Where their dreams are long and deep.
Let Thy gentlest gray winds woo them
Where the summer shadows creep.
For they met their last endeavor
Where the crosses mark their name,
And they hold the line forever
Where the poppies flash to flame.

Do they know the thunder's over
Of the cannonading guns
As they dream beneath the clover
Where some singing river runs?
Do they know that dawn breaks gently
Where no zero hour waits,
Where no raw soul waits intently
On the order of the Fates?

Do they miss the muffled tramping
Where with rifle and with pack
Old remembered mates were camping
For another dawn attack?
Do they hear the bugles playing
In the marches of their dreams,
As the summer winds come straying
By the valleys and the streams?

Yes, I know the war is over
Where their crosses dot the glen,
And that Time, the ancient rover,
Will not come their way again.
And from June beyond December
They have known their final play
Whereas world may not remember
Any longer than a day.

But with eyes half-closed and dreaming
We can hear the drumfire roll,
Where the big shells echoed, screaming,
And the shrapnel sought its goal.
And the dreamers in this City
Of the Long and Silent Night
Were not objects of your pity
But the paladins of right.

Well, perhaps it doesn't matter
In the scramble known as life.
They are safe beyond the clatter
And the snarling and the strife.
And though time nor fate rewards them,
There is peace within the dust
Where an ancient helmet guards them
And a rifle red with rust.

DUTCH PICK UP PROFITS

(Reynold's Weekly.)

An American commercial gentleman who has spent some months in Germany has come to the conclusion that Holland is making the most financial advantage out of the reviving trade with Germany. As an instance, he cited a cargo of goods which America could supply and Germany badly wanted. The Berlin Government guaranteed the money, but the Americans would not part with their goods without documents on the other side of the Atlantic, whilst the Germans would not part with money without delivery of goods. Finally, the transaction was completed through the Dutch merchants, who picked up the profits.

SUFFERED ALL A WOMAN COULD

Mrs. Meyer Finally Found Relief and Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Orange, Cal.—"I always feel very grateful to you, as some twenty years ago three doctors said I had to have a serious operation. I had a tumor, and ulcers which would gather and break. I had displacement so badly that I could hardly sit down at times, and it seemed as if I suffered everything that a woman could suffer. Then some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it until I was well and saved from the operation. I have told women of your wonderful medicine times without number, and I am willing that you should use these facts and my name if you like. SAYS THE BRITISH HAVEN'T GOT BACK THEIR LIBERTY

(Lovat Fraser, in London Sunday Pictorial.)

Apart from the discontent produced by unemployment, lower wages, and high rates and taxes, there is a very prevalent feeling of irritation about petty laws and regulations which might easily be removed. Over in France I found recently that, in spite of the past sufferings of the French nation, there seemed to be very little active discontent. The reason was plain. The people of France have got back their liberty. We have not. In a thousand trivial ways our war-time enactments, all of which ought to have been abolished long ago, continue to harass and annoy the public. Here is a small instance. A man complained to me the other day that if he went into an inn after eight o'clock he could not buy a packet of cigarettes. He could buy one cigarette or one cigar. But he had to light it at once. He could not be served with a packet of tobacco at all. "What has become of our freedom?" he asked bitterly. It sounds a very little thing, but it is the multitude of these silly little restrictions which is exasperating the British nation.

We British are individualists, and will always remain so. That is why Socialism in its extremer forms will never make much progress here. We do not want laws and rerulations covering our most trifling act. We do not want to be fussed over by a swarm of inspectors and busy bureaucrats. We want our liberty, and our women are demanding it most of all.

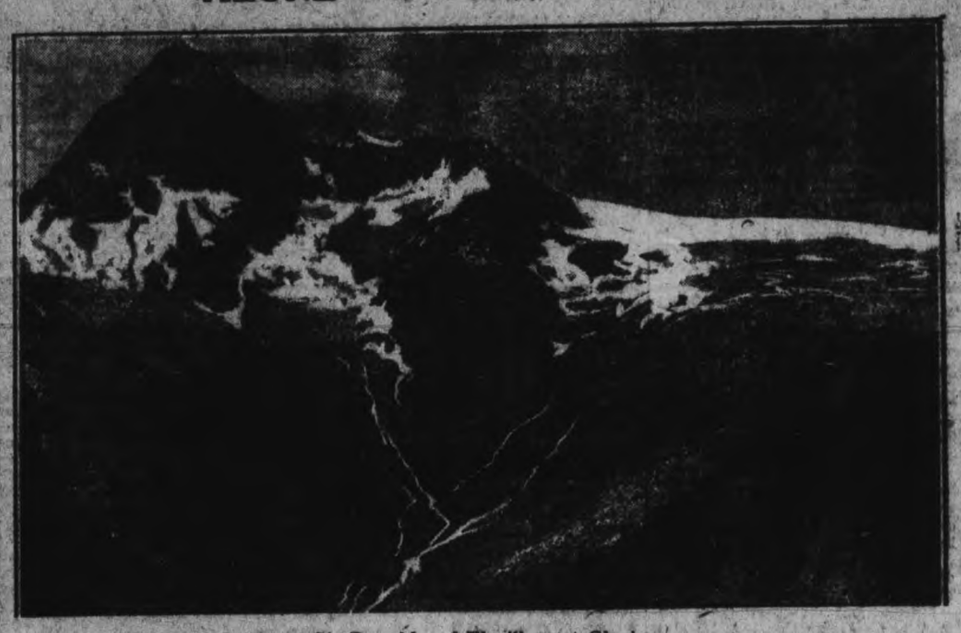
ALONE IN THE ASULKAN



Mount Sir Donald and Illecillewaet Glacier.

Around Glacier, the highest village in the Selkirk Mountains of British Columbia, the peaks sheer up into the sky one after the other like the fingers of a huge half closed hand, with humanity and the railroad away down in the depressed palm of it. Sir Donald is the middle finger, Terminal Peak is the first finger. Then there's a great swinging curve-space for the Illecillewaet and the Asulkan Valleys, and Mt. Abbott is the thumb.

The Asulkan trail begins easily, like an old-fashioned and leisurely novel. The introduction is full of slow grades and big trees, hanging with grey green moss and carpetted between with star-eyed bunch berries. There is just enough movement to keep you interested as you work your way in a great sweep to the left. On the map it looks straight, but you can feel the pull of it, as though the trail were a vibrating ribbon with the Glacier coaxing on the far-off end of it.

Once you leave the hotel, there's nothing to remind you that you aren't Simon Fraser or Christopher Columbus — no railroad, no houses, no people. Once in a while, of course, you'll find a rustic seat, mush-roomed out of the earth beside the path that is leading you, but you just accept it as you would a flower.

A mile out, the chatter of a little river comes to you as the trees lighten a bit. No, chatter isn't the word. A sophisticated booklet on a country estate does that. This unchained white-maned thing, cold and clear and eager, sings, shouts, chants if you like. You meet it gladly, for you can cup your hand and drink from it. It's as pure as the snows it came from, and the most satisfying draught in the world. The scarlet heads of the Paint Brush think so, hardy with the breath and the spray of it on their unquenchable torches. Here and there a quick-darting bird comes to drink too, but he eyes you askance and says nothing.

The trail beckons. You can almost feel it pull away under your feet! The lure of the unseen, the unclimbed, is calling to you.

The big stream is dividing into four. You're coming to the sources of all things. The path takes the leftmost, rises quickly, leaps away from you.

Here the flowers begin—the snow-carnival wonder-flowers. The Paint Brush was a lure further back. But there were many bunches of Paint Brush at the hotel, for the flaunting red of them splashes all the lower reaches of every trail. But when you get within breath of the snows, the real charm-blossoms begin.

I wasn't a bit surprised when I looked up and saw a wise furry head, tipped sideways while two bright eyes took me in. I wouldn't have jumped if he'd talked to me, this other worshiper whose name I didn't know. He was bigger than the biggest cat you ever saw, and grey, and bushy, and he stood up on his hing legs with his front paws hanging. When I got back to civilization I asked and they told me his name was Rocky Mountain Marmot. I'm rather glad I didn't know it then. He was more interesting for his vagueness and I talked to him as to a representative of all beastiedom, for — well, five minutes anyway.

Then I went on to fresh fields to gather little blue Veronicas on delicate Alpine stems, Arnicas, red and white heather on the dizzy edges of a ledge, and other tiny fragile bits of bloom. At first I didn't want to touch them. And when I wondered if perhaps their vivid little souls wouldn't like to see where I lived in the big hotel, quite as much as I enjoyed seeing their habitat.

The snow banks grew more frequent. The trail was steeper. But the heatening breath of the glacier was drifting down the valley. I couldn't see it, but the thrill of it drove all thought of weariness away.

The little stream—it was tiny now, a baby of a river—disappeared under a great arch of snow, or rather it dashed sparkling out from under the bank that ran up, up without intermission to the top of everything. To the right, however, two hundred yards away, there was an island of grass and stunted trees that steep-sloped up out of the smooth whiteness.

You can stand on the steepest of snow surfaces. But I defy you to remain upright on water-soaked, slithery-smoothed grass, when first uncovered for its brief five or six weeks' summer. It was only after three falls that I reached a big boulder and climber up to look back.

The earth seemed to breathe, and rest, and breathe again, like some great satisfied creature that you wanted to stroke.

MIKE GIBBONS HAS WON THREE HARD BOUTS IN WEEK

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—While Bryan Downey and Panama Joe Gans are conducting newspaper campaigns to get a crack at Johnny Wilson, they are having a march stolen on them.

In the last week the St. Paul man has polished off three opponents, Augie Ratner, Gus Platts and Jeff Smith.

Ratner and Smith are two of the toughest boys in the division. When Mike O'Dowd was champion, his manager used to say to the ambitious: "Go out and knock off Ratner and Smith, and then come back."

Gibbons beat Smith last night just like he has beaten all of them since he decided to go back in the fight business and get himself a title. He gave Smith a boxing lesson and contented himself with altering the countenance of his opponent instead of knocking him out. Critics who have watched the rather sensational comeback of Gibbons are agreed that he has lost none of the skill that made him the greatest ring favorite in his day. Mike never was a great hitter, and he isn't piling up any knockout record now like his big brother Tommy is doing.

However, some believe he is holding himself under wraps and is content to win a decision. It might make Wilson more agreeable to a match if he thought that he wouldn't have to bother about taking a punch.

It's almost a cinch, the way Mike is going now, that he could outpoint the champion or the two claimants. The "old boys" still can take a punch as he showed when Smith clipped him flush on the button, and did not bother him.

Tex Rickard has given up hope of getting a return bout between Wilson and Downey for Labor day, on account of the excessive money demanded by Downey's manager. Efforts are being made now to match Wilson and Gans, the colored title holder.

Wilson will buck against the colored boy, so it will not be surprising to see Gibbons and Wilson in the ring.

THE MAN WHO TRACKED DOWN MALARIA GERM

One of the greatest living masters of science is undoubtedly Sir Ronald Ross, M.D., K.C.M.G., naval prize-winner, the bearer of many international honors—the man who, at his own cost, in the teeth of ridicule and spite—first discovered the malaria of the mosquito, and helped to rid the Indian Empire of one of its greatest terrors—malaria.

Sir Ronald comes of fighting stock, for he is the son of General Sir C. C. G Ross, but the younger man is a fighter of a new type.

He can hit careless and lazy "mandarins" as hard as he can hit microbes—and he has done deadly work in the microbe world—but he can then sit down and write poetry of the most intense idealism, the most tender sentiment, or the most laughable and whimsical humor. He has published three little volumes of very pithy and pregnant verse, one historical romance, a few dramatic sketches, and humorous fables of the Rudyard Kipling kind. Withal he is a brilliant mathematician, a serious thinker on social and religious subjects, and one of the most interesting and amusing of travelling companions.

It was in 18[illegible] his twenty-fourth year, that Ronald Ross went out to India as medical officer. Being young, healthy, and full of fun, he for some time enjoyed the gaiety and sparkle of Indian official life. In a few years he became moody and restless—inclined to be "dour" as the Scots say.

Something was radically wrong with the medical service. No one can praise too highly the heroism that officers showed when plague or cholera came along; but why were whole districts permanently foul with malaria? And, seeing that normally there was very little work to do, why was no one studying the causes of it?

Officials snubbed him for asking such questions, but he kept his eyes open.

New Theory of the Disease.

In 1894 Dr. Ross visited England. For five years he had been making a private study of malaria, and he pricked up his ears when he heard Sir Patrick Manson, one old man of tropical medical science, had a new theory of the disease. Properly speaking, the theory was nearly two thousand years old. Italy is the chief seat of malaria in Europe, and even the ancient Roman writers had guessed that it had something to do with the swarms of midge or mosquitoes. Sir Patrick Manson, by one of those wonderful forecasts which so often led to discoveries in science, now predicted definitely that a mosquito would prove to be the offender. Ross then thought otherwise, and argued the point with Sir Patrick; but he kept the open mind of science and went back to India to test the theory.

We might say at once that he found the criminal mosquito and the germs in it, but if you want to know the character of Sir Ronald Ross, the type of man who does things in science, the story has to be told. Ross got a post in the delightfully rich (from a fever point of view) district of Secunderabad. He captured, fed, bred, and closely studied all kinds of mosquitoes.

Cholera broke out in Bangalore, and he had to leave his work. The Afridi broke out on the hills, and there was another long interruption. Back he went always to his "skeeters" but no insect would contract the disease, and everybody laughed at him. At nights, worn out with work and sick from the callousness of his superiors—"men without an idea or an ideal," he says,—he used to sit down alone and pen the little poems which appear in his works. He is no Shelley, but there is a prodigious strength, both of intellect and emotion, in some of his pieces.

The Discovery.

At last, in July, 1897, he was able to call out "Eureka!" like Archimedes of old. His newest mosquito, a quite pretty dapple-winged little creature, had in the wall of its stomach certain granules which were unmistakable.

A scientific man of Ross' school once showed the present writer how he studied mosquitoes. He cut the body, with a microtome, into hundreds of fine, transparent slices, and he examined each slice, in every thousandth of an inch, under a powerful microscope. So Ross reported to the authorities his great discovery, and—they sent him at once to a station where there was plenty of polo and pretty millinery, but not a single mosquito!

The poems that Dr. Ross wrote in this charming place, one of the most coveted of the Indian stations, were strong. His "fables" were caustic. He called the place his "Devil's Island." Hundreds of thousands of lives were lost every year by malaria, and millions suffered from it. There were British colonies where a third of the inhabitants were down with it every year.

And Ross knew that he had discovered the secret of its propagation, yet he was expected to drop it and give his time to tennis and flirting. But he somehow got six months' leave to complete his discovery. He now found that the spores of the germ were thick in the salivary glands of the insect.

"Never in all our dreams," he says, "had we imagined so wonderful a tale as this." These germs, of course, passed with the tainted saliva into a man's body when the insect bit him.

Saving Hundreds of Thousands.

Major Ross, as he now was, retired from the Indian Service in 1899, and became the first lecturer to the Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine.

These men of Liverpool were not mandarins. They at once fitted out an expedition, with Ross at its head, for Sierra Leone, and the whole wonderful life-story of the malaria-germ was laid bare. One regrets to say it, but it is only the females of the particular family of mosquitoes which suck blood, and only at night. By day the bloated ladies lie upon the walls and ceilings. They lay their eggs on the surface of stagnant water, and here was the great opportunity to deal with them. Ponds and marshes were drained. Water surfaces were covered with oil, and fired. There were now many workers in the field, and the war upon the microbe and its mosquito-carrier proceeded briskly.

In 1902 Ross was summoned to deal with Ismailia. In three years he reduced cases of malaria from 1,551, (which is a fourth of the population) in a year to thirty-seven in a year. Taking the world over—for the malaria mosquito is found in every continent—hundreds of thousands of lives a year have been saved, and hundreds of millions of men have been spared the wasting spasms of the disease.

Investigation Cheaper than Cure.

There is no higher reward in the world for human service than the Nobel Prize for Medicine. Sir Ronald Ross was the second man to receive it. He is also an officer of the Order of Leopold II, a Fellow of the Royal Society and of the Royal Society of Science of Upsala, a Corresponding Member of the Academies of Medicine of Paris and Turin, and many other honorable things.

Even the government came to recognize his usefulness. "No funds" the authorities said, as late as 1900, when it was proposed to send an expedition to Africa. But for Ross' dogged energy and high idealism we should have let another great discovery pass to the foreigner. Authorities now realize at least that it is cheaper to investigate than to cure. Our Imperial estate is enormously cleaner than it was, thanks to the splendid men of the Tropical Medical School.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

A presentation a good deal out of the ordinary is the feature picture "The Silver Lining," at the Capitol Theatre this week end. Jewel Carmen plays the part of the girl thief who lures victims into "The Lemon Game," and gorgeous settings are provided in Paris and in Havana. The whole picture represents a story told by a member of the secret service, who is a reformed criminal, and is a study in the opposing theories as to whether heredity or environment play the most important part in the moulding of character and destiny. Leslie Austen has the leading male role, that of Robert Ellington, a promising young author, and there is a strong supporting cast. The production affords some interesting twists and turns, with a peculiar climax and is altogether one of the most intriguing pictures in the Capitol's list of choice offerings.

There are two good comedies, an animated cartoon, the Pathe Review and a thrilling chapter in the new serial, "The Purple Riders" to complete the prokram, with the reconstructed Capitol orchestra dispensing excellent music throughout the evening. This orginization adds immensely to the attractiveness of the entertainment, and has a fine repertoire of classical and popular music, beautifully rendered.

WAGE SCALES WITHOUT JOBS

(New York Herald.)

In the twenty-five different trade groups of the building industry in this city there are men out of work by the thousands and the tens of thousands. There is no employment for them because the cost of putting up houses is higher than the investing public will or can pay.

Building trade employers propose that the wage scale be cut a dollar a day a man to see whether on that lower building cost basis it is possible to start up the industry again and put the men back to work. But the men declare they will not work for a dollar a day less than the war inflation wage scale, which is a fine enough scale to talk about except that no job goes with it.

LANGER SETS RECORD IN 500-YARD SWIM

Ludy Langer, of the Hui Nalu Club, Hawaii, who formerly sported the emblem of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, swam the 500-yard distance in the remarkable time of 6 minutes 7 3-5 seconds, an improvement of 3 and 4-5 seconds on the best previous mark for the distance in open salt water, which was 6.11 2-5, made by Langer five years ago. Photo shows Langer about to start on his record swim.

THE FORESTERS ELECT OFFICERS BY ACCLAMATION

DELEGATES ELECTED TO THE SUPREME COURT.

To-day's session of the convention of the Independent Order of Foresters was devoted mainly to the discussion of proposed changes and amendments to the constitution and to the election of officers, which was put over in schedule time, all the elections being by acclamation, as follows: High Chief Ranger, R. S. Graham, Kingston, High Vice-chief Ranger, Joseph McCullough, Ottawa, High Secretary, L. C. Morgan, Ottawa, High Treasurer, J. S. R. McCann, Kingston, High Physician, Dr. Baskin, Ottawa, High Councilor A. Smith, K. C. Cornwall High Auditors, J. W. McElroy, Ottawa, and T. Lambert Kingston.

About two hundred members of the delegation attended the picnic tea which was served in the G.W.V.A. Hall last evening, by ladies attending the convention. The drive around the city yesterday afternoon was much enjoyed and the programme of sports run off in the Armouries was a source of much merriment. The thanks of the committee in charge is due those citizens who so readily supplied cars for the drive, and to His Honor, Mayor McIntyre, Messrs. J. J. Duffus and Robt. Hicks for the interest taken by them in the sports programme.

At the evening session of the High Court held at the Empress Hotel last evening, Supreme Chief Ranger W. H. Hunter of Toronto, who is head of the Order for the world, made a notable speech, giving a lucid and comprehensive exposition of several abstruse and complicated situations in the affairs of the society. In his address, he covered three main topics, organization work the condition of the order and the proposed new legislation by the Supreme Court. There were 14,000 initiations of new members into the order in 1919 which was an increase over the previous year. In 1920, there were over 16,000 initiations and in the first 6 months of 1921, there were still more than for the corresponding period in 1920.

Temporary Borrowing

In 1917, the War and the 'flu had tested the solvency of many beneficial and insurance organizations. These two causes in that one year threw an additional burden of $779,000 on the Foresters. This necessitated temporary borrowing. At the same time, here was a sharp shrinkage in the value of industrial and public utility securities held by the treasurer. The speaker was glad to announce that the loans had been repaid and all other obigations entailed by incompetent public utilities had been discharged. It was decided by the Supreme Court in 1917 to make no further investments in the industrial or public utilities but only in approved Government and municipal bonds and in first mortgages on improved real estate.

The election of delegates to the Supreme Court, which meets in convention in Toronto for a week during the latter part of August was held. Out of a field of 26, the following were elected by ballot, A. H. Webb of Peterboro coming third in the list, which was as follows:—J. S. Eagleson, Ottawa, R. G. Douglas, Ottawa, A. H. Webb, Peterboro Jos. McCullough, Ottawa, F. Baskin Ottawa, L. G. Morgan, Ottawa, R. S. Graham, Kingston, D. H. McDiarmid, Court Avon, J. S. McCann, Kingston, T. A. Scott, Winchester Companion Lyon, Court Vera, and Companion Jones, Court Prince of Wales.

A resolution was passed this morning, appointing Bro. Eagleson, Morgan and McCann a committee to draft a suitable resolution of sympathy on the death of Past High Chief Ranger Lowrie and of Dr. D. C. Clark, and of the ability through illness to attend this convention of Bros. Dickenson and Fair.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Dear Sir,—I would beg a little space in your paper in the interest of every citizen of Canada who by legitimate means is helping to build up this country. Of late, Peterborough particularly has been very unfortunate by fatalities that have affected her citizens engaged in industry, and it is hoped that the cause of these accidents will be inquired into and steps taken to prevent as much as possible their re-occurrence. The price is too much. I will particularly deal with the accident in which Engineer O'Brien was killed near Madoc recently. Reading the inquest we find the road bed was in first-class condition. Equipment had been recently examined and found O.K. Experienced railway workers with 20 and 25 years' experience over this division gave evidence to the best of their ability, truthfully, etc. Yet this inquiry was closed, not having discovered the reason why this locomotive, running tender first, down grade round a curve left the rails on the inside. One man in his evidence said he always had known derailments to take place on the outer rail and could not understand this accident, but suggested that a brake shoe had been dropped and this had thrown the engine from the tracks. This shoe could not be found, so they were at a loss as to the cause. Now a locomotive going around a curve has a tendency to go over on the outer rail. This is taken care of by the super-elevation of the outer rail, th is being such as to take care of what is considered a maximum. The engine in question was proceeding approximately at twelve miles per hour instead of about seventy-five, the speed that is required to make it hug the outer rail, and finally topple over. So it can easily be seen it was hugging the inner rail and causing the larger diameter of the wheels to engage the inner rail and the smaller diameter to engage the outer rail, which is directly opposite to what should be. Hence there would be excessive skidding and slipping since the distance on the outer rail is longer than the inner, and the wheels are rigidly fitted to the axles. Then again, should the brakes be applied there is a tendency for the locomotive to overtake the tender, due to its greater momentum, which would tend to buckle at the draw-bar, forcing this end of the tender towards the outer rail and forcing the leading end off the inner rail, which would guide the engine from the track on the inside. It must be admitted that is an abnormal case and I can quite understand it not happening in the twenty-five years' experience of the person who gave the evidence. However, it is a dangerous combination which should not be tolerated, namely, a locomotive travelling tender first on a curve at a fairly slow speed. It would have been safer at about thirty miles per hour.

Yours truly,
J. BARNES, A.M.E.I.C.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, August 12 (Canadian Press). — Further weakness in industrial shares at the opening of to-day's stock market intensified the prevailing dejection in speculative circles. Bethlehem Steel, General Electric, Royal Dutch, American Writing Paper Preferred, Sears-Roebuck, and Colorado and Southern lost 1 to 1 1-4, and Mercantile Marine preferred, Baldwin, Pullman, General Asphalt, Sumatra Tobacco, Retail Stores, and American Linseed 1-2 to 3-4.

Later experimental buying operations in the railroad group to see what would follow, caused some short covering in other quarters. Atchison, Union Pacific, Reading, Northern Pacific, Mexican Petroleum, Studebaker, and United States Alcohol were lifted 1-2 to 3-4 and Western Union 1 1-2 points.

Foreign exchange rates were steady.

Technical conditions were seemingly responsible for the improvement in the forenoon market. There were no alterations for the better in monetary conditions or other factors which have recently been operative. Mexican Petroleum advanced 2 3-8 and Pan-American, Royal Dutch, Texas Oil and Land, Studebaker, Kelly Springfield, American Sugar, American Tobacco, United States Realty, Endicott Johnson, Crucible Steel, Reading, Illinois Central, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, St. Paul preferred and Rock Island one to two points. A subsequent outbreak of liquidation in Central Leather and Continental Can, which carried them down three points each to new low levels, caused some recessions from top figures elsewhere. Call money was maintained at six per cent.

Coppers and Motors were depressed sharply in the afternoon. The action of the early markets which indicated stocks in supply whenever the market exhibited any capacity to take them, caused some increase in short selling.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press.)— Wheat displayed unusual steadiness in price to-day. Hedging and profit taking were about evenly balanced by commission house demand, based largely on assumptions that export business would drop in sufficient volume to absorb all the wheat surplus in this country and Canada. On the other hand, the export call to-day appeared to have come to a halt. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to 3-4 cents higher, with September 124 1-2 to 125 and December 1.27 1-2 to 126, were followed by a moderate setback and then by a rally to about yesterday's finish.

Lack of support weakened corn. After opening at 1-8 cent. decline to a like advance, including September at 57 1-4 to 57 3-8, the market underwent a general sag and showed but little power to rally.

Oats were easier with corn, starting unchanged to a shade higher, September 36 3-4, and later declining all around.

Higher quotations on hogs gave firmness to provisions.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Aug. 12. — The stock market was only moderately active all morning. Although considerable weakness prevailed, Abitibi lost another half point and closed at 28 1-2. Atlantic Sugar remained unchanged all morning and closed at 25. Brompton went down a half to 19 1-2, while Dominion Steel was fractionally weaker at 27 1-4. Laurentide dropped a point further and closed at 66. National Breweries remained unchanged all morning. Spanish River went up a point and closed at 50 3-4. Wayagamack was very weak, falling off another point to a new low at 28, at which figure it closed.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.— (Canadian Press.) — Sterling exchange steady; Demand 366 1-2; Cables 367. Canadian Dollars 9 15-16 per cent. discount.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press.)—This morning's session on the local stock exchange was perhaps the most uninteresting during the preent quiet week. In only two of the listed stocks was there any fluctuation from the opening quotations and in one of these, General Electric, sales of split shares accounted for the one point variation. Dominion Steel Corporation at 27 1-4 on sales of 100 shares, lost half a point from yesterday, Abitibi was off 3-4 at 28 1-2, while Wayagamack in the unlisted column sold down to 27 after opening at 28. Spanish River was 1-4 better at 50, and Ontario Steel Products at 47 showed a gain of 3-4 from yesterday's close.

FIRST LOCAL CASE UNDER PARENTS' MAINTENANCE ACT

APPLICATION FOR ORDER FROM COURT WAS ARRANGED BY AMICABLE SETTLEMENT AMONG EAST PETERBORO FAMILIES.

SECOND CASE IN ONTARIO

The first application under the Parents' Maintenance Act in a local court, and the second case of its kind in Ontario, was made before County Magistrate Langley this morning by W. F. Crowe and Frank Harding, farmers in Dummer township, on behalf of their mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Ann Whatley.

This brand new social reform legislation was invoked evidently for the purpose of securing an equitable distribution of the cost and the liability of the maintenance of Mrs. Whatley among her children, all of whom were in court as follows: Sidney Whatley farmer, residing in Douro township, Edward Whatley, of Lakefield, Mrs. Wm. Pearson, of Peterborough, Mrs. Frank Harding of Dummer township, Mrs. W. L. Crowe, Dummer, Mrs. Isaac Freeborn, Douro.

Mr. Joseph Wearing appeared for Sidney Whatley and Mrs. Freeborn. Crown Attorney Hatton, assisted by G. N. Gordon, reresented the applicants, Frank Harding and Wm. F. Crowe.

Creating Precedent.

Magistrate Langley was treading new ground when he opened this case. Instead of calling for pleas of guilty or not guilty as in the usual court proceedings, he asked the defendants separately whether or not they admitted liability under the Act.

Mr. Wearing replied that Sidney Whatley considered himself technically not liable, but he was prepared to do whatever the court ordered. He took the position that he had done a great deal for the aid of his mother, Mr. Wearing said.

Speaking for Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Crowe, Mr. Gordon stated that they were married women without separate estates, and their husbands were not required to pay anything. If any adjustment was made they were willing to contribute in some proportion if all the children consented to such an arrangement being made.

Mr. Hatton pointed out that under the new legislation any aid that may have been given in the past did not affect the question in this application.

Edward Whatley submitted his rights to the court, saying, "I've been paying toward my mother's keep."

Mr. Wearing suggested that the solicitors and all the parties should get together before any evidence was taken, in the hope of making some settlement satisfactory to the court.

Magistrate Langley asked Mr. Hatton whether an order under consent would be acceptable to him.

Mr. Hatton —I can't see why it shouldn't be. If there is any objection, and I understand one of the parties does object, you could hear evidence as to that.

Accordingly the court adjourned for half an hour, while Mrs. Whatley's children and the three lawyers deliberated in an adjoining room.

Is 82 Years Old.

From a member of the family it was learned that Mrs. Mary Ann Whatley is 82 years old and is now at the home of Frank Harding. Her husband died nine years ago. Since then she has been ill from time to time, and during the last two years she has been virtually an invalid, requiring on occasion medical and nursing attention. She has lived alternately with her daughters, Mrs. Harding and Mrs. W. F. Crowe. It was stated that Edward Whatley had been paying $100 a year to his sisters for the maintenance of his mother and had also paid doctors' bills. It was also staed that Mrs. Whatley preferred to stay with her daughters, Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Crowe, but that Sidney Whatley had objected to paying anything to his brothers-in-law.

The Settlement.

After the conference had been in progress about an hour, Frank Harding came out and announced that he wished to drop out of the negotiations.

"I won't sign anything," he said. "If my wife is willing to take her mother I don't object to her staying at my house."

A few minutes later the three solicitors re-appeared before Magistrate Langley with a settlement, which they submitted to him.

"I've fought for my wife's mother ten years, and I'm going to do what's right to the end," said Wm. Crowe.

Mr. Gordon—Sidney Whatley offered to take her to his home but she doesn't want to go there.

Mr. Langley—We can't make her go any place.

Mr. Wearing stated that Mr. Sidney Whatley agreed to pay all the costs of the application.

The consent order approved by Magistrate Langley embodies an agreement that the maintenance of Mrs. Whatley is provided for by the weekly payment of the following sums: Sidney Whatley $2.78, Edward Whatley, $2.22, Mrs. W. F. Crowe $2.50, and Mrs. Frank Harding $2.50. These first payments shall be made to-morrow, Saturday, August 13. Edward Whatley and Mrs. Crowe have already paid a considerable sum in advance under the previous arrangements.

Mr. Harding, evidently on further conside ration, consented to the payment of $2.50 in the name of his wife. Nothing was said about his former expression that he wished to drop out of the case. It was further stated that Mrs. Whatley would stay with Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Crowe.

"I have nothing to do with where she resides," said the Magistrate. "She is at liberty to decide to go where she sees fit. I am glad that this case has been settled amicably by a consent order, and I hope no disagreement will arise in future and that all parties will perform their filial duties."

The costs, paid by Sidney Whatley, amounted to $23.19.

Magistrate Langley said that there was no requirement for the signing of this settlement. His order gave it force and sanction. However, Sidney and Edward Whatley put their names to a covenant to pay the expenses of their mother's funeral when she dies.

RIGA, Aug. 12. — (Canadian Press) The Russian Government will combat any attempt to interject politicad questions into the Russian famine relief, but it is sufficiently practical to see that holdink United States citizens in prison is an obstacle to feeding a million Russian children it is best that Herbert Hoover's stipulation be granted declared Maxim Litvinoff Soviet special envoy here today.

PETERBORO WILL MEET OTTAWA AT RIVERSIDE

GOOD GAME ASSURED—ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETED TO-DAY.

This game which should have been played in Peterboro to-morrow at 3 o'clock, was cancelled at 4.30 p.m. yesterday, by telegram to Mr. Fred Sutcliffe, the local secretary.

Mr. Sutcliffe sent an official communication to Ottawa on Sunday last at 4 p.m. immediately, notifying them they were anxious to meet Ottawa here on Saturday, August 13th, having eliminated Brantford in the first round.

The secretary again wired on two occasions, and telephoned the secretary of the Ottawa and District Association twice before getting any reply, and then it was to cancel the game and give the round to Peterboro.

The whole thing in a nutshell has been financial circumstances. Ottawa had to travel so much in the Ontario Cup finals that they suffered heavy monetary loss and this was the cause of cancellation. All this is now cleared away by the local association. Peterboro has advanced the finances to Ottawa and the game will be staged here in the Riverside Park to-morrow.

The Ottawa team will leave at 9.30 a.m., arriving here on the C.P.R. at 3.50 p.m.

This aggregation has beaten Brantford twice, beating them in Brantford this year in the Ontario Cup.

Therefore Peterboro has got to "go some" to secure a victory to-morrow and the public will see a great game as Ottawa has a fine team.

The late arrival of the visitors compels an alteration in the starting time and the time fixed is now 5.30 p.m.

This will give the fans time for an early tea and see the whole game

The officials and players feel confident that they can beat Ottawa and travel into round three, and play the winner of Sudbury and London, which takes place in Sudbury to-morrow.

If Peterboro wins the next round will be played here.

LACROSSE NOTES

By reason of the default of Peterborough's game yesterday, Campbellford and Havelock Intermediates have moved forward their game from 26th August to Next Friday, 19th August. The game will be played in Havelock.

A win for the home team will bring them even with Campbellford on the completed schedule requiring a play-off, or they may arrange home-and-home games.

If Campbellford wins they take the group honours, and will likely be drawn against Oshawa in the next round.

Next Friday's game should be a hummer. Both teams are being coached—Havelock by "Sport" Munton of Toronto, and Campbellford by "Dob" Phelan of Cornwall.

The Booby Prize

He is an eccentric young man, with peculiar habits. He loves to sit on the table, where he will remain quiet for hours at a time, with arms extended or held stiffly at his sides. He has no conversation whatever, just a smile that is permanent, and that gives one the impression of his always withholding a pleasant secret from some one. He is very fond of a red bathing suit, which he wears constantly, with a jaunty blue cap. One eye has a slight cast in it and his eyebrows are very, very red.

His morals have not always been unimpeachable. It is whispered that his former mistress wagered his affections on the turn of a card, and the night he deserted her for his present lady love he suffered a fall which left a permanent scar on his forehead. He does not smoke, however, having a very real dread of fire, this little celluloid doll that formed the booby prize at a last winter's card party.

The Canadian Bee-keepers have combined to put on a special exhibit at the Canadian National Exhibition this yer.

ABOLISH FEES IN THE HIGH SCHOOLS

Information Given in Answer to London, Eng., Delegate at Session of Imperial Teachers' Conference.

TORONTO, Aug. 12.—Dr. F. W. Merchint, director of Industrial and Technical Education of the Department of Education of Ontario, announced at the Imperial Conference of Teachers' Associations that, beginning September 1st, no fees would be required in any High schools in the province. This was in reply to B. M. Allen, of London, Eng., who asked the question. The answer proved news to several Ontario delegates, but Dr. Merchant said it was correct.

Mr. Allen pointed out that in the secondry schools in London they put on a fee and then remit; for there was a clause in the act which gave free education only to children who would profit by it, and that point was overcome by a series of scholarships with maintenance money attached, which would carry a student into the university.

MAY REVERT TO PEASANT CONDITIONS

Unless an effort is made by Canadian farmers to manage their business for themselves they are in danger of reverting to the conditions of central European peasants, declared Hon. Manning Doherty, Ontario minister of Agriculture, at the annual picnic of the Welland County Board of Agriculture and the Pomona Grange of Erie County, New York State.

Mr. Doherty believed that the barrier, preventing Canadian food from entering the United States would soon be lowered and he urged the necessity of the manufacturers and business men accepting their loss at once as the farmers had done.

FAIRWEATHER'S CARRY ON TILL CREDITORS MEET

TORONTO, Aug. 12—At Ogoode Hall, yesterday, Mr. Justice Latchford gave F. C. Clarkson, assignee for Fairweather's Limited, furriers, permission to continue business until Aug. 23, the date filed for a meeting of the estate's creditors.

Assignee Clarkson stated that business is good, and that it would mean a heavy loss to shut the store at the present time.

Mr. Justice Latchford agreed, adding that he knew of no good reason why things should not go on until August 23rd, when the creditors would meet. He advised on other matters. The company had a post at Fort Nelson. It was customary for a man to start from Edmonton about this time to square accounts with the Indians. Fairweathers had a stock there for the Indian trade worth about $12,000. The court though the agent should go north to the Indian trapper as usual

There was also an acreage of about 24, but the judge didn't think land values high in that part of the country.

Mr. Clarkson is continuing the insurance of $900,000 on the stock.

Mr. Justice Latchford agreed that this was wise.

At one time, Mr. Fairweather, the head of Fairweather Limited, conducted a fur business in Peterboro.

GOVERNMENT TO ADOPT RECOMMENDATIONS OF SUTHERLAND COMMISSION ON HYDRO-RADIALS; ATTITUDE TOWARDS HYDRO IS UNCHANGED YET

BUT NOT WITHOUT VOTE BY RATEPAYERS

(Special Despatch to the Examiner.)

TORONTO, August 13. — Before leaving by auto for his home last night, Premier Drury made it very plain to the Examiner that the Government will adopt the principal recommendations of the Sutherland Commission.

While refusing to guarantee the bonds of the Hydro-Radials, Mr. Drury believed the Government might enable the municipalities to go on with the project on their own responsibility but not without another vote of the ratepayers. He said the Government still has confidence in Sir Adam Beck, the chairman of the Provinial Hydro Commission, and thinks he is capable of valuable further service to the people of Ontario.

The exclusive interview with the Premier in the Prime Minister's office in the Parliament Buildings, was secured after he had discussed with Mr. J. A. Ellis of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, the summary of the Sutherland Commission's report.

"What effect, if any, will the report condemning the Hydro's radial plans have on the power project?" Mr. Drury was asked.

"None whatever, judging from my present information," was the reply. "The Government's attitude towards the Hydro Commission and its staff will not be changed. Of course you must remember that I have not had time to read through even the summary of the report, let alone the report itself. I am speaking after being informed only of the general trend of the Commission's findings. So far as I know the report does not seriously reflect on the Commission or on the Hydro engineers. It simply finds that it is inadvisable for the province to back the project that they recommend."

"Does the report confirm the fears that the government expressed in its public statement on the radial question a year ago?"

"It does."

"Then, it goes without saying that the Government, speaking broadly will adopt the recommendations of the Board of Inquiry?"

"I think so."

Mr. Drury was asked whether the municipalities would be permitted to go ahead and finance the radials themselves.

"I fancy so," he eplied. "I have almost promised that much on the platform, but the ratepapers would have to vote again. Conditions have changed greatly since they voted the last time. The Grand Trunk and the C.N.R. have been acquired, costs have altered, and the people should know that the entire responsibility is on their shoulders and that the scheme is going on without the backing of the province. If they wished to proceed on that understanding I don't know that the province would raise objections, but we would have to pass legislation enabling them to guarantee the Radial bonds of the Hydro Commission or to make appropriations for the purposes of electric railways, and hand the money over to the Hydro."

HYDRO-RADIAL INQUIRY HAS COST $469,754.54, SAYS GOVT. REPORT

(Special Despatch to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, August 13.—Premier Drury has handed out the following statement showing the complete cost of the Hydro radial inquiry, which, he says, he does not consider excessive. The statement follows:

Advances to the Commission direct up to 18th July, 1921, $101,000.00.

(Note.—Mr. R. S. Robertson, K.C., has been paid $4,000.00 on account out of the above amount by the Commission.)

Balance due to Mr. Robertson, $4,315.28.

Total—$469,754.54.

(Note.—The last item includes $36,955, Mr. McKay's counsel fees; $8,580.45, Mr. C. S. McInnes' counsel fees; $19,449.37, Mr. C. C. Robinson's counsel fees; $54,355.17, Mr. Arnott's "expert" fees and expenses; $114,453.54, salaries and expenses of engineers and assistants,)

FIRST GRAVE DEFEAT FOR THE HYDRO KNIGHT MAY MARK GREAT TURNING POINT FOR THE HYDRO

SPECULATION IS RIFE AS TO WHETHER SIR ADAM WILL ACCEPT HIS DEFEAT OR WAGE BITTER WARFARE ON DRURY GOVERNMENT TO SETTLE VEXED QUESTIONS OF HYDRO POWER —REFUSES TO COMMENT ON SUTHERLAND REPORT.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—(Special despatch to the Examiner).—Sir Adam Beck is adamant in his decision to make no comment whatever upon the adverse majority report of the Sutherland Commission on Hydro radials or upon the situation which has arisen as a result of this condemnation of his projected electric railway system.

When The Examiner's representative arrived in London and went up to the Hydro Knight's residence he discovered that Sir Adam was "sporting the oak" with a vengeance, having apparently given indefinite leave of absence to his door keeper. Resorting to the telephone, The Examiner eventually succeeded in establishing communication with the sponsor of the radial scheme and inquiring whether he would discuss Sutherland findings. "I know nothing of the report", said Sir Adam. The Examiner man informed him that it had been made public at five o'clock in afternoon and that he could apprise him of the gist of it. "I haven't had time to consider the matter at all," retorted Sir Adam, "and I have absolutely nothing to say about it, no comment whatever". On being told that the reporter had come in the hope and expectation of getting from him an expression of opinion he replied, "I am sorry you were put to that trouble but I have made no statement to any of the other newspapers and I can see no reason for changing my attitude now". When asked whether he would have anything to say after having read the reports in print he replied, "nothing whatever".

The Sutherland Commissions sweeping condemnation of one of Sir Adam's pet projects is the first grave reverse which the Napoleon of Hydro has met in years of fiercely contested battles and long-drawn out campaigns. Here in London some few believe it is his Waterloo but the majority regard it as no more than a temporary setback, as an incidental obstacle which he will eventually ride over in triumph. However that may be, this day undoubtedly marks a turning point in the career of Sir Adam if not indeed, a pivotal point in the whole history of Hydro.

It is generally known that the relations between Sir Adam and Premier Drury have of late been strained almost to the breaking point. A mutual distrust has arisen and round table conferences between the two of them have been giving way more and more to written communications. Mr. Drury has publicly avowed his belief that the generation and distribution of electrical power is a service which should be in the hands of the Provincial Government a proposition to which Sir Adam could hardly subscribe. The Premier ,it is said, considered Sir Adam's former cabinet colleague, Hon Isaac B. Lucas, as being rather too pliable and complacent. He was replaced by a commissioner who, while working harmoniously with the Hydro knight, ha snot hesitated to stand up to Sir Adam in board meetings and argue matters out to the last decimal point in a manner which must have won the admiration of even so doughty a warrior as Col Carmichael.

Sir Adam himself has of late spoken more an once of throwing up his whole thankless task and of retiring to private life. In view of the anti-Beck sentiment which has been displayed in certain quarters at Queens' Park and by certain powerful interests throughout the Province, speculation is rife in London as to whether Sir Adam will throw up the sponge and wash his hands of both Hydro and politics, but the general impression here is that he is far too much of a fighter to admit defeat that easily.

Some color of plausibility is lent to the conjecture by that he is preparing opposition Sir Adam's attitude some time past. He has known that th e Sutherland Commission was reporting four to one against the radial scheme which he and his chief lieatenant, Gaby, had nourished and cherished but yet when the expected death blow was at last publicly delivered, he declined to make any comment whatever upon the massacre. Sir Adam never used to be one to withhold his opinion, it was usually given with an unrestrained freedom and an explosive vigor that bordered on the volcanic. So some Londoners maintain that the old warrior has laid aside his battle axe only to resort to the strategy of the seasoned general. They believe that he is merely lying low and concealing the disposition of his forces until such time as the Drury Government comes into the field and definitely and finally commits itself to its policy on the radial question. But Beck himself remains as tactiturn as a clam and as inscrutable as a sphinx, so Londoners can do no more than hazard guesses as to whether there are gathering on the political horizon ominous storm clouds which presage an early Provincial election in which Beck will be pitted against Drury in the endeavor to settle once for all the many vexed questions which are arising in connection with the Hydro-elecric situation.

Members-elect Look to Purses

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 13. — One of the first official acts of the members of the new Farmers' government who are likely to be called on to take office in the next day or two, is to place themselves on record against the custom of demands being made upon members of the Legislature to head subscription lists with generous donations. The members-elect fail to see, even though it may have been a custom, generally observed in past Legislatures, why they should be mulcted more heavily than private citizens. Times are hard and the new legislators are losing no time in letting the whole province know where they stand on the matter of subscriptions.

Before the conference at the MacDonald Hotel adjourned yesterday, the following resolution was passed unanimously: "That this conference of U.F.A. members is of the opinion that election to the Legislature should not place the elected members under any greater obligations in respect to organizations appealing for private subscription than the obligation felt by a private citizen."

A large number of members spoke in support of the resolution. One member stated that his trials and troubles as a legislator had already commenced. Since his election he had been aproached by certain persons armed with subscription lists who impressed upon him the idea that by placing his name on such lists he would be given a good standing among his fellow citizens. "In my opinion," said the member, "this kind of thing is nothing but a form of patronage. I do not think you should be guided by the old traditions in this matter."

Another members declared: "I intend to go ahead just the same as I have always done as a private citizen. No man can hold me up for subscriptions just because of my election. I shall give as I have always done where I felt that need exists and that I can give."

Another speaker remarked that in his district all applications for subscritions were referred to the board of political associations. He himself would be absolutely unable from his own financial resources to meet such demands as had been made upon him since he was elected to the Legislature. The whole tenor of the discussion gathered from the official statement at its colse was that the farmer members have no intention of pulling the purse strings too tightly, but that they will prove 'poor pickings' for ambitious subscription hunters.

NEAR PRE-WAR LEVELS

Canadian Pacific Railway on Monday Cuts Another 35 Per Cent. Off Cattle Freights.

MONTREAL, Aug. 12.—Freight rates on livestock will be reduced practically to pre-war level when the new tarrifs of the Canadian Pacific Railway go into effect on Monday next, it was stated by the transpartation bureu of the Board of Trade to-day. Last January five per cent. was cut off the forty per cent. increase granted a year ago, and the new rates will wipe out the other thirty-five per cent. it was said. It was also stated that the requction was part of the general policy of the railways to reduce freight rates wherever possible, and it is anticipated that before long there will be similiar redustions in other products. The rates now published are for livestock, with separate rates for horses, mules and ponies, higher than those on other livestock, but nevertheless considerably lower than they were. The substantial nature of the reduction it is said, is seen in comparing the new rates with the old. For distances from 10 to 15 miles the rate is to be 7½ cents per hundred pounds against the old rate if 10 cents. From 170 to 200 miles it will be reduced to 22 cents.

It was pointed out that these redustions will be a great help to farmers shipping stock into Montreal, and that it might have some effect in slightly lowering market prices.

LEAGUE MEETS ON AUGUST 20 OVER SILESIA

UNDERSTOOD PRESIDENT ISHII WILL SUMMON COUNCIL NEXT SATURDAY TO CONSIDER SOLUTION OF PROBLEM.

LONDON PRESS SHOWS LITTLE ENTHUSIASM

PARIS, Aug. 13. — (Canadian Press.)—Viscount Ishii, President of the Council of the League of Nations, it is understood, has decided to summon that body to meet August 20 to consider a solution of the Upper Silesia problem.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The decision to refer the Silesian question to the League of Nations is generally approved by the London press, though not always with enthusiasm. Those least enamored with the Paris decision say it is an expedient far preferable to a break between Britain and France.

PRICES LOWER ON FARMERS' MARKET

PRODUCE OF ALL KINDS PLENTIFUL—BUTTER EASIER.

A glowing picture of life and color was the farmers' open market to-day, for it was the largest this year. Vehicles of every vintage lined the square and Water street from the entrance to Charlotte street. The vehicles and cars were wheel to wheel. Space was at a premium to-day, all the good spots being taken early in the morning, and at 10 o'clock sales were in full swing.

Loads of apples and plums, and great quanttiies of vegetables told of the rapid maturing of fruits and vegetables. Plums have come on quickly and there were wagon loads for sale this morning. Blues were more prominent but there were some green gages and sugar plums. Milk cans, barrels, baskets and every other kind of container held blue plums, which were selling at 10 and 15 cents a quart or 50 cents a six quart basket, or $1.00 an 11 qt. basket. Gages were 15 cents and sugar plums 15.

Apples Plentiful.

Most of the apples on the market were Duchess, although there were some Yellow Transparents. All the apples sold at 50 cents a peck. Apples were fairly plentiful.

Gleaming red and orange under the bright sun were baskets of tomatoes. One grower had dozens of baskets piled in his truck and on a stand dozen more. They were firm and had smooth skins. He was asking 75c. a large basket or 40 cents a small basket. There was a great deal of corn on to-day. Yellow bantam was 20 and 25 cents a dozen and the growers had brisk sales. Many American tourists invaded the market to-day and in huge baskets lugged off corn for many a merry meal or corn roast.

Potatoes 50c. Peck.

There couldn't have been much room in the wagons for potatoes. At any rate there weren't many bags on. What there were sold at 50 cents a peck. One farmer had some old ones he sold at $1.25 a bag. Carrots, beets, lettuce, radishes, onions and parsley were all selling at five cents a bunch. Celery went at 15c. Pickling onions weer plentiful at $1.25 a big basket or $3.25 a bushel.

Young Pigs.

Not apparently mindng the excitement a little bit were a load of young pigs, a farmer boy was selling. Sales were poor till 11 o'clock, at least, and the young agrarian must have wished he had plums or some other sweet thing to sell. However he stuck faithfully to his wagon, despite the fact. One other steady salesman was a little boy, guarding a pair of grey fan-tail pigeons in a box covered by a wiadow screen. When people priced them out of curiosity he delivered a knock-out blow. He asked $5 for the pair and scared every kid who dared examine them. Even at that they envied him his ownership of such valuable pets.

Basket Market.

The rush and bustle in the open market was lacking in the basketeers' section. Butter was cheaper to-day as pasturage is better. Some asked 50, some 48 and some 45c. One lady maintained a 50 cent level, but offered, if one took 30 pounds, to sell at 48c. Butter was much more plentiful than last week and 45 cents seemed to be the price the last quantities would be sold at.

There seemed to be two prices for eggs, 38 and 35 cents. No scarcity of eggs was apparent and old hens and young chickens were arranged generously on the tables. Old hens sold at 25 cents a pound. Chickens were cheaper. Nice ones sold at 35c., but many farmers' wives demanded 40c. Cleaned and dressed they all wanted 40c. Honey sold in combs was 30 cents to-day or by the pail, 25 cents a pound.

EARTH WHIRLED THROUGH COMET'S TAIL ON MONDAY

HEIDLEBERG, Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press.)—Brilliant light bands which took the form of a wreath running from the west north-west to the east south-east were produced by the tail of a comet through which the earth passed last Monday night, astronomers here announced last night. Observations indicated the head of the comet passed the earth and the sun, and it is expected it will again be visible to points in the southern hemisphere.

ABLE TO WITHSTAND STRAIN OF THE WAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.M"The history of the world shows no more well balanced development of a greater country than has been true of Canada," says the National City Bank in a survey of conditions in the Dominion. After referring to the vast territories in Canada and the resources "which require the hardiest kind of pioneers to bring them to the service of the world, it has steadily forged ahead and to-day stands in a position to solidly withstand the great strain of the war."

CABINET MEETS AND CONSIDERS VALERA LETTER

UTMOST SECRECY MAINTAINED BY OFFICIALS — FITZALAN AND GREENWOOD SAID TO HAVE BEEN PRESENT.

SPECULATION RIFE, BUT CONTRADICTORY

LONDON, August 13 (Canadian Prss). — Eamonn DeValera's answer to the proposals of the British Government relative to the peace negotiations in Ireland were considered at a meeting of the British Cabinet this morning.

Lord Fitzalan, Governor-Genral of Ireland, and Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, were understood to have been called on to participate in the deliberations.

The closest secrecy was maintained by the officials as to the contents of DeValera's message.

Some political writers claim it is only a step forward in the negotiations; others say the Cabinet regard it as fantamount to a rejection of the British terms.

BEST CONVENTION IN I.O.F. HISTORY

DELEGATES DEPARTED LAST NIGHT DELIGHTED WITH PETERBOROUGH'S HOSPITALITY.

"The most successful convention since the Order was founded thirty-five years ago," was the unanimous expression of the delegate members of the High Court of Eastern Ontario of the Independent Order of Foresters before departing for their homes last night.

The business sessions, interspersed with the entertainment features provided by the local Court, composed a programme that was profitable and interesting, and will undoubtedly be fruitful.

On Friday evning the G.W.V.A. Band gave a concert in connection with the concluding session, and the visitors were warm in their appreciation of this final and unexpected delight.

The thanks of the High Court were tendered to the Band and the local committee by Past Chief Ranger Eagleson, of Ottawa, and by High Court Secretary Morgan.

The members of the Peterborough I. O. F. wish to thank all the citizens who in any way contributed to the success of the convention, to those who opened their doors and helped in extending hospitality to the visitors, and to the citizens in general.

The delegates have returned home highly pleased with the convention and its diversions, and it is felt that these feelings of satisfaction will be an indelible asset and advertisement of Peterborough.

CLAIM DOMESTIC CATS WOSE THAN COUGARS

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Although the cougar is regarded, for very good reasons, as the most deadly enemy of all game in British Columbia, he has very little on the ordinary domestic cat when kitty takes to the wild free life of the tall timbers. This, at least, is the opinion of seasoned hunters on Vancouver Island where pussy has been doing much damage.

At a recent session of the Game Conservation Board here delegates from island game associations testified domestic cats had been killing off so many birds that a substantial bounty should be offered for their hides.

Unlike the cougar, kitty devotes most of her attention to birds, and in season and out of season preys on the grouse, pheasant, partridge, snipe and small game animals. She is always on the job and daily the toll she takes is mounting.

The game associations do not worry about the depredations of wolves, which were so troublesome a few years ago, an epidemic of influenza among the packs in 1918 having practically enterminated them.

SUTHERLAND COMMISSION'S REPORT CONDEMNS HYDRO-RADIAL SCHEME ON GROUND OF FINANCE AND FEAR OF COMPETITION WITH STEAM ROADS

ARMED MICHIGAN TROOPERS GUARD BORDER TO CHECK LIQUOR INFLUX

DETROIT, August 13 (Canadian Press). — Seventy-five troopers from the Michigan State Constabulary at Lansing reported for duty last night to the Michigan Public Safety Commission.

The detachment will be divided into patrols, operating along the American side of the Detroit River and portions of Lake St. Clair, for the purpose of suppressing the wholesale influx of Canadian beer in evidence since the decision allowing export to the United States without interference by the Canadian authorities.

The authorities declared that they intended to get every bottle of beer and whisky that is brought over from Canada.

Three high-powered motor boats will be pressed into service this (Saturday) morning, manned by State troops armed with rifles.

MAJORITY REPORT ADVANCES OPINION THAT SYSTEM AS OUTLINED WOULD NOT BE SELF-SUPPORTING — HYDRO BLAMED FOR DELAY.

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press.)—The majority report of the Sutherland Hydro Radials Commission condemns Sir Adam Beck's great Hydro radial project.

Commissioner Fred Bancroft, Labor's representative on the Commission, differs from his colleagues, and in a minority report advocates the Government lend assistance in Hydro radial construction.

Several reasons are given in the majority report for the adverse finding. Financial conditions are cited as the reason for the abandonment of the Hydro-radial scheme. The opinion advanced that the system as outlined would not be self-supporting and fears are expressed for Canada's steam roads were Hydro-radials to compete in the transportation field. The advice given is to "wait" at least until the success of the Chippawa river development is assured and until the effect of the improvement of public highways has been gauged. The majority report criticizes Engineer Gaby and Engineer W. E. Murray of the Hydro, and public blame for the long drawn out inquiry is generally laid at the door of the Hydro staff.

Commissioner Bancroft, in his report, however, ventures the suggestion that the commissioners themselves might justly shoulder some of the responsibility for the length of the inquiry, which was tremendously expensive.

Commissioner Bancroft, in his minority report, is at direct issue with the majority of the Commission in most of his conclusions. He disagrees entirely with the conclusion that the Government should guarantee the bonds of municipalities for the radial venture. "To say the municipalities must finance their own radials without a government guarantee," he declared, "is equivalent to saying radials must not be built." The Government, in Commissioner Bancroft's recorded opinion, should adopt the principle of publicly owned and operated electric railways for the province of Ontario. He also urges that it would help the unemployment situation.

The majority report is signed by Hon. Mr. Justice Sutherland, Brig.-Gen. C. S. Mitchell, W. A. Ames and A. F. Macallum, C.E.. E. T. J. Sannigan, secretary of the Ontario Hydro Radial Railway Association, stated that the executive of the Association would probably meet in a few days and then would take up the report vigorously. They will fight it he said.

Sir Adam Beck refused to comment on the report last night.

BORDER RUM-RUNNING RESUMED; REPRESENTATIVE OF EXAMINER SAW 30,000 BOTTLES SHIPPED

"DETROIT GOES WET," NEWSBOYS CRY IN DETROIT STREETS AS LIQUOR FLOWS IN ON HUGEST SCALE SINCE PROHIBITION.

NO INTERFERENCE BY THE HELPLESS POLICE

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 13.—More openly than ever before is liquor being run across the river from Sandwich to the down river suburbs of Detroit, River Rouge, Ecorse and Wyandotte, former centres of the liquor smuggling trade on the American shore. Like a bomb shell was the ruling in the Windsor police court by Magistrate W. E. Gundy, that Canadian officials had no right to stop export shipments to the United States or any other point outside Ontario.

Only a few hours of a day spent in the Rouge Marshes and Ecorse were enough to prove that the reports in the Windsor and Detroit papers regarding the magnitude of the running were not exaggerated in the least. "Read about the whiskey scandal, Windsor goes dry and Detroit goes wet," the Detroit newsboys have been crying excitedly this morning and all day yesterday. The headlines say "whiskey pours into Detroit from Canada".

SATURDAY, AUG. 13TH, 1921.

MUST BE ON OUR GUARD.

The Federal Government should investigate the reports that the surplus immigration turned away from the United States is to be diverted to Canada. The present industrial situation is such that this country cannot afford to take chances of having the bread line in Canadian cities lengthened next winter by an influx of immigrants, for whom the United States has no room. The time will come, and speedily, too, it is hoped, when Canada will gladly welcome new citizens by the hundred thousand, but for the moment we must be careful. Taking care of the unemployed will be a severe enough burden under the most favourable circumstances; it would be suicidal to allow an influx of immigrants into the country while conditions remain as they are at present. The United States has recognized the folly of such a policy and has adopted rigid precautions to guard against being made the dumping ground for impoverished Europeans anxious to establish new homes for themselves; in this particular at least we can profit by the example of our neighbours.

A NEW ERA.

The Provincial Hydro Commission has evidently lost no time in taking advantage of the bonus legislation in connection with rural Hydro lines which was passed at the last session of the Legislature. Plans for extending power lines into twelve townships where 1,065 consumers will be served, have been prepared, and the commission is ready to commence work immediately if the government sanctions the programme, as it undoubtedly will do. There are 175 miles of line involved in the scheme, and the total capital expenditure is estimated at $375,277, of which amount $220,000 is necessary for the construction of primary lines, and the Ontario government, in accordance with the legislation adopted last spring, will have to furnish fifty per cent. of the last named sum. The extension of Hydro power into the rural districts means a new era on the farms of Ontario, and the twelve townships who are the pioneers in the movement, will be envied by other townships throughout the province.

THE EXHIBITION.

All indications point to the fact that Peterborough's Industrial Exhibition this year will set a new mark in attendance, in the number of exhibits and in all round excellence in every department. Since last year there have been notable additions to the plant, the grand stand accommodation has been more than than doubled and the grounds are in better condition than at any time in the history of the Exhibition. Each committee is hard at work and so far as the directors are concerned no effort is being spared. But much depends upon the pepole of Peterborough. Between now and the opening day of the Exhibition they should constitute themselves as publicity agents for Peterborough's big fair, talk about it when they are out of town and write to their friends and advise them to come here and see for themselves what zeal and confidence and optimism have accomplished in a few short years. The people should feel that it is their exhibition, and their interest and enthusiasm can make it the biggest success on record. It cannot fail to reach a new level this year if the citizens of the Peterborough district will recognize it as a community enterprise and give their active support in every way possible.

MEIGHEN AND THE UNEMPLOYED.

The first job which confronts Premier Meighen as he again dons his harness is the consideration of the presently serious and and the imminently tragic problem of UNEMPLOYMENT.

Unemployment is now a pathetic and disturbing fact in our larger centres. When snow flies, it will have grown to a shocking and even alarming incubus on our winter cities which will entirely submerge the already heavily-drained resources of private charity, as well as bankrupt municipal relief—if something prompt and Napoleonic is not done.

The local people who give—give—give for everything cannot possibly meet even the preliminary demands of this problem. They cannot handle it to-day when our harbors are humming with life, when the West is swallowing up harvesters, and the soft summer weather is tempered to the shorn lambs. Plainly they will be utterly helpless in the face of real suffering and an insistent WANT which will not be denied, when winter ahs sealed our harbors, closed our rivers, stopped all farm work and driven homeless humanity—like hungry wolves—into the streets of our towns and cities.

Nor can the civic authorities carry the burden alone. They ought, of course, to hel. But it is totally unfair to the workers in the cities, even if they had the ability —which they have not—to ask them to bear through thier taxation all the weight of what will be, if not prevented, an unprecedented and nation-wide calamity.

It is not a case of charity. These workless men do not beg for alms—they stand upright and ask for work. Many of them, indeed, are returned soldiers; and it would be a burning and intolerable shame for the rest of us who owe them so infinitely much to permit them to beg.

But the ordinary sources of work are either greatly restricted or closed altogether. This is an aftermath of the war. The mad and criminal extravagances which accompanied the inflated wages period, both during the war and immediately after it, gave way suddenly and inevitably to what was termed "a buyers' strike"; and the result is that factories have had to close or slow down. This means that thousands of men cannot get the work to which they have been accustomed.

It is hardly necessary to say that this curtailment of industrial activity is only tempbrary. As soon as we have passed the present pinch, our people will start buying again and there will be plenty of employment for those able and willing to work. The clouds that now darken our skies as well as those of all other nations, will be blown away; and again Canada will forge ahead with her old momentum.

Stil lthere is no way in which we can now coax or compel private industries to keep running at a loss. If they cannot sell their output, we canpot decently ex pect them to buy the raw material and pay the labor necessary to make it up. This would be only a ruinous sort of private charity.

But it is quite possible for the various Governments to get together and inaugurate public works which would be paid for out of the public revenues and would be of lasting benefit to the whole people. This country needs many things which it has not got. If we had the money to spend, it is notorious that our people would be much benefitted by a better national equipment.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A Pittsfield man says he saw a bull frog smoking a cigar. Revenue officers no doubt scent a clue in this announcement.

Ontario jails seem to be losing their grip. Napanee is the latest centre from which a prisoner has escaped.

A wild duck, taged at Lindsay last year, has been shot in the Isle of Trinidad. Probably it wanted to get as far away from Lindsay as possible.

A Pittsfield man reports seeing a bull frog smoke a cigar. There seems to be a lot of kick in some of that home-brew stuff.

A business man who is also a ball fan, declares that the Peterborough ball club is affected by the same trouble as the world of industry—too mayn strikes.

The Peterborough Examiner comments upon the saying of a visitor that he never encountered anywhere else such apathy in public affairs. Last winter's Federal by-election told a different tale. The Opera House was crowded to the doors at least three times, and it was difficult to find a man, woman or child over twelve that was not talking about the election. But this is the summer, and the lakes north of Peterborough are alluring.—Toronto Globe.

Approachable and Considerate

The so-called dignity of banking carries with it, to the minds of some people, an impression of reserve, which has, at times, actually prevented them from becoming depositors. As a matter of fact, a Bank is a business institution, conducted on business lines by practical, successful business men who are both approachable and considerate. It is a pleasure to do your banking at The Merchants Bank.

Some people like to talk about the danger to the banks from the crime wave, as it gives one the impression that they possess bank accounts.

A Correspondent suggests that it might be a good idea to purchase a bloodhound, trained to follow the human scent, to chase criminals. No doubt if the precaution were taken to slip the animal into the tonneau of the culprit's car before he drove off, the hound would be practically infallible.

With the revival of the border rum-running traffic, Windsor again figures on the front page of the newspapers. Peterborough seems to lack enterprise when it comes to getting civic publicity.

Chapter 36.

After a little while I got up from the bed. Kent would be home soon. I must calm myself and be prepared to meet him.

I did not know whether to tell him about Tom Barney's visit or not. I longed to tell him everything, and have him go out and give Tom the thrashing that he deserved. Just the hideous memory of Tom's lips pressing against mine made me hate him fiercely.

But I did not dare tell Kent. It was not of the despicable way Tom had behaved that I could not tell him, but I did not dare tell him that Tom knew about the diamond.

I was afraid of what he might do. If Kent learned that Tom Barney knew about the diamond and was liable at any time to expose him, there was no telling what Kent would do. It all seemed hopeless now. It was as if fate had suddenly turned against us.

I went over to the mirror and looked at myself. My face was red and tear-stained, my hair hanging down wildly, and my eyes swollen and burning. How could I face Kent? What would I tell him?

I went into the living-room. The pillows were rumpled and falling off the couch. One was on the floor. Tom Barney's violet-coloured cigarette holder still rested on the edge of the table. But Tom had gone. He must have slipped out soon after I rushed from the room.

I tried to straighten up the pillows. I took the half-smoked cigarette from the holder and threw it away. Then I hid the holder in the back of the big library table drawer. I could not have Kent find that. I hated the smell of it. Even after I had closed the table drawer the accusing scent of tobacco smoke lingered in my nostrils.

And I was sick. I could not face Kent when he came home and act as if nothing had happened.

I suddenly thought of a way out.

I went to my room and undressed rapidly. I combed out my hair and dashed cold water over my face, and tried to cover up some of the redness with face powder.

It would not be difficult to play at being ill. I had a splitting headache, and my nerves were exhausted.

I turned out all the lights except the little rose-pink boudoir lamp at the side of my bed and crawled in between the cool sheets.

I listened for the sound of Kent's key in the front door. Every once in a while I thought I detected little whiffs of tobacco smoke oozing in from the next room. I wondered if Kent would ask me who had been smoking. I hardly knew what I was going to tell him.

Finally he came.

"Hello," he called as he closed the front door. "You home, Babs—why are all the lights out?"

"I'm in here, in my room. I don't feel very well," I answered.

He came to me quickly, his hat still in his hand. When he saw me in bed his face clouded with anxiety.

"Oh, Babs, what's the matter" he ejaculated, leaning over me and tenderly stroking my burning forehead with his cool hand.

"Just a beastly headache, dear," I told him. "Nothing to worry about."

He sat down on the bed beside me. I could hardly keep from bursting into tears and throwing my arms around his dear neck. I longed to tell him all my trouble. This having to fight out all my battles alone was almost getting the best of me. Just now it all seemed so hopeless, too. Everything which I had tried to do had failed, and I wondered if it wouldn't be better to tell Kent after all. Maybe he could manage things much better.

"You do look sick, dearest," he said, scrutinising me. "Your eyes look strange."

"Dear, wonderful, brown eyes," I thought to myself, "I wonder if I am going to be able to keep the truth from you?"

October Bazaar

The ladies of the auxiliary to the G.W.V.A. are working busily just now at numerous preparations for their bazaar to be held in October. The articles already on hand are many and varied and more are coming in all the time. Mrs. T. H. Skinner, the Convenor, recently received a box of small notions from the President of the society, now in England, which contained fancies of all sorts of needlework, such as novelties in sachet bags, tape-line holders and kitchen bags for holding string, etc.

The idea for this bazaar, which will be held for two days in the G. W. V. A. Hall, is that of a miniature house. There will be a dining-room, den, kitchen, bed-rooms, bath-room and nursery, with articles sold in each room to correspond with its character. There will also be a flower stand, booths where light refreshments will be dispensed and a "mystery" tent where fortune-telling and palmistry experts will be installed.

Peterboro' Exhibition Will Provide A Rest Tent For Women Visitors

"Made-in-Canada" Goods Will Also Be Boomed at the Fair--A Follow-up Campaign

At the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto this year there will be a special rest tent for women on the grounds, where tired mothers of children and foot-weary trippers may take a little leisure from the arduous business of viewing the sights. This is not a new idea, of course, because there have always been rest rooms in connection with the Toronto exhibition. The novelty is supplied by the programme submitted for consideration. In connection with this rest tent, there will be an exhibit of "Made-in-Canada" goods and talks on Canadian wares of all sorts by women experts in this sort of thing. This is a direct "follow-up" of the campaign now in progress to interest women in Canadian products, for women are really the important buyers of the nation, and if once their national pride can be awakened to the extent of demanding Canadian-made goods at every purchase, a long step will be taken on the road to Canadian dominance in the world of Canadian buyers.

A plan is already on foot amongst local women interested in this movement to have a similar tent erected at the Peterborough exhibition in the fall, where women from city and country may go to rest and at the same time have Canadian-made products and manufactures explained to them in an interesting, attractive manner. It is to be hoped that this idea will not be allowed to fall through.

The Catholic Women's League Provided Pleasant Out For Orphanage Children

The Catholic Women's League was responsible for a pleasaut outing tendered to the children of St. Vincent's Orphanage on Wednesday last. Seven motors conveyed the party to Chemong Park. There a programme of sports was run off and prizes awarded the successful contestants. This was followed by a visit to the beach for a half hour's wading, and supper was served at 5 o'clock, when the children enjoyed a picnic lunch of sandwiches, cake, fruit, ice cream, orangeade and milk. A romp through the park and gambol on the swings occupied the time until 7.30, when a tired but very happy group of kiddies returned to town at the end of a perfect day. In following out their programme, the league was much indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Echle, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Grady and Mr. and Mrs. C. Rutherford for their kind hospitality, to Mr. R. J. Soden for the prizes and to all who so kindly loaned cars for the occasion.

Next week the Catholic Women's League intends to take the inmates of the House of Providence for a motor trip.

Peterboro' County U.F.O. Plan Picnic

Preparations for the picnic to be held at Lakefield Exhibition Grounds on Thursday, August 25th, under the auspices of the U. F. O. of East and West Peterborough, are going ahead very satisfactorily. As this is a half holiday, the committee in charge are anticipating a good attendance of city as well as county folk, and have arranged an excellent programme of sports and games for the afternoon with dancing in the evening, and a band in attendance. It is expected that Premier Drury and the Hon. Mr. Biggs will be present, and Miss Agnes C. MacPhail of Toronto, a member of the executive of the U. F. W. O., will give an address. A booth will be available for ice cream and all sorts of soft drinks and light refreshments.

Handkerchiefs for Bandages

(By M. JESSIE LEITCH.)

It had been a rather trying morning in the big house, because the twins were on the war path. Literally, this meant that they were imbued with more than their usual share of healthy young animal spirits, and they were reckless.

Terry climbed a rain barrel and fell in on his head, and because Mary had thrown a glass bottle in the rain barrel the day before, he cut his head.

At exactly the same moment Mary, tempted beyond the strength of her flesh to take off her shoes and stockings and go bare-footed in the grass, stepped on a part of an old tin can hidden under luscious green weeds—so she cut her foot.

Previously they had climbed on the roof, in an attempt to imitate Douglas Fairbanks, and had almost slid off because the tin tiles on the roof were unexpectedly hot and much more slanting than they appeared from the back bedroom window.

The cook had half rescued them, but she had become hysterical half way up the ladder and their mother had been forced to finish the rescue by throwing the clothesline from the window, which made her look almost as ridiculous as if she, too, had been trying to share in the "movie thrill" stunt. So she had slapped the twins soundly and sent them to play in the back yard.

And this was the result.

And Terry howling piteously from the rain barrel because he had lost his balance and could not right his tubby little body. Luckily there was very little water in the rain barrel.

Summoned to the back door by the lamentations of the twins, their mother, having dragged Terry from the rain barrel, sponged their respective cuts and painted them with iodine, a process which fascinated them both in spite of the fact that that the iodine smarted a little. When informed that the soldiers in the late war had their wounds painted with iodine, the twins were entranced.

Having allowed the iodine to dry and applied dry dressings of sterilized gauze, which she always kept on hand because of the twins' adventurous spirits, their mother discovered that there wasn't a bandage in the house. Nor an old sheet to be torn up.

Then she thought of handkerchief bandages, and sent the cook up for two of their father's big handkerchiefs.

Folding one handkerchief so that it had three corners, she applied the base of the triangle to Terry's willing neck. The apex came over the top of his head, hanging down over his eyes, and the two ends were knotted in front, in the middle of his forehead. The apex was then turned up over the knot and safety-pinned.

For Mary's foot, the handkerchief was folded the same way—to have three corners.

The base of the triangle was placed above the heel, the apex brought up over the toes to the ankle joint.

The two extremities, or points of the triangle, were then folded down, one on either side over the instep, passed around under the sole of the foot, and back again to the instep, where they were knotted, and the apex of the triangular pinned neatly over the knot.

The twins were so fascinated by the novelty of their bandages that they immediately withdrew to the lane, where they were soon surrounded by a group of interested youngsters, all eager to try out the new (to their childish souls) use for "father's handkerchiefs."

LISTLESS, PEEVISH GIRLS

When a girl in her teens becomes peevish, listless and dull, when nothing seems to interest her and dainties do not tempt her appetite, you may be certain that she needs more good blood than her system is provided with. Before long her pallid cheeks, frequent headaches, and breathlessness and heart palpitation will confirm that she is anaemic. Many mothers as the result of their own girlhood experience can promptly detect the early signs of anaemia, and the wise mother does not wait for the trouble to develop further, but at once gives her daughter a course with Dr. Williams Pink Pills, which renew the blood supply and banish anaemia before it has obtained a hold upon the system.

Out of their experience thousands of mothers know that anaemia is the sure road to worse ills. They know the difference that good red blood makes in the development of womanly health. Every headche, every pain she suffers in her back and limbs are reproaches if you have not taken the best steps to give your weak girl new blood, and the only sure way to do so is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

New rich red blood is infused into the system by every dose of these pills. From this new rich blood springs good health, an increased appetite, new energy, high spirits and perfect womanly development. Give your daughter Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and take them yourself and note how promptly their influence is felt in better health.

You can get these through any dealer in medicine or by mail postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Aids Daintiness

Four things will keep you dainty through the hot weather—baths, talcum, fresh clothing and hair nets. Take a warm bath once a day at evening and a cold bath in the morning. Change the clothes you wear next your skin twice a day, and if the weather is very warm don't wear the same garment a second time without laundering. You can rinse out the soft little chemise and knickers you wear these days and press with your electric iron. Better put on the garment unironed than wear a garment that has been soaked with perspiration and then dried.

NOVELTIES IN FASHIONS.

Many fall garments will be pleated, it is reported.

The growing length in dresses is bringing the length of cape down.

Gay chenille flowers will be popular fall trimming on heavier dresses.

Many of the new frocks in sheer fabrics have no hem at the foot. They are picot edged or whipped over with silk or chenille to tone.

Strictly tailored sweaters, even those with notched collars, are shown, an effect of braid binding being given by use of a darker color at the edge.

Earrings continue to be the rage. The long pendants are considered the most flattering, with the diamond pendants, set with platinum and jade, to the fore.

Soft chiffons and flaming brocades combine again to make the ballrooms gayer. Oriental and classic are the models that are made from these materials and the most exquisite fans are flourished with these gowns.

For the Hostess

Discussion is the making of good conversation.

Argument is its destruction, says The New York Sun.

There is no man or woman who is quite so much of a bore in social life as the one who argues, and the strangest thing about it is that these very persons seldom suspect that their habit of arguing is making them unpopular. When they find themselves avoided or wake up to the fact that they are no longer invited to the homes of certain friends they suspect any other cause than the real one.

Hostesses whose husbands and friends are much interested in political affairs are wise who check a political argument in its incipiency. If any one asks you when you are acting as hostess for a statement of opinion that might lead to unpleasant feeling you are justified in saying something like this: "Oh, I must tell you that we don't dare talk about that. We should never discuss anything else if we began." This may seem like drastic measures, but it is better than to have a party spoiled by an argument. And if an argument does spoil a party it is always the hostess who is blamed.

Don't try to invite your associates either in business or society into disputes. Don't fish for their opinions when they are quite likely to differ from yours. Especially avoid any discussion of religion that might prove to be a bone of contention; and don't air your own opinions in a way that is a challenge to any who may not agree with you.

It is a tendency of very young men, and of women who are no longer youthful, to regard their own point of view as interesting and important to others. But except to one's intimate friends and sometimes to one's family it is pretty sure to be boring. If you can add to the cleverness of a conversation or the amusement of others by giving your views, then express them, but be man or woman of the world enough not to wish to establish your views in the minds of others.

When you are troubled with diarrhoea, dysentery, colic cramps and pains in the stomach, cholera, cholera morbus, summer complaint, bloody fluxes, or any looseness of the bowels be sure and obtain a bottle of 'Dr. Fowler's" and see how quickly it gives you relief. This wonderful remedy has been on the market for the past 76 years and we wish to warn you against accepting a substitute which may be dangerous to your health.

Mr. Samuel Buckler, Tatamagouche, N. S., writes:—"While visiting in Western Canada I had a severe attack of diarrhoea. After trying many proprietary medicines I got no relief, but kept getting worse.

I was advised to take Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and I lost no time in doing so. I cannot hesitate in recommending it most highly, for when I had not yet taken half the bottle I was relieved. I must say that if "Dr. Fowler's" is given a fair trial it will show its good qualities."

For Marketers

Sweet corn for use next winter should be canned this week or next, preferably this. The markets are now heavily supplied with corn and prices are doubtless at the lowest point they will reach this season. When buying corn for canning housewives should take into consideration that the lowest priced corn is not always the best buy. The very choicest corn obtainable is none too good for this purpose. The ideal way is go into the field, pick the corn nicely in the milk and can it immediately. But the corn city consumers buy has been picked at least a day or two, hauled to the markets and left in a sack over night. Heat develops during that time and makes the corn tough. The next day the corn is sold either at stores or by peddlers and the kernels are continually drying out until used. Corn that has passed the milky stage or is stale is very difficult to sterilize. Therefore, consumers should examine the corn carefully before buying. If the kernels will not break easily under pressure of the thumb nail it quite likely is tough for canning purposes. Many housewives have scruples about sweet corn. Some want Yellow Bantam or none, others call for evergreen. Neither is always good.

Other vegetables that should be canned now are tomatoes, beets and pickles.

Three Years of Suffering Quickly Relieved by "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. GASPARD DUBORD

"For three years, I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and my general health was very bad. I consulted a physician and took his medicine and faithfully carried out his instructions; but I did not improve and finally the doctor told me I could not be cured.

At this time, a friend advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives' and I did so. After taking two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives', I was greatly relieved; and gradually this marvelous fruit medicine made me completely well.

My digestion and general health are splendid—all of which I owe to "Fruit-a-tives".

USE FOR LACE SCRAPS.

Save all lace scraps, and when you have a sufficient number, cut from paper a pattern of yoke the size and shape wanted, and sew the scraps together on the machine. By a little clever arranging these make very pretty yokes for nightgowns or camisoles. Or, one might use them for making scarf-ends, cushion-covers and other similar articles.

SAYS HE ACTED AS THIEF FOR POLICE

Man Under Arrest Involves New York Detectives.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 13.—Threats of New York policemen to kill him were revealed in a confession here by Milton Solomon, who claimed he acted as the "official automobile thief" for detectives.

Solomon, alias Charles Roberts, was arrested here with Ruth Lake, of Cumberland, Md., in connection with automobile thefts. He charged he was forced to leave New York City under threat of death, to prevent him testifying before a legislative committee investigating police affairs.

Solomon's alleged confession said he stole a number of automobiles in New York, took them to a secluded place and notified detectives, who divided the reward for finding the machines. He said he sold a stolen car to a police lieutenant for $200.

Police gave him a Federal officers' badge which was found in his possession, Solomon said. The badge was used to protect him from arrest outside of New York City, he said.

The alleged confession named Detectives Marty Myers and August Gillman in connection with the plot and detailed how a man named "Reiper" was victimized.

The new one million dollar live stock arena at the Canadian National Exhibition will have 8 1-2 acres under roof.

CRITICISM AND REMINISCENCE

(By PATERFAMILIAS)

THE PRICE OF MEAT.

In view of the recent controversy on the prices charged for meats in Peterborough, the writer draws attention to the below list of retail charges for the same grades of meats in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and this city. It offers interesting comparison, in which Peterborough cannot be said to compare unfavorably with its competitors named, for in many items the prices are less here than in all three of the cities quoted. The list before me, gathered at some trouble and dated July 27, reads—cents per pound in each case—as follows:

	Montreal.	Ottawa.	Peterboro.	Toronto.
Fresh Beef—
Sirloin roast (centre cut)	40	42½	35	38
Sirloin roast (second cut)	38	42	35	35
Wing	40	42	30	43
Rib (first cut)	30	30	25	35
Rib (second cut)	28	30	25	35
Rib (third cut)	25	26	23	35
Blade bone	20	25	20-22	14
Shoulder steak	22	24	25	15
Short rib	23	23	25	....
Rump roast	28	28	15-18	27
Sirloin steak	40	42	38	30
Pin bone steak	40	42	35	48-50
P. H. steak (under cut)	40	42	35	....
P. H. chops	40	42	35	....
Round steak	35	33	35	30
Brisket	12	15	12	12
Back cut	12	16	12-15	18
Shank (centre cut)	12	12½	12	8
Shank (whole)	6	7	8	....
Kidneys	30	18	12½	....
Ox tails, each	12½	12½	10	....
Sweetbreads, 1 lb.	85	35	25	....
Livers	12	12	10	....
Suet	15	15	15	....
Corned Beef—
Brisket	15	15	10	....
Rumps	28	28	15	....
Tongues	45	42	20	....
Lamb—
Legs	38	42	40	40
Loins	32	32	35	32
Shoulder chops	25	35	35	32
Loin chops	38	38	40	....
Livers	25	20	20	....
Veal—
Shoulder chops	25	33	35	28
Loin chops	30	38	38	36
Cutlets	50	44	42	45
Legs	30	30	30	35
Fillets	38	38	38	....
Rib chops	30	35	30	35

And so we see that taking one item of meats with another Peterborough has a balance in its favor, so far as prices are concerned in Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa and this city.

HONK! HONK! GET OUT OF THE WAY!

We hear so much of "safety first" these days in guidance of one's conduct on the street in motors and crossing the street afoot, answered by an appalling list of accidents in this Canada of ours day by day, that one is impelled to wonder whether our restrictive laws for motorists and pedestrians alike are sufficiently stringent and comprehensive. Man is inherently an obstinate being—and so is woman, too—whether in a car or out of one; and nothing seems to give them greater pleasure than to ignore all laws enacted—whether in their own interests or not—which restricts so-called individual freedom. That trait is, of course, inherited from our original parents who defied death itself rather than abstain from the only fruit forbidden them out of all their surrounding abundance. And so today, true to that inherent characteristic of wilful disobedience, the law advises pedestrians to cross a street at an intersection, in safety conservation, and that of all places is exactly where they do not cross in nine instances out of ten. Again, on the other hand, there are motorists, oh, so many, who, one would think, have but one object in life, and that is to exceed a speed limit and to impress on the minds of "inferior" pedestrians that they have no earthly rights on a street, toward which they, in common with all citizens contribute their quota of taxes. Both of these classes of "safety-first" delinquents need an object lesson in law-compliance, rigorously applied, for 'tis truly phenomenal that the daily casualty list is not of greater dimension than that with which we are inflicted.

There is a law of the ocean which gives the right-of-way to the weaker vessel. In other words, a sailship, being dependent on Nature for its motive power, has precedence in her course to a steamer which is controlled by human agency. Were it not for that regulation strictly enforced and observed sea disasters would happen in greater number than recorded. The same principle might well be applied to street traffic in that the weaker traveller shall have the right-of-way under circumstances which call for judgment and action to avert accident. The outstanding idea I wish to convey is that if street intersections are to be designated as crossings for pedestrians, then let the law enforce their recognition as such, and at those points, if at none other, see to it that the motorist who has not sufficient control of his machine to give foot passengers the right-of-way, if necessary, is fittingly penalized. There are far too many car drivers who imagine that they are plutocrats of the streets against whom none may prevail. Honk! honk! Get out of the way who can, or abide the shock, seems to be their road "rule of three." Of course; there are other motorists—courteous, considerate, careful, reasonable—but, unfortunately, all too few.

"FULTON'S FOLLY."

Let a man invent a mechanical appliance or explosive for destroying humanity and sending hundreds of thousands of souls into Kingdom Come, and he is landed to the skies as a genius and the saviour of his country; but let a man produce an invention to save labor and subsequently increase trade, to confer untold benefits upon his race, commercially, industrially, socially, and he is immediately dubbed an impossible dreaming enthusiast, with an innovation of the devil's for man's woe in this wicked world of ours. At least, past experience teaches us that such has invariably been the case; there may have been some exceptions, but few. The average man is skeptical of innovations to him wonderful and beyond his own mental ken. George Stephenson was in England accounted crazy and his Puffing Billy of a steam engine met with caustic criticism and vigorous opposition. And Edison fared little better at the inception of his now indispensable electrical inventions.

These thoughts carry my mind back to the year 1807, when that remarkable genius, Robert Fulton, of New York, was both acclaimed a superman and a fool in the period of one short month because of his inventions. With his crude torpedo, forerunner of the modern torpedo, for national defence and human and material extermination, the Americans pronounced him a living wonder; but on introducing the world's first steamboat he was scoffed at as a fool for his pains. Fulton's story reads thus:

The Torpedo.

On July 20, 1807, in pursance of the experiments which the American Government had authorized him to make, Fulton blew up the hulk of a large brig in New York harbor. But, as the torpedo locks missed fire several times and the explosion did not occur until several hours after the time announced, the experiment did not create a favorable impression on the Government, although the principle for destruction was welcome and popularized its inventor. This torpedo was a copper case a couple of feet long, charged with a hundred pounds of gunpowder to be exploded by clockwork.

Previously, Fulton had attempted to blow up some British cruisers outside Brest for Napoleon, but failed. Later, recommended by the English Earl of Stanhope, inventor of the Stanhope printing press, Fulton was called to England by Lord Sidmouth, and a naval commission appointed to examine his floating mines and torpedoes. On October 15 his attempt to blow up the hulk of a Danish brig in Walmar Roads proved a complete success, but his attack on some French gun brigs in Bologne Roads failed.

First Steamboat.

Fulton then returned to America, where he perfected his model of a steamboat he had exhibited to members of the French Academy on the River Seine. In Paris, Chancellor Livingston, of New York, interested himself in Fulton's steamboat, entered partnership with its inventor, and got a bill passed through New York State Legislature granting to Livingston and Fulton the exclusive right of navigating steam vessels in New York waters. For a long time this bill was the subject of ridicule among the legislators at Albany, but a steamboat was built, its engine being furnished by Watt and Bolton of Birmingham, England, who five years previously had constructed the first locomotive in the Old Country.

In August, 1807, Fultons' steamboat was finished, and steamed out of the shipyard of Charles Brown, New York, into the East River. She was christened the "Clermont," but the doubting public called her "Fulton's Folly." This first steam vessel was schooner-rigged, of 160 tons capacity, had a cylinder measuring 24 inches in diameter with a four-foot stroke, and her paddle-wheels revolved amidship with no box or covering. She burned dry pine, and her funnel belched thick, black smoke, with flames and sparks leaping high into the air. This gave her an alarming aspect and terrorized the superstitious watermen of New York harbor.

Maiden Trip.

The "Clermont" made her maiden trip up the Hudson River to near Albany on August 11, a voyage of a 110 miles, accomplished in twenty-four hours without mishap. On leaving New York there were not thirty persons in that city who believed she would ever move a mile an hour, and the atmosphere was filled with sarcasms at "Fulton's Folly"—to use the inventor's own words, "this is the way ignorant men compliment what they call philosophers and projectors, but I feel infinite pleasure in reflecting on the immense advantages my country will derive from this invention."

Steam Ferries.

However, soon this boat was running regular trips from New York to Albany, although 'tis said, river men hated her, and several attempts were made to sink the "Clermont." But the State Legislature passed an act that all combinations to destroy or wilful attempts to damage her were public offences, punishable by fine and imprisonment. Next the courts were asked to grant an injunction to restrain Fulton from using his machine on the Hudson, but Fulton defeated that movement with the aid of Daniel Webster as pleader. Other steamboats were soon built by Livingston and Fulton, and finally Fulton furnished New York with steam ferries.

GRASSHOPPER CAMPAIGN BROUGHT TO STANDSTILL

REGINA, Sask., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press). —. The campaign against grasshoppers conducted in the Province for the third successive year by the Field Crops Branch of the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture, is now over, as such a large percentage of the "hoppers" is now on the wing and scattered through the growing crops that it makes it impossible to continue poisoning with any degree of success. Comparatively little damage to the crops was caused this year except in some of the northern areas affected, although grasshoppers were more numerous than ever. The multitude of adult "hoppers" in evidence in all areas where the pest gave trouble this year and over a wide stretch of country adjoining all such areas, would seem to threaten another battle next year over a still wider area as the parasitic enemies of the "hopper" do not seem to be multiplying rapidly enough to afford much hope of relief from this source.

The total quantity of material used in the Province this year in manufacturing poison bait was very large, the total of the various ingredients purchased by the Department of Agriculture being as follows: Bran, 3,024 tons; sawdust, 100 carloads; arsenic, 361,233 pounds; paris green, 10,100 pounds; molasses, 92,360 gallons; salt, 895 barrels, and amylacetate, 998 gallons.

Read the Advertisements

THE publishers of this paper draw your attention to the advertising columns, and particularly to the advertisements of the local merchants.

These merchants have invested their money in goods to satisfy the needs and desires of us all.

Their enterprise is a distinct service to our community. For this reason we should buy them to the best of our ability and in so far as our needs and judgment of value dictates.

Then, too, the general commodities advertised in our columns are worthy of consideration. It is desirable that readers should ask merchants to supply advertised goods wherever possible. By doing so the cycle of trade is kept alive and inter-community commerce stimulated. We repeat—read the advertisements.

BORDER RUM-RUNNING

Not a half a mile from Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin's home is Queen's Wharf from which The Examiner saw at least 30,000 bottles of real beer loaded from trucks and from the dock into launches on Thursday and Friday afternoon. They were in cartons of a dozen bottles. A couple of dozen curious loungers cracked jokes while they watched the busy scene. Gordon Pillon, chief of Police of Sandwich, who took over the reins from the veteran Alois Master soon after the charges of the fighting parson of Sandwich were made last year, stated that Magistrate Gundy's decision was final for him and no police were on the scene. Within an hour 30 kegs were unloaded from trucks and transhipped into a notorious cruising launch in which the bullet holes of a river battle last fall with the Spracklin squad were easily recognizable. The boat shipped down the river in the direction of Toledo, where its owners resided last summer and fall, some of the smaller launches were pointed down the river on an angle that would bring them to the River Rouge and the back yards of Ecorse, where the houses overhang the river and loads disappear, mysteriously behind the closed doors of these garages, appropriately termed "wet" in more ways than one.

From the front upstairs window of Mr. Spracklin's home each launch would have been plainly visible as it passed down the river, loaded to the gunwales with cartons of nine and twelve per cent, but no one answered the door bell, the parlor blinds were down and a deserted depressing atmosphere seemed to surround the place. Through one of the famous bullet holes in the upper squares of the top sash a wooden plug could be seen.

'Mr. Spracklin is in Montreal" a small boy volunteered "in an asylum He thought with awe in his voice. As a matter of fact, the minister about that time, was speeding home along some road in the middle western States, in the everlasting Ford returning from a holiday tour as far as San Francisco. On his arrival Saturday, unless he still keeps the front blinds down or the American officials have obtained some speed boat patrols, he cannot fail to hear and see the truck loads of the revived traffic rattling along Sandwich street, past the front door of the parsonage and the fatal scene of the shooting at the Trumble house.

The unexpectedness of the decision of Magistrate Gundy found the federal agents in the Detroit district very much as a nation, disarmed with all its implements for war on the scrap heap, and it was this very inanity of the federal prohibition officers of which the rum runners are taking advantage when they are rushing their shipments now in broad dayight. Only three federal officers are now in this part of Michigan, and they have disbanded the police boat, hoping that the liquor traffic would die a natural death, with the enforcement of prohibition in Ontario. What will result from the hurried conference participated in yesterday and to-day by A. O. Graham, federal prohibition director for Michigan, and James W. Jordan, local federal prohibition officer remains a matter of speculation and expectation, but the rum runners at Rouge and Ecorse laughed confidently, declaring that their police organization has never been out of commission and that they will not be caught napping again as they were before the spectacular raid on Rouge by the Chicago "clean-up" squad in November last, when huge stores and more than fifty men and women were marched into Detroit to jail.

HOPPER CAMPAIGN NOW OVER IN WEST.

Prairie Farmers Threatened With Still More Severe Fight.

REGINA, August 13. — The campaign against the grasshoppers conducted in the province for the third successive year by the Field Crops Branch of the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture, is now over as such a large percentage of the hoppers is now on the wing and scattered through the growing crops that it makes it impossible to continue poisoning with any degree of success.

Comparatively little damage to the crops was caused this year except in some of the northern areas affected, although the grass hoppers were more numerous than ever.

The multitude of adult hoppers in evidence in all areas where the pest gave trouble this year, and over a wide stretch of country adjoining all such areas, would seem to threaten another battle next year over a still wider area as the parasitic enemies of the hopper do not seem to be multiplying rapidly enough to afford much hope of relief from this source.

The total quantity of material used in the province this year in manufacturing the poison bait, was very large, the total of the various ingredients purchased by the Department of Agriculture, being as follows:

Bran, 3024 tons; sawdust, 100 car loads, arsenic, 361,233 pounds; Paris green, 10,100 pounds; molasses, 92,360 gallons; salt, 895 barrels, and amyl acetate, 998 gallons.

SMALL YIELD IN THE PEA CROP

Mr. C. M. Squier, of Lindsay, reports that the yield of peas will be small this year, and will probably average ten bushels to the acre. The decrease in yield is in keeping with the decrease inother crops.

BRITISH TRADE CIRCLES ARE OPTIMISTIC; DEPRESSION GENERAL OVER REST OF EUROPE

SETTLEMENT OF INDUSTRIAL TROUBLES BRINGS REVIVAL IN HITHERTO DORMANT LINES IN BRITAIN—FRENCH EFFORTS AT INDUSTRIAL REHABILITATION CHECKED BY DEPRESSION.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Optimism was the general keynote of British industry during July, while the business crisis persisted in France with scarcely any indication of improvement, according to a summary of conditions in Western Europe and South Africa compiled by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce from reports of U. S. trade representatives.

Drought in both France and Great Britain was reported to be causing serious concern with the expectation of inferior crops, although the wheat prospects in those countries was considered good, presaging smaller imports of grain.

Restoration of confidence, bringing a revival of trade in heretofore domant lines in Great Britain, the U. S. Trade Commissioner at London declared, has resulted from the settlement of aggravated industrial troubles. Indications, he added, are that there will be industrial peace for some time.

It is realized throughout Great Britain, he asserted, that a thorough revival of business is dependent upon cheaper coal, which is looked for under the settlement of the recent strike, and an economic improvement in Great Britain's European markets. Growing popularity of the international plans for export credits, Mr. Page said, has created a prevailing optimism as regards foreign trade. The general financial situation in Britain is sound, he stated.

Activities of the French Government aimed at industrial rehabilitation have not been checked by business depression in that country, Trade Commissioner Butler at Paris reported. Liquidation of the Government merchant marine, which has shown a deficit of nearly two billion francs, has been approved, he said. Manufacturers in the devastated regions, it was reported, intend to issue a reconstruction loan of 250,000,000 francs. New forms of taxation are being considered. Mr. Butler said, as the tax yield in 1922 is expected to be about three billion francs less than expenditures.

Trade Commissioner Klath at Copenhagen reported foreign trade of the Scandinavian countries during July was marked by a decline in both exports and imports. Imports from the United States, he said, were ower than in previous months. Several Swedish steamships are to be taken over by German operators, he noted, while the number of German salesmen in Scandinavia appears to be increasing. Trade Commissioner Stevenson at Johannesburg cabled that a general increased depression in domestic trade was noticeable in South Africa and that there had been considerable reduction in both exports and imports.

Hints to Housewives

Disinfect all cesspools with copperas.

Boil rice in plenty of water until the grains swell open.

The best way in which to use the cheaper cuts of meat is en casserole.

For making hot or iced chocolate, keep a chocolate syrup on hand.

Large boiled beets hollowed and filled with macedoine of carrots make an attractive dish.

When the apples with which you are going to make sauce are tasteless, add some chopped mint.

Buttonholes will wear three times as long if a piece of wide tape is inserted between goods, a hole cut through, then "buttonholed."

A new milk bottle cleaning brush is mounted on a spring forked handle which keeps the bristles pressed against the glass after it has been inserted.

Tack thin pieces of cork on the part of the door frame where the screen door strikes. This will effectually silence the slam, if the head of the tack is driven into the cork so that the screen can not strike on it.

EXAMINATIONS.

Now, Friend Reader, I want to ask you as man to man what has been the most irritating experience in your past life—woolen unders or the mother-in-law? Neither? Then you're normal. It must have been examinations. Who of us has not endured the pain and sorrow of them!

You imagined graduation would eliminate them. For some of us it did. Surely age would quench their thirst for our soul's blood, the sweat of our brow, and other beverages so popular with the exam. demon. But even if life and age failed to protect a man from the ravages of pencil-palsey surely, surely, War would.

But it doesn't—

For the bright young man that enlists in the Navy, or will, or did, soon meets an examination board. Not just to enter, but to go up. And if he is on the job he meets another, and then another.

Suppose he is an appren[illegible]eaman or seaman second class. [illegible] a few months his work sho[illegible] him deserving of first class. [illegible]n some extra experience in bo[illegible]nd a small natural aptitude for making others obey h'm he will pass to coxwain, to boatswain's mate second and first class. And so on, right up to the topmost notch. Admiral Vreeland, recently retired, began as an apprentice boy.

No fewer than three officers constitute the examination board. For the lower grades an oral quizz is sufficient to show the candidates' fitness. A naturally acquired craftiness, glibness, shrewdness, and tact makes petty officers more difficult to examine. Also it is proper that their test should be stiffer because they are competing for a higher reward.

Chief petty officers and warrant officers undergo a first-class bombardment from older men of high rank well prepared to squeeze the juice from the ripest of them. Woe betide the applicant who develops a vacuum where professional dope should die.

There are about fifty subjects to be covered aboard ship. The average man is required to know from 15 to 30 of them. Irrespective of rating and branch all must pass in the first 13. These include such general knowledge as rules of discipline, military law as might apply to courts-martial, general characteristics of American battleships, Naval regulations and routine.

A certain amount of special training is necessary before any man can advance. This comprises first aid to the injured, treatment of drowned persons, and swimming. One old salt gave it as his opinion that "none o' these mere whelps should be passed as can't roll a skag with one hand and tie a mattie walker with the other, whilst boxin' the compass backwards!" He wasn't so far wrong, either.

After his first promotion a man begins to specialize. Deck hands take guns and gears. Electricians cover the whole ship's equipment from dynamos to searchlights. A few who have had telegraphic experience are able to start in radio from the first. An engineer may pass through all the steps of coaling, firing, and feeding the boilers. Or he might take more readily to the engines and spend his early days in the crank pits and over the pump valves. But in the end he is a qualified engineer and graduates to higher grades until he is available as chief on some of the smaller ships.

Special trades such as carpenters, cooks, blacksmiths, machinists, bakers, pharmacists, and the like are by no means exempt. I know of a baker who finally passed on the strength of a pie concocted for the special delectation of the board. As most of them were junior officers they were well qualified to judge that part of the results. Paymasters and Surgeons examine men coming under their line of work. Buglers and musicians are examined by the bandmaster as well as by the regularly appointed board.

Nor do the officers escape. Every half stripe on a sleeve testifies to a full gruelling examination in all professional subjects, health not excepted.

Do you suppose there are examinations in Heaven?

FRESH-AIR CAMP AT PORT GRANBY.

Forty-five Mothers and Children Can Be Cared For.

Miss Hattie Emery, who is in charge of the Social Service Department of the Church of England Deaconesses and Missionary Training House, Toronto, felt a great need of a Fresh Air Camp for the Mothers and Children of the Anglican church in Toronto (among whom the students work) who could not without aid, have a holiday from the heat of the city.

The result was a discussion with the other members of this department. Three years ago a Fresh Air Camp was opened at Port Granby. Port Granby is a small village on the lake front, 8 miles west of Port Hope.

The commencement was made with two tents. This year the camp has four tents and a pretty little cottage. Forty five mothers and children can be accommodated at one time.

The camp this year is under the supervision of Miss Mabel Jones, a graduate of the Deaconess Home. She is assisted by one of the student deaconesses, Miss Muriel Jackson.

The two groups of Canadian girls in training, who meet at the Deaconesses' House, spent a pleasant two weeks in camp this summer. Games hikes and paper chases, and picnics were the order of the day, while tennis was played vigorously and enthusiastically despite the severe heat. Many of the girls learned to swim and spent much time at this sport.

At night they told weird stories, while popping corn or toasting marsh mallows beside huge bonfires on the beach.

On Sunday a service is held in the village school house. It is conducted by either Miss Jones or Miss Jackson, and is usually attended by the villagers.

MILADY NOW MAKES PURCHASES BY PLANE

The era is fast approaching when milady of the hinterlands will be hatted, frocked and shoed as smartly as her sister residing in the heart of Fashion's fort, according to the latest news from London.

No sooner had the airplane fulfilled its mission as an emissary of war than London's smart society women turned the inventor's brains to serve their whims and now are using planes for shopping trips to Paris.

"I must have some of that delightful lingerie showing in the boulevard des Capucines," says the society woman to her maid, when taking her morning tea in bed; and an hour later she is winging her way to Paris in an airplane.

She is in time for lunch at the Ritz, can then do two hours' shopping in the rue de la Paix neighborhood, and, following afternoon tea, can catch a special air-taxi back to London.

From one day's evening air express from Paris eight women and only one man descended. Each of the women had a parcel of clothes with her. The journey adds $50 to the cost of the purchases.

JOB OF HAIRDRESSER IS DULL IN SOMALILAND

In Somali there is no need of a young woman having a permanent wave put in her hair, nor bobbing it, for in that far-off land every girl dresses her hair in precisely the same way as every other girl. The hair is allowed to grow until it is of the desired length. Then it is parted in the middle and kept combed out. When it becomes sufficiently long for plaiting, which, by the way, is an exceedingly arduous task, it requires the assistance of a girl friend or relative to "do" it. It is plaited in small strands close together all around her head, and the end of each braid is allowed to go unplaited, imitating a woolly mop.

But this style of hairdressing is of short duration in the life of a Somali maiden. For as soon as she marries, her hair is enveloped in a veil or bag made of thick gaze—usually dark blue or black in color—and there it is kept hidden for the rest of her life.

A. H. WEBB WILL REPRESENT PETERBORO AT SUPREME HIGH COURT MEETING.

The concluding session of the High Court of Eastern Ontario Independent Order of Foresters, was held yesterday afternoon. The installation of officers took place, and the officials were invested with the insignia of their office.

The newly appointed High Chief Ranger, R. S. Graham, of Kingston, was duly installed in the chair, and made a brief address on the occasion which he considered "the proudest moment of my life." Mr. Graham has been a member of the Order for 32 years. He stressed the need of harmony and unity of thought and action in the affairs of the Order.

A glowing tribute was paid to the work of the retiring High Chief Ranger, J. S. Eagleson of Ottawa, who replied in fitting terms.

The convention passed a hearty vote of thanks to the local committee and the press for their kind co-operation, which was responded to by Mr. A. H. Webb.

It was decided to hold the next session of the High Court at Smith's Falls, the date to be decided upon later. Mr. Arthur C. Bleakney, of Ottawa, a veteran member of the Order, whose 68th birthday, occurs to-day, was presented at this meeting with a handsome pipe by the members of the Ottawa delegation.

SASKATCHEWAN BARBERS AVERAGE 114,320 STROKES OF RAZOR EVERY YEAR

SASKATOON, Sask., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—In the course of a year, Saskatoon barbers average 114,320 strokes with the razor. This calculation is based on an average of two customers per hour, in an eight-hour day and a six-day week for 12 months of the year.

A good barber will shave a customer in from 15 to 18 strokes. Saskatoon barbers assert, although occasional customers, with tough beards, will make him wield the blade as high as 25 strokes.

FOREST FIRES "KILL" FARMS FOR YEARS

Crops Destroyed in All Sections of Delta County.

ESCANABA, Mich., Aug. 13.—Forest fires that have been burning in different sections of Delta County were checked but little by the heavy rain which fell last night. From all sections comes reports of farms being burned and crops destroyed. There is hardly a section anywhere that is not fighting flames today.

A dozen or more barns have been burned, many of them containing the winter supply of hay. Half a dozen farm houses have been burned but the greatest loss is to the crops, including many orchards. Much farm land has been burned over and will be unfit for use for many years.

From this city north to nearly the Marquette County line fires are burning on both sides of the road at intervals of from a half to a mile apart. Escanaba has not been in danger at any time. It is estimated today that there are at least 50 fires in different parts of the county.

GERMAN BUYERS MAY ENTER U. S. FUR MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Chiefly because of the increased purchasing power of both domestic and foreign buyers, particularly the German fur dealers now that the establishment of dollar credits in that country makes it possible for them to do business in the United States. An active demand is anticipated for the offerings at the annual fall sale of the New York Fur Auction Sales Corporation. The sale will be held in the Masonic Temple here, beginning on September 19. Generally satisfactory prices are also predicted in view of the scarcity of many kinds of pelts in primary markets. Executives of the corporation announce that the last day for receiving furs for the coming sale will be August 27.

GERMAN AGENT TO TRAVEL THIRD-CLASS.

Man Who Tried to Blow Up Bridge Still Contends He Is the Kaiser's Son.

MONTREAL, Aug. 13.—Proud of his record as a German agent in Canada and still firmly convinced of his royal parentage, Werner Horne, the German who has just completed a six year term in Dorchester penitentiary in connection with his attempt to blow up the International Bridge at Vanceboro in 1915, was deported on board the S. S. "Poland," in company with Dr. Paul Berg, a German addicted to drugs and Teo. Kuzmi, an alien with a conviction for murder against him.

Before leaving, Horne handed to the reporters the following letter:

"Gentlemen: In reply to your article of August 8, 1921, in your evening paper, I give you the following information:

"I was educated under the name of Werner M. Johannes Albert Horn, born the 28th of October, 1897, at Stettin, Germany. I was here sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment for an act of war on behalf of my country with consent of the German General staff.

"I was a German officer, not punishable in the criminal court, but amenable to the laws of nations and responsible only to my own fatherland. I recovered the order "Pour le Merite" Munster-Wortenblatt the 15 April, 1915. For this I don't ask any pardon, but that fingerprints and pictures be destroyed.

"In reality, is my right birthday and birthplace, 20 of August, 1878. Schloss Sansouci, Potsdam, Germany. Father, His Majesty, the late Emperor Frederic, King of Prussia. Mother, Her Majesty, the Empress Frederic, born Princess of Great Britain and Ireland.

"In my fatherland is or will my name be changed in: Graf Ruprecht von Hohenzollern, or Graf Ruprecht von Mecklenburg, which is only the busiess from my fatherland.

"It is naturally very difficult for me, then I am only informed through conversations of prisoners.

"Apparently had not my lawyers in U.S.A. Messrs O'Connell, Boston, other occasion to inform me, then all my letters were partially stolen, partially falsified.

Very truly yours.
(s) Major Werner Horn."

Good-bye Home.

Horne arrived in Montreal during the week end in charge of Immigration Agent Colter and was detained pending the departure of the steamer on which he is being returned to Germany in a room at the immigration building on St. Antoine street. This morning he was taken down to the harbor and delivered to the captain of the Poland, who will be responsible for him until he leaves the vessel in Hamburg. Despite the fact of his elevated rank Captain Horne will have to be content with third class accommodation on his voyage to Germany, as the Poland is an all-third class ship, and no special provision has been made for his comfort.

Not Confined.

Although reported by the immigration authorities to be an imbecile Horne behaved rationally when taken aboard the Poland, and unless circumstances warrant it he will not be placed under confinement aboard the ship. He was conducted on board by Chief Byrne, of the Immigration Department, and Assistant Callaghan.

B. C. PREMIER HAS ALMOST "GROWN UP" WITH HIS PROVINCE

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—On July 20 British Columbia celebrated her fiftieth anniversary as a part of the Dominion of Canada. The intervening years have witnessed the rule of twelve lieutenant-governors and nineteen premiers, running from J. F. McCreight, Q.C., to John Oliver.

At the time of the confederation of British Columbia with the Dominion the present premier was living with his parents in Grey County, Ontario, but six years later he came West to homestead in British Columbia, so that his residence here has been almost contemporaneous with the history of the Province since confederation.

"When I came to the Province in the spring of 1877," said Premier John Oliver, "Victoria was a small town, as was also New Westminster, which was familiarly referred to as 'Stumptown,' while Vancouver was non-existent. Steamer communication between Victoria and the mainland at New Westminster was semi-weekly when the Fraser River was open. Mails were carried from New Westminster to Moodyville by stage and ferry. Communication with the interior was by stage or pack train. There was a steamer between Victoria and San Francisco tri-monthly and not a kile of standard gauge railway in the Province.

"Compared with present-day conditions the changes which have taken place are marvellous, and no doubt the progress of the past is only an earnest of that which is to come. With their illimitable resource- the united Provinces of Canada will no doubt attain a greatness which would without union have been an impossibility."

No child is born short-sighted, but the tendency may be inherited.

ENGINEERS ON INSPECTION TRIP

FIRST STOP WILL BE THE FILTRATION PLANT.

Typically engineering is the picnic the Peterboro branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, have "engineered" for this afternoon.

Pleasure and business have been agreeably combined, in brief the picnic consists of inspections of the filtration plant being constructed by the city above the present waterworks, and the government dams under construction at Nassau and Lakefield, by practically all the members and associate members of the branch, with their friends and wives, followed by sports at Lakefield and dinner at the Lakefield Hotel. It is a savoury programme, and it is expected that at least there will be 30 or 40 automobile loads of "picnicers."

The inspection of the filtration plant, the first stop en route, will take place at 3 p.m. Many of the profession have had no opportunity to inspect these engineering works that lie so close to the city, along ten miles of river, and to-day's picnic aside entirely from it promising to be a pleasurable affair, will allow them to examine the works, and opinions and criticisms can be exchanged freely with no dire results.

KIDNEY TROUBLE

Is quite common, gradually becoming more severe, and if prompt action is not taken, serious results will follow. The symptoms are headache and pain in the back, sleeplessness, ashen complexion, white coated tongue and frequent urination. If a puffy swelling is noted in the feet or ankles the disease is well established and you must give the kidneys all the help possible by stirring the liver and bowels into action. Take Henderson's Herb Tablets every night according to directions, watch the digestion carefully, drink plenty of cold water between meals.

Mrs. T. Bevington, 303 Wilton ave., Toronto, Ont., says:

"I wish to express my gratitude for the great benefit I have received through Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment. I suffered for a number of years with kidney and liver trouble and at times could scarcely do my work with the pain in my back, and cramps in my muscles. I am now 67 years of age and after using one box of Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment I feel like a new person.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment can be purchased at Warne's Drug Store. Price 25c., 50c. and $1.00.

There are dozens of preparations recommended to destroy bed bugs. But the preparation that gives the best results is Post's Bed Bug Poison, and one or two applications will soon wipe out the pest. It is composed of Corrosive Sublimate, methyl-hydrate, and carbolic zacid and as it is very poisonous it should be kept out of the reach of children.

Chalmers Unequalled Motor Car Investment

The Chalmers is a motor car investment of unequalled value. Primarily, because it is a fine, rich car at a reasonable price. But also because upkeep charges are low.

The Chalmers needs little shop work and attention. That means that replacement and repair costs are held to a minimum.

This is of vast importance in determining motor car value and has cemented the loyalty of Chalmers owners.

Chalmers Motor Wonderful

It is largely due to the wonderful Chalmers motor that upkeep costs are held down. By heating the fuel with the hot-spot, Chalmers engineers have measurably improved motor performance.

More power is secured from less gasoline. The motor warms up more quickly, and accelerates faster, and runs more smoothly. But little carbon forms, as the combustion is very much better. Thus the Chalmers runs over longer periods without overhauling.

Chalmers Is Beautiful

But it is not its fine performance alone that makes Chalmers owners so enthusiastic. The Chalmers is also a beautiful car, with fine appointments; and a comfortable car.

We would appreciate an opportunity to demonstrate to you in actual performance the details of Chalmers superiority.

THE CHAUTAUQUA HAD A BIG DEFICIT.

Guarantors Asked to Put Up Over a Thousand Dollars.

"The Dominion Chautauqua Company is calling on the local guarantors to make up a shortage of $1,098 in connection with the recent Chautauqua here. In 1920, forty guarantors signed a guarantee to sell 550 season tickets at $2.75 each, or a total of $1,375. They also undertook to provide grounds, pay for carting, local advertising, and other local expenses out of their share of the proceeds. As a matter of fact, the total receipts applicable on the guarantee were only a little over $400, the Chautauqua being entitled to the greater part of the proceeds of the rush sale of tickets. The company claims that it cost them $2,000 to put on the week's programme of entertainments.

"The guarantors, however, have their side of the case. The original contract contained a clause that it was not to become effective unless signed by fifty guarantors. As a matter of fact, only forty signatures were obtained. There were also a notation that individual liability was not to exceed $10. When it came to make arrangements for the Chautauqua this year, some of the guarantors frankly said they would rather pay the $10 than be bothered with committee work and the sale of tickets. They said this was the understanding on which they had signed. Others took the ground that since fifty signatures had not been obtained, they were not liable at all. It was found impossible to organize a local committee. Those who were willing to help were restrained from doing so by the fact that if they incurred any expenditures they would become personally responsible and would add to their outlay in what was evidently a losing game. Consequently, while several of the guarantors gave the Chautauqua a friendly hand, no local arrangements were made whatever, and the whole affair had to be run by the headquarters. As a result this year's Chautauqua was a flat failure in the matter of attendance and receipts. A letter has been received this week from the Dominion Chautauqua asking the guarantors to make up the shortage of $1,098. They take the ground that, except where guarantors specifically restricted their liability to $10, they are liable for the whole deficit, which means that each of them would be called upon for about $30."

CHOLERA INFANTUM

Cholera infantum is one of the fatal ailments of childhood. It is a trouble that comes on suddenly, especially during the summer months, and unless prompt action is taken the little one may soon be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets are an ideal medicine in warding off this trouble. They regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus prevent all the dreaded summer complaints. Concerning them Mrs. Fred Rose, of South Bay, Ont., says: "I feel Baby's Own Tablets saved the life of our baby when she had cholera infantum and I would not be without them."

The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CANADIAN WOOLENS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION TO HOLD FIELD DAY AT THE EXHIBITION PARK

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 10TH, THE DATE OF ENTERPRISING ATHLETIC EVENT UNDER AUSPICES OF YOUNG SPORTING ORGANIZATION—HAVE AMBITIOUS PROGRAMME MAPPED OUT.

After a successful summer of foot ball in which they came within an ace of winning the city championship, the Canadian Woollens Athletic Association are preparing for fall and winter sports and are outlining a general programme of material development that is calculated to have permanent effects.

The most important event upon which several committees are working is a field day of sports to be held at the Exhibition Park on Saturday September 10. There will be a complete list of races from sprints to the longer runs, in brief from the 100 yards dash to a three mile race. Some of the contests will be exclusively for the members of the Association and employees of Canadian Woollen Limited. Others will be thrown open to the public and it is expected that this meet will bring out the best athletic talent in the district. There will be a tug o'war match and novelty races, and during the afternoon the G.W.V.A. band will give a concert. This is the tentative plan in its present stage. The Park has been secured for the occasion, the several committees are working faithfully; the Canadian Woollens Company have shown their approval of the idea and there is every prospect that this enterprise will receive the co-operation of the general public. Further details will be announced as the date of the field day approaches.

Improving Grounds.

The Canadian Woollens Athletic Association in the meantime have other irons in the fire. On the company's property at the corner of McDonnel street and Monaghan Road some $500 has already been spent in preparing for an athletic field a desirable area which the management has placed at the disposal of the Association. The main intention is to build up a football Woollen's team every facility for pitch that will give the Canadian practice. At the present time one of the wooden buildings at the Auburn mill is being dismantled and will be removed to the McDonnel street plant where the material will be used for a pavilion or dressing quarters for soccer players, with accommodation both for the home and visiting teams. It may be that this building will be used in connection with a proposed skating rink during he coming winter. The opening of a rink will depend upon the Association's finances. At present it is more than a possibility that the project will be carried into effect.

Tennis Courts Too.

The preparation of bowling greens and tennis courts on the grounds at both the McDonnel street and Auburn Mills is down on the Association's books for completion before the snow flies in order that the ground will be ready for use next spring. Such in the main are the plans in contemplation. Some of them are now under way or about to be launched. This is particularly true of the Field Day to which the Association's committees are giving faithful attention. They feel confident that it will be successful not only in attracting attention to its own work but also in encouraging the members themselves to take an active part in sports. "More men—perhaps girls too—into the game and fewer on the sidelines and in the grandstand" is one of the mottoes of the optimists who are promoting Canadian Woollens sporting affairs. Many of them are Old Countrymen, who are keen for outdoor games and athletics. They have met with encouraging results so far. The football team proved worthy representatives, and as the Association broadens out it should take an even more prominent part in Peterboros' sporting affairs, at the same time providing recreation and physical advantages for its members.

BASEBALL

SPEAKER'S PITCHING PROBLEM.

Tris Speaker is having his troubles with the pitching staff that carried his Indians to a penant and a world's championship last season, with the result that many close followers of the world's champions are beginning to lose faith in the ability of the club to repeat. Coveleskie has a bad day now and then, but there is little fault to be found with his work. If the other Indian boxmen had as many good days as does Covey the club would be well out in front, but he hardly can carry so much of the pitching burden.

Bagby, who led both major leagues in a number of victories last season when he was credited with 31 triumphs, has been able to do little better than break even this year. Duster Mails, who made a sensational finish when the Indians required just such pitching to keep them in front last fall, has a winning percentage under the .600 mark and he is now on the casualty list, taking a treatment for wrenched muscles. How long the injury will affect his pitching is a mystery. Ray Caldwell is not enjoying the success that marked his efforts last year and Morton's occasional appearance in the box leads to the belief that he still is far from the form that marked his early years with the club. Uhle has been successful against some clubs, but he hardly can be classed as a consistent winner. Coveleskie, as mentioned above, has been doing his part well, but no other member of the club has been piling up victories at the rate a good pitcher might expect while performing for a world's championship aggregation. Sothoron has been of some aid, but his real value to the club is as yet undetermined.

The Indians have been hitting well, harder than any other major league club, and this stick work has offset some of the poor pitching. While playing four games more than the Yankees, the Indians have scored something like seventy runs more than the Hugmen, yet they are in second place. This in itself tells a tale of defensive weakness which is mainly confined to the pitching. If Speaker is able to lead his team into another world's series, the performance will be more meritorious than was the victory in 1920.

Another pronounced failure of the world's champions this season has been their inability to outplay the Eastern clubs. In the two home stands of the Indians against the Eastern invaders the showing of Speaker's men has been far below the expected standard, and neither of Cleveland's trips into this section of the league has been attended with anything like success. Now and then the Indians win a series from an Eastern club, only to have another one from the Eastern group offset the advantage by evening the score. Up to yesterday Speaker's club had won twenty-nine games and lost twenty-seven to the group made up of New York, Washington, Boston and Philadelphia. Against Western clubs the Indians won something like thirty-three games and lost only 12.

"HIP ROUTE" TABOO IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—It is not unlawful for a man buying liquor from the Government, under the new Moderation Act, to put a portion of it in a small container for the sake of convenience if he should wish to take a little refreshment on an outing, according to a ruling in local Police Court.

The decision is considered of great interest to many persons who have wondered what status a man with a "mickey" on his hip would have under the new act, which stipulates that all liquor must have the Government's official seal, and the decision opens up a wide range of possibilities as to the Government's ability to trace liquor that was originally sold under the act properly sealed and transferred to smaller containers for the owner's convenience.

In his ruling, the magistrate remarked that if a man bought a demijohn full of liquor from the Government it could hardly be expected that he would pack the container wherever the owner wished to take some liquor.

TRANS-CANADA INTRODUCE NEW POLICY IN THE PETERBORO GRAND OPERA HOUSE

PERMANENT STOCK COMPANY FOR SEASON—LOW PRICES TO PREVAIL—"THREE LIVE GHOSTS" HERE AUGUST 23RD.

W. L. Phillips, manager of the Grand Opera House, has returned to the city from Montreal, where he attended a meeting in the head office of the Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., and on arriving home announced a new policy which will be carried out in the local theatre during the coming season, and which is certain to meet with the approval of the many theatre goers of the city.

The new policy of the Grand Opera House will consist of a permanent stock company, which will play here the first three days of each week. The company is the Rex Stock Company, now playing in Wisconsin, and is regarded as one of the best stock companies on the road to-day. Mr. Rex Snelgrove is the manager and owner of the company, while Miss Zana Vaughn, the leading lady, is one of the finest actresses of the day and regarded as Chicago's favorite actress. The company plays the first three days of each week in Peterborough and the last three days in Kingston, and instead of the high prices, the prices for the company have been set at 10, 20 and 30 cents.

For the second half of each week road attractions and pictures will be presented at the Grand, the prices of the road attractions being kept down as low as possible, while the pictures will be presented at the old-time prices of 10, 15 and 20 cents for the evening, and 5 and 10 cents in the afternoon.

The Grand management is determined to give only the best to the patrons of the theatre, and their efforts are certain to be appreciated.

The opening night, August 23rd, when "Three Live Ghosts," one of the finest comedies on the road, is playing, is expected to attract a capacity house.

AT THE CAPITOL.

PHYLLIS BEDELLS, FAMOUS BALLET DANCER, APPEARS IN PICTURE, "THE MYSTERY ROAD."

Celebrated Premiere Danseuse Is Supported by Espinosa and the Tiller Troupe of Palace Girls in Remarkable Dance Measures.

In laying his plans for the staging of a big cafe scene—they don't say "cabaret" in London—for his production of E. Phillips Oppenheim's "The Mystery Road" at the London Famous Players studio, Director Paul Powell went after big game, so to speak. He engaged one of the foremost ballets in Europe, headed by the famous Phyllis Bedells, who is recognised as the most brilliant English dancer the London stage has ever seen. "The Mystery Road" will be shown at the Capitol Theatre next Monday night.

Miss Bedells made her debut in London at the Prince of Wales Theatre when a child. The following year she commenced a ten-weeks' contract at the Empire Theatre, and there she stayed for nearly nine years.

So great was the new dancer's success at the Empire that on 1st January, 1914, she was made premiere Danseuse, following the footsteps of Adeline Genee, of whom Miss Bedells has always been an admirer. On completion of her contract at the Empire in 1915, she went to the London Hippodrome to appear in de Courville's production "Razzle-Dazzle." In 1920, in association with the famous Russian dancer, M. Novikoff, she did a series of matinees of ballet at the Duke of York's Theatre, winning the approbation of all of London's keenest critics.

In the ballet in "The Mystery Road" Miss Bedells has the support of another distinguished dancer, M. Espinosa. He comes of a family famous in dancing history and created a sensation in New York some years ago on the occasion of the joint appearance of the Edward Strauss Orchestra and Espinosa Ballet, staged by his father, at Madison Square Garden.

In "The Mystery Road" ballet, these famous leaders are surrounded by the scarcely less celebrated Tiller Troupe of Palace Girls from the London Palace. The costumes were designed by Mlle. de Saint-Martin, London's most famous and exclusive modiste.

Balance of the big programme will be made up of Capitol quality entertainment, and the splendid musical selections of the excellent Capitol Orchestra, under the able direction of Mrs. Foster.

STAGE AND SCREEN

Agnes Ayres' first feature vehicle is to be "The Lane That Had No Turning," by Sir Gilbert Parker.

Gladys Huelette, an old-time favourite, will be Richard Berthelmess' leading woman in "To'ble David."

Paramount has bought the screen rights to "Miss Lulu Bett," which will most likely be produced as a William de Mille special.

A series of North-West Mounted Police stories are to be screened, featuring George Chesbro, formerly leading man for Juanita Hansen and Ruth Roland.

Gladys Walton has completed "High Heels," and will soon begin work on "The Girl Who Knew All About Men." She has just returned from a brief vacation spent at Mexicali and Calexico.

Rex Ingram will shortly begin work on the screen production of "Turn to the Right," from the great stage success of the same name. It is understood that Alice Terry will play the lead in this picture.

There's something new under the sun, even in the line of requests for photographs from moving picture fans. One wrote to Wallace Reid as follows: "My house burned down and your photo with it. Please send me another."

Harry ("Snub") Pollard was telling Hal E. Roach about a notorious "tightwad" in his company. "I'll tell you how tight he is," said the little comedian. "He wouldn't pay a dollar a head for the Thousand Islands without a recount."

The proposal of the Famous Players' Corporation to transfer their headquarters from America to England is significant, if only for the fact that it is a direct contradiction of their former contention that it was an impossibility to make a good picture in England. It is not often that competition results in such an astounded volte face.

There are only two flowers that will withstand distillation—the rose and the orange flower.

The "Plaza del Toro" is the first steel bull arena to be erected in Mexico. It seats 20,000 spectators.

The earliest actual engagement of American troops in the world war was at Cantigny, captured May 28.

SOUTH AMERICAN MEN INTERESTED IN OUR WEST

SASKATOON, Sask., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Paul D. Sheridan O'Leary, of San Sebastian, Nicaragua, who passed through here recently, said he had been commissioned by South American capitalists to inquire into and report fully upon a proposal to produce wheat on an extensive scale in Western Canada, areas that will probably aggregate 30,000 acres or more.

Mr. Sheridan said that his principals had come to the conclusion that raising the staple product of wheat is worth trying. "But they first want certain data," he continued. "You see these people, practically all of us in Central America and the adjoining portions of South America, are in coffee and sugar extensively. The bottom has suddenly dropped out of the sugar and coffee. Coffee that was bringing 15 cents at the wharf now has dropped to about 2 1-2 cents; sugar, which was bringing 20 cents at the wharf, has dropped to about 3 cents.

"New fields of enterprise look inviting to these South American capitalists. They have been so greatly impressed by Canada that they mean to have a try at it. They propose to work upon organized lines a very considerable wheat growing project, buying the land, certainly, but organizing the development upon an extensive scale that perhaps is more frequently observed in Southern America than in Western Canada."

Mr. Sheridan said that his chief trouble up to now was that the principal farmers he had met in this country did not keep costs. He said they could not tell him what it costs them to produce an acre of wheat. He expects the big agricultural colleges in the West to furnish him that data.

LARAMIE HOLDS THE RANGE

By Frank H. SPEARMAN.

"I'm kind of nervous tonight," he confessed simply. Then he crossed the room, rested his elbow on the mantelpiece, and made ready a cigaret. "I wonder," he said, "if I could ask you a question?"

"What is it?"

"You always act kind of queer with me. Why is it? You've never been the way you were the first day we met. Haven't I always been square with you?"

She hesitated, but she answered honestly: "You always have."

"Then why are you so different?"

"I've made that confession once. I was acting a part that day."

"No, I can't figure it in that way. That day you were acting natural. Why can't you be like that again?"

"But, Mr. Laramie——"

"No—Jim."

"But——"

"Every time you call me Mr. Laramie I'm looking around for a gentleman. Why can't you be the way you were the first time?"

She realized his eyes were on her, demanding the truth—and his eyes were uncomfortably steady, as she had reason to know. "If I spoke, I should hurt your feelings," she urged, summoning all her courage. "You know as well as I do that the first time I met you I didn't know who you were."

He did not seem much disconcerted, except that he tossed away the unlighted cigaret. "You don't know now," was his only comment.

"I can't help knowing what is said about you—you and your friends."

He made an impatient gesture. "That gives you no clew to me."

"What are people to believe when such stories are public property?"

"Only what they know to be true."

"How are they to find out what is true?"

"By going straight to the person most concerned in the stories."

"Would you honestly expect a young woman to go to work and investigate all the charges against men she hears in Sleepy Cat?"

"We are talking now about the charges against one man—against me. I want to give you an instance:

"I suppose there's been a good many hard words over your way about my keeping Abe Hawk out of the hands of your people. Because I did shelter him—you know how—they've blackened my name here at Sleepy Cat and down at Medicine Bend. A man doesn't have to approve all another man does, to befriend him when he's down and a bunch of men—not as good as he—set out to finish him. I haven't got any apologies to make to anybody for protecting Abe when he was wounded—and if he wasn't wounded no man would talk any kind of protection to him. But you've been fed up with stories about it—I know that—so," he added grimly, "I'm going to tell you one story more.

"I grew up in this country when the mining fever was on—everybody plumb crazy in the rush for the Horsehead Camp in the Falling Wall country. One winter five hundred men in tents were hanging around Sleepy Cat waiting for the first thaw, to get up to the camp. That's when I got acquainted with Abe Hawk. Abe was carrying the mails to the mines. He hadn't a red cent in the world. My father had just died; I was a green kid with a pocketful of money. Abe didn't teach me any bad habits—I didn't need any teacher. One night we were sitting next to each other, with Harry Tenison dealing faro.

"I heard Abe was going up over the pass to Horsehead with the Christmas bag. The few miners that got in the fall before had hung up a fat purse for their Christmas mail and Abe needed the money. And there were twenty men, with all kinds of money, crowding him to take them along; to beat the bunch it might mean a million dollar strike to any tenderfoot in Sleepy Cat.

"Abe wouldn't hear a word of it, not from anybody—and he could talk back awful rough. He was sure he could make the trip alone. He was the strongest man in the mountains. I never saw the day I could handle Abe Hawk. But the pass in December was not a job for any ordinary mountain man—let alone a bunch of greenhorns. Just the same, I made my play to go with him. He cursed me as hard as he did anybody and turned me down.

"One night, after that, I was at Tenison's again. I was losing money. Hawk was near me. He saw it. I waited for him to come out. I knew he'd be starting soon and I was desperate. I tackled him pretty strong. He swore if I talked again about going with him he'd kill me. Old Bill Bradley ran the livery. My horse was in the same barn with Abe's and Bill promised to tip me off when Abe was ready to start. He waited for a blizzard. When it passed he was ready. But I got ahead of him, out of town, and trailed him—I knew how.

"When I rode up he only looked at me. If I had been as small as I felt, he'd never seen me. He ought to have abused me; but he didn't. He ought to have shot me; but he didn't; or turned me back, and that would have been worse than shooting. But if he'd been my own father he couldn't have acted different. He just told me to come along."

Laramie paused. He was speaking under a strain: "I didn't understand it then; but he knew it was too late to quarrel. He knew there was about one chance in a hundred for him to get through; for me, there was about one in a hundred thousand—in fact, he knew I couldn't get through, so he didn't abuse me.

"You don't know what the winter snow on the pass is. When it got too bad for us he put his horse ahead to break the trail, but he let me ride mine as far as I could—he knew what was coming. When my horse quit he told me to tramp along behind him.

"I guess you know about how long a boy's wind would last ten thousand feet up in the air. I wasn't used to it. I quit."

Laramie drew from his pocket a handkerchief and knotted it nervously in his fingers. "He told me to get up," he went on. "I did my level best a ways farther. It was no use. I quit again. He was easy with me. But I couldn't get up, and I told him to go on.

"Abe wouldn't go. I couldn't walk another step in that wind and snow to save my soul from perdition. I just couldn't.

"It wasn't blowing. He stripped his horse. The mail went into the snow. I tried again to walk. I didn't get a hundred feet. When I fell down that time he saw it was my finish.

"He stood a minute in front of me, looking all around before he spoke. His horse was breathing pretty heavy; the snow blowing pretty bad. After a while he loosened the quirt from his saddle and looked at me: 'Damn you,' he said, 'you were bound to come. All hell couldn't keep you back. You're goin' over the pass with me. Get up out of that snow.'

"I couldn't hear him, but I couldn't move, hand or foot. And I never dreamed what was going to happen till he laid the quirt across my face like a knife

'All I ever hoped for was to get up so I could live long enough to kill him. No one ever struck me before that day—nor since, I guess. My eyes turned green. I cursed him. It made no difference. All he asked me was whether I'd get up. I knew if I didn't, I'd have to take more. I dragged myself out of the snow and pitched and struggled after him—to the top of the pass.

"Then he put me on his pony—we got the wind worse up there. Abe had a little shack a way down the pass, rigged up for storm trouble. But the pony quit before we got to the shack, and when the pony fell down, my hands and feet were no use. Abe carried and dragged and rolled me down into the shack. I was asleep. There was always a fire left laid in the stove. Abe had a hard time to light it. But he got it lighted and when he fell down he laid both hands on the stove—so when they began to burn it would wake him up; if the fire didn't burn he didn't want to wake up. The marks of that fire are on his hands right in that room there now, tonight. He saved my hands and feet. He stayed with me while I was out of my head and got me safe to Horsehead.

"Do you suppose I could ever live long enough to turn that man, wounded, over to an enemy? He didn't ask me for any shelter after Van Horn's raid. All he ever asked me for was cartridges—and he got 'em. He'd get anything I had, and all I had, as long as there was a breath left in my body, and he asked me within reason. And Abe Hawk wouldn't ask anything more."

Kate rose from her chair. "I've a lot to learn about people and things in this country,' she said regretfully. "Not all pleasant things," she added. "I suppose some unpleasant things have to be. Anyway, I'll ride home tonight better satisfied for coming in.'

"You going home?' he asked.

She was moving toward the door: "I only hope,' she exclaimed, "this fighting is over'

"That doesn't rest in my hands. It's no fun for me. You say you're going to ride home?"

"There's a moon. I shan't get lost again.'

He was loath to let her get away. At the door he asked if he couldn't ride away with her. "I'll get Lefever, or Sawdy to stay here while I'm gone," he urged.

"No, no."

"It isn't that they won't want to,' he explained. "But the boys felt kind of bad and went down to the Mountain House. Why not?"

She regarded him gravely: "One reason is, I'd never get rid of you till I got home."

'I'll cross my heart

"We might meet somebody I don't want any more explosions. Let's talk about something else

He asked to go with her to the barn to get her horse. The simplicity of his urging was hard to resist. "I must tell you something, she said at last. "If you go with me to the barn we should be seen together

"And you're ashamed of me?'

"I said I must tell you something, she repeated with emphasis. "Will you give me a chance?'

"Go to it.

She looked at him frankly "I don't always have the easiest time in the world at home. And there is always somebody around a big ranch to bring stories to father about whom I'm seen with. Everybody in town talks—except Belle. I must just do the best I can till things get better.

"Here's hoping that'll be soon.

"Good-by

Hawk's Funeral.

The funeral had been set for the following afternoon, but preparations were going forward all morning. In spite of the brief notice that had got abroad of Hawk's death, men from many directions were riding into town that morning to help bury him. A reaction of sentiment concerning the Falling Wall raid was making itself felt; its brutal ferocity was being more openly criticized and less covertly denounced. Hawk's personal popularity had never suffered among the cowboys and the cowboy following. He had been known far and wide for open-handed generosity and blunt truthfulness—and these were traits to silence or to soften reprobation of his fitful and reckless disregard for the property rights of the big companies. He was a freebooter with most of the virtues and vices of his kind. But the crowd that morning in Sleepy Cat was assembling to pay tribute to the man—however far gone wrong. His virtues they were no doubt willing to bury with him; the memory of his vices would serve some of them when in the future they might need a lawless precedent.

Up to the funeral hour the numerous bars of Sleepy Cat were points of interest for the drinking men. In front of these reminiscences of the dead man held heated sway. Some stories pulled themselves together through the stimulus of deep drinking, others gradually went to pieces under its bewildering effects; but as long as a man could remember that he was talking about Abe Hawk of the Falling Wall his anecdotes were tolerated.

Nor were all the man that had come to town to say good-by to Abe lined up at the bars. Because Tenison had insisted that it should, Hawk's body lay during the morning at the Mountain House, in the first big sample room, opening off the hotel office. All that the red-faced undertaker could do to make it presentable in its surroundings had been done at Harry Tenison's charge. Laramie's protests were ignored. "You're a poor man, Jim," declared Tenison, "and you can't pay any bills now for Abe. He thought more of you than he did of any man in the world. But most of his money he left here with me, upstairs and down. Abe was stiff-necked as hell, whether it was cards or cattle, you know that. And it's only some of his money—not mine—I'm turning back to him. That Dutchman," he added, referring with a contemptuous oath to the unpopular undertaker of Sleepy Cat, "is a robber, anyhow. The only way I'll ever get even with him is that he'll drink most of it up again. I played pinochle with that bar-sinister chap," continued Tenison, referring to the enemy by the short and ugly word, "all one night, and couldn't get ten cents out of him—and he half drunk at that. What do you know about that?

"Jim," Tenison changed his tone and his rambling talk suddenly ceased "you've not told me rightly yet about Abe.

Laramie looked up. "Why, Harry," he said quietly, "I told you where I found him that night—he got out of the creek at Pride's Crossing."

Tenison shook his head. "But what I want to know is what went on before he got to Pride's Crossing."

"Well, I started with him that night for town."

"That's what you said before," objected Tenison with an impatient gesture. "What you didn't say is what I want to hear."

"Harry, I won't try to give you a long line of talk. I can't tell it all—and I don't want to try to fool you. There's another name in the story that I don't feel I've got a right to bring in—that's all. Some day you'll hear it."

Neither Lefever nor Sawdy could get any more out of Laramie. He showed the strain of sleeplessness and anxiety Sawdy kept the crowd away by answering all questions himself—mostly with an air of reserve, backed by intimations calculated to lead a man to believe he was really hearing something, and counter questions skillfully dropped into the gravity of the occasion. Those who could not be put off by Sawdy were turned over to Lefever, who could hypnotize a man by asking questions and send him away satisfied but vacantly speculative as to whether he was crazy or Lefever was.

To Lefever also were referred the men arranging the details of the funeral. Not till two o'clock was the word given for the procession to move from the Mountain House, but for two hours before that horsemen—peers of any in the world—dashed up and down Main street before keen-eyed spectators, on business if possible, but always on display.

Stage drivers and barmen from Calabasas and Thief River mingled with cowboys from the Deep Creek country—for Hawk himself had, years before, driven on the Spanish Sinks line. From the barn at Sleepy Cat these men brought out and drafted the old Wells-Fargo stage coach that Abe had driven on the first trip to the Thief River mines. Six of the best horses in the barn were to pull it in the procession. These horses were driven by the oldest man in service on the Calabasas run, mounted on the rear wheel horse, with the driver's seat on the box empty and covered with wreaths of flowers. Old time Indians from the Reservation who had known Hawk when he first went into the Falling Wall country were down to see him buried; they rode behind the cowboys.

At two o'clock the roundhouse whistle blew a long blast. It was taken up by the engines in the yard and those of an overland train pulling out; and the procession, long and picturesque, moved from the hotel. Laramie, Tenison, Lefever, and Sawdy rode abreast behind the hearse, and as the procession moved down Main street the cowboys chanted the songs of the bunkhouse and the camp fire, the range and the roundup.

"My God!" exclaimed Carpy when it was all over, "if Sleepy Cat could do that much for a thief, what would it do for an honest man?" With Sawdy and Lefever, the doctor sat at a table in the billiard room of the Mountain House. Tenison and Laramie sat near them.

Do Not Set Out Fire Without a Permit

THE welfare of new agricultural communities in this Province requires that land clearing be done with the cheapest agent at hand—Fire. Therefore, restrictions must hamper settlers as little as is consistent with safety to lives and property. Disastrous experience proves that in hot, dry weather unregulated use of fire in thickly wooded Northern Ontario means a menace to the lives and property of settlers and destruction of the provincial forest resources upon which a large part of Ontario's revenue and the livelihood of thousands of her citizens depend.

That is why Ontario adopted a "Close Season" and the "Permit System" for setting out fire. But, remember, whether you have a permit or not, you are responsible for damages caused by any fire you light. Be careful—

Save Ontario's Forests
They're Yours

The "Close Season" for setting out fire in Northern Ontario is from April 15th to September 30th. During that time within the Permit Area no one may set out fire for clearing land, disposing of debris or other inflammable waste, or for any industrial purpose, without first obtaining a written fire permit from a Fire Ranger. This applies not only to settlers but to railway section crews, camp and mill crews, road builders, including Government employees, and all other persons.

When starting fire for cooking and camping, the law requires that a place be selected free from inflammable material, that every reasonable precaution be taken to prevent such fire spreading and that it be thoroughly extinguished before quitting the place.

The "Close Season" applies to all Ontario north of Boocaygeon and Smith's Falls and west of the line from there to Renfrew.

The Permit Area includes those parts of Nipissing, Sudbury, Temiskaming and Algoma lying north of the C.P.R. between Mattawa and North Bay and north of the C. N. R. westward to a point some 35 miles beyond Hornepayne.

The remainder of the Province forms the Exempt Area. Within the sparsely peopled Exempt Area no permits are generally issued, but those setting out fires in the "Close Season" are required to exercise every reasonable precaution and a Chief Fire Ranger, if he deems it wise, may serve a Prohibitory Notice and require a person to take out a permit.

The Fire Ranger does his best to follow the happy medium between the desire of the settler to "get a good burn" and the requirements of Public Safety. Help him all you can.

He Will Think It Over

THE SUN LIFE OF CANADA rejected 1,506 applicants for Assurance last year, who thought it over a little too long. Every man thinks it over on his deathbed—some with satisfaction and some with sorrow. It will cost more next year than this year, and the probability of securing Assurance now is greater than it will be then. If he needs it tomorrow, he needs it today.

Do not delay too long and regret it, but secure the protection which you need before it is too late.

Floyd some time ago on a charge of B.O.T.A. and was fined $200 and costs, appealed to the Commission for a refund of fine and liquor— 3 cases of gin, as the breach was purely a technical one. The commission considered the case and it was ordered that the liquor be returned, provided Hong could get a legal place to keep the liquor.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, August 13 (Canadian Press). — Buying back of shares was quite general in the early dealings on the Stock Exchange today. A readjustment of speculative position was induced by the announcement of measures taken to rectify an unfavourable banking position and an oversold condition of special issues.

Utah Copper advanced 1 3-4, General Electric and Mexican Petroleum 1, and United States Steel, Studebaker, International Paper, Mercantile Marine Preferred, American International, American Smelting, Famous Players, Allis-Chalmers, and Baltimore and Ohio 1-2 to 3-4.

Central Leather pursued a contrary course, falling 1 5-8 to a new low level for the year at 27 1-4.

The feature of the foreign exchange market was a drop of 6 points in marks to 1 1-5, a new low price for the current movement, presumably on a large increas of paper circulation disclosed by the Reichsbank statement.

LOCAL ROTARIANS VISIT COBOURG

CLUB FORMED IN LAKESHORE TOWN—SHORT ADDRESSES.

Yesterday afternoon local Rotarians to the number of twenty drove to Cobourg and participated in the institution of the newly formed Rotarian Club in that town.

The deputation was most hospitably received and together with Rotarians from Montreal, Toronto, Belleville, and other places, enjoyed an elaborate banquet at the Arlington Hotel. The general meeting followed, at which the local men were taken into the fold and instructed as to duties and enthused with a conception of the field and future of Rotary.

The Cobourg Club starts out with the requisite number to form the club, and is promised additional membership as soon as ready to receive. Short addresses were made by Rotarian Allen, of Montreal, who had attended the recent convention in Edinburgh, Scotland, and delegates from Toronto also spoke.

The Peterborough men returned early this morning, having a midnight drive over the being-improved provincial roads to the south.

ALBERTA FARMERS SEEK MARKET FOR STOCKER CATTLE

GOVERNMENT CAUCUS STARTS VOYAGE OF DISCOVERY

(Special Despatch to the Examiner.)

EDMONTON, August 13. — New markets are needed for Alberta stocker cattle. The new Farmers' Government is out on a voyage of discovery to find these markets, if it is within the power of the administration to do so. The official statement of the farmer M.L.A.'s caucus makes it evident that this will be one of the first tasks to be undertaken when the new administration takes office. The official communique of the subject of stocker cattle says: "Considerable discussion took place on the problem of finding markets for the Alberta stocker cattle and some suitable information on this subject was there brought out. The importance of obtaining a market for stocker cattle in the United States at the earliest possible date was emphasized, and the opinion was expressed that all interests would decline to look upon this question from a partisan standpoint but would be willing to support any efforts that it might be possible to make in this direction. The Provincial Government, it was pointed out, has of course no power to deal with trade issues affecting the United States.

RIVERSIDE PARK SOCIAL SUCCESS

A LARGE CROWD ATTENDED THE BALL GAME.

The postponed social held under the auspices of the Immaculate Conception church at Riverside Park grounds yesterday afternoon and evening was a pronounced success. A large crowd attended the ball game in the afternoon and the lunch counter was well patronized for supper. The moon was at its best all evening, and not a hint of the previous day's downpour spoiled the enjoyment of the crowd that circled around the various attractions. The band of the Peterborough Rangers, installed in the grand stand, rendered a very attractive programme, the ice cream vendors were kept busy all evening, and lucky winners at the wheel of fortune made a packed throng at this centre of activity, where all sorts of useful and fancy articles, bags of flour, baskets of fruit, pillows, cushions, blankets, fancy trays, china and clothing were disposed of. The lunch counter did a brisk business, and the "little horses" had an interested audience. Mrs. J. Milane and Mrs. M. Tobin were in charge of the fancy work and clothing booth, Miss May Sullivan, Mrs. Jas. Garvey and Miss Nora Devlin had the ice cream and home-made candy, the lunch counter was under the capable supervision of Mrs. D. Hennessey, assisted by Mrs. I. J. Primeau, Mrs. W. I. Gallagher, Mrs. D. Hummel and Mrs. P. Minogue. Mrs. D. McGrath looked after the tea and coffee, Miss M. A. O'Connell had the little horses, Messrs. M. English and W. C. McAuliffe the soft drinks and cones, while Mr. Jack Primeau spun the wheel, with Messrs. D. Quinlan, D. Leonard and P. Odette as efficient helpers.

A meeting will be held at the parish hall on Tuesday evening next, when drawings for the prizes will be made.

TEACHERS ARE TO TOUR NEW ONTARIO

TO LEARN POSSIBILITIES OF THAT COUNTRY

TORONTO, August 13 (Canadian Press). — On Sunday evening, 21st August, nearly two hundred teachers from all parts of the Province will leave on a special teachers' trip to Northern Ontario.

The party will be composed of two delegates from each of the Teachers' Institutes of Ontario, and after touring the North Country they will return on Sunday, 28th August.

On their return the delegates will present a report of the trip before the memebrs of the Institute.

This trip is the means of letting representative teachers see Northern Ontario and forming an estimate of its possibilities. It will be invaluable for the training it will give in geography.

The itinerary of the trip includes Sudbury, the Soo, Agawa Canyon, Hearst, Kapuskasing, Cochrane, Porcupine, Timmins, Iroquois Falls, Englehart, Haileybury, Cobalt and North Bay.

CARPENTIER ENDS CAREER IN FALL?

LONDON PAPERS SAY FRENCH PUGILIST TO FIGHT LAST BOUT THEN.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—(Special cable to the Examiner).—Georges Carpentier will close his pugilistic career with a contest in London in October or November, newspapers say to-day. Major Arnolld Wison, British promoter, is in Boulogne discussing terms with Carpentier and his manager, Francois Descamps. The opponent for the French man has not been decided upon. British boxing followers refuse to believe that Carpentier will return to America to meet Tommy Gibbons and they think he would not be willing to box the American in London.

DID ENUMERATORS MISS COUNTING A LOT OF PEOPLE?

Assesor James, of Oshawa, Inclined to Think They Did.

Oshawa Telegram: The Dominion census figures show the population of Oshawa at 11,552. Last year the assessment department made a return of 12,246 souls resident in town. Assessor James, when asked this week to explain the difference in the figures, expressed the opinion that the Dominion census enumerators undoubtedly missed counting a lot of heads. He had heard of several instances where whole households had been missed. There was also the added factor in the decrease, that the boarding house population here was very much less than a year ago. At that, however, there are no vacant houses in Oshawa at the present time. Oshawa's population at the census in 1911 was 7,432, an increase of over 55 per cent being shown in ten years. Very few municipalities weer able to show such a marked growth and development in the decade just passed.

$500,000,000 TO U.S. BOOTLEGGERS EVERY YEAR NOW

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (Canadian Press).—Approximately $500,000,000 a year is now going into the pockets of bootleggers, government officials estimated yesterday. Between 25,000,000 and 50,000,000 quarts of hard liquor a year are passing through underground channels of the United States.

More than nine million gallons found their way into the hands of bootleggers last year's reports of the prohibition unit show. Liquor seized from International bootleggers is but a tenth of that which starts for the United States in opinion of Chief Ashworth of the Customs Service.

SINN FEIN PRESS HOPES THAT BREACH WILL NOT DEVELOP IN PARLEY FOR PEACE IN IRELAND

ULSTER NEWSPAPERS CRITICISE BRITISH REPLY TO VALERA'S INSISTENCE ON SEPARATION AS TOO GENEROUS.

LONDON PRESS VIEWS TERMS AS GENEROUS

(By Ed. L. Keen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, August 15. — With a tensity unequalled since the closing of the Great War, Britain to-day awaited the outcome of the Irish peace negotioations.

Peace or war depended on one issue—whether Ireland is to be separated entirely from Great Britain or is to remain a self-governing Dominion in the British Empire.

The Irish electorate probably will be asked to vote on the acceptance or rejection of the British Government's peace terms, according to the Press Association to-day.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

DUBLIN, Aug. 15.—Sinn Fein newspapers to-day indicated their hope that peace negotiations with Great Britain will not be broken off as a result of "President" De Valera's insistence on complete separation.

Ulster newspapers were inclined to criticize the British Government's answer to that demand as too liberal.

"The correspondence will cause plain amazement," said the Northern Whig of Belfast. 'We have no hesitation in saying that the government's terms, if given effect, would cause the disintegration of the Empire. We refuse to believe the British people will be foolish enough to ratify such proposals.'

The Irish News, also of Belfast, declared Parliament should have had an opportunity to pass on the government's proposals before they were made.

"The Governments decision to adhere to conditions which it describes as fundamental, is unalterable," the News Letter said.

In Dublin the comment centered on the hope that negotiations will continue. The Prospect of returning to intensified warfare afer a short period of peace is appalling the Dublin Independent declared.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Most of London's newspapers, in their comment on new developments in the Irish situation this morning. Reflected the belief that Government's proposals offered generous settlement of controversy "They show great statesmanship, courage and decision on the part of the Government," said the London Times." Broadly, these concessions represent the extreme limit to which this or any British Government is likely to go. Mr. De Valera's reply approaches more closely to the desirable in such negotiations than any of his past utterances. It is a reasoned refusal, which appears to deliberately avoid any final repture. The Prime Minister's reply is the only possible rejoiner and we hope the Irish people will give deep consideration to the statesmanlike advice of General Smuts, Premier of the Union of South Africa, whose letter to Mr. De Valera, made public on Saturday, urged the acceptance of the Government's offer.

DAIL EIREANN MEETS.

DUBLIN, Aug. 15.—The Sinn Fein Parliament held a private session here to-day, with President De Valera presiding. The meeting was called suddenly and without publicity. The public meeting will be held to-morrow as scheduled.

MAN THOUGHT TO BE SMALL MIGHT BE OUT TO-DAY

DES MOINES, Aug. 15. — (Canadian Press).—The man of mystery, who, according to Frank Harty, former assistant Chief of Police, has been under surveillance here for six months as Ambrose Small, missing Toronto theatre owner, may be brought from his place of hiding to-day, Harty announced.

ELECTRIC RAIL HEAD AGAINST ONTARIO PLAN

MANAGER OF MONTREAL COMPANY SAYS ONTARIO GOVERNMENT SHOULD ACCEPT SUTHERLAND FINDING.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—(Special despatch to the Examiner)—"A Hydro electric railway does not seem to be a suitable thing for the government of any province to interfere with", said J. S. Norris, general manager of the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company, when approached this morning regarding the decision of the Sutherland Commission condemning the proposal for extension of the Hydro Electric Railway System of Ontario.

'I am not au fait with the details of that question,' he said, "and therefore I am not in a position to speak on the proposal itself but a lot of money has been spent on that commission and the best technical experts on this continent have been called in to advise them and it seems to me it would be foolish for the Government to run contrary to such a report".

"In any case, I think it is utterly wrong for a government to go risking the money of public on ventures that they know so little about," Mr. Norris concluded.

95 Years Old, Sick 3 Days

KINGSTON MAN HAS NEVER BEEN IN A METROPOLITAN GENTRE IN HIS NEARLY A CENTURY OF LIFE.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

KINGSTON, Aug. 15.— Samuel Schermerhorn, Livingstone avenue, celebrated his 95th birthday on Sunday. He has lived a happy and contented life in this district and was never farther than sixty miles from this city. He went as far as Trenton once, but has never been in Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa or other metropolitan centres. He was never on a steamboat outside of taking a trip on the ferry from Kingston to Wolfe Island.

He has never been sick more than three days in his life. Out of the thousands of people he has known there are only eight who have lived as long as he has. He says he never took more than eight hours' sleep, has never indulged in strong drink or smoked, and can eat well. He is a Methodist and for forty-three years, while at the village of Odessa, attended church service twice each Sunday.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION NOW A TANGLED ONE

ELECTION OR ANOTHER SESSION STILL VEXED QUESTION—PREMIER RECEIVING CONTRADICTORY ADVICE IN MATTER.

TARIFF REVISION ONCE MORE LOOMS UP LARGE

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—Following a full and comprehensive exposition to his colleagues of the deliberations at the Premiers' conference in London, Hon. Mr. Meighen is now endeavoring himself to secure a perspective with regard to domestic political affairs.

Such a perspective is difficult to secure, inasmuch as the advice which the Premier is receiving is varied and contradictory in character. Generally speaking, Mr. Meighen's supporters outside the House of Commons (including those in the non-elective Senate) favor an election at an early date, and stress the difficulties of holding another session. The majority, however, of his followers in the Commons, to who an election in many cases means defeat, desire another session whatever the consequences. That is natural.

From present indications they will get one, though the Cabinet is as yet absolutely undecided one way or another, and the matter has been discussed, if at all, only in a cursory manner. There is this to be said, dissolution at the present would find the government forces in the country absolutely without organization. Sitting members have taken no steps for the calling of conventions, no doubt fearing the competition which nominations will entail. Moreover, western government members demand that the Premier implement his promise of redistribution before an election, and a session is necessary to bring redistribution about. These are factors in the situation which must influence the mind of the Premier in reaching his decision on the offing.

There looms five by-elections for the counties of Ste. Antoine, Leeds and Grenville, Durham, York and Maple Creek. The time for the issuing of writs is drawing perilously near. The government stands to lose several of these seats and can't afford to lose any. If the opposition is seriously desirous of an election it could force dissolution in the House. It is conceivable, however, that an arrangement might be made whereby redistribution could be carried out without a break up. In that case the arrangements of seats would have to be fairly satisfactory to the Opposition.

In the making of another budget, Sir Henry Drayton is faced with great and complex difficulties. Tariff revision following the tariff inquiry was postponed last session. It can scarcely be postponed over another session. In the meantime, revenue has been falling (excepting those derived from incomes.) On the other hand the U. S. Tariff Bill, with its restrictions on Canadian exports, bids fair to revive again the issue of reciprocity. Fearing its revival, Premier Meighen's forces at home have raised the agitation, buy made-in-Canada goods, but have offered no real advice as to where to sell Canadian surpluses.

The issue is an entangled one. No decision as to what steps the government will take in the matter of an election or another session is expected for some days.

LEMIEUX ASKS QUEBEC LIBERALS TO SUPPORT SHAUGHNESSY PLANS AND OPPOSE FREE TRADE PLANK

"BETTER A RAILWAY MONOPOLY THAN NATIONAL BANKRUPTCY," HE DECLARES, REFERRING TO NATIONAL RAILWAYS.

CAUSTIC ATTACK ON MEIGHEN GOVERNMENT

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

JOLIETTE, Que., August 15. — The Hon. Rudolphe Lemieux yesterday formally commissioned Quebec Liberals to the support of Lord Shaughnessy's railway proposals, and fixed the Quebec Liberal position as firmly opposed to any Western dreams of free-trade.

"Better a railway monopoly than national bankruptcy," he said regarding the first, and on the second question he declared, "Free-trade is ideal in theory, but—it will not do for Canada in present world conditions."

Hon. Rudolphe Lemieux appealed to the women, though neither he nor his party had favoured women's suffrage, to use that suffrage, now they had it, against the Government which had given it to them, but which had also dishonoured womanhood by certain flaws in the past. The Government at Ottawa had even tried to impose the horror of divorce upon the Catholic Canadians of Quebec, he said. The elections of 1917 were an immense fraud, he declared, and the foiling mandate of the Government was not rendered more valid by a fraudulent election.

THE PEACH CROP IS EARLIER THIS YEAR

CRAWFORD PEACHES WILL BE ON LOCAL MARKET TO-MORROW.

"Crawford peaches will be in to-morrow," triumphantly announced a local fruit man to-day, and here he pointed out a striking case in point of the early fruit crops this year.

A year ago, on 25th August, he went through ten miles of orchards in the Niagara Peninsula, seeking peaches, but none were ripe enough to use. By 25th August this year the peach season will be three-fourths over. Peaches are not of as fine a grade as Crawfords have been on the market for two weeks.

Toronto reports the crop as only fair, and one dealer to-day had no hopes of cheap peaches. The Crawfords coming in to-morrow will sell at $1.75 an 11-quart basket.

While it is plum year around this city it is an off year in the fruit belt, and it is hard to buy plums there in any quantity or quality.

Blue plums are particularly plentiful in this district, it is stated. Ordinary blues are selling at $1.35 a large basket, greengages at $1.50, and fancy plums at $1.75.

Canadian pears are marketed at $1.25 an 11-quart basket.

PORT HOPE WON FROM BELLEVILLE

Port Hope sprang one of the season's surprises on Saturday when they beat Belleville in a scrapp extra innings battle at Port Hope by 13 runs to 12. Goyer was driven out of the box by a fusilade of base hits, and Kelleher failed to hold the Ontarios. Deer went the distance for Port Hope. Both sides fielded loosely, while the base umpiring of the Port Hope official on the bases was so bad that Chief Umpire Alex. Kay had to chase him and finish the game alone.

At Cobourg, Oshawa, with Daintv back on the job, beat the home team 5 to 0. Campbell pitched for the Tyson outfit.

ARTHUR SAWERS

Arthur Sawers, who was drowned at Winnipeg Beach on Saturday, was born in Peterborough and educated in the local schools. Discontinuing his studies at the Collegiate Institute, he joined the staff of the Dominion Bank in this city, and after working here several years he was transferred to the head office in Toronto. His next move was to the Bank of Commerce, with which he was engaged at the Hamilton and Lethbridge branches until illness compelled him to retire. For several years he put up a plucky and winning fight against tuberculosis, and on regaining his health he secured a position with the Abitibi Pulp and Paper Company at Iroquois Falls. Mr. Sawers remained with the Abitibi company for five years until a few weeks ago when he went to Winnipeg for a vacation.

Mr. Sawers had very many friends in Peterborough who will be deeply touched by his untimely death. They have not forgotten the fortitude and courage with which he struggled back to glowing health a few years ago, a fact that seems to give a deeper tinge of sadness to his drowning at Winnipeg. No further information had been received by his brother, Rev. F. J. Sawers, up to noon today. The early message simply stated that it was understood that Arthur had rented a canoe at the beach and that he had gone out on the lake alone. The empty boat afterwards drifted into the shore

CONVENTION WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

ALD. R. MORRISON AND CHIEF GRANGE REPRESENTED THE LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

Ald. Robert Morrison, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light committee, with Mrs. Morrison, has returned from attending the annual Dominion Fire Chiefs' Convention in Three Rivers, Quebec. Fire Chief Grange is still on his holi days. Both Ald. Morrison and the Chief report the convention one of the most interesting the association have held, and the Fire Chief and chairman received valuable information in modern fire fighting methods and equipment for departments.

Pleasant Trip.

The convention was a pleasurable affair as well. Ald. and Mrs. Morrison and Chief and Mrs. Grange joined many of the Ontario delegates at Toronto on Sunday, Aug. 7, and at 3 p.m. left by boat for Rochester, thence on to the Thousand Islands and do wn the St. Lawrence to Montreal and Three Rivers, arriving at the convention centre at 2 a.m. on Tuesday.

The convention was held in the City Hall and lasted from Tuesday till Friday. Papers were read on important matters pertaining to fire fighting, and exhibits of equipment were made by prominent companies.

Ald. Morrison stated to-day there were no special cars adopted for Chiefs' use shown at the convention, and none of the exhibitors could give him any information of such cars. He was informed, he said, that none of the apparatus manufacturers had special models for Fire Chiefs.

Welcome on Mat.

Ald. Morrison spoke warmly of the hospitality shown the delegates by the people of Three Rivers and especially of the entertainment of the ladies who were in the city. At the closing of the convention, he said, Fire Chief Berthiaume was presented with a Morris chair and smoking set, Mrs. Berthiaume a clock, by the delegates, and a dinner wagon by the ladies.

Ald. Morrison remarked upon the strange dual role of Fire Chief Berthiaume. He is Police Chief as well as Fire Chief and every fireman is a policeman, and one building serves a police and fire station. The two platoon system prevails, and both departments apear to be carried on successfully.

On Friday the convention closed with the election of officers, Chief Smart, of Calgary, was elected President. Next year the Fire Chiefs meet in Chatham.

NEW MAIL MACHINE ELIMINATES STAMPS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15. — A new, lightning-fast postage machine, which stamps its imprint upon 250 envelopes a minute and eliminates the glued stamp, is being tried out in this city by banks, department stores and other institutions with the aid of the Post Office Department. The promoters predict that the machine will save thousands of dollars in the labor of cancelling and handling blankets of stamps and will prevent loss by theft.

TROOPS, CAPABLE OF RESISTING FOREIGN INVASION, FLUNG INTO BORDER DEFENCE AGAINST RUM

SMUGGLERS MUSHROOM TO AVOID THE TROOPS

DETROIT, August 15 (United Press). — Every available State trooper, Deputy Sheriff, and policeman in MacComb County was to-day flung into the border defence against the liquor flood pouring in from Canada. The river front near Detroit fairly bristles with guns, and more troops, drawn from all over Michigan, are being rushed to smash the smuggling ring. Armored motor boats patrolled river, while armed forces, capable of repelling an actual invasion by a hostile army, lined the American shore.

State and Federal authorities are determined to stop the traffic in which was given fresh impetus by the decision of a Canadian court that liquor exportation to the United States is legal.

'Exportation may be legal, but there will be no importation as long as we have a man left to fight." State Safety Department officials say.

Checked at this point by troopers, the liquor smugglers are spreading out, shipping boat loads of beer down the river as far as Toledo and up to Port Huron, mushrooming their activities as the defense stiffens. Along the American shore the defending lines are being lengthened to meet this move.

1,600,000 Over 45 in the U.S. Without Mates

CENSUS RECORDS SHOW RANKS OF "INSUFFERABLY LONELY" ARE FULL.

BY RALPH E. COUCH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—"Insufferable lonesomeness of the unmarried state now enfolds more than 1,600,000 women and men over forty-five years of age". It is shown in reports of the United States Census Bureau to-day. "Insufferable lonesomeness, was the term used by Dr. George P. Harding, father of President Harding in explaining is marriage at 76 Miss Alice Severns 52.

More than 1,000,000 men of about Hardings age now are listed as bachelors the official records show. An nearly equal number of women of 64 years of age or more also are unmarried and a still larger number of men and women over 50 are without mates as a result of divorce or death.

RAILWAY WAGE SLASH IS FELT

REDUCTION IN HALF-MONTHLY PAY TO-DAY ESTIMATED AT FROM $1,000,000 TO $1,250,000.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—(Special despatch to the Examiner).—More than ten weeks after the preliminary indication of a decrease of wages 140,000 Canadian railway employees to-day experienced the first practical effect of the reduction. Checks distributed to-day all over the system carried the first application of the cuts. Pay given out to-day was for the July 16 to August 1 period, the first in which the average twelve per cent reduction was effective.

While detailed figures are lacking it is variously estimated that the reduction amounts in actual figures to from 1,000,000 to $1,250,000.

Negotiations which are pending relative to wages and working conditions have not yet commenced, though it is stated that preparation of the brief which will be carried to the conference by both the employers and workers is well advanced.

ADVISES HOW TO KEEP W E D.

Continue Courtship Pleasure After Ceremony.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Unique admonitions to husbands, wives and sweethearts were extended by Judge Joseph Sabath, of the Superior Court, when he told of having disposed of 2,000 cases in 10 months.

Judge Sabath said he found that women outnumbered men almost two to one in application for the dissolution of their marital bonds.

Prohibition, he declared, had not shown any tendency to decrease the number of divorces. He advocated the publishing of the names of those who desire to marry 30 days before a license is issued.

The following were among his suggestions to secure happiness: "Every man should see that his wife has plenty of entertainment, take her to the movies, automobile rides, theatres, as often as you can afford to. Go swimming with her if she likes it.

"A husband should confide his business affairs to his wife and she should take an interest in them.

"Have children.

"Know each other well before marriage.

"Realize the responsibility of the marriage relation, bear and forebear.

"Move away from each other's families.

"It is better to live in a simple little love nest alone than in a place with the members of the families of either one."

In the divorce cases disposed of before Judge Sabath 1,456 were filed by women, as compared with 544 by men. Among the causes, desertion was put forward in 975 cases, adultery in 207 and intoxication in 201. The annulments numbered 135.

OVERHEAD BRIDGE WORK COMPLETED

MACHINERY BEING PACKED UP AND MEN RELEASED.

The Hunter Street Bridge is finished! This morning only two men were left, and they were engaged in packing up the compressed air machines used in the chipping operations, which were completed last Tuesday.

On the receding Thursday the chipping work was practically completed, most of the men who had handled the air guns were then let go, only two machines continuing on several remaining patches until the day after Civic Holiday, when the job was wound up.

The compressed air apparatus has been entirely dismantled since then, and the last of it was being loaded in a freight car this morning on a siding in Ashburnham.

Ald Hamilton, chairman of the Special Bridge Committee, pointed out these facts to an Examiner reporter in a tour of the work to-day. A remaining detail is the sale of the building on the west side of the river which has housed the clerical staff. Tenders for it were sought by advertisement, but it was said that no bid had been received up to noon.

The roadway over the bridge is in good condition. Oil has been used to good effect, binding the surface, and giving it almost the consistency of asphalt.

NO MORE STREET CARS IN TEN YEARS

Claims the Motor Bus Will Eliminate Them.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15. — "The street car will be eliminated in the United States by the motor bus within ten years," F. W. Fenn, secretary of the national motor truck committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, declared in an interview.

Fenn emphasized the progress being made by motor buses and jitney lines throughout the country, and cited the situation in Des Moines, where street railways have been practically put out of business by motor competition, as a forerunner of what is to come.

Advantages of motor transportation over street cars, according to Fenn, include:

"Of course, the motor bus or jitney can never replace the subway or elevated in the big cities, because of the long hauls and great number of passengers to handle," Fenn said.

"But in smaller cities the street railway companies must establish their own motor lines as adjuncts or be eliminated through competition. Wherever motor bus and jitney lines have been given a square deal by municipal authorities they have more than held their own, and it is only a question of time when they will be the sole means of urban public transportation, with the exceptions I have noted."

The motor truck also is competing successfully with steam railways in hauling freight up to distances of 60 to 75 miles, Fenn declared.

THE TREE SHOULD BE LOOKED UPON WITH REVERENCE

(By Katherine Edelman, in Kansas City Times.)

A few years ago a well-loved poet, Joyce Kilmer, who now sleeps under the soft grasses, wrote:

I think that I shall never see
A poem as lovely as a tree.

And in writing these lines he penned the thought that lies in the heart of many of us, for man, no matter what part of the globe means home to him loves the tree. What a bare, cold world this would be without trees; what things of beauty and of grandeur we would miss if these noble and beautiful monuments of the Creator did not exist. Under its friendly shade man finds a welcome rest from the heat and toil of the day—the flocks of the field find in it a haven from the intense heat of the summer sun and a protection from the chilling blasts that come when King Winter holds sway over the land. To it we owe many of the wonderful and beautiful things that are ours today, for without trees there could not have been many of the things that go to make up our modern world.

Small wonder is it, then, that possessing all the merits that it does, the tree is looked upon in many parts of the world with awe and reverence, and that many strange beliefs and omens are connected with it.

In the British Isles many trees were held sacred by the Druids, chief among them being the oak, the ash and the hazel in England, and the hawthorn, the rowan and the hazel in Ireland. In the olden days in England the inhabitants swore by the oak, the ash and the thorn. And even in the present day there are many who read in the early or late budding of these two trees what kind of weather to expect. For the old rhyme reads:

If the oak is out before the ash,
The earth will only have a splash,
If the ash is out before the oak
It's very certain we'll have a soak.

In many countries the hazel tree was associated with strange and mystic powers. It was considered very unlucky to meddle with it, because it is held by many that it was from this tree that the cross upon which the Saviour was crucified was made, and also for the reason that the fairies used saplings from this tree for whipsticks and wreaked their vengeance upon those whom they found meddling with the tree. But the braver ones, in spite of these superstitions, used the younger shoots of this tree to locate water. This was because of their great pliability. A piece of bark off this tree worn around the neck of a patient was considered a sure cure for many diseases, provided the patient carried out certain instructions given him by those who knew.

In many parts of the British Isles boughs of certain trees are placed on horses' heads on May morning, and in some of the larger cities' trains are decorated with them, too. They are supposed to bring good luck for the year and make for safety in traveling. In Ireland, the rowan, or mountain ash, as it is called by some, is believed to possess strange and mystic powers. On May morning, the day that the fairies are supposed to be let loose to practice all their wiles, wands of this tree are used in many ways to ward off any advance of the little people. This is the morning in Ireland when every good dame is on the lookout for the fairies or others of the evil eye who come and take the butter. For if one of the little people can lay his hand on the churn that morning it will be only a waste of time for the woman of the house to try to get any butter off the cream for the ensuing year. For no matter though she may churn the cream until blisters show on her hands, no butter will come. But will go in some mysterious manner to the fort of the fairies, or if it is taken by a neighbor through some evil spell it goes to them. So the careful housewife binds the churn with rowan wands on the evening preceding, and no fairy or evil spirit can dare approach it.

The hawthorn is another tree that is connected with many powers in Ireland. Many a little liprichaun (the fairy who looks for hidden treasure) has been surprised asleep under its dewy fragrant shade in the early morning hours and made to deliver a hidden pot of gold to the one who was lucky enough, to find him napping. Nearly every home in Ireland, humble or great, has a hawthorn hedge growing near, for this tree is supposed to bring good luck. And where is the lad in Ireland who has not cut himself a shillelagh off the hawthorn tree for good luck, or maybe to use when occasion requires?

Many trees live to see a wonderful age and grow to a wonderful size. It is claimed by many writers that the cedars of Lebanon and the olive trees in the Garden of Gethsemane may have been in existence when Jesus walked among them. And in the woods of California and Washington there are some wonderful specimens of trees, which have grown to an almost incredible size, and which must have been in existence a long time. At the Seattle fair several years ago, there was a tree on exhibition from which were hollowed out two good-sized rooms, one upstairs and one downstairs, with the original bark left on the outside of the trees.

The tree is one of man's best friends, and it is small wonder that he loves it much. Its beauty is a delight to the eye, its friendly, smiling shade beckons invitingly to the tired and the weary, of its body are made many things to make for comfort and pleasure. For in the tree, which grows in every land and every clime, is given to man one of the most priceless gifts of the Creator.

BAPTISTS FACE COLOSSAL TASK.

Northern U. S. Branch Committed to Raise $100,000,000.

The largest objective ever undertaken by any great denomination in proportion to the number of its members, was outlined to 5,000 Northern Baptists in their convention recently in session in Des Moines, Ia., by Rev. John Y. Aitchison, general director of the general board of promotion, in an eloquent address, which followed the presentation of his annual report.

"It is a colossal program," Dr. Aitchison declared, calling attention to the fact that the New World movement goal had committed Northern Baptists to raise a hundred million dollars during the five-year period ending May 1, 1924, for missionary, educational and philanthropic work.

"We recognize when we undertook this that it was in keeping with the magnitude of the task which Christ committed to His church," Dr. Aitchison said. "It cannot be said to be too great for our denomination in view of our history and present resources. Northern Baptists are not quitters. We quibble, debate and hesitate at times, but it is only that we may have a clear understanding of all the issues, and be prepared to go forward more effectively. Las year 202 churches contributed an average of more than $25 per resident member to the New World movement. These churches have blazed a new trail. They are expecting all the other churches in the convention territory to follow their example. When this is done, the hundred million will be oversubscribed."

Dr. Aitchison also said that the churches which have subscribed so liberally have given unmistakable evidence of the fact that they mean business They not only signed pledges, but they paid 92.6 per cent. of the amount due on pledges to April 30, 1921.

During the last fiscal year Northern Baptists paid in cash $12,596,694.48, Dr. Aichison said.

"The convention will be asked to approve a budget for the coming year of $20,000,000," he stated. "Anything less than this will be unworthy of us, in view of the needs of our organization. It would not be in keeping with the temper and ability of our people as a whole to accept a lower standard for the year upon which we are now entering."

COUNTESS BECOMES A FRIEND

In consequence of the revived interest in Quakerism on the Continent of Europe—250 years ago there were numerous Friendly settlements throughout Holland, Germany and the "pale" of Russia—the international service has been granted power by the London yearly meeting to accept applicants for membership after receiving reports from their workers. The latest to be thus received is Countess Olga Tolstoy, daughter-in-law of Leo Tolstoy. She has long been interested in the Friends, and the recent renewal of the Quaker activities in Russia has made it possible for her to get into direct communication with English Friends.

Among some of the smaller Russian sects there is one whose members are known as "Quakers." They are apparently the descendants of some itinerant preacher of the Seventeenth Century, but they seem to have no direct knowledge of their origin, and lack of touch with the parent body has led to variations in doctrine and practice which today have left little but the name as a link.

(Kansas City Star.)

Over in England the henpecked husbands in two counties get together every year and hold a convention. The mystery is how they get away from home to go to the meeting, but that seems to be one of the society's secrets.

HAVELOCK IS BECOMING AN EDUCATIONAL CENTRE

SCHOOL TRUSTEES CONTEMPLATING THE ERECTION OF A NEW HIGH SCHOOL.

HAVELOCK, Aug. 15.—Queen's University has made Havelock an examination centre this year for their extra mural courses and Principal Davidson has been appointed presiding examiner. The examinations last from Sept. 6th to the 13th, inclusive.

Havelock, known as a railway town, is becoming quite an educational centre. Greatly improved work has lately been done by the Public and High schools, both in the matter of examination results and also in the raising of the moral tone in these institutions. This year, out of 16 candidates writing at the Entrance exams, 15 passed, several taking honours, while 100 p.c. of those prepared in the High school who wrote on Junior Normal Entrance and Matriculation examinations, were successful. The numbers passed in proportion to the enrollment in Form II and III—the only proper test—will compare favourably with the results obtained in any High school

The new trustees elected this year are young and progressive business men, who are making a study of educational problems, and stand for good work and a fair remuneration for the same. They are already looking out for a school site with a view of erecting a new High school building, when costs are normal, as the present accommodations will soon be quite inadequate to accommodate the 300 or more pupils attending both schools.

CREPE RING OF SATURN IS 2,000 MILES THICK

The inner ring of the planet Saturn, known to astronomers as the "crepe ring" because it is much less brilliant than the others, while the other rings are very much thinner, according to observations made by Prof. William H. Pickering, of Harvard, at the Harvard astronomical station at Mandeville, Jamaica.

The thickness of the rings of Saturn has long attracted the interest of astronomers. This planet is surrounded by what appears through a small telescope to be a single flat ring of exceeding thinness. Through a larger telescope this is seen to be in reality three concentric rings.

Every 16 years or so the earth passes through the plane of these rings, which are then in a position edgewise to the earth. So thin are they that for a while they disappear and cannot be seen until the earth moves out of their plane.

Astronomers believe these rings to be composed of innumerable small meteors revolving in dense swarms, about the middle portions of the planet.

Prof. Pickering is also engaged in studying the canals on the planet Mars, and is searching for the still undiscovered pl net which is believed to revolve around the sun far outside the orbit of Neptune, the outermost planet yet discovered in the solar system.

OLDER A STAR GROWS, FASTER DOES IT MOVE

One of the most interesting of revent discoveries in connection with astronomy is that the older a star grows, the faster does it move, says Tit-Bits. A star, like an express train, takes time to get up speed. In the course of the train, however, it is a matter of a few moments only; with a star it is millions of years. The speed of the fastest star is about 300 miles a second. This celestial racer is invisible with the naked eye, but has a number of other means of identification for the convenience of astronomers.

It has been found that the average velocity of faint stars is much greater than that of brighter ones. Twenty-eight faint ones have been found to have av average velocity of 138 miles a second, whilst the speed of nine very bright ones average only 80 miles a second.

Judged from the standard of speed, our own sun—which would appear as a star if it was far enough away from us—is a comparative infant. Its speed is only about 12 miles a second.

LOWER RATES WILL HELP THE FARMERS

NEW FREIGHT TARIFFS GO INTO EFFECT TO-DAY.

To-day the new tariffs of the Canadian Pacific Railway will go into effect. This means that freight rates on live stock will be reduced to practically pre-war levels.

The decline in the tariff rates has been effected along a graded scale. Five per cent. was previously cut off the forty per cent. increase granted a year ago, and the new rates will wipe out the other thirty-five per cent.

It is stated that the reduction part of the general policy of the railways to reduce freight rates wherever possible, and it is anticipated that before long there will be similar reductions in the rates on other products.

The rates now published are for live stock, with separate rates for horses, mules, and ponies, higher than those on other live stock, but nevertheless considerably lower than they were

It is pointed out that these reductions will be a great help to farmers shipping stock into Toronto, and that they might have some effect in slightly lowering market prices.

VICTOR HUGO BECAME PROPHET OF AVIATION

Victor Hugo was a lover of the spherical balloon and took great interest in all aeronautical experiments. A letter from the great French poet addressed to Gaston Tissandier in 1869 is reproduced in "La Conquete de L'Air," of which the following is a translation:

"I believe, Monsieur, in all progress. Navigation of the air follows naturally the navigation of the ocean; from the water, man should pass to the air. Wherever in creation there is anything to be desired, man penetrates in search of it. Our only limit is life itself. Where ceases the column of air, where the pressure prevents his machine from flying, there alone man will be stopped. But he can, he should and he will go that far.

"You can do it. I take the greatest interest in your useful and brilliant voyages. I, also, have the taste for scientific adventure. Certainly the future will see aerial navigation, and the duty of the present is to work for the future. This duty you are performing.

"I alone, but attentive, I am eyes for you, and I cry, courage!

"VICTOR HUGO.

ENGINEERS INSPECTED NEW WORK

WOUND UP AT LAKEFIELD—A BASEBALL GAME AND SUPPER COMPLETED THE OUTING

A party of 50 members, representing the Peterboro Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, held their annual picnic on Saturday afternoon. The programme included an inspection of the filtration plant, the dam at Nassau, and dinner at the Lakefield Hotel.

The party consisted of W. Rogan, Peterboro; A. E. Caddy, Campbellford; A. J. Wood, Peterboro; W. M. Barry, P. Alexander, W. H. Pretty, E. N. Shirley, R. E. Hinton, J. H. Convery, Barry Ottewell, J. H. Grills, R. G. Sturgeon, A. B. Gates, D. E. Fasson, F. M. Somerville, R. C. Flitton, R. L. Dobbin, J. C. Wilde, F. H. Dobbin, J. Fentie, W. H. Jaeger, G. L. Jones, A. L. Irwin, H. C. Norley, A. H. Munro, George G. Gladman, J. E. ..ess, P. Manning, Huge Rose, R. C. Hardie, James McIntosh, A. A. Cook, P. P. Westbye, C. H. Rogers, R. B. Rogers, John Barnes, H. R. Sills, G. Coutts, H. A. Fife, W. G. Cornell, J. Walcot, A. P. Miller, C. E. Sisson, Angus Richardson, P. L. Allison, W. M. Cruthers and E. F. Mason.

F. R. Shirley, chairman of the committee to arrange meetings, and also the chairman of the picnic committee, with R. L. Dobbin, one of the executive, was largely responsible for the success of the picnic, although it could not have been successful without the hearty co-operation of all the engineers and automobile owners. All those who did not have a car were satisfactorily looked after.

The Filtration Plant.

Peterboro's filtration plant, which is now about 50 per cent. completed was first inspected. Ross Dobbin and Angus Richardson took charge of two parties and explained the work done and the operation of the plant when completed. C. E. Sisson was able to explain many details, and the crowd of engineers and laymen when they left were filled with a lucid picture of water being drawn through huge intakes into big pumps, sent over aereators, thence into settling basins, forced through the sand filters and emitted pure and sparkling into the huge 2,000,000 gallon reservoir from which the city will receive its invigorating supply. In a state of either part or practically full completion, the engineers saw the different parts of the machinery that will purify the water. They saw the aereators practically finished, they walked around inside the high cool settling basins, which are remindful of a bomb shelter. They saw the ocnstruction of the intake. They examined the filter beds and stood upon the slab roof of the reservoir. Throughout the entire work the strong reinforcing was remarked upon, and the progress that has been made with both contracts was favorably commented upon.

Standing on the division of the filter bed and some on the south wall, Fred Roy photographed the visitors, and in spite of some of the party not being used to high altitudes, secured a couple of interesting photos.

The Nassau Dam.

The inspection of the filtration plant was not completed till about 4.30 p.m. In a cloud of dust (metaphorically speaking) a half score of automobiles disappeared up the Lakefield road and when the cloud settled the half hundred men were at Nassau. A discussion of the work that has been done here took place, and the engineers were unanimous that the firm of R. Sheehy has been courageous in the face of great engineering difficulties.

After discouraging set-backs in putting up the coffer dam, the construction work is ready to be proceeded with, and considerable work will be accomplished before the snow flies if no set backs occur.

At Lakefield the government dam being constructed by F. R. Wilford & Co., Ltd., of Lindsay, was of great interest to the engineer, and they saw the dam about completed on the east side, and the contractors pumping out the coffer dam on the west side of the river.

While one party was there, the other slipped away to the Exhibition Park and when the tardy ones arrived at the park a ball game was being executed.

The Game.

Two teams of unknown strength were battling merrily under the direction of Dr. J. C. Smith of Lakefield. One team was largely composed of C. G. E. representatives, and evidently most of the players were out-of-touch with the game. Their playing was bewildering to the other aggregation at first but their opponents came back towards the end and the score according to the count (not official) was 15-12. Convery's curves and Shirley's shoots had the

INSISTS THAT HE HAS SMALL

DES MOINES DETECTIVE CLAIMS MISSING THEATRICAL MAGNATE IN HIS CUSTODY—DEMANDS ASSURANCE OF REWARD.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Insisting that he has in custody Ambrose Small, millionaire Toronto theatrical man who d sappeared mysteriously two years ago, John Brophy, head of a private detective agency, said yesterday he would produce Small before the Canadian authorities if he received assurances of payment of the reward offered for the discovery of the theatrical man.

He said, "the man is Small; that is certain. I am not going to give anybody a chance to say the reward does not belong to me. I have known he was in Des Moines the last two months. But it was not until Saturday I was entirely convinced of his identity."

WHEN WE DESERVE IT.

By Bert Leston Taylor.

Let us have peace and thy blessing,
Lord of the wind and the rain,
When we shall cease from oppressing
From all injustice refrain;
When we hate falsehood and spurn it;
When we are men among men.
Let us have peace when we earn it—
Never an hour till then.

Let us have rest in thy garden,
Lord of the rock and the green,
When there is nothing to pardon,
When we are whitened and clean,
Purge us of skulking and treason,
Help us to put them away.
We shall have rest in thy season;
Till then the heat of the fray.

Let us have peace in thy pleasure,
Lord of the cloud and the sun;
Grant to us aeons of leisure,
When the long battle is done.
Now we have only begun it;
Stead us!—we ask nothing more.
Peace—rest—but not till we've won it—
Never an hour before.

ALL EUROPE TO HELP STARVING

INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION TO BE APPOINTED ON RUSSIAN SITUATION, ACCORDING TO LONDON TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 15. — (Canadian Press.)— According to the Sunday Times, an International Commission, of which Germany will be a member, will be appointed this week to proceed to Russia to organize steps to deal with famine.

The information which was laid before the Supreme Council made a deep impression in London, and it is now fully agreed that relief work is a task bevond the powers of private individuals or even a single nation.

It is now certain that International co-operation will be accelerated. Money is pouring into the Imperial War Relief Fund, which is overwhelmed with offers of personal assistance

CHINESE TAKE THEIR FLIVVERS TO HEAVEN

Replicas of a certain ubiquitous make of a small motor car are now burned on the graves of well-to-do natives in China to provide a means of getting about rapidly in the spirit world, says Melsom S. Tuttle, Y. M. C. A. worker in Pekin. Since the time of Confucious the Chinese have deposited food on the graves of the dead, so that the spirit will not go hungry, but the addition of a "flivver" shows the trend of modernity in the Celestial republic.

The car used in the burial ceremonies is made of paper and isin-glass, held together by wire. The representation is complete to the most minute details. Even the license tags are imitated, while on the radiator is attached the trademark. Brass mountings are reproduced in gilt paper, while the tires are done in gray paper.

Previous to the burial the car is displayed for several days in front of the dead man's residence, so that everybody can see that the spirit will have plenty of joy rides in the Great Beyond.

PROSPECT OF DETERMINING GREAT WORLD-SHAKING MATTERS ONLY ON ICE-WATER PERTURBS DIPLOMATS

PARIS, August 15 (Canadian Press). — The French Foreign Office is perturbed at a report that the members of the disarmament delegation scheduled to leave in October for the Washington conference will be allowed only a minimum stock of wines and no spirits.

The prospect of having to determine world-shaking questions without liquid inspiration is appalling to the seasoned diplomats.

They point out that many ruptures during the Peace Congress and subsequent Supreme Council meetings were frequently averted by the soothing influence of Three Star Brandy, good cigars, and champagne.

Unless the delegates are permitted to import from their own cellars freely, it is predicted that the conference may break up as a result of torn and frazzled nerves which are not accustomed to peace-making on ice water.

DAIL EIREANN MEETS TO-MORROW TO DECIDE FINALLY FUTURE OF IRELAND—PRESSURE EXERTED ON SINN FEIN TO ACCEPT.

BRITISH ALL BELIEVE OFFER VERY GENEROUS

(BY ED. L. KEEN)
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The struggle of centuries reached a climax to-day with the British demand on Sinn Fein Ireland that she accept membership in the British Empire as a Dominion. The future of Ireland lay with the Sinn Fein Parliament which meets to-morrow. In England it was believed almost unanimously that the Government's peace terms were generous, that the Premiers reply to "President" De Valera's demand for expansion of the terms was fair and that it left the onus of Irelands fate on the Sinn Fein.

Lloyd George was to motor in to-day from his country home, Chequers, where he went Saturday immediately before all the Irish correspondence was made public. It was believed he would have nothing further to offer until the Dail Eireann has made its choice—peace or war.

The belief was general here that the Welshman, through publishing the correspondence between himself and De Valera, and the letter of General Smuts to De Valera, had solidified support in this country. Even the Liberal element, it was believed, would agree that the British offer was as generous as could be conceived. There was relief that De Valera took pains to leave the way open for future negotiations.

There was little doubt that the Dail Eireann to-morrow will refuse to break off all negotiations, especially since British newspapers which have inclined to the Irish view are urging the folly of doing so. The Daily News and the Manchester Guardian both warned Sinn Fein that the Government has gone as far as possible and urged that it agree to the underlying principle that there can be no separation between Ireland and the Empire.

Further pressure was exerted on the Sinn Fein by Ulster. Premier Craig, in a letter to Premier Lloyd George, fully supported the British view and declared Ulster will not deal with the Southern section unless the South recognizes Ulster's determination to remain within the British Empire.

A Dublin despatch to-day said Lloyd George's reply to De Valera's last note had been received there. All matters bearing on the negotiations will be submitted to the Dail Eireann, it was said, and De Valera will submit the deply he proposes to make to Lloyd George.

(By United Press)

DUBLIN, Aug. 15.— "We hope and pray the Irish people will follow General Smuts' safe advice", declared the Irish Times here to-day," the Dail Eireann to-morrow will have the unique opportunity of healing Irelands' wounds, assuring the Irish people a glorious future.

General Smuts in a letter to De Valera, said Ireland would alienate the world's sympathy if the British offer of full Dominion status were not accepted.

ATHLETES AND INDUSTRY.

The announcement of the plans of the Canadian Woollens Athletic Association furnishes a striking proof of the changed attitude of employers of labour towards the question of the recreation of their employees. More and more big industrial firms are beginning to see the value of providing facilities for the entertainment and development of the men and women in their employ. Healthy, contented workers mean increased efficiency, bigger production, fewer accidents and fewer changes in shop personnel. Pride in the achievements of a factory baseball team, or football eleven, brings with it pride in the factory itself, creates an esprit de corps and a personal interest that cannot be effected by any other means. Employer and employee are both gainers as a result of the fostering of athletic games as a feature of industrial lift, working conditions are better and there is a more genuine spirit of co-operation and mutual understanding. The new era should be cordially welcomed.

THE MARATHON AGAIN.

The Marathon seems to be coming back into its own. Long distance running sprang into general popularity in Canada as a result of the fine exploit of William Sherring, of Hamilton, in winning the Olympic Marathon at Athens, followed by the wonderful success of Tom Longboat and other Canadians, and after some years of great public interest the Marathon craze seemed to subside, the war administering the final quietus. But a revival seems to be at hand and long distance events are once more attracting attention. Peterborough, by reason of the races promoted by the Examiner, was a prominent centre for the road racing game a few years ago, and should do its share in reviving the sport. The Peterborough Athletic Association might take up the matter and consider a modified marathon in Peterborough on Thanksgiving Day. Under the auspices of the Association a splendid contest could easily be arranged, and it is a safe venture that there would be no lack of entries.

ROAD BUILDING.

It is to be regretted that the Drury government's fondness for the appointment of commissions did not lead to an inquiry into road building before Hon. Mr. Biggs was allowed to plunge the province into an orgy of expenditure over his provincial road scheme. The necessity of good roads is not to be denied, any more than is the fact that Ontario's highways have not received the attention that they merited. But the wisdom of the present road-building activities is open to question. Between Port Hope and Peterborough, for example, a gang of men has been hard at work all summer, the roadway is being widened and the surface rebuilt. Manifestly the Peterborough-Port Hope road is being vastly improved. For the present the results will justify the expenditure, although the most will necessarily be heavy. But will roads of this nature stand up to the heavy motor traffic that will pass over them, or will it be necessary year after year to keep on patching and repairing, spending more money after that which has already been spent? Many authorities declare that macadamized road surfaces, no matter how carefully constructed, are not to be depended upon in these days of motor vehicles. If their opinion counts for anything, Ontario is throwing away hundreds of thousands of dollars upon roads that cannot be expected to endure.

THE HYDRO-RADIAL REPORT.

It is too early to arrive at a conclusion as to the final effect of the report of the Sutherland Commission which condemns the Hydro-radial project and recommends that the Ontario Govrenent refuse to endorse the bonds of the municipalities who are willing to finance the proposition. Undoubtedly the recommendations of the commission will be accepted by the government, for the "thumbs down" verdict is believed to be exactly what the U.F.O. members desired. That will mean that the municipalities who desire Hydro-radial service will have to provide the funds of the enterprise without the endorsation of the Provincial government. At present the majority of the heads of municipal governments are angry enough at the verdict of the commission to be willing to launch out immediately into the scheme, but second thoughts may alter their decision. It will be necessary to again secure the approval of the ratepayers of the municipalities affected and the chances are that many of those who previosuly endorsed the radial policy when the credit of the province stood behind the municipalities, will have some hesitation in approving of entering upon the scheme in its altered form.

HARD TIMES FOR KINGS.

An early indication that sovereigns were hit as hard as the rest of us by the business depression came some months ago, when a delegation representing the "oppressed Christians of Palestine," asked Pope for financial assistance. It was then announced at the Vatican that, while the Holy Father had a great deal of sympathy for the oppressed Christians of Palestine, the demands on his funds from all quaters had been so great that sympathy was all he had to give. Other sovereigns, or ex-sovereigns ,are in similar straits. Some of the ex-Kaiser's ex-subjects have been writing to him and asking for little advances in memory of the old days when they were all good fellows together. To these loyal ones the Court Marshal has sent a printed rejection slip explaining that what with the high cost of living and the depreciation of exchange, and so on, the Kaiser can't even afford enough stenographers to write letters refusing to make loans.

The Hohenzollern's late co-worker and great and good friend Chas. Hapsburg, is still wose off. He has been living in Switzeland, and in style. But the friends who have paid his bills in exile in the hope of standing near the throne when he gets it again have shown signs of uneasiness over their investment. At any moment they may decide to take their loss. This may be one reason why the Swiss, a nation of thrifty hotel keepers, are anxious to have the August Charles move on. But there arises another difficulty. Charles would like to go to Spain, but the Spaniards, having troubles of their own, are looking rather coldly at his retinue. According to rumour, Charles has been privately informed that if he comes to Spain he will have to cut down his overhead considerably before he is allowed to sign checks at the Cafe and run up a bill at the delicatessen.

Even working kings are finding the going hard. In England the news has just been broken to Parliament that the King has had to sell some of his capital to make both ends meet. It seems that during the war King George economized as much as he could and entertained no more than was necessary, but the increase in servants' wages and the cost of the neecssaries of life finally put him in debt. There has been a deficit for the past two or three years, "despite the most stringent economies by His Majesty," and despite a fund thriftily set aside for a rainy day, which is now almost exhausted. King George, however, seems to be a good sport. He is ready to reduce his scale of living if the organization thinks that this is best; but the British Empire evidently regards what Mr. Chamberlain calls "the majesty of the throne" a good investment. King George's expenses, in other words, are for the most part incidental to his job. He has to spend a good deal of money in entertaining visiting buyers—for though they may be called kings or princes, that is in effect what they are. Parliament and the British people seem agreed that the King as a mixer is worth his salary and his expense account, and that in the interests of the business the front must be kept up.

Other monarchs are probably just as badly off, but are afraid to say so. For in these days of retrenchment, when every great organization is reducing its overhead, and getting rid of unnecessary employees, there is some danger that certain sovereigns might suddenly find themselves laid off if they asked for a higher salary.—New York Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It loks as if the Sutherland Commission has taken the hide off the Hydro.

It is intimated that the Drury government will accep the recommendations of the Hydro Radial Commission. Why shouldn't it accept when the report was exactly what the Government wanted?

A cool breeze from the north is, after all, about as effective a censorship of women's clothes as could be devised.

If there had been a commission appointed to investigate the question of road construction, some of Hon. Mr. Biggs' methods might not have been given a chance to function.

The Sutherland report will be sweet music in the ears of the Farmers' Sun.

It has cost the people of Ontario nearly half a million dollars to provide the Ontario government with an excuse for doing something they would have done anyway, namely, the killing of the Hydro radial project.

TRADE IN PRECIOUS STONES SUFFERING SLUMP

Jewel Dealers Face Serious Crisis as a Result.

BERLIN, Aug. 13.—(Associated Press).—Trade in precious stones has experienced such a slump in the past 12 months that many of the jewel dealers are facing a srious financial crisis, according to Berlin experts who have been investigating the causes of an unusual situation.

The diamond markets are especially threatened, for the men and women who made much money during the war and invested heavily in diamonds, recently have been selling brilliants extensively, while the old families of established wealth, upon which the trade once depended, have ceased to buy. It is said 50 to 60 per cent. of those who bought jewels with war profits in Germany and England have either sold their purchases or offered them for sale within the last few months.

The synthetic diamond, as well as the artificial ruby, sapphire and spinel, also has invaded the market to the detriment of trade in legitimate stones, not only because many artificial stones were sold as genuine, but because the artificial jewel is preferred by many because it is less expensive, and often can be differentiated only by the connoisseur.

The business in synthetic stones has grown immensely during the last few years, with Germany and France the principal competitors and switzerland a close third. Raw materials for the manufacture of the artificial ruby, which is accomplished by an electrical process, are purchased by Swiss manufacturers from Germany, which has handicapped Switzerland in the race for control of the world market.

Although the production of artificial jewels has greatly increased the prices have risen, which is attributed by the experts to the improved technique. Prices of synthetic rubies and sapphires have increased 20 fold over pre-war prices.

Owing to the stagnation of the trade in genuine diamonds a number of the largest importing houses have ceased importations from South Africa, where their chief supply was secured, and others have greatly reduced their purchases of raw diamonds.

ROSES.

I remember an old-fashioned garden
Where roses grew so fair;
Where many perfumes mingled,
Scenting the summer air.

When bees were always busy,
Buzzing to and fro;
Bearing away the honey,
Forever on the go.

In fancy oft I hear them,
In fancy oft I see;
That sweet old-fashioned garden
Away across the sea.

Thank God we can live over
Some golden hours now gone;
And yet not be ungrateful,
Or think ourselves forlorn.

KENT TAKES A HAND AT COOKING.

Chapter 37

Kent took my hand and held it in his.

"How long have you been sick, Babs" he questioned.

"Not so very long—this afternoon. I tried to keep up, but I knew you wouldn't mind if I just gave up and went to bed. And I haven't any dinner ready for you, Kent," I added, suddenly remembering that I had forgotten all about eating.

"Never mind the dinner part, dearie, I'll get along."

"There is some cold meat in the ice box and part of that apple pie left from last night," I suggested.

"Wouldn't it help your head if I brought you in something to eat, Babs?" he offered solicitously.

"If you could fix me a cup of tea—"

"Sure, just watch me," he beamed. "I'll fix you up a swell supper."

He leaned over and kissed me.

"Put some tea in the tea-ball, dear. Then you just have to boil some water and it will be easier," I suggested.

I lay in bed and listened to him hurrying around the kitchen. He seemed to be very busy banging pots and pans around and whistling intermittingly.

"How long does it take water to boil, Babs?" he finally called to me. "This thing isn't even hot."

"What have you got the water in, dear?" I called back.

"Why, the kettle."

"How much did you put in it?"

"Why—er—it's full, I guess," he answered sheepishly.

"Pour some of that into one of those little white sauce-pans—just a little and it will boil more quickly," I instructed, trying not to laugh.

Pretty soon I smelled something burning, but I didn't have the heart to scold him. I wondered what he was up to. Then I heard him come slowly shuffling down the hall as if he was carrying something very carefully.

"Is it all right to use this tray?" he asked, bringing it to the bedside.

"Why, Kent, you're a wonder," I enthused, "and toast too! How did you know to fix it?" I queried, peeping under the end of a clean napkin that he had used to cover over the toast.

"It's a bit carbonized on the edges, I'm afraid," he laughed. "One piece was entirely reduced to charcoal but the rest is not so bad.

He poured the hot water over the tea ball as I held it in the cup.

"You must be terribly hungry yourself, Kent. Please go now and get something before you have a headache ,too," I entreated. "But —give me a kiss first.

I drank the tea slowly and ate a couple of the pieces of toast which Kent had fixed for me. My head felt much better. It might have been the tea that was soothing but somehow I think having Kent there doing things for me and loving me, had made the difference.

With Kent near me it was so easy to slip back into happiness and for get that there were dangers ahead.

When he finished his dinner he came back and carried my tray into the kitchen.

"Did you have enough, Babs—just tea and toast? Oh I never thought! You might have liked a piece of pie. I neve thought, Babs; I ate every bit of it," he said tragically.

"No, no, I did not want any,' I laughed, "not a bit, but do you think you should have eaten it all, Boy? There was over half of a pie there, I know," I scolded, taking his head between my hands and kissing him on the forehead.

THE HOME CIRCLE

"PRESS ON."

That is a sentence, brief, but full of inspiration, and opening the way to all victory. It solves the reason for all fame. It is the rule that has been used in all the wonderful successes and triumphant marches of fortune and genius. It should be the motto of all, old and young, high and low. Press on. Never dispair. When discouragement seems about to overtake you, press on and leave it far in the rear.

If fortune has played false with you today, be true to yourself and turn the tables on her tomorrow. If an unfortunate business deal has been made, don't fold your hands and give up all as lost but stir yourself and work the more vigorously. Let the foolishness of yesterday make you wise today.

Do not say the world has lost all its poetry and beauty. That is not so, yet even if it were so you can make your own poetry and beauty by leading a true and unblemished life.

ACT WELL YOUR PART.

Our happiness in this life depends not so much on circumstances and surroundings as in our determined efforts to do our best in all conditions in which we are placed. Our common heritage is more or less allied to sorrows and pain, but we have within ourselves the antidote,—the sunshine of the heart that will alleviate, if not remove many of our troubles. But we persistently reject the means of happiness that lie within our reach, by ignoring present small pleasures in hopes of enjoying greater ones in the future good time coming, which always keeps just ahead, and is unattainable. We cultivate little cares till they sometimes attain enormous growth by constantly dwelling on them and dolefully rehearsing them to our friends when we should do our best to rise above them. In the most difficult and trying conditions, there will often be a brighter side.

Don't we all get pretty tired of hearing the continued wail of those people who fancy themselves misunderstood? Haven't most of us suffered from that fancied malady of being misunderstood? But after all, aren't you wrongs a great deal on the same pattern? Yes, the wrongs are all just about the same. The difference arises in the way we deal with them.

Don't we sometimes get frightfully out of patience at the wailers who sit around whining about what they would love to have or do if only life would give them a fair chance. And when we advise them to stir up a little energy and get what they want, they look at us reproachfully and softly sigh, which leaves us more out of patience than we were before. You know there is no use arguing with that kind of a person.

It takes struggle to win things in this life and you can't get much without it. Sometimes we think others have more to start with than we have, but it is only by struggle that they make even the start worth while. Take the son of a millionaire. You might say he has a fine start but did you ever see one who proved himself worth while without a struggle? He has either to fight his own inclination ot lie down on the job, custom and family traditions, or his father's ideas of what he should do. Otherwise he'll turn out to be the ne'er-do-well that most of them are.

It seems that those who have to fight to live have the easiest time after all to make their lives count for something. They have that primal instinct of self-preservation to aid them which the rich man does not have. He must constantly fight his inclination which would come to the best of us were we in his situation.

So let those who are bewailing their lot remember that they can win nothing without a struggle, and if they want to claim the winnings they must do their own struggling.

EASY POSITION GIVES COMFORT.

Necessary to Pleasure of Any Long Trip In Automobile.

Pleasure and comfort in touring depend to a large extent on the driving position.

The man who slouches in his seat, grips the wheel hard and maintains a tense attitude while riding, will find a long country trip tiring and strenuous.

The best position for riding is the easiest—sitting up straight, resting easily against the seat back and keeping the body relaxed. Slouching, say psychologists, retards the activity of the brain. An easy, upright position keeps the mind alert and the body ready for every emergency.

It is not necessary to grip the steering wheel tensely. A loose hold helps maintain riding ease. A good position for the hands is that in which they make 20 minutes after 10, although many drivers find driving easier when they hold the wheel at about 15 minutes after eight.

Keep your head up and eyes forward. Especially in changing gears the eyes should be on the road ahead and not on the control lever. It is good practice to glance off the road occasionally, but only when the car is going at an even rate of speed and the road is straight and clear ahead.

At such times, also, the foot ought to be off the clutch pedal. In fact, the clutch pedal should not be touched except for actual use. And use of the clutch should be limited. It is better to throttle the engine whenever possible instead of throwing out the clutch. The average driver uses the clutch about twice as often as he should, with the result that the clutch collar becomes worn and the clutch slips within the fly-wheel.

If you have friends, cultivate solitude instead of society. Drink in the ozone, bathe in the sunshine, and out in the silent night, under the stars, say to yourself again and yet again, "I am a part of all my eyes behold!" And the feeling will surely come to you that you are no mere interloper between earth and sky; but that you are a necessary particle of the whole.

batters guessing but they managed to connect with some. Doc. Smith allowed some to take more than a base on a passed ball and this helped them out. Ross Dobbin stepped into the fray when defeat loomed near and he and Wilde closed the breach. Dobbin's team called in all their reserves. "Bob" Sturgeon was on the mound for a while and James McIntosh pitched unperturbed, but rather preferred swatting. On the whole Doc. Smith was a fair arbiter and he was allowed to take part in the concluding festivity at the Lakefield House, and even had to make a speech. No injuries were done to any of the players but some of the spectators who cheered on the respective contestants were seriously weakened by the athletes holding up the supper for their own muscular enjoyment. Host Lawless must have concluded that he was feeding a world series team and their attendant numerous vocal supporters. Soup, corn and fish and deep apple pie after continuous application seemed to relieve the suffering party. The decorations of the banquet hall had a soothing effect on jarred nerves and after supper every one seemed quite rational.

P. L. Allison, who was elected chairman at the last meeting of the branch, said that he had never had an opportunity of thanking the members for the honour they had done him. He believed they would have a successful year, and E. R. Shirley, chairman of the committee arranging the programme for the meetings, endorsed this statement.

F. H. Dobbin, for the spectators, spoke their appreciation of the ball game. There was much fun, and at 9 p.m., with the pavilion as the new scene of revelry, there was still much joy-making in progress.

Vivian Martin is not letting the grass grow under her feet. In addition to winning popularity as her screen self, she is covering herself with laurels on Broadway, where she is playing at the Shubert Theatre in "Just Married." Last week in one day she payed about eight performances—that is, by doubling up in brass "The Song of the Soul," her first Messmore Kendall production, was at Loew's New York, where Miss Martin drew capacity houses as the wistful little blind girl while "Just Married" was proceeding on its merry way with Miss Martin herself. Her next film production is "Pardon My French," soon to be released.

SHE WOULDN'T BE WITHOUT TANLAC

MRS. ANNIE TAPPER DECLARES SHE OWES HER HEALTH AND HAPPINESS TO IT.

"If everybody knew Tanlac like I do, there would be less sickness in this world," said Mrs. Annie Tapper, 7 Matilda Street, Toronto, Ont.

"If I were to talk about Tanlac from now till the end of my days, I couldn't get through saying what I would like to say, because it has been such a wonderful blessing to me. I was almost desperate when I began taking it, as I had suffered so much from indigestion and nervousness I was on the verge of a nervous breakdown. My nerves were keyed up to such a high pitch I would just break down and cry over trifles. I had so little appetite I would go for two or three days at a time without even tasting a mouthful of food, and I gradually grew weaker and weaker.

"I slept very little at nights, and in the morning felt so miserable I couldn't get up and go to work over half the time. My side hurt me terribly, too. I was dreadfully constipated, and was subject to dizzy spells. To-day I am well and happy, and I can eat, sleep, and work better than I have in many years. I owe my health and happiness to Tanlac alone. It's the grandest medicine man ever made, and if necessary I would work my knuckles to the bone rather than be without it."

MAN AND WOMAN CUT YOUNG WIFE'S HAIR

Novi Mother is Attacked on Own Porch

PONTIAC, Aug. 13.—Mrs. A. M. Nickels, 23 years old, wife of a farmhand on the James Clark farm at Novi, Oakland County, was seized by an unidentified man and woman when she stepped out on the porch of her home last night. They asked for money; she replied she had none. Then, while the man held her, the woman proceeded to cut off her hair.

"Don't yell or we'll kill you," Mrs. Nickels said the man threatened her.

The woman, she said, remained silent while she clipped her hair, close to the scalp, with a pair of scissors. Mrs. Nickels, a comely mother of two children, had long and thick light hair. Two-thirds of it, mostly at the back, was cut off.

Mrs. Nickels' husband was in the house with the two children at the time. When his wife ran into the house crying that she had been attacked, Nickels ran out but could find no trace of the clippers.

Neither Mrs. Nickels nor her husband could give any motive other than robbery for the attack. Mrs. Nickels said she did not recognize the man's voice and she could not describe either the man or the woman. Oakland County authorities are investigating.

The hair cut from Mrs. Nickels' head could not be found to-day. It is believed that enough hair was cut off to make a braid which could have been sold to hairdressers.

Phoebe Hunt announces pollyannaishly that the war did some good after all. But for that little fracas she would never have become an actress. She had always wanted to go on the stage but the idea met stern parental disapproval whenever she suggested it. In 1914 she was studying singing, and had engaged passage for Europe for further training; but the outbreak of the war prevented her departure.

Phoebe, naturally, was disappointed; in fact, so disappointed that after a lengthy conference the family decided to indulge her whim about play-acting, if it would be any consolation to her. Yes, Phoebe thought it would be a consolation—and she has been an actress ever since. Just a few weeks ago she left the speaking stage to play the leading feminine role in the "Grim Comedian," Rita Weiman's photoplay which Frank Lloyd directed.

SCIENTISTS SEEK VITAMINE AT THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

The quest for the vitamine is the most important search of its kind now being conducted by scientists, it was said at the semi-annual convention of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, at the Hotel Statler.

Millions of men and women the world over are going in for vitamines for health's sake just as religiously as the regular resorter went in for mud baths. Many men and women eat eight cakes of yeast a day. Some prefer the yolk of an egg. These substances are known to contain the vitamine in highly concentrated forms. Nobody knows what the vitamine is, according to H. E. Howe, of the National Research Council, Washington, who is attending the convention. But it puts pep into the white corpuscle. And it is the white corpuscle which chases disease germs.

American Chemists Lead.

"We do not know whether the vitamine is a vegetable substance or is a living organism," Mr. Howe said. "The attempt to isolate it has been going on for about 15 years. The American chemists have done more than those of any other country in this work.

"We are virtually certain that vitamines will be found to be independent, characteristic forms. The search for them is comparable to the attempt to isolate the life principle, but the vitamine should be easier to find and clamp down."

Once upon a time it was Ponce de Leon who sought the world over for the Fountain of Youth. He wanted to be young again—at least he wanted to thwart the ravages of old age. The modern Fountain of Youth is the vitamine. The quest for its discovery is going on in the laboratory, where chemists and biologists are peering into test tubes instead of exploring new continents.

"I do not believe it is a good plan to eat very many yeast cakes without a doctor's order," Mr. Howe continued. "The vitamines are in yeast and they are valuable food, especially in cases of under-nourishment or one-sided diets. But yeast contains other substances that must be taken into consideration in prescribing yeast."

Three Kinds Known.

There are three kinds of vitamines known to science today. The fat soluble vitamine is found in cream, the yoke of an egg, liver, cod liver oil and similar foods. The water soluble vitamine is found in skimmed milk and vegetables. The anti scorbutic vitamine, which prevents scurvy, is found in lemon juice, new potatoes and other fresh vegetables. Prolonged cooking or cooking with high temperature is said to destroy or weaken the vitamine.

Mr. Howe said that the isolation of the vitamine was important in part because it would enable men to manufacture nourishing foods in many instances cheaper than they can be harvested from nature.

ALLEN A THEATRE OF INVITING COMFORT

THOROUGHLY RENOVATED AND RE-DECORATED, INTERIOR IS A WORK OF ARTISTRY.

Thoroughly renovated and redecorated throughout, the Allen Theatre reopened its doors this afternoon to gratifying matinee business after a month's closure for alterations. In its new, decorative dress, predominated by a charmingly refreshing color scheme by which cerese, red and green blend in arresting harmony; with rich red Brussels carpeting, generously ventilated semi-circular auditorium, softly illuminated from red and green shaded electric fixtures on not too ornate pannelled walls, this popular movie house conveys to its audience a sense of comfort and ease as invitingly restful as milady's boudoir.

Outside, the mottled dark red and carmine brick work is enlivened by a liberal coating of bright red paint on the window frames and sashes, while the box office has been attractively freshened up in old rose and sed, with white interior drapery, a combination of coloring both tasteful and pleasing. The foyer presents a picture of refined elegance, acceptably colorful—again in cerese, red and green—with carpet resilient to one's tread, and adorned with a pair of tall electric light standards, whose capacious, deeply fringed red shades are strikingly embellished, the one in stately peacock design, the other with all-over black lace. Here also the visitor is met with a touch of the picturesque in two four-foot-four-inch high Oriental wicker baskets, handsome receptacles for Nature's own green foliage and sweetly-scented bloom.

The cerese used for this theatre's red, with white interior drapery, a only dye of its description known; and the whole beautifully renovated interior, from inviting foyer to American rose-flanked proscenium—upstairs and down—is a work of real artistry, carrying with it a picture of welcoming repose.

Manager R. G. Furlong states that the Allen opens with pre-war prices and practically the same staff as before temporarily closing—employees from whom the public may expect the fullest measure of courtesy and attention at all times. His pictures will be from the most eminent screen authors, featuring the best movie artists, including special attractions released to date.

In the improvements noticed today are remarkable screen lighting effects, which are just about a hundred per cent. in advance of all previous efforts.

THE EXAMINER, Peterboro'

EMPLOYMENT REPORT FOR WEEK ENDING JULY 11

Employment reports for the week ended July 11 were received by Dominion headquarters of the Employment Service of Canada from 5,238 firms employing 613,486 workers. For the previous week these identical firms had reported total payrolls of 615,338, the difference representing a decrease of about one-third of one per cent. The upward trend which had been resumed the previous week was again checked. Comparing the figures for the week under review with the base week of January 17, 1920, the index number of employment was 88.1. For the previous week it was 87.8 and for the corresponding week (June 12) of 1920, it was 107.0.

Fifteen industrial groups recorded increases over the previous week aggregating less than 3,000 employees, while fifteen reported aggregate reductions of about 4,500. The outstanding feature of the week was a continued reduction in employment by firms in the iron and steel industries, chiefly affecting Ontario and experienced mainly by vehicle, agriculture implements and food products plants. Losses in this group also were shown by Quebec, British Columbia, the Prairie provinces and the Maritime district, but all on a much smaller scale than in Ontario. Other outstanding contractions occurred in logging and water transportation. The Ontario-Quebec district absorbed practically all of the losses in logging; British Columbia showed a slight increase in this industry and the Maritime district experienced little change. Upper St. Lawrence ports showed the greatest decrease in water transportation, with Pacific ports next in order. Contractions of smaller magnitude occurred in pulp and paper, shared by Ontario and Quebec; in railway transportation, mainly in the Prairie provinces; in non-ferrous metal products, confined to Ontario and chiefly in brass, bronze and copper products; and in fish canning and packing on the East coast. The largest expansions in industry were registered in railway construction and maintenance, lumber products, building construction and coal mining. The bulk of the gains in railway construction were exhibited by the Western provinces; the expansion in lumber was shared by British Columbia, Nova Scotia and Quebec. Ontario again absorbed the bulk of the increase in building construction, including some expansion in public highways, Quebec and Nova Scotia showed only nominal increases, and the Prairie provinces showed the smallest gains of all. British Columbia reported activity in this industry second to that of Ontario. Coal mining gains were made principally in Alberta and British Columbia, with Nova Scotia exhibiting little change. In the Maritime district the fishing season practically ended, accounting for the slump in the fish canning industry.

Compared with the corresponding week of last year the majority of industries showed contractions in payrolls, exceptions being telephone communication, water transportation and hotel services. The most unfavorable comparisons in this respect were shown by iron and steel products and textiles. Compared with the preceding week, the Maritime pnd Prairie districts and British Columbia showed favorable balances, all on a small scale. But the Ontario-Quebec district exhibited contractions more than offsetting this favorable balance. In the Maritime district the principal item was the expansion in lumber mills; no other gains of importance took place. Only one noticeable decline occurred and that was seasonal, in the fish canning and packing industry. The index number of employment for this district was 90.9 as compared to 112.0 for the same week in 1920. The Ontario-Quebec district experienced its heaviest losses in the iron and steel and logging industries. Agricultural implement firms, bridge works, car plants and crude products firms were chiefly affected. Supplementary losses of some importance took place in water transportation, chiefly at Upper St. Lawrence ports, and in pulp and paper products in both provinces. Minor reductions occurred in brass, bronze and copper plants in Ontario, textile firms in Quebec, and in railway construction in Quebec. The branches of the textile industry chiefly affected were garments and personal furnishings and headwear; at the same time there were offsetting gains in thread yarn and cloth. The largest single increase in this district occurred in building construction, due to increased activity in Ontario. The only other noticeable gain was in tobacco products in Quebec. The index number for this district stood at 85.8 as against 106.2 for the same week in 1920. In the Western provinces the only item of importance was the gain in railway construction, distributed through all three provinces. Nominal increases occurred in building construction, chiefly in Manitoba, and in local transportation, chiefly electric railways in Manitoba. The only noticeable decreases in employment were in railway transportation and iron and steel products. The index number of employment was 93.1 as compared with 107.9 for this week in 1920. In British Columbia the outstanding gains were in lumber mills and railway construction, supplemented by smaller increases in coal mining and logging. The only contraction of any importance took place in water transportation. The index number for this province was 96.0 as compared to 107.0 at the same time in 1920.

IKEY'S BRIGHT IDEA.

When their father died, Ikey, Abe, and Benjamin found that he had left each of them $2,500. Benjamin decided to open a tailor's shop; the others thought they would wait a bit and see how he got on.

As he did quite well, Abe took the shop two hours away and, thinking to profit by Benjamin's success, had it decorated in exactly the same style. Each bore the sign "Mosenstein, the Famous Tailor."

After a few months the cautious Ikey decided that he too would become a tailor. He took the shop between those of his brothers, and consulted the same decorator.

"I suppose you want something striking and original" said the decorator.

"Yes," said Ikey. "I want a shop with von great big door. Over it you can write: 'Mosenstein, Tailor, Main Entrance.'"

INTERNATIONAL FASHIONS

Comparisons may be odious but they are none the less interesting, especially when it comes to the delicate question of feminine feet. There never was a woman who would not have rejoiced to boast her shoe size half a size smaller than it was, who never yearned to be named "the tiny-footed" and the fact that women of today are wearing "sensible" shoes big enough not to squeeze their pedal extremeties out of their natural size and shape, indicates only that they are making the sacrifices to their comfort instead of their vanity.

Since the peace pact and the establishment of international the foot question has assumed a new importance to milady from the point of national characteristics, until queries resolved themselves into the definite question:

Which nationality has the smallest feet?

This question arose from an inspection of women's feet in Bond street, London, during the busiest hour of the morning. Women of many nationalities passed, displaying "understandings" that varied considerably in shape and size.

"Dutch and German women have the biggest feet in the world," said Robert Wortley, court chiropodist. "Their feet are flat and they wear shoes which emphasize their flatness. British women have the longest feet, but they are narrow. Japanese women have the smallest feet of all, and Americans the most beautiful, because they are well cared for from youth.

"After the American feet I award the beauty honor to the French woman, whose foot is a triumph of grace, while dancing has given a special attraction to the Spanish feminine foot."

Mr. Wortley has attended some of the most distinguished feet in the country. One day, when he was walking with the late King Edward in a park near Cromer, the king said he wished him to attend his feet.

"But before you do my feet," said King Edward, "you must let me see how you care for your own." And then and there, in the middle of the park, the chiropodist was obliged to take off his shoes and socks, and show his feet to the sovereign.

"No woman has beautiful feet," said another chiropodist. "Why should they since men are descended from monkeys? I saw the foot possessed by the original of 'Trilby,' and it was not beautiful."

Murderous Ape Kills Females of His Tribe.

One of the most interesting sights of Gibraltar is a famous colony of monkeys living in their native freedom. These "Barbary apes" have so declined that it is believed only eight of them survive. A strange outbreak of crime is responsible for the reduction of the famous colony. The oldest male monkey on the rock recently developed a passion for murdering the females of his race.

When decreases in their numbers was traced to this simian Landru he was captured, and all his teeth taken out. It was hoped that this would make him harmless, but an irresistible craving for slaughter led him to use guile. Employing all the powers and attractions which old age and villainy still left him, he proceeded to lure the female monkeys to the highest point of the rock, where, suddenly seizing them, he would hurl them over the cliff, at the foot of which the mangled bodies of the confiding creatures were afterward found.

With scores of crimes to his charge, the monkey slayer was at last caught again and exiled to the zoo, but the monkey tribe of Gibraltar has never recovered from the havoc he wrought, and visitors seldom catch sight of them.

Says Star Should Have Six Points.

The director of the United States mint has corrected the misapprehension that a star shall have five points, in answering an inquiry on the subject. He calls attention to the fact that the stars on the great seal of the United States and on the seal of the President are five-pointed, but that the stars are six-pointed on the seal of the House of Representatives; and further, to the six-pointed stars on the obverse of the half and quarter-dollar coins, and the five-pointed stars on the reverse.

So far as known the six-pointed star comes from copying the colonial coins made after the manner of heraldry, which sanctions that star. The stars on the flag are copied from the Washington coat of arms.

SAND

Sand is an imitation of whalebone which is sometimes placed in the backbone at birth and sometimes is veneered on later in life. The veneered kind of sand has a tendency to peel and crack at critical moments, causing the wearer to back down and regret having said it, but the blown in the bottle variety should not be trifled with unless all preparations have been made for a decent burial.

Sand is a valuable adjunct in business life, as it enables the merchant to buck up against five rainy Saturdays in succession with a stout heart. It is very discouraging to a sunny dry-goods retailer to advertise Saturday specials and then have it start in on Saturday morning and rain so hard that nobody can get in on the farm without wearing a bathing suit. The right amount of sand, however, will enable the merchant to switch at once to a clearance sale on mackintoshes and near-silk umbrellas, thereby reaping a golden harvest.

The largest stock of sand required in any pursuit is that of getting married on $10 a week. With sugar at ten cents a pound and the price of hard coal going up hand over hand, like a Brazilian ape, it is getting to be a man's job to support a family, but it is being done on $40 a month in many a home where happiness has come in and hung up its hat. Sand gives the best results when it is mixed with contentment, and in that case it doesn't make much difference whether there is a rug carpet or an Oriental rug on the parlor floor.

There is something about whiskey, when imbibed by the bucket, which drains the sand out of a man's system, but if given half a chance it will sprout again faster than the unterrified jimson weed or the prolific dandelion. Many a man has been down and out from the effects of failing to draw a sober breath for six months, but by nursing what sand he had left managed to shake himself loose and breathe in a free, non-alcoholic manner. There is no higher quality of sand than that shown by the wife who puts up with a booze-fighting husband year after year, and by her patience and tact pulls him out on dry land.

Real sand never has to be reinforced by bluster. Never attempt to bluff the quiet little man with a square jaw and a cold blue eye. It is more dangerous than tickling a drowsy mule with a straw.

A fish story told by an Alberta er. While fishing in a bay on Vancouver Island he hooked a very large spring salmon, but the line broke and the fish escaped with the spoon in its mouth. A month later, while fishing in the same spot for flat fish, our reader hooked a salmon through the back as he was pulling his line. The fish was landed safely and to his surprise he found the same spoon was in its mouth that he had lost. The reader says he knows it was the same spoon, as he had made it himself, and it was very odd pattern. This remarkable fact shows that fish do not travel very much in summer.

CHIROPRACTIC

(SPINAL ADJUSTMENT)

"Removes the Cause of Disease"

There are many causes of Disease. One of the most common of these is Imperfect Nerve Supply.

The normal condition and perfect functioning of every part of the Body depend upon Nerve Control.

If the wires are cut, crossed, or disconnected, an electric bell will not ring, no matter how long, hard, or often you push the button.

Even so in the human body. If the Nerves controlling a part do not carry impulses (messages) to that part, it fails to act. Physiologists teach that every action that takes place in the human organism is in response to a Nerve stimulus. If these stimuli are unable to send an impulse along the Nerve, there is no action at the end of the Nerve—the part is virtually dead—just like the electric bell.

What prevents the Nerves from carrying these messages? Many different factors may operate to bring this about. But the commonest of these is pressure on the Nerves.

Where does this pressure occur? At the point where the Nerves pass between hard and movable bones in the Spinal Column.

How is this pressure taken off the Nerves? By replacing the Vertebrae (Bones of the Spine) in their proper position.

Chiropractic recognizes the fact that many Diseases are due to Imperfect Nerve Supply. It determines the cause of the Fault—Nerve Supply. If due to pressure, it finds the place where the pressure exists. It removes the pressure. It restores Perfect Nerve Supply, and assists Nature in Re-establishing a Proper Organic State and Functional Activity.

If you are suffering from a Disorder that has not responded to other forms of treatment, call at my office, and we will talk things over. If my Specialty is indicated in your case, I will tell you so.

SELOUS TELLS OF "SNAKE STONE" IN AFRICA

In the "Life" of that indefatigable hunter and naturalist, F. C. Selous, is the following allusion to a "snake stone" in Africa:

"Passing through the Manica district of the Transvaal in November, 1881, Selous met one of the old Boer voortrekkers, by name Friedrich de Lange, who showed him a curious 'snake stone,' which was supposed to have the power to cure snake bite. De Lange valued this stone highly and stated that its efficacy was invariable, and that it had already cured several people and horses that had been bitten by snakes. Selous himself was able to confirm De Lange's belief in the talisman, for he had met the daughter of one Antony Forman, who as a child had been severely bitten by a cobra and whose life was saved by applying the stone, which was applied twice before it drew out the poison. Selous had met the girl—then 16 years of age—in 1877, and she showed him the old scar.

"Apparently the rough side of the stone adhered to the wound until a certain amount of poison had been absorbed, and then it fell off. Several applications were necessary. It is probable that this remarkable stone had been brought from India."

In nearly all accounts of snake charming in India the "snake stone" as a remedy for "snake bite" plays an important part. For when applied to the punctured wound it is said to absorb the poison gradually, and after one or two applications to eliminate it entirely.

HOUSEHOLD INTIMACIES

Little Harold came to the porch steps where Mrs. Sidney stood clear starching her ruffled curtains. "My wabbit is gone," he declared, his uplifted blue eyes full of trouble. "Did you see it?" "Yes, dear," said Mrs. Sidney, "It is under the steps now, and if you sit down and watch for it, you may catch it when it hops out." So little Harold sat down to watch, and he talked while he rested. He said, "My muvver says she should think you would have a 'lectric motor fixed to your machine like hers is; she says he thinks you could, if you didn't spend so much buying other things." No answer from Mrs. Sidney.

After a pause Harold began anew. "Guess you didn't see my bruver Dan, this morning? He sold all the lead pipes from that empty house, over there, and when the man that owns it came and told my favver, he heard him through the transom and he run off. Say, Mrs. Sidney, do you know my bruvvers scold my muvver all the time, and so she never asks them to help her; but she tells my papa, and every night when he comes home he has to whip 'em. But I help, I do. I hang up things for my muvver, and put things away, and set the table, and she never cries about me. Last night she cried, she did; she cried about Bunny being gone. I know she was not crying about Dan 'cause he swears. He said your boy taught him, but you wash your boys' mouth with soap and water (I looked through the fence and saw you). Say, Mrs. Sidney, would you please give me a apple for Bunny? My favver won't buy apples; he says we boys waste our food and muvver says it's worse to smoke up money, than to waste other things. How can you smoke money, Mrs. Sidney?"

"There goes your rabbit, Harold. Quick, now, and you can catch him! Here is your apple, and you had better run home." And Mrs. Sidney, rather flushed of face and wildeyed, stood looking after the little chap as he lugged the big rabbit home by its ears.

She thought no more about the visitation, until Harold's mother passed her on the street with head held high and eyes averted. Mrs. Sidney was too sensible not to take her neighbor to task at once. "What is the matter?" sniffd the angry mother. "A great deal is the matter. You told Harold my boys were lazy, and you gave him fruit because you said his family would not buy it; and you told him your boys had clean mouths. It is not kind to gossip to a child, Mrs. Sidney, and we are very angry about it."

In vain did Mrs. Sidney declare she had not said a word to Harold, but explanations went unheeded and Bunny no longer roams through his neighbor's lettuce patch. He is locked in a hutch. What use do you make of the intimacies of your home? Do you use your evenings to recount the childrens' little daily mistakes to their father? It requires a delicate, loving touch to guide the home talk into safe channels, to keep humor sugar-coated and the gleam of family affection well polished. Take care! JUNE BUGS

"The Ephemeridae exist in enormous numbers and last for the shortest time imaginable in their perfect state. They are the lightest, the most fragile, and the most delicate creatures in the world. They float away in the air from off the water, in which they have lived during the early stages of their existence, flutter in the sunshine, dance about with every breeze, and they grow faint as the sun gets low, and sink and die with the night. They are truly ephemeral beings."

The aforesaid paragraph is taken from a technical treatise by the late P. Martin Duncan, F. R. S., professor of geology in King's College, London. It refers, not as might be expected, to fairies or dryads or water nymphs, but to the swarming pests which bring us about this time every year, and which are known commonly as June-bugs.

Detroiters, particularly residents of the Jefferson Avenue section near the water, seem to believe the June-bugs have sprung a lot of ringers on us this summer. They insist the ephemeridae (not to call them out of their name) were never so numerous as at present. In view of which a few words about the ephemeridae might not be amiss.

Not a Bug at All.

In the first place the June-bug isn't a bug at all. Prof. Duncan and other "cootie" experts make that point clear at the outset. It is a fly. And in one respect is a very dumb fly.

It spends two or three years preparing for its debut. Then when it finally does enter the world it lasts about a long as Jess Willard did at Toledo.

Dr. Duncan tells us that prior to its perfect state the ephemeridae lives for two or three years as a wingless, aquatic creature, clinging concealed to the under side of stones in lakes or in burrows at the bottom of running streams. At the end of the immature life he rises to the surface. After floating there for a short time the cuticle suddenly splits along his back and almost instantly the wings expand and he flies away, a full fledged fly.

If this transformation takes place in the morning the ephemeridae makes a day of it. He flies round and round like a cuckoo and retires from everything at about the time good union men knock off for the day.

Loves the Bright Lights.

If, on the other hand, he starts his career toward evening he makes directly for the bright lights. He philanders amid the white lights and when the lights go out he does also.

Dr. Duncan fails to explain just why the ephemeridae's life is such a brief one, but the chances are he dies of disgust because so few people know his full title. Ephemridae is a name to be proud of. But humans insist on calling him a June-bug or May-fly or lake-fly or day-fly or shad-fly or what not.

The ephemerdae is built for speed rather than comfort. He can't eat because he hasn't any mouth. He is all dressed up without any place to go, and if he had a place to go he wouldn't live long enough to get there.

However, he is not entirely brainless as Dr. Duncan points out. The learned professor, concluding his article on ephemeridae, says:

"Indeed, the perfect insects, living as they do, only a few hours, never think of wasting their lives in eating and drinking. They all exist for love, and they spend their short day in a constant and active courtship."

Not so bad for a June-bug: What!

CHURCH SERVICES AT MARK STREET

Both morning and evening the congregations were very encouraging. The music was much enjoyed by the people.

"The Old Revival and the New Evangelism," was the subject of the morning sermon, and was a development of Psalm 85:6—"Wilt Thou not receive us again that Thy people may rejoice in Thee?" The following is an outline of the sermon:

Reminiscences and Celebrations.

These are times of reunions, commemorations and celebrations. We gather up the memories and the experiences of other days, and hold them to our heart with laughter or with tears. The old home and its surroundings, faces that brightened the family circle, and voices that rang on the old school ground, are hidden beneath the sod, or lending their charm to other scenes far away. At eventime we "talk things over," our youth and its adventures, our start in life, our battles and our victories. We say little about our defeats, it is not necessary; others will attend to that. Everybody knows how we have failed, only God and ourselves know how we have tried to succeed. But how seldom we discuss

The Old Revival.

"By the rivers of Babylon there we sat down, yea, we wept, when we remembered Zion."

This was the experience of these captives by the river. They talked of their home away back in Jerusalem, of the dear friends left behind, of the happy and holy family devotions, of sweet associations broken forever; but the chief object of their reflection was "Zion," dear, blessed, happy Zion, where the visible presence of Jehovah set the altars all ablaze with holy fire. It would have cost a man his life to have ridiculed one of these old Jewish revivals. Oh yes; there were great revivals of religion in Old Testament times; and Elijah, that primitive evangelist, saw a mighty turning to God that day on Carmel, when Jehovah swept the altar with sacrificial fire from heaven, and multitudes cried out, "The Lord Jehovah is God, and Baal is a lie and a deception." Did you forget that

The Church of God was born in a Revival?

Fifty days after the nails crashed through the matchless hands of Jesus, the Holy Ghost fell in tongues of living flame at Pentecost. What commotion and enthusiasm and surging emotion and God-inspired zeal, and divine earnestness characterized that revival, whose travail gave birth to the Christian church. What a sermon Peter preached on that ocasion. Not many like it now. Three thousand people converted in about 45 minutes, and all baptized and received into the church in one day. You see the order: Conversion, Baptism, Reception into the Church on Confession of Christ and Profession of Faith.

There was one thing about the ministry of Peter, and that was his sure

Faith in a Revival of Religion.

Peter believed the Gospel he preached. He was intimately acquainted with Jesus Christ. He was hungry in his own soul for the Pentecostal outpouring. "The rushing, mighty wind," the "cloven tongues of fire," and the strange methods of the spirit's demonstrations, were, I believe, all secondary to the burning message which he delivered to dying men. Like other mighty evangelists that followed him, methods were an after-consideration. If the remedy meets and cures the disease what matters it whether it is taken from a chalice of silver or an iron spoon?

He dipped His message in the agonies of Golgotha and flung it broadcast among the people. Peter had nothing in common with many preachers of to-day, but his salary, and that was persecution, prison, weary old age and an inverted cross. Would Peter "fill the bill" in the average church of to-day as its preached? Emphatically no. Would his message be acceptable to this church? Would his message be acceptable to this church? Yes. Your preacher has always a free hand and his message is loyally received.

Methods and Emotion in a Revival.

David says, "Wilt Thou not revive us again?" I think the sweet singer of Israel was such a man as would enjoy a good healthy revival. David was a man of method. And I find him so filled with the Holy Ghost on one occasion that he deliberately danced for joy. But of course it was religious joy and enthusiasm that made him dance. You say, "Oh, he is so full of emotion and you know I don't like their emotional meetings." Now, there is such a thing as emotional suicide, for emotion turned inward, eats up itself, and the result is either the assumption of cynicism, or the restless searching for something new, or the latest sensation. But we are not here thinking of living on our feelings, and that is the unsaved for whom Christ died. Emotion under control is one of the mightiest forces in the universe. Emotion and enthusiasm have characterized the greatest movements in history.

"I Can Pray at Home and Find God There."

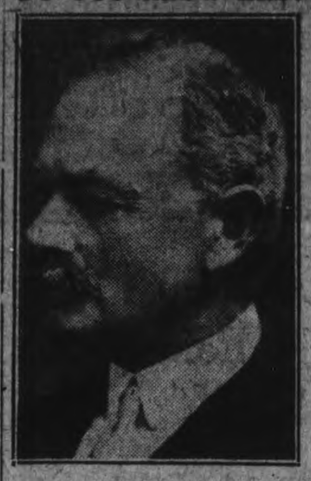
Yes, but you will find Him easier in a healthy revival. Elijah, John the Baptist, Paul, all the Church Fathers, Augustine, Columbia, Wesley, Whitfield, Jonathan Edwards, Moody, Billy Sunday, and hundreds of others, did believe in revivals. I venture to say that three-fourths of all the really converted people in this city found Christ in connection with some special evangelistic movement.

What is the New Evangelism?

It is this: The child needs no personal grip of Christ. There is no struggle in coming into the Kingdom. No mighty convictions of sin that tear the soul. There is no record of the "great transaction." Christ's Incarnation and Divinity are doubted. "Find your own heaven and the other fellow's here."

Let us say: From all this and more may the Lord deliver us.

DO YOU KNOW HIM?



Even the Byng Boys will hardly recognize their former leader in the above. It is, however, Lord Byng's very latest picture, specially posed for the Canadian National Exhibition, a few days before he sailed for Canada, for reproduction on a medal commemorating the opening of the 1921 Fair, over which he will preside on Aug. 27. Divested of his military attire the new Governor-General looks a very different person to the stern soldier Canadians knew through his war photos.

RANN-DOM RESLE

By Howard L. Rann

THE PALM BEACH SUIT

The Palm Beach suit is a substitute for real clothes which men wear in place of a kimono. There are a great many man who could wear a loose-flowing kimono with excellent effect, owing to being constructed on the solid architectural lines of the standpipe, but there is only now and then a man who can climb into a Palm Beach suit and look as if he knew whether h was going north or south.

The Palm Beach suit derived its inspiration from one of the greatest utilities ever draped upon the male physicque—the linen pant. This article, as worn until recent years, was made out of a discarded gunny sack and was almost as porous as a deep sea sponge. When worn in connection with a short seersucker coat it gave to a fat man an air of dignity which no other garment has ever been able to imitate, but when strung around a lean, cadaverous citizen it imparted to him a lugubrious and crestfallen look. Nobody who wants to be in style nowadays wears the linen pant, and it has declined in popularity faster than a patent medicine which has quit advertising.

The Palm Beach suit came into being along with the discovery that business men could take a month's vacation every summer without ushering in Gabriel's toot. It is a thin form of raiment, worn on the outside and is fastened firmly to the hips of the wearer by a belt. The Palm beach suit would create more respect if it were held up by suspenders, thus preventing that alarming list to starboard which arouses so much consternation at our summer resorts. It is a proof of man's stubborn nature that the fewer hips he has the more determined he is to wear a pair of baggy, underslung pants which have to be yanked back into place ever and anon with a nervous hand.

Originally, the Palm Beach suit was a sign of aristocratic birth and blue blood, being donned mainly by men who could afford to flutter around the golf links and make love to all with whom they came in contact. This is all changed now. Base imitators have produced a Palm Beach suit which will fit anything from a featherweight to a monolith and which retails at $6.75. Thus in every village is to be found the proud possessor of one of these sartorial shocks, moving serenely among his fellow-men with composed mien and bulging hips.

JUST HUMAN

By George Matthew Adams.

About the strangest thing in the world is this—that though we are every last one of us exactly human, still are we most all about ninety per cent. shy and afraid of the world—and each other.

I wonder why it is? The world was made for us all. And we were made—every one of us—to be friends and to like each other.

The world is so big. And there is so much room for laughter and happiness. And everybody likes laughter and happiness. I have never known anyone who did not.

And yet, how funny we are! If we don't like some particular human, we say so—most always to someone else. We call them names—and wonder why they are not like us. Well, the biggest reason why they are not like us, is probably because we are not like them.

We are all about the same in feeling a and in desire. We long for and work toward about the same things. Our faces all look something alike, even though each of us does own the only face of its kind ever made.

But we are all—just human—after all.

Yet I wish we knew each other better. I wish we were more tolerant, more understanding of the feelings of others, more generous, more hopeful, more aspiring toward larger and better things—more desirous to give instead of to get.

I would that everybody's business belonged to us only in so far as we could help and love and make it easier and more beautiful for them.

I think that the greatest business in the world is smile making. And the greatest profession—smile giving. People hide behind hate and meanness—but never behind smiles!

So let's do what we can today to light up the world—most of all, our particular place of work and standing—with Smileshine.

HUMAN KINDNESS.

"Give, and it shall be given unto you."
LUKE 6: 38.

Go scatter your seeds of kindness,
Go scatter them far and wide;
For lack of this human sunshine
Many drooping hearts have died.

Be lavish in your kindness,
To man and child and beast;
And you will be rewarded
A hundred-fold at least.

God sends His rain and sunshine,
On the evil and the good;
And we could not live without it,
Not even if we would.

And we must have human kindness
From those who have to give;
We must have sunshine human,
If we would truly live.

JILTED SUITOR DRIVEN TO MURDER AND SUICIDE

He Wounds Sweetheart After Sister Had Given Life in Guarding Her.

ONEIDA, N.Y., Aug. 15. — Two lives were sacrificed to unrequited love when Frank Sager, 26 years old, a tobacco salesman, shot his former sweetheart, Miss Bernice Hook, 27; killed her sister, Miss Pearl Hook, 26, who tried to shield her and turned his weapon on himself.

Sager died at the City Hospital. Miss Bernice Hook has a chance for recovery. Her sister died as she was taken into a hospital, two bullets having pierced her head.

Oneida officials agree that the rejection of Sager as a suitor drove him to make deliberate plans for the crime. The sisters were on their way to work at 7.10 o'clock when Sager, driving a motor truck, halted them. Witnesses of the tragedy agree that Sager tried to induce the women to accompany them and that when Miss Bernice Hook refused, he aimed the revolver at her.

As he fired Miss Pearl Hook threw herself in front of her sister. She fell with two bullets in her heart. Her sister fled and Sager followed her, firing. Five bullets struck her, but none in a vital spot.

Three men pursued Sager as he ran after seeing his former sweetheart fall, and as they were about to close in on him he shot himself in the heart. The three bodies lay in a fifty-five foot circle.

U.S. PLANNING RAID ON PRICE HOLD-UP MEN.

Anti-Trust Measures To Be Used Against Profiteers.

By Ralph F. Couch,
(United Press Staff Correspondent).

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. — The Department of Justice has begun gathering evidence for a new raid on profiteers.

The profiteers are not to escape, it was made plain, despite the fact that the Supreme Court recently knocked out the anti-profiteering provisions of the Lever Act.

"The Justice Department still has behind it the powerful anti-trust laws and other acts designed to prevent artificial price fixing," declared Buy D. Goff, assistant to the Attorney-General.

As a result of a countrywise survey made by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, when question cards were sent to car owners in all sections of the United States, asking motorists to express their relative preferences concerning the chief factor of an automobile, endurance and economy were the first qualifications that the prospective buyer demanded, comfort is the third consideration, followed by appearance, service, hill climbing, flexibility, endorsement of other owners, specifications, speed and appointments.

GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

Eat less meat if you feel backachy or have Bladder trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder disease.

GERMAN COMMUNISTS ARE USING CHILDREN.

Severely Criticized For This Method of Disseminating Propaganda.

BERLIN, Aug. 15. — The use of little children for propaganda purposes by the German Communist party leaders is characterized as a "scandalous and shameless procedure" by some of the leaders of more conservative parties, who have taken particular exception to a recent "demonstration" in which school children participated.

The children were "called out" by flaming posters and some of them carried banners protesting against religious instruction in the schools, against corporal punishment, and against the Government, with special reference to the police.

Revolutionary songs were sung, and then a 12-year-old boy made a speech criticizing the conduct of the schools and religious instruction.

The Communists frequently dress young girls and boys in bright red garments from head to heel and have them parade the streets carrying banners of protest against the Government's attitude in some particular case which is occupying the public's attention at the time.

The police have never interfered with these "demonstrations."

VAMP THEORY HELD.

EFFORT TO FORCE VICTIM TO WED MAY EXPLAIN SLAYING.

LOS ANGELES, August 15. — A "vampire woman" who sought to force one of her victims to give a name to her unborn child—that is the picture the State will draw of Mrs. Madalynue Obenchain to-day in asking her indictment on a charge of complicity in the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, insurance broker.

The authorities will attempt to show that Mrs. Obenchain is to become a mother as the result of her relations with Kennedy, that Kennedy refused to marry her, and was shot by Arthur C. Burch, whose indictment also will be sought.

As evidence of the woman's great magnetism will be presented the fact that Burch, whom she referred to as only a "platonic friend" of her college days, hurried across the continent in response to a single telegram which Under Sheriff Manning says read thus:

"Things look bad here. Please come at once.—Madalynne."

The State will contend that Ken-Burch, attempted to extricate himself from the web Mrs. Obenchain had woven about his, was shot by Burch during an altercation when he refused to listen to Burch's pleadings that he marry Mrs. Obenchain.

ACCUSE 16 DETROIT DEALERS

Warrants for Fruit Wholesalers Charge Stifling of Competition.

DETROIT, August 15. — Charging "conspiracy to limit, control, restrict, and regulate production of fruits, vegetables, and produce and to regulate the market price and prevent free competition in the city of Detroit," Prosecutor Paul Voorhies issued warrants for the arrest of sixteen prominent wholesale fruit and produce dealers.

The men accused include officers of the Wholesale Produce Dealers' Association, and among the charges involved is that an agreement exists among wholesalers to "black list" jobbers who will not agree to refuse sales to small dealers in temporary stands.

The charges are the result of a Grand Jury investigation before Justice Arthur Gordon, at which from thirty to forty witnesses were heard.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.— (Canadian Press.)—Selling of selected industrials was renewed in the early stages of to-day's stock market session. New low records for the current movement were made by United States' Rubber, common and first preferred, Central Leather and Continental Can, these shares showing extra declines of one to four points. Mexican Petroleum, Retail Stores, Bethlehem Steel, General Electric, Studebaker, Anaconda and Goodrich also were lower by substantial fractions to one point. Among the rails, especially the investment group, as represented by Great Northern and Union Pacific, a firmer trend was noted.

Rubber, leather, oil, and motor shares extended their losses this morning. Chandler, International Paper, and irginia Iron, Coal and Coke were among the stocks which made new low records at declines of 2 to 3 points. Rails lapsed into extreme dullness.

Call money opened at 6 per cent.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, August 15 (Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange was steady. Demand, $3.66 1-4; Canadian dollars, 9 15-16 per cent. discount.....

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, August 15 (Canadian Press). — Wheat showed considerable firmness in price to-day owing in some degree to a current estimate that the United States exportable surplus would not exceed 175 million bushels.

Initial quotations, which varied from 1-4 to 3-4 cents higher, with September 1.24 3-4 to 1.25 and December 1.26 1-2 to 1.26 3-4, were followed by slight further gains, and then something of a reaction.

After opening unchanged, including September at 56 5-8 to 56 3-4.

Corn prices hardened a trifle, and then showed a disposition to sag.

The oat market opened 1/8 off to a like advance, September 38 3-8 and later went below any level which had been touched this season by the September delivery.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, August 15 (Canadian Press). — Paper stocks, when they made their appearance, were slightly weaker, Brompton selling at 19, Laurentide 66 1-4, and Wayagamack 28. The market closed dull.

TORONTO.

TORINTO, August 15 (Canadian Press). — This morning's session of the Toronto Stock Exchange was a quiet affair, the triple holiday apparently not bringing forth any accumulation of orders. Trade this morning was confined chiefly to odd lots, and the best indication of the lack of interest is shown by the fact that Canada Permanent, with sales of fifty shares, headed the list in point of activity. Total sales of listed stocks approximated 400 shares for the morning. Paper stocks were steady, with Abitibi unchanged, and Riordon and Spanish River not dealt in during the morning. Brompton unlisted was unchanged at 20, Wayagamack 1-4 higher at 28 1-4. Laurentide was 1 1-2 off at 66 1-2.

KEMALIST GOVERNMENT ARE TRYING TO SOLVE THE EASTERN QUESTION

ANGORA, Asia Minor, Aug. 13.—(Associated Press).—The Kermalist government, with the aid of its army is determined to solve the Near Eastern problems itself; a fact to which the Allied western powers are said to be blind.

This is the chief impression which The Associated Press correspondent received after a trip of hundreds of miles by sea and land from effete, befuddled Constantinople to the clear atmosphere of this little city, situated on a wide plateau, where the Nationalists have pitched their political tents.

The stranger, putting his foot on the soil of Nationalist Anatolia, feels a new air. It is not a privilege extended to all and sundry; but once good faith has been estabished, the doors of primitive hospitality are opened wide, and the stranger may do what he will or go where he pleases.

Re-visiting the interior after two years, when the Nationalist government had just received its baptism by the declaration of rights of the Turkish people at Sivas, the correspondent found the same gray, beflowered, treeless distances, the same toiling peasants, the same dull villages and town. But the air is charged with a new purpose.

The correspondent saw Mustapha Kemal Pasha, Halide Hanum, the woman Nationalist leader, and other personalities with whom he talked at length two years ago. Today, they make the same declarations as then; they are fighting for their homeland and for national existence; they will have nothing more and nothing less.

They are also close students of American history; they compare their war to America's struggle for independence. "What boots poverty or ill-clad soldiery, if the heart be right and the cause be just?" they ask.

The correspondent put the question bluntly to Mustapha Kemal, to Yussuf Kemal Bey, his Minister for Foreign Affairs and to other leaders: "Are you not unsportsmanlike to organize yourselves for the purpose of beating a just peace after you were whipped in the great war?"

The answer came: "No. We have given up Syria and Mesoptamia. We have left these former Ottoman countries to their own destinies. What further penalty should we pay for our defeat?"

It is the intention of the Nationalist Turks to live or die on the issue of national independence and the integrity of the soil inhabited by Turks with no interference from foreigners.

As regards Bolshevism, it is apparent that the Turks are securing arms and a certain amount of assistance from that direction; yet they are afraid of Bolshevik contact as western Europe is. The Turks do not desire any political foreign control from any direction.

The intention is to drive out the Greeks and then to retake Constantinople, make it their commercial capital and begin rebuilding Turkey on the basis of good roads.

To-day, they are refusing to issue Nationalist paper money, for fear of debasing the old currency.

The Turks declare that the Nationalist movement, which has historically been going on for half a century but has been mothered by the greed of sultans and pashes is destined to live.

Napoleon died on the island of St. Helena of cancer.

BOY CATCHES TWO SHARKS.

Eight-Foot Fish Hooked Off Cape May From Private Yacht.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Aug. 15. — Fishing woth H. E. Derbyshire, a retired Philadelphia manufacturer, in his yacht, Cycle, oc the Five-Fathom Bank Lightship twenty miles at sea off this city, Emory Eyesman, a son of Julian Eysman, general traffic manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad, caught two sharks that measured 8 feet and 8 feet 4 inches long, and tipped the scales at 450 and 490 pounds each. The boy is 13 years old.

He battled with the sharks for more than two hours before landing them. Those who were fishing from the yacht caught 250 sea trout, crokers and black bass. It took an express wagon to haul the day's catch from Schellengers Landing.

THE HEAT WAVE.

Melts Glacier in Tyrol — Ice Buries Village — None Hurt.

VIENNA, Aug. 15.—The unprecedented heat wave in Austria has broken with a crash. In Oetsuale, in the upper Tyrol, the burning sun melted a glacier.

Huge blocks of ice broke off, mixed with earth and rocks, and rolled down upon the little village of Solden, burying it under six feet of debris. There were no casualties, as the inhabitants were gathering their crops.

Simultaneous with this and a similar breaking up of glaciers in other valleys, come reports from all parts of the Tyrol, of wind storms which destroyed buildings and crops. A cool wind blew over Vienna for the first time in many weeks, ending the spell of torrid weather during which men appeared in public in their shirt sleeves. That was so entirely new to the people there that the first man seen on the streets so garbed was arrested for indecency.

However, at the crowded bathing beaches on the Danube, girls appeared in suits abbreviated to the vanishing point, and men in the original fig leaf attire, which was a considerable shock to American visitors.

THE "ZONE FARE."

U.S. Street Railways Must Adopt System, Says Expert.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15.— Traction systems throughout the nation must adopt the "zone fare system" or face bankruptcy, Peter Witt, foremost traction expert of the countrl, told the United Press here today.

"What's wrong with the street cars?" Witt was asked. "Why were the street car companies in Des Moines and Bay City (Mich.) forced to quit?"

"Very simple," Witt replied. "Primarily, what is wrong with the traction systems is that as the value of the dollar changed and prices soared, street car fares remained the same.

"Relief, in the form of increased fares, came too late. Also, it was noticed that when the price of the ride went up, the number of riders went down.

"The result," Witt continued, "of not enough money going into the fare boy to put into the pay envelope is that the credit of practically every traction sytsem in the country is badly shot to pieces. No one will lend them money; nobody wants to buy thier stocks and bonds.

"The remedy, as I see it, is for the traction companies to immediately go on a 'zone fare system' and charge the riders what the ride is worth. In other words if a man rides nine blocks he should not be forced to pay as much as the man who rides nine miles."

Witt said he considered it a national disgrace that one of the nation's most important public utilities is in the state of affairs it now finds itself in.

PETERBORO ELIMINATED FROM THE CUP SERIES

SPEED AND CLEVERNESS OF OTTAWA TEAM ENABLES VISITORS TO SECURE A 3 TO 2 VICTORY OVER LOCAL REPRESENTATIVES

Peterborough were eliminated from the Plenty Cup series on Saturday afternoon at Riverside Park whein the clever eleven representing the Ottawa Association, took them into camp by the score of 3 goals to 2. It would not be dealing justly with the visitors to fail to mention the fact that the score scarcely does credit to their superiority. Outside of the last fifteen minutes of the first half, when the Peterborough team, who found themselves behind two goals inside of ten minutes from the kick-off battled gamely until they evened the count before half time, the visitors dominated the game. They had speed, individual cleverness and a well defined system of team play in their favor, and during the whole of the second half the Ottawa crew did nine-tenths of the attacking, only the coolness and agility of Goalie Charlie Griffin saving Peterborough's representative from a defeat by a much larger margin.

Ottawa started like whirlwinds and had two goals in ten minutes and looked likely to get half a dozen more. Then the Peterborough squad rallied and were on the aggressive for the rest of the half, their persistence being rewarded by two goals and a tied score at the breathing spell. They looked to have more than an even chance of carrying off the honours at that stage, but Ottawa came back so strong after the rest that the home team were seldom in the picture, and there was no doubt left as to which was the better aggregation.

Ottawa looked well balanced in all departments. Humble proved a clever goalie and McGhie and Elderwood were a pair of steady backs. The half-back line did excellent work, Menlove, the captain of the team, who incidentally was a member of the Ontario All Stars which met the touring Scottish team, being especially in the limelight. All the forwards showed speed and cleverness and the attack worked well togeher.

Griffin in goal, McDonald and Bishop the backs, and Manders at outside right, were the pick of the Peterborough team. Griffin saved cleverly on many occasions, and cleared coolly and with judgment, while McDonald and Bishop did yeoman service. Manders' fleetness of foot and control of the ball, enabled him to hold his own with the best of the visitors.

The teams were:

Ottawa		Peterborough.
Humble	Goal	Griffin
McGhie	Right Back	McDonald
Elderwood	Left Back	Bishop
Menlove	Right Half	Burrows
Tinman	Centre Half	McMillan
Watson	Left Half	Frost
Calder	Outside Right	Manders
Lone	Inside Right	Chambers
Dalton	Centre	McDougall
Greenan	Inside Right	Rorrison

McDonald Outside Right Bartley

Referee—J. Clark, Peterborough.

Peterborough won the toss, Capt. Griffin electing to kick north, and Ottawa set the ball in motion at 5.45 p.m. The visitors were early on the offensive, and two or three raids in the first couple of minutes were dangerous. Calder, the outside right, led several of these attacks, and finally after he and Lone had got away nicely, a beautiful cross which McDonald closed in fast for, resulted in first blood for the visitors. The outside left came in like a flash and his bullet-like shot crashed into the net far out of Griffin's reach and gave the Petes' clever goalie no chance to save.

The home crew rallied after this set-back, and for the first time were dangerous. Manders got away once in good style, but was stopped by McGhie. A little later McDougall was inside and Humble was lucky to save. Elderwood booted out of danger and Ottawa resumed the attack. Their efforts were soon rewarded, for Calder, after a nice run, slipped the ball over to Dalton in front of the nets. The centre forward outguessed Griffin who, expecting a shot to the corner started in that direction. Dalton slid the ball in on the other side, the goalie slipping as he attempted to shift his position.

Then Peterbrough came to life, and for the balance of the half showed their best football of the night. They attacked vigorously and Humble had to be good to prevent scores. He made a fine save of a hard shot from Chambers, who received the ball from Manders. Humble averted a goal at the expense of a corner. McDougall and Rorrison both gave him a chance to show his ability. Finally, however, Rorrison took a pass from Bartley, and his low shot twisted out of Humble's hands and rolled through for a counter.

The crowd rooted vigorously for the Peterborough team to come on and score the equalizer, and come on they did, keeping the Ottawa defence busy. It remained for McDougall to supply the tieing goal and the fireworks play of the night. Blocking a kick from Tinman, he carried the ball around that player, then beat Elderwood and tore in on Humble to slide the ball neatly into the net. The half-time whistle sounded a moment later.

There was nothing to the second half but Ottawa. They were always on the offensive save for a few spasmodic attacks and Griffin and his defence were kept busy. Griffin, always good, was never better than during that period, and he had to be at the top of his form to prevent scores. Ottawa were not to be denied, however, and at last a clever pass from McDonald gave Greenan a chance at close range, and he made the most of it by driving home the goal that signalized the passing of Peterborough from the Plenty Cup competition.

The Petes gave the best they had, but it was not good enough for the clever boys from the Capital.

OSHAWA CENTRAL LEAGUE TEAM WILL PLAY HERE ON SATURDAY

The unexpected defeat of Belleville at the hands of Port Hope on Saturday stopped the runaway career of the Belleville team and once more the Central League race is anybody's, with only a game and one half separating the first team from the fifth. One of the most important games of the series will be played here on Saturday, when Oshawa, the winners of the first half, will be here to do battle with the Petes. The Solomon crew have to win this game to stay in the running, for a loss to Oshawa would kill the chances of the local crew. Dainty is back in Oshawa again, and the southpaw will likely be used against the Petes in Saturday's game, which promises to be one of the best of the year.

The League standing is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Lindsay	3	1	.750
Oshawa	4	2	.667
Belleville	4	2	.667
Port Hope	3	4	.428
Peterborough	2	3	.400
Cobourg	1	5	.167

The Peterborough-Lindsay game, postponed from July 23rd, will be played here on Saturday, Sept. 3rd, according to official orders from President Kimmel. The Belleville at Oshawa game will also be played at the same time.

SAYS BELLEVILLE KEPT BASEBALLS IN THE ICEBOX

Oshawa Telegram::— Rather a startling charge has been made against the Belleville Baseball Club, in the game at Belleville on Wednesday, August 3, when Oshawa was beaten by the score of 3-0, and the home scorer declared that Oshawa did not get one safe hit. Information has been received that the Belleville management the night prior to the game soaked three balls in an icebox, thereby deadening them, and making it almost impossible to drive them any distance. The ruse is an old one, and has often been adopted with success, where sportsmanship has been noticeable for its absence. Of course, whenever Belleville came to bat, the management would endeavor to have a live ball put into play by the umpire. There were five hits off Dainty, and even at that, had the Oshawa pitcher not issued two passes in the first inning, the Oshawa club would have had a chance. The charge of soaking the balls in an ice-box may explain somewhat why Pitcher Goyer got credit for a no hit game. It is said that nothing can be done about the matter at this late date. But Belleville will have to play in Oshawa again this summer, and the no run, no hit exponents will probably have a merry ride here. The slogan has got to be all around the circuit, "Anything to Beat Oshawa."

Lindsay Post: We cannot credit the serious charge made by the Oshawa Telegram that the Belleville Club delebrately placed three baseballs on a block of ice over night before the Oshawa game in Belleville, so that the Oshawa nine were unable to hit the "water-soaked, or soggy balls" out of the infield, while Belleville managed to slip the Umpire real new balls when they went to bat. True, Goyer had a no-hit game, but we believe that the Belleville club is being libelled and that the charge is false, even before we hear the evidence.

FIREMEN WERE CALLED OUT

Representative of Fire Underwriters' Association Inspected the Fire Brigade.

Port Hope Guide: The representative of the Fire Underwriters' Association paid a visit to Port Hope and called the Fire Brigade out about 5.30 o'clock for practice. The line of hose was attached to the hydrant on Walton street near J. T. Steen's store and soon a stream was playing on the high buildings on John street. In a couple of weeks the Council will receive a letter from the Underwriters pointing out certain defects and recommending changes in the equipment. The letter will be read and as usual, placed away for safe keeping and nothing more heard of it.

Trans-Canada also announce having completed arrangements with Mr. Marc Klaw and Mr. Charles Coburn to produce in association with these gentlemen, the great London Globe Theatre success, "French Leave," which also had a considerable run in New York City. Mr. Charles Coburn has already engaged several well known English artists for the production.

Trans-Canada also announce the completion of a contract with Miss Marie Lohr, and her entire English Company for a tour of Canada.

Trans-Canada Theatres announce the completion of arrangements with Lady Forbes-Robertson (Miss Gertrude Elliott) for a tour of Canada, reviving in all probability her greatest success, "The Dawn of To-morrow."

Trans-Canada Theatres also announce the completion of arrangements with Mr. Albert DeCourville to produce his world famous London Reviews for Canadian tour. AT THE THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

RUBY MILLER, FILM ARTISTE, EXPERT ON DRESS.

Celebrated English Favourite Has Important Role in "The Mystery Road."

Ruby Miller, an English screen favourite who has a prominent role in "The Mystery Road," a Paramount picture made in England and France, which comes to the Capitol Theatre to-night, is a recognised authority on historical dress and draperies used in classic stage and screen productions.

Miss Miller is recognised as one of the most brilliant of the younger comediennes on the British stage. She is a temperamental actress whose sympathies invariably are under control and whose enthusiasm for her art is inexhaustible. She lives for her work; and her greatest happiness was when she was chosen by Director Paul Powell to play the part of Vera Lvpasht in support of David Powell in "The Mystery Road."

Besides being expert on dress and kindred matters, Miss Miller is a painter of ability and no detail of dress, furniture, or decoration employed in stage or screen productions escapes her vigilant eye. Her role in "The Mystery Road" is that of a vamp who all but brings the man she loves to ruin, and whose dramatic career affords the young actress abundant opportunities to display her talents.

The cast selected for "The Mystery Road" is an excellent one. Besides David Powell and Miss Miller, there are Mary Glynne, Pardoe Woodman, Percy Standing, Lewis Gilbert, Irene Tripod, Lionel D'Aragon, and other noted players. The story was writen specially for Paramount by E. Phillips Oppenheim, a celebrated English novelist.

The balance of the programme will include some splendid comedies, Paramount Magazine, Pathe News Topics, and the last episode of "The Avenging Arrow."

AT THE ALLEN.

"THE BIRTH OF A NATION" IS AT THE ALLEN.

D. W. GRIFFITH'S PICTURE USED TO RE-OPEN POPULAR MOVIE HOUSE.

The favourite among all the moving pictures ever shown, "The Birth of a Nation," is the opening attraction at the Allen Theatre for the first three days of this week. There seems to be a wonderful charm about this romantic story of love and war. Patrons of the movies never seem to see enough of this production, but will go again and again to see it at every opportunity. It is a story with a thrill, a sermon in a play, a history in the form of a drama. The eminent fairness in the treatment of all parties in the story is perhaps one secret of the photo-play's popularity.

FOR CHRONIC CONSTIPATION

By buying this produce from us, you can get the Highest in Quality that can be procured at an ESPECIALLY LOW PRICE.

There are many thin Oils on the market that are not suitable for internal use; other Oils have irritating qualities which render them also unsuitable. The one we are selling is Guaranteed thick and entirely pure.

It is recognized that a good grade of Mineral Oil is one of the best remedies for CHRONIC CONSTIPATION that is being used. It acts mechanically and does not irritate the intestinal tract, nor does the dose have to be constantly increased as is the case with ordinary purgatives.

It is much better and cheaper than Castor Oil as a laxative for Children, since Castor Oil has two effects, the first of which is purgative and the second or after-effect, which is Constipating.

OBITUARY

THOMAS ROBINSON PORTER.
Sherbrooke Daily Record: The community was shocked and saddened to learn of the sudden death of Mr. Thos. Robinson Porter, which occurred at his home early Saturday morning, July 30th. Mr. Porter was in his usual good health and performed his customary evening duties. He retired about ten o'clock, but awakened shortly after midnight, exclaiming that he felt a pain in one eye. The family came immediately to his assistance, and Dr. Sirois was summoned, but it was found that he had passed away. Mr. Porter was born in 1850 and was a son of the late Richard Porter and Jane Hall, his wife. Practically all his life was spent in this vicinity. In 1876 he married Tirzah Jane Hall.

Mr. Richard Porter, father of the deceased, was the first postmaster in New Ireland, Quebec, in 1842.

Mr. Porter was secretary-treasurer for the municipality of South Ireland for forty-one years and for North Ireland for twenty-eight years. He was also connected with the 55th Battalion, Canadian Militia, for more than thirty years, receiving a long service medal and the rank of major. For many years he was a contractor and built some of the largest buildings in Thetford Mines including mills, stores, dwelling houses and the first English church in that place. Holy Trinity Church in Maple Grove was also his work.

A loyal and enterprising citizen, a devoted husband and father, a faithful friend and kindly neighbor, Mr. Porter was among the class of men a community can ill afford to spare and his unexpected death is a blow to all who knew him.

He is survived by his wife and six children, Miss Eva Porter, of Thetford Mines; Bailey C., of Ethow, Sask.; Mrs. Geo. Bolton, of Beamsville, Ont.; Norman, of Upper Ireland; Mrs. Pierce Gould and Miss Vivian Porter, of Montreal.

He also leaves two sisters and one brother, namely, Mrs. E. Layfield Peterborough, Ont., Miss P. I. Porter, and Henry Porter, both of St Johnsbury, Vermont.

All the children except Bailey were present at the funeral, which took place on Wednesday, August 3rd, from Holy Trinity Church, Maple Grove, and was one of the largest ever held here. The Rev. P. R. Roy of Thetford, read the service, and the Rev. Jas. Atkinson preached an eloquent sermon. Many out-of-town friends were present from neighboring parishes, from Thetford, Lennoxville, Montreal, St. Johnsbury, Peterborough, and other points.

MRS. A. B. CRAIG.
The death occurred on Saturday night at 9 o'clock, of Mrs. A. B. Craig, aged 45, at her late home, 128 James street, after a lingering illness. The deceased was born in Peterboro, where she has lived all her life. She is survived by her husband and six children: Mrs. Davey, this city, Gretta, Allen, Alfred, Bert and Donald at home.

Funeral from the family residence to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, to the Little Lake Cemetery, Rev. G. E. Ross, of Mark street Methodist church, officiating.

DANIEL ANDERSON.
On Saturday, 13th August, the death occurred at the family residence, Communication Road, Smith Township, of Daniel Anderson, in his 90th year. He leaves to mourn his loss five sons, Alexander and John of Peterborough, David, William, and James of Smith Township, also three daughters, Mrs. William Moffatt of Toronto, Mrs. D. Hamilton and Mrs. J. S. Quinn of Peterborough.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE SUMMER CAMP

Mr. F. H. Dobbin has left with Dr. G. S. Cameron, secretary of the Peterboro Health Association, the sum of thirty dollars to be expended on the children's summer camp, now held in Jackson Park. This money was collected by the Masons on their recent excursion down the river. Mrs. (Dr.) Yelland has also contributed three dollars which she received as prize money from the Peterboro Horticultural Society for the best window boxes. For both of these contributions, the Health Association is very grateful.

MR. BURNHAM ON DURHAM CONTEST

"The contest for Durham, made vacant by the resignation of Hon. N. W. Rowell, will decide, it is generally conceded, whether the Ottawa government is to hang on or go to the country. The West Peterborough election, in which the government was beaten by seven thousand majority, was occasioned by, and turned upon, the issue placed before the people by me in my letter of resignation, namely, that in 1917 Sir Robert Borden had appealed to the people for the election of a government representing both parties, that is, a Union government, on the understanding, both express and implied, that when the war was over and the reason for forming a Union government had disappeared, the people should have a chance to say what form of government and policy they wished to return to. This statement of mine was denied by Mr. Meighen, and he maintained that there was no such agreement with the public, but that, on the contrary, it was understood in 1917 that if the war ended before the time of parliament had expired, the Union government, or its successor, would go on with the National Policy where the previous government of 1911 had left off, and that since Protection had been the policy up to 1917, it would continue to be so when it was possible to get back to the country's usual business affair.

If Mr. Meighen's statement is correct, I was wrong, and I misled the constituency, and the man to decide the question is the man who resigned from West Durham, the Hon. N. W. Rowell. Now, the defeat in West Peterborough did the Meighen government great harm, and if Mr. Rowell will say that when he joined the Union government in 1917 it was on the clear understanding that when the war was ended he would uphold and maintain the National Policy, or the policy of protection, and that the Union government should be at liberty to resume the government of the country on the pre-war policy and basis, I will acknowledge that I was wrong in resigning, and that I misled the people of West Peterborough, and that, as the vote shows, the Meighen government would have been victorious on that occasion, since either the Meighen candidate or I would not have entered the field, and our combined vote was greater than that of the victor, a leading member of Mr. King's party. Surely my offer is a fair one, and the importance of the matters involved warrant it. Mr. Rowell now has the opportunity of giving great help to the government in West Durham if he will show that West Peterborough was a mistake.

UNREQUITED LOVE IN BENDER SHOOTING.

Mrs. Barber Says Man who Shot Himself Forced His Way into Room and Took Her Pistol.

NEW YORK, August 15. — The mystery of what caused PeterBender of the Hotel McAlpin to shoot himself on the lawn of Mrs. Bernice Barber's estate, "The Oaks," between Dover and Morristown, N.J., at midnight last Friday night, was explained yesterday in a statement made by Mrs. Barber to Prosecutor of Pleas, John M. Mills of Morris County. Her statement showed that Bender was infatuated with her and shot himself because she refused to respond. It also revealed for the first time that Bender had entered her house before the shooting, forced his way into her room and afterwards used her .32 calibre pistol in his unsuccessful attempt at suicide.

Mrs. Barber made her statement to the Prosecutor voluntarily. She had refused to explain the case to the reporters and had avoided them by quitting her New Jersey estate. Yesterday she motored to Prosecutor Mill's ofice in Morristown.

"I am not trying to hide," she protested, "and I am willing to tell all I know about the case.

"I met Peter Bender about a year ago," continued Mrs. Barber. "He was introduced to me by mutual friends. I knew him as a wealthy young Russian or Pole who had been well educated and belonged to the same social circle as my own. I met him several times in Manhattan and he visited me at the Oaks on several occasions, but never came without an invitation until last Friday afternoon.

USED MAILS TO "DO" MERCHANTS

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.— Four men were held in bail yesterday by United States Commissioner Hitchcock to answer a charge of having used the mails in a widespread scheme to defraud merchants in various parts of the country. It was said the prisoners are the heart of a system of fraud that has costs its victims about $500,000 a year. The arrests followed a three months' investigation by F. R. A. Stiefel, head of the prosecution bureau of the New York Credit Men's Association, working in co-operation with Assistant United States District Attorney Robert C. McCormick, Postal Inspector Nathan Noile, C. D. West, manager of the investigation bureau of the National Association of Credit Men, and others.

The accused are Harry Lovett Herman Shaw, Morris Cohen and Samuel Stein. The two latter are partners in a concern known as the Clever Dress House. Lovett and Shaw were held in $25,000 each, as the suspected head of the scheme, and Cohen and Stein, in $5,000 bail each for a hearing on Aug. 22. Aaron Levenstein, suspected of knowing something about the alleged frauds, was released on his recognizance.

From the evidence gathered by Mr. Stiefel and his associates, it was for some one to rent an office in some city, and, using the name of a reputable concern in the same place order goods to be sent by parcel post. Merchants receiving the orders usually accepted them as genuine, it is said, because of the name used being well known. Without verifying the address, the merchants would forward the goods. If inquiries were made, the inquiry would be sent to the given address and the order would be confirmed quickly. Occasionally the men who worked the fraudulent scheme would establish a branch office here, under the name of a well-rated firm a long distance away, and a member of the gang would order the goods in person and suggest that the order be confirmed by telegraph or letter.

In this way, it is charged, the accused men got many thousands of dollars' worth of goods by using the names of Jacob Zuckerman and the Fitwell Garment Company of St. Louis, Harry Aaron and Aaron and Levenstein, the Novelty Garment Company and the National Jobbing House of Chicago; A. Appelbaum, of Trenton, N.J.; R. Gibson of Des Moines, Paul Bonner of Cincinnati, Edward Feldman of Cleveland and Goldstein Brothers of Chicago and Indianapolis.

SINN FEIN HEAD DECLARES FOR IRISH INDEPENDENCE

VALERA STRIKES UNCOMPROMISING ATTITUDE; "THE ONLY GOVERNMENT IRELAND RECOGNIZES IS THAT OF THE DAIL EIREANN," HE STATES

IN FIERY SPEECH AT OPENING OF DAIL'S SESSION SINN FEIN CHIEF MAKES UNCOMPROMISING DEMANDS FOR INDEPENDENCE, EXCLAIMING, "WE MEAN TO DIE, IF NECESSARY, FOR THIS PRINCIPLE—THE ELECTION OF THIS PARLIAMENT WAS A PLEBISCITE."

(By Clyde S. Beal, United Press Staff Correspondent) and the Canadian Press.

DUBLIN, August 16. — "Only on the basis of our recognition of an Irish Republic will we deal with any foreign country whatever," declared Eamonn DeValera, addressing the Dail Eireann to-day, in a fiery speech.

DeValera made uncompromising demands for independence. The Sinn Fein leader quoted Lloyd-George himself and ex-President Wilson on the rights of small nations. "We mean to die, if necessary, for this principle," he exclaimed.

"The election of this very Parliament itself was practically a plebiscite," he added. "The Dail's election was an expression of the will of the Irish nation."

"The only Government the people of Ireland recognise is the Dail Eireann," continued DeValera, reiterating Ireland's claim to complete separation from the British Empire.

Members of the Dail came forward with serious faces to sign the oath of allegiance to a "free Irish state." Professor John McNeil was unanimously elected Speaker of the session. Sean O'Kelly, Sinn Fein representative at Paris, was elected Deputy Speaker.

He and his colleagues, the head of the Republican Cabinet said, had adopted towards Great Britain, the principle laid down by Cardinal Mercier, of Belgium, towards Germany—the principle that external authority was unlawful.

Mr. DeValera provoked laughter by describing the British attitude as that of a great nation demanding guarantees for its safety from a small one, when it should be a big nation guaranteeing safety to a small state.

The Cabinet had sent the reply it did, Mr. DeValera declared, because it did not think the British proposals were just.

Mr. DeValera said that "virtually impossible conditions' surrounded the negotiations with the British Government, for the position, he said, was that of a man unarmed facing a man with a pistol.

There were people who wanted to negotiate, not to save their faces, but to save, if possible, bloodshed, and for right and for principle.

Mr. DeValera said that at to-morrow's session, besides recounting the negotiations between the Irish and British Governments, he would in a general way give an account of his own department and that afterwards the other ministers would give an account of theirs.

The proposed reply to Prime Minister Lloyd-George, continued the President, would be considered in private session. All understood the seriousness of the reply, he declared, as the British Government intended to make it an issue of peace or war with the Irish nation.

After the reply was sanctioned and ready for despatch, there would be another public session of the Dail Eireann, Mr. DeValera continued. Further elections to office would occur, and then Parliament would work upon propositions to be advanced by the new Dail ministry.

The Parliament was called to order at 12.20 p.m. All open spaces about the Mansion House were massed with people at that hour, offering great difficulties for the Brigade of Irish Republican troops which had been thrown about the building.

The cordon was unable to keep the traffic lines open in the surrounding streets. Rain was falling as Parliament convened, but the crowds were heedless of their discomfort in their joy at being near at the first open session of the Dail Eireann.

There were 130 members present, including those who had been released from prison.

The work of the assembly to-day was expected to be principally organisation, and it was not believed any action relative to the acceptance or rejection of the British Government's offer in the settlement of the Irish problem would be formally taken before Thursday.

Executive sessions, at which the Parliament will frame its reply to the British offer of Dominion status for Ireland, will follow.

It is understood to-day that a decision as to the future relations with the United Kingdom, or as Premier Smuts of South Africa described them, with the British Empire, would be reached before the end of the week, but that the formal consideration of the British Government's offer would not be begun until Thursday.

It was said that it was possible that this programme had been arranged so that Harry J. Boland, Sinn Fein agent in the United States, might participate in the debate.

Mr. Boland started for Europe from New York last Saturday, and it was said that as the Sinn Fein in Ireland was greatly influenced by the Sinn Fein organisation in the United States, the decision might be delayed until Mr. Boland could appear before "Parliament."

FINDING SMALL STORY FINALLY IS DISPROVEN

LEGLESS MAN OF MYSTERY AT DES MOINES BEARS CLOSE RESEMBLANCE TO MISSING TORONTO MAGNATE, HOWEVER.

FRIEND OF MR. SMALL PROVES HIS IDENTITY

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

DES MOINES, Iowa, Aug. 16.—The legless man of mystery, who has held the city in suspense as to his identity since his presence was made known Saturday, was this morning positvely proven not to be Ambrose J. Small, missing Toronto theatrical multi-millionaire, by George Sackett, manager of the Orpheum Theatre, Minneapolis, Minn., a personal friend of Mr. Small's, and also by The Examiner's correspondent.

Mr. Sackett arrived in the city early this morning and, accompanied by Garth Hyatt, of the Des Moines Capital, and The Examiner's representative, proceeded at once to the Polk County Hospital, where the man is now being cared for. Undoubtedly the man bears a strong resemblance, if not a marked likeness, to Mr. Small, as was stated by Mr. Sackett and your correspondent, but it was only after a few minutes of questioning by your representative that the final conclusion was reached.

Polk County Hospital is situated about ten miles outside of Des Moines city. The party was immediately ushered into the mystery man's room by Custodian McComb. The man was lying in bed, head propped slightly up on pillows, and two or three newspapers lay on the covers. He turned his head suddenly when the door opened, and the strong blue eyes held a look of surprise.

Questioning was commenced by your correspondent, but the first few were unanswered as the man fidgeted with the covers, drew them towards his face and turned his head toward the window. He mumbled in a very weak and somewhat husky voice that was practically inaudible. His name, he said, was Charles Doughtery. Ae was born in Ireland, could not recall the number of years he had been out here, but had come to New York aboard the steamship Atroia. He is a laborer, working with pick and shovel. He said he had been in Des Moines three years ago, and while attempting to "beat his way" in some direction he could not recall, he had slipped and had had his legs cut off, leaving very short stumps. He was first removed to the Merry Hospital, where he remained for about two years and had finally been removed to Polk County Hospital.

Questioned about the name of Small, he declared he knew no one by that name, nor John Doughty, nor had he been in Canada, nor did he know where Tor onto was. He said he liked music, but, asked what variety, he did not answer. Through all his mumblings there was a slight Ir-

FOOD UPPERMOST THOUGHT IN MINDS OF ALL—MOST PRIZED POSSESSIONS BARTERED TO OBTAIN IT.

BY EDNA TREAT O'NEILL.
(Written for the United Press.)
Copyright, 1921 by the United Press.

Editor's Note: Miss Eda Treat O'Neill, American wrtier, who has been in Russia for several months with unusual opportnuities for observing life in the Soviet Republic, has emerged just as the Relief Commission is preparing to enter the country. In three articles written for the United Press, Miss O'Neill describes conditions as they are now in Russia. The first article herewith tells of the general Russian attitude towards the famine.

REVAL, August 16. — The shadow of famine looms large to-day in Russia. Every phase of life is beginning to reflect it. Where and how to obtain food is the thought uppermost in the minds of every one. Values at present are reckoned according to one standard—the amount of food which a given article represents.

The food situation, which is due in part to last year's poor crop, and has been growing more and more critical since February, was the biggest problem in Russian life even before famine developed in the Volga region. The re-establishment of commerce and the legalizing of trade in markets and shops, under the new regulations, has bettered the situation somewhat.

The markets are the busiest places in Moscow and Petrograd.

Thousands of people go to the markets daily to buy and barter. The latter is the more common because roubles are scarce and low in value, and the peasant is as eager for city products as the city dweller is for food. At the market the city dweller trades his cigarette lighter, made at home after factory hours, or his wife a handkerchief she has just embroidered. Household effects and personal belongings are still in demand, but few of the city folks now possess much that is saleable. One sees no jewels of value on the market—only pathetic trinkets for the mos part and rubbish that seems of no value whatever. Sometimes it is a cracked mirror, perhaps a cup without a handle.

There are tragic pictures here and there. Sometimes it is a quavering old man offering for sale a ragged and disheveled doll. Quite clearly the unprepossessing toy has a hold on his heart, but he barters it for a handful of food. I have seen a woman at the market, struggling with herself. Finally with an air of decision, she strips a wedding ring from her finger and lays it before a peasant who has food he will trade for the keepsake.

Everyone is in search of food. There is terrible distress in some regions but one hears less complaining now than two months ago.

Russia is squaring its shoulders for the new burden. Generally speaking the much tried Russian folk is setting its face against famine and cholera with a splendid energy and solidarity.

"Who is responsible for the Russian famine?" I asked of a peasant in the Moscow railway station the other day. At first he did not understand and interpreted my question as a personal reporach.

"I carried water from the well for my plants, and when the well went dry I carried water on my back from the river, but it did no good," he answered.

"But couldn't something be done? Isn't anyone to blame?" I insisted.

"God," he answered solemnly, crossing himself.

BORDER BOOZE TRAFFIC NEAR TO ITS CLOSE

TORONTO AND WASHINGTON BOTH CONFIDENT REPRESSIVE MEASURES NOW IN EFFECT WILL END SMUGGLING.

GRANT SAYS APPEALS BY BREWERS USELESS

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, Aug. 16. — "The Attorney-General is perfectly right in ruling that all liquor movement within the Province must be by public carrier," is the opinion of Dr. Andrew S. Grant, in conversation with The Examiner this morning.

"Brewers' appeals to Ottawa will be returned," he continued, "because exportation and importation are matters which come under Provincial jurisdiction entirely, and Ottawa will not interfere in such a case. The plan of the Attorney-General is perfectly sound and should prove efficient."

By Ralph F. Couch

(United Press Staff Correspondent).

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes to-day predicted that bootlegging will be wiped out throughout the United States within a very short period.

"The bootleggers will be in jails," he said to the United Press.

Haynes isn't worried at the activity of smugglers bringing liquor across the border from Canada. Neither does he believe the smugglers trying to land liquor at night along the Atlantic coast are succeeding in great measure.

"Picturesque stories can and are being written about the activities of what the reporters call 'rum-runners'," he said, "but the truth is that prohibition now is pretty tight throughout the United States, considering that enforcing the Volstead law involves helping the American people put across the most gigantic moral reform ever attempted. Prohibition thus far has been wonderfully successful. No one can deny this statement, and in making it, I am perfectly aware that it is sometimes not difficult to buy what passes for liquor in violation of the law. Nevertheless, those who believe in and are helping to enforce the prohibition laws are justified in feeling the glow of satisfaction that comes from success. That success is going to be more and more inspiring as time passes.

TRAVELLED 1226 MILES PETERBORO

GOOD ROADS IN THE ONTARIO LAP OF THE JOURNEY.

In six days' actual driving covering 1226 miles, Rev. and Mrs. M. R. Hilford, and their two children, of Ashville, North Carolina, has arrived in Peterboro, to spend two weeks vacation with Mr. A. J. Johnston, 19 Dennistoun avenue, Mrs. Hilford's father. In one day's driving 225 miles was the best run. A great deal of the route lay through the Cumberland Mountains and in Tennessee and Kentucky parts of the route were almost impassable. From Knoxville Tennessee they motored to Cincinnati, thence to Detroit and to Peterboro.

Rev. Mr. Hilford describes it as a very beautiful trip, particularly picturesque in the mountain districts.

Two years ago, Rev. and Mrs. Hilford returned from British West Africa, the white man's graveyard, where he had served as a missionary and where both the health of Rev. and Mrs. Hilford was broken. In Asheville, Rev. and Mrs. Hilford have regained their health as thousands of others have, the city being particularly noted as a health resort. Rev. Mr. Hilford praises the balmy climate of Asheville. In summer it is cool and in winter mild, and the air is dry and bracing. He is engaged in the publishing business in Asheville.

In comparison with the roads in Ontario, the Southern roads make a poor showing, the North Carolina visitor stated. In sections of the south there are fine highways, but generally speaking the average seems to be better in this country.

DRURY REPLIES TO CRITICS ON RADIAL REPORT

SAYS IT IS RIDICULOUS TO TALK OF "COMMISSION MAKING UP THE GOVERNMENT'S MIND."

NEED NOT ACCEPT THE COMMISSION'S FINDING

TORONTO, Aug. 16. — (Special Despatch to the Examiner).—The majority and minority reports of the Sutherland Commission in Hydro Radials are to be discussed at a special session of the Executive Council which is to be held at Queen's Park this afternoon. Premier Drury, when seen by the Examiner to-day felt that, pending this conference with his colleagues, it would hardly be fair for him to make any comment or forecast upon the Government's probable attitude towards the electricate transportation scheme. He stated, however that either following to-day's meeting or else at a date in the near future, the cabinet would issue a clear cut statement defining its policy towards the radial project. He added that, when he speaks at the U.F.O. picnic at Glencoe next week, he will take occasion to justify the appointment of the Sutherland Commission and also to explain and defend the Government.

When the Examiner pointed out to Mr. Drury that many of his critics were reproaching him on the ground that he had turned over to a commission the duties which they felt should rightly rest with the government, he replied, "the commission on Hydro radials was appointed to gather facts and information on a highly involved and technical subject and to express its opinion there on. With this data in its hands, the government will not shrink the responsibiliy of formulating a definite policy."

He added that it was ridiculous to talk of "the Commission making up the Governments mind", or dictating its policy. He pointed out that when the Royal Commission on University Finance submitted its report last spring, the cabinet had weighed the evidence and then adopted the procedure which it considered in the best interests of the province but which differed materially from the recommendations of the report. Smilarly, the government would enunciate its own independent policy in the light of the findings tabled by the Radial Commission. Furthermore, it would shoulder full responsibility for the course of action thus adopted.

Nor was the premier in the slightest degree perturbed by Mayor Church's threat that when the report was presented in the Legislature next session, the pro-radial members would force a vote which would cause the downfall of the government. 'They're welcome to

LEADERS FAVOR ELECTION SOON, COMMONS DON'T

CALDER AND LOUGHEED ARE URGING PREMIER MEIGHEN TO DISSOLVE PARLIAMENT WITHOUT DISTRIBUTION.

RANK AND FILE HAVE HOPE; ADVOCATE DELAY

OTTAWA, Aug. 16.—(Special despatch to the Examiner).—Developments in the political situation depend on whether Premier Meighen follows his own personal convictions backed by the advice of a very few of his colleagues, or the urgings of his following in the House of Commons. The Premier is said to favor an early dissolution and election without a session, without redistribution and without by-elections. In this he is said to have the support of Sir James Lougheed, Hon. J. A. Calder and certain other members of the Cabinet. Sir James is in the Senate and has nothing much to lose from an election. Mr. Calder and some other members of the Cabinet hope to be placed in that comfortable sanctuary before next polling day.

It is urged by the advocates of early disolution that there is nothing to be gained by "hanging on", that unemployment conditions are growing worse and discontent against governments more acute, that the administration will lose and not gain in the by-elections and that reconstruction of a weak cabinet is out of the question in the circumstances. They have no illusions as to the result but they believe that it is better to hand over the whole mess of problems to whomsoever has the temerity to aspire for office and themselves go into opposition for a while.

On the other hand, the great majority of the rank and file of Premier Meighen's followers in the Commons are utterly opposed to early dissolution and demand another session and redistribution. They predict better times next spring and a resumption of industrial activities, and back in their heads may or may not be the hope of another $4,000 sessional indemnity.

Heir to Money, Can't Collect

I.W.W. LEADER, NOW IN RUSSIA, FACES MORE TRLOUBE FOR ALLEGED DISLOYALTY IN WAR.

(By United Press).

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—"Big Bill" Haywood, I.W.W. leader, now in Russia, faced more trouble with the law to-day. Haywood, according to word received by District Attorney Cline, is heir to a $500,000 fortune left by his first wife in Winnemucca, Nevada. "Let him try to collect it," said Cline, "he'll have to serve the twenty-year term for violation of the Espionage Act if he ever returns to the United States," and "Big Bill" faces prosecution for bigamy, according to Cline, who said he received information that the I.W.W. leader deserted his first wife thirty years ago and remarried. Haywood's friends deny this.

DON'T WEAR A FROWN.

"Uneasy rests the fact that wears a frown." And a large majority of frowns are caused by strained or painful vision. Glasses, properly fitted, will do more to smooth out those wrinkles than any beauty doctor in the world. See W. H. Lacey, Optometrist, 410 George street.

INVERLEA BEACH HAS DEVELOPED GOOD SWIMMERS.

Nine-Year-Old Girl Swims the Otonabee River.

It takes a low thermometer to keep some swimmers out of the river, and although the city has been visited by chilling weather for some time now the attendance at the bathing beaches keeps up. Many adults have faltered, but youths and young girls have shown no trepidition. "It's a cool wind, but it's all right if you stay in the water," explained one young Neptune at Inverlea. There were quite a few ventured in at the park yesterday afternoon.

"It's been a fine thing keeping it open on Sunday. It was a good idea. You'd be surprised at the numbers who come up. There were three or four dozen in yesterday (Sunday), and you know it was cool," Caretaker James Gates said.

Regarding the season so far—and it it now approaching the end—Mr. Gates finds the bathing beach more popular than last year, and promising to be of increasing popularity each year. "The attendance has been good right through the season. The only trouble we had was the kids breaking lamps, and that was soon stopped. There's one thing to be said in favor of the tent. Previously some of the men were having their pockets picked every day. When they brought the tent up for the men I took it for the women, and made the boys go in where the women used to be. so I separated the men and the boys, and since the boys have been separate everything has been 'jake-a-loo'."

Fix Up Beach.

Mr. Gates firmly advocates the Council fixing up the beach. "They've got the beach here, but what's $200? They should spend a couple of thousand dollars up here and make a beach." The caretaker applauded the idea of lockers. "I'd have had a good year if there'd been lockers. I could see my wages," he declared. Mr. Gates believed the place could be made self-supporting in this way. "Many's the one I've had to refuse when they asked me to look after their stuff. I had no place to put the stuff. They'd have paid a dime any old time to know the stuff was safe."

It was with no little satisfaction, quite naturally, that Mr. Gates regards the large numbers of young people who have learned to swim at the park this year. As one instance of hundreds he told of little Marjory Perks, 583 George Street, daughter of W. George Perks, assistant city engineer, who but nine years old, learned to swim in three months, and to her great joy, established her status the other day by swimming the river and back unaided. Mr. Gates said the other day there was a little fellow ran out on the wall. The caretaker went to warn him off. He was only a little mite, but he took as neat a dive as Annette Kellermann and swam off into the river like a fish. "I've been more than surprised to see some of them swimming," said Mr. Gates. "The progress they have made has been remarkable." The interest many of the big boys have shown in the little fellows is largely responsible, according to him, for so many youngsters acquiring the art so early, and he commended the young men who frequent the river there for their generous instruction when there is no one paid to do this work.

ROADS ARE PAVED WITH GOOD INTENTIONS

On their way home from a motor trip through the Gatineau Valley, in the Ottawa District, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Shepherd of Parkhill, Ont., characterize the roads between Ottawa and Smith's Falls as "paved with good intentions" only. Roads from ten miles west of London to Kingston, they say, are splendid.

Red Regime is Yet Unchanged

TEACHERIN SAYS NEW ECONOMIC POLICY IS RESULT OF GENERAL SITUATION.

BY CARL D. GROAT,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, Aug. 16.— (Copyright 1921 by the United Press.) — "The Russian Government remains the same toilers' government as before. Our new economic policy is the result of the general situation." That was the statement of Foreign Minister Tscherin of Russia, wirelessed to the United Press to-day. "The famine makes much change in the internal situation," Tscherin said.

The change mentioned by Tscherin was the decision announced last week on the relinquishing of government operation of industry. It was announced that industries will be leased to co-operative concerns and individuals, the Government retaining full control only of vital public utilities.

Tscherin's message in full said: "The famine makes much change in the internal situation of the workers' and peasants' government, which adequately represents the will of the toiling masses. It does its duty, struggling against calamity. It remains the same toilers' government as before. Our new economic policy is the result of the general situation. Communists always consider environment and emergency, their programme remains, but their tactics change according to the situation."

TROOPS BATTLE RUM-SMUGGLERS ALONG BORDER

RAIDS, SEIZURES AND ARRESTS MARK ENGAGEMENTS NEAR DETROIT—THE PROHIBITION FORCES TAKE OFFENSIVE AGAINST BOOTLEGGERS.

VERITABLE ARMADA SAILS FROM BAHAMAS

TORONTO, August 16. — Canadian Press. — All shipments of liquor that leave the Canadian shore on the Essex border by any other mode of conveyance than a public carrier will hereafter be seized.

Instructions to that effect have been sent by the Attorney-General's Department to the police and license officials along the border and a determined effort will be made to stop the carnival of rum-running that has been under way for several days following a court decision that gave legal authority to export shipments.

DAIL EIREANN MEETS IN DUBLIN; CLEAR ISSUE OF PEACE OR WAR; LONDON OPTIMISTIC ON OUTLOOK

ACTUAL CONSIDERATION OF BRITISH TERMS DELAYED—QUESTION MAY BE REFERRED TO A REFERENDUM—PESSIMISM IN LONDON AND DUBLIN DISSIPATED—VALERA INUNDATED WITH TELEGRAMS URGING OPPOSITION TO BRITISH TERMS.

(By Ed. L. Keen, United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright by the United Press.)

LONDON, August 16. — Officials, newspapers, and the general public have reacted from the original pessimism over the prospects of an Irish settlement, and to-day the talk is of peace.

The momentousness of the Dail Eireann's responsibility has impressed itself upon the British mind. It is believed that the Sinn Fein Parliament cannot do otherwise than accept the British offer — or refer the question to a referendum, in which case acceptance is considered certain.

Here in London the Government's peace terms are considered extremely generous, and the man in the street is unable to understand why they are not instantly accepted.

A rejection of the British offer by the Dail Eireann would lead to insistence here that the Sinn Fein Parliament did not represent opinion in Ireland.

BY CLYDE C. WEALS,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

DUBLIN, Aug. 16. — The Sinn Parliament met here to-day to accept or reject Great Britain's peace proposals.

The issue before the members of the Dail Eireann gathering at the Mansion House was clear cut—peace with the British Empire, or renewed war.

The tremendous importance of the session was realized throughout Ireland. Huge crowds gathered before the hall to pray and anxiously wait. In the gray dawn to-day, long before the night mists from the Liffey had been blown away, crowds gathered on the river banks and around the Mansion House, awating the arrival of the members of the Dail. Drab figures, shivering in the chill of the morn, they waited and watched and prayed that the light of this day would shine upon a parliament whose decision would let the light of peace shine once more upon Ireland.

There was a feeling of optimism throughout Dublin this morning—a strong undercurrent of belief that the Dail would not reject the British terms, at least without a plebiscite, and a plebiscite it is felt, would result in the offer of Dominion home rule—the most generous Ireland has ever received, however far short it falls of complete independence, being accepted. Nothing else was talked of in the streets, in the shops, or in the pubs,—what would the Dail decide?

This morning's session was purely spectacular, the choice of a chairman, the reading of the British offer, an address from President De Valera to his Parliament gathered for the first time since the outbreak of hostilities. At a secret session this afternoon it was believed the terms of Lloyd George's proposals would be considered.

There is disappointment felt throughout the country at the delay which the programme of the Dail occasions. It is feared that some hostile action may occur before a decision is reached. Many, however, believe that the longer the deliberations the greater the chances of acceptance—and peace. The possibility that the question of acceptance or rejection of the British offer may be referred to a plebiscite has raised an interesting question: Will an attempt be made to include Ulster? If the Dail decides upon a plebiscite and does include the northern province, it is almost certain that Ulster will not recognize the plebiscite and the Ulsterites will not vote.

URGE OPPOSITION.

DUBLIN, Aug. 16. — (Canadian Press.)—Eamonn De Valera, Irish Republican leader, has been inundated by telegrams, mostly from Irish Republicans, advising him not to give in to the British government on the peace proposals.

"If they (the Irish Republicans) accept the Government's terms," asked one of the members of the Irish Republican Army, "what have we been fighting for?" On the other hand, an official of Sinn Fein said to-day that it was those who wished to continue the fight who rushed to the telegraph office, not those seeking peace. One of the most prominent business men of Dublin, a strong advocate of Home Rule, said: "We can never go back to where we were a month ago. Every man's hand would be against his fellow and we would be brought to shambles." The same man, advising a new spare correspondent not to despair of a settlement, added: "Give the Sinn Feiners a chance. They have done very well so far. Perhaps they can get more than we have been fighting for for years, if not all the Republicans claim."

DUBLIN IS HOPEFUL.

DUBLIN, Aug. 16. — (Canadian Press.)— The pessimism over the Irish situation which yesterday in some quarters of Dublin reached almost a point of hopelessness, yielded last night to reasoned optimism when the programme for the meeting to-day of the Dail Eireann was made public. Instead of immediately taking up the problem of peace or war the Sinn Fein Parliament will spent at least another day with the formalities incident to opening of the body, thus providing an opportunity for many things to happen behind the scenes.

All Ireland is eager for a decision by Parliament on the British Government's terms, whether it be acceptance of them, expression of a desire for further negotiations, or rejection in order to remove the tension which exists.

THE CENSUS FIGURES.

The Federal Government has issued a short list, giving the 1921 populations of some of Canada's cities and towns as indicated by the recent census. Judging by the complaints that have already been published, the value of the Federal stock taking is going to be generally questioned, for none of the centres whose population has been stated are prepared to accept the census figures. The estimate of the assessment department in each case varies considerably from the total given by the enumerators, and everywhere citizens are complaining that they were overlooked in the recent enumeration. Saskatoon, through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, has collected a list of no fewer than eighteen hundred people who were not called upon by the census takers, and other cities make similar complaints. It is evident that some of the enumerators have been careless in their work, and as a result the accuracy of the whole census is likely to be challenged and much of the value of the work will be destroyed.

A NEW PARTY.

The launching of a Hydro-Electric party into the Ontario political arena comprising those who endorse the Hydro radial scheme and other projects of a similar nature, may be the outcome of the report of the Sutherland Commission. Rightly or wrongly, the municipalities of the province who have stood solidly behind the public ownership of power in Ontario look upon the Ontario Government as hostile to the Hydro movement. They believe that the U.F.O. members of the House were prepared to kill the radial enterprise and that an investigation by a commission, which reported exactly what they were expected to report, was unnecessary. This being the case, they are prepared to bring the Hydro movement into politics by rallying to its support all the advocates of public ownership and declaring warfare against the Agrarian party. The Labour members of the Government are doubtless in a quandry. Public ownership is one of the planks in thir platform and the Labour member of the Sutherland Commission, in his minority report, strongly advocates the Radial scheme. The Labour members will have to decide between loyalty to the Government, of which they form a wing, and their duty to their constituents who, being largely urban residents, are for the most part strong Hydro advocates.

CAUSES OF UNEMPLOYMENT.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labour, addressing a meeting in Toronto yesterday, declared that the general unemployment was very largely brought about by the solidarity of capitalistic organizations, and urged labour to learn to preserve an equally unbroken front. Such utterances from the lips of the head of organized labour on this continent are disappointing; the cheap agitator who denounces the capitalistic class from his soap box rostrum might be excused from blaming capitalists for the fact that there are 175,000 unemployed in Canada and 4,000,000 in the United States, but Mr. Gompers should know better. He must be aware of the fact that the greatest single fatcor in bringing about the present industrial crisis is that Europe, impoverished by the war, is not in a position to buy the products of this continent, and that the export trade of North America has, as a result fallen to pieces. And apart from this loss of trade and consequent slackness in the industrial plants, no one should know better than Mr. Gompers that the reluctance of organized labour to accept any reduction in wages below the abnormal plane reached during the war years has in itself been, to a considerable extent, responsible for unemployment. If the workers in the building trades, for example, would rather be idle all summer than to agree to a small cut in wages, it is obvious that the blame for widespread unemployment cannot be laid altogether at the door of "capitalistic organizations."

NO "OPEN" CONFERENCE POSSIBLE.

It is to be hoped that there will be little of the usual "mush" poured out over the approaching Washington Conference to the effect that "secret diplomacy" must be abandoned and "open covenants openly arrived at" be the order of the day. Whatever covenants are arrived at will be about as "openly" considered as they were in Paris. As a matter of fact, it is even more difficult for the modern democratic "diplomatic" to arrive at his covenant openly than it would have been for the frankly secretive diplomat who served a more or less absolute monarch to have done the same thing. The attitude of the old-time diplomat had only to be explained to his master or to the court camarilla, whereas the attitude of the present-day diplomat must be justified in the eyes of the "mob's million heads." Obviously, it would have been a simpler task to whisper into a monarchs' ear the reasons for all the backing and filling which attend the game of bluff and bargaining that goes on at any such international conference than to megaphone them to the gaping, ill-informed and easily misled millions.

The Ministers who sit down at such a Conference are the creatures of the popular will at home. If they must make every tentative proposition, present every argument, yield every point and accept every compromise within easy ear-shot of the people at home, they will always be addressing the gallery and never feel free to enter upon that form of frank give-and-take discussion which every business man conducts every day in connection with his private affairs. A banker or a merchant might as well conduct his business on the front steps as to ask a statesman to conduct his country's busines under a battery of reporters and "movie" operators.

For a democracy to deny its negotiators the shelter of secrecy would be to give the autocratic system of government an advantage quite as decisive—and fatal to the democratic cause—as if the allies in the late war had been too humane to copy the Germans in the use of "poison gases." The autocratic representatives would enjoy all the profits of surprise, of a free foot, of an ability to "bluff" effectively, and of unrestricted bargaining scope. They would win, hands down.

Does this mean that a democratic people shall have nothing to say about their foreign policy? Not at all. On the contrary, they have all to say. The American people recently demonstrated this by ruthlessly kicking over "the covenants more or less secretely arrived at" in Paris between the Wilsonian delegation and the representatives of the rest of the world. A democracy keeps its veto power, even more effectively than the old monarchies were wont to do. But a democracy is always well advised to choose its expert representatives carefully, and then trust them.

Even the stoutest democrat does this in his private affairs. Our typical democrat when he feels a stabbing pain near some vital organ, does not consult the first hundred men whom he meets on the street, or call in his hundred nearest neighbors and take their advice. He summons rather one or two specialists and trusts them absolutely. He will premit them, if they so advise, to thrust a surgeons' knife into his very vitals and put his most precious possession, life, at mercy of scalpel's stroke. Yet there are democrats who think it a part of their creed to dismiss the experts when it comes to a "major operation" on the country's teritory or trade, and call in for counsel the first hundred or perhaps hundred thousand busy citizens who possibly never previously heard of the question at issue.—Montreal Star.

Talk is cheap; if it were dearer the world might be better off.

The Charlotte Street Cynic Says:

"Along about the time that he first pulls the hair of the girl who sits in front of him in school, a man gets the idea that he's lord of all creation; and the poor fool persists in thinking so, even after he's observed the fact that a woman closes her eyes when he kisses her."

The man who first propounded the theory that nothing is impossible never attempted to please a woman who has just learned of a cattish remark some other woman made about her.

LOVE'S WAGES.

The wages of Love are small, so small
You scarce might know they were paid at all.
A glance, a smile, or the clasp of hands,
The coin of a heart that understands;
A name soft whispered, a lingered kiss—
The wages of Love are paid in this.

But oh, the magic such coin can buy—
The waking joy of a dawn-flushed sky,
Drudgery speeding on skylarks' wings.
Songs in the heartbeats of common things;
And firelit shadows of evening blent
With peace and comfort and all-content.

The wages of Love are small, so small,
One scarce could say they cost at all;
Yet lives are lonely, and hearts still ache
In bitter lack for the wee coins' sake;
And many a silk-clad life of ease
Would barter its purse of gold for these.

WASHINGTON, August 15.—The movement for birth control in Japan, recently launched by Baron Koi Furuichi as President of the Scientific Research Association, is arousing earnest opposition, according to advices from Tokio received here to-day.

Priest's Body Found in a Grave Near San Francisco.

(Bq M. D. Tracy, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 15.—Father Patrick Helin, kidnapped priest of Colma, Cal., has been found—murdered.

Six men dug his crumpled body from a rude grave in a tiny cave on the windswept cliffs of Salada beach some 30 miles south of San Francisco.

Not a man in the party knew Father Heslin in life but identification was certain because:

The body was shoudded in a clerical garb of broadcloth.

On it was a medal bearing the likeness of Christ on one side and on the other the Blessed Virgin Mary.

I na little velvet case was the Sacred Host Father Heslin had taken from his home at Colma a week ago Thursday night for use in the last sacrament he had been called to administer "to a dying friend."

Papers, including a railway certificate, a garage bill, bills of lading for furniture and similar articles, were also found.

William Hightower, a mechanic, furnished the clew which led to the discovery and guided the searchers. Hightower had found the grave first through a story told him by a woman known as Dolly Mason of Salt Lake City, whose suspicions had been aroused by the disconnected statements of a foreigner who was drunk when he called upon her.

"You had better be afraid of this gun," the foreigner had told her. It has killed a man.

"But he is not alone. Beside his grave there sits a man also frying cakes."

MASCULINE METHODS.

Chapter 38.

The next morning Kent refused to let me get up and prepare his breakfast.

"Not much," he said decidedly, putting his hand detainingly on my shoulder. "You stay right there in bed, and rest up to-day. You looked awfully sick last night, and I want you to be careful. I'll make the coffee and bring you in a cup before I go."

"Do you think you can make it all right?" I queried, doubtfully.

"Sure! Why coffee is my long suit. Don't you remember I told you how the boys always had me fix the coffee when we went on that camping trip?"

"All right, dear," I smiled up at him. "You are so good to me."

While Kent was getting dressed I lay in bed thinking. Men were so gullible, it seemed to me. They were lots more trusting than women. Kent had never questioned me as to what had made me sick. And he had never noticed the tobacco smoke at all. If Kent had come home ill, with eyes red and face white and drawn, I would have fumed and questioned until I had rooted out all the causes and details.

That was the difference between a man's and a woman's nature. Little things did not sink down so deeply, were not so vital to a man. They were not always testing the reasons and the causes of things. Perhaps it was better to be that way.

A woman's nature was more prone to suspect and so to suffer. That was why I could not rest or be satisfied until every thought and action about the stolen diamond had been cleared up and straightened out. Kent's nature made it possible for him to turn his back on the whole affair and forget it. I wondered if that was one of the big vital needs that a woman filled in a man's soul? She was the little bit of leaven that was needed to make the man big, powerful and complete.

The exquisite aroma of freshly made coffee floated into me from the kitchen, and brought me back to reality.

"Here you are," Kent beamed, bringing me in a cup, hot and steaming. "How about these corn muffins? I found them in the bread box and warmed them up," he said proudly.

"That coffee is splendid, Kent. How much did you use?" I inquired, marvelling at its delicious flavor and amber clearness.

"How much? Oh, I don't know exactly," Kent pondered. "I just covered the bottom of the pot about two inches thick, filled 'er up with cold water and let 'er boil over twice—then poured in some ice cold water and let it stand a second," he explained.

"Oh, yes," I observed, hiding a smile behind my coffee cup.

After all, masculine methods were often quite effective and satisfactory. I was beginning to look with favor upon them in spite of the fact that they were apt to be both materially and morally extravagant.

"Now I'll have to go, Babs. You be careful to-day. Turn over and take another nap," he admonished, "and stay in bed all morning anyway."

"Yes Kent—and please hold me in your arms just for a minute before you go," I entreated, smiling up at him.

"There, how's that, little wife?" he asked, as he gave me a final hug and let me back gently on the pillows.

"I'm so peaceful and contented now. I think I'll go to sleep for a little while," I said drowsily, the strength of love of Kent's dear heart coursing through every atom of my tired body.

He leaned over and pressed a kiss on my lips. Then I heard the door close very softly behind him.

LATCH KEY LAW.

VIENNA, Aug. 16. — (Canadian Press).—The famous "latchkey law" has been passed and Vienna concierges now may go to bed and stay there without having to let in late homecomers. As the size of the average front-door key in this country prohibits carrying it in pockets, they are being made of aluminum and fold on a pivot.

Defective hammocks have caused many fond lovers to fall out.

RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is produced by the accumulation of Uric Acid in the blood, and this poisonous substance attacks and inflames the membrane covering the joints and separating the muscles, thus producing severe pains. If the waste products of the human system are not properly carried off, Uric Acid forms and is deposited in the joints and between the different layers of muscles. DR. HENDERSON'S HERB TABLETS will correct this by its action on the kidneys and removing the Uric Acid from the blood. Try them and watch the results. If they fail your money will be refunded.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets are put up three sizes—25c, 50c and $1 per box, at Warne's Drug Store, 351 George Street, Peterborough.

Do This For Constipation

PEOPLE are beginning to realize that it is not at all necessary to take a strong purgative pill, and be weakened and upset all day, to relieve constipation no matter how old or chronic it is. The full formula is on the package. A sixty-cent bottle will last months, and last year, over eight million were bought in drug stores. It relieves constipation overnight, headaches, biliousness, indigestion and feverishness.

If you would like to test Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin free of charge before buying it in the regular way of your druggist, send your name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 19 Front St., Bridgeburg, Ont., and a free trial bottle will be sent you promptly, postpaid.

SAGE AND SULPHER DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Colour, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural colour and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, and attractive.

BROAD EDUCATIONAL PLAN FOR PALESTINE

Whole Country to Have Schools in Four Years.

LONDON, Aug. 16. —(Canadian Press.)—So comprehensive is the education plan of the government of Palestine that, at the present rate of progress, the whole country will be provided with schools within four years.

Since January, 34 new village schools, providing elementary education for 1,360 children, have been opened, while 46 state-aided schools provided in villages by the inhabitants have been taken over by the government. An additional 35 schools will be opened during the current financial year, it is announced.

Measures also are being taken for the development of the two training colleges for teachers. Teachers are also being appointed to live among the Bedouin tribes and teach their children.

A central education committee has been formed, consisting of four Moslems, three Jews and three Christians.

Under the arrangements now in force the people of the village provide the buildings and furniture and keep them in repair, while the government pays the salaries of the teachers and other costs of maintenance.

THE HELPFUL WORLD.

Give the young and struggling a word of encouragement when you can. You would not leave the plants in your window boxes without water nor refuse to open the shutters that the sunlight might fall upon them; but you would leave some human flower to suffer from want of appreciation or the sunlight of encouragement. There are a few hardy souls that can struggle along on stony soil—shrubs that can wait for the dews and sunbeams, vines that climb without kindly training; but only a few utter the kind word when you can see that it is deserved. The thought that no one cares and no one knows, blights many a bud of promise. Be it the young artist at his easel, the young preacher in his pulpit, the workman at his bench, the boy at his mathematical problems, or your little girl at the piano, give what praise you can.

In this vacation season be sure you take a vacation from your troubles and worries. Leave them behind as the most useless of all your baggage. Away—away with all forbodings.

Light la en, go forth among nature. oom up toward the sky so brilliantly bright by day, or at nigh merry with ten-thousand stars joining hands of light, with the earth in the ring, going round and round with gleam and dance and song, making old time himself feel young again.

Go to the woods where the cool and sifted breeze is scented with nature's fragrance and sweet with nature's songs.

Go to where the streams leap down off the rocks and their cr stal heels clatter and glis en over the pure white pebbles.

Hark to the fluttering of the wind and the long-meter psalm of the thunder. Hear the fairy patter of the fairy-footed rain dancing on the swaying leaves.

Look at the morning striding down the hills, routing the skulking shadows. See evening drawing aside the curtain from heaven's wall of jaspet, sardonyx and amethyst.

Look on all this and feel that God's in His place and there's room in your soul for peace.

The deadliest error that can mislead young men is that in order to know the world he must disregard home restrictions and sow wild oats. The son who sows wild oats will reap a harvest of shame. Nay, more, he will compel his father and mother to reap with him and be sharers of his shame. Every son needs to be careful of his character. It is the capital with which he enters business or begins a professional career. If it is shoddy or spotted the best men will shun him as deadly poison.

You look at the housewife who has a place for her things, and these things in their places, and you find a woman who is systematic in her work; and when she needs an thing she can put her hands on it in a moment. She plans and calculates whenever there is to be extra work, extr cooking, extra washing, etc., and she knows before hand just what there is to do, and what she wants to do it with. And this same woman, so exact in her doings, gets more time to rest and read and instruct her children in the paths of right and the social duties they owe to all. If you are of this class, you receive the blessings of your husband, and the praise of all who know you.

Among all elevating influences, that of a happy home is the most permanent. Every ideal home must possess beauty as well as cleanliness and kindliness. Every happy home should shed its refining influences abroad. Every good home is an educator and adds immeasurably to the sum of human happiness. Every home should be a faithful guardian of public morality, the surest safeguard of the public's future.

BANK PAYS ONE ACORN EACH YEAR FOR A TITLE

The transfer of title to the bank property at 22 and 24 South Third street, Philadelphia, from the Citizens' Bank to the State Bank of Philadelphia, brought to light the fact that ownership of this property is forever subject to the payment of one acorn per annum to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The acorn clause was embodied in the earliest deeds to the northern portion, known as 22 South Third street, and was cited in the deed dated April 1, 1836, whereby title passed from Clause Amable Brazier to the Mechanics' Bank of Philadelphia. The full clause is: "Subject to a certain irredeemable rent of one acorn per annum forever, payable on demand to the commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

FINE TROPICAL FLOWERS HAVE SHAPE OF ANIMALS

There are orchids of the tropics which exceed in strangeness of form and splendor of color anything produced in conservatories. Among the most remarkable of these plants are those belonging to the genus Mandevallia. One species closely imitates the trunk of an elephant, and is named accordingly Mandevallia elephanticeps. Another looks like a flying pigeon. The species to which the name "chimera" is specially applied is very extraordinary. With what resembles two slender legs and a flail-like trunk upraised from its head, the flower startles the beholder with its resemblance to some fantastic and monstrous insect.

The resemblances of these flowers to animals are so exact that even birds are some times deceived by them.

Some artists pretend to be wedded to their art, whereas they have never been even engaged.

USE OF ALCOHOL AS MOTOR FUEL MAY START "RATE WAR" IN HAVANA.

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 15.—Two "rate wars" at least are expected as a result of federal and municipal action in favor of the use of alcohol in internal combustion engines. Dealers in imported gasoline are said to be waiting instructions to cut their prices to meet the lower scale established by alcohol vendors while the owners of large fleets of popular-priced taxicabs are planning to meet the lower rates fixed by owners of cars using alcohol.

By Presidential decree denatured alcohol produced in Cuba from sugar mill by-products is freed from federal taxation for a year and can be used without restriction by automobile owners as "Motor Spirits," while the city authorities have authorized jitney drivers using "Motor Spirits" to advertise the products on their windshields and charge prewar rates, which are 33 1-3 per cent. less than the present scale.

Lighten the Tax Burden

You can't increase your strength by overtaxing the digestive organs. Strength comes from food rich in tissue-building elements that are easily digested. Lighten the tax burden by eating a pure whole wheat food prepared in a digestible form. You will also lighten the burden of the housewife and mother because it is ready-cooked and ready-to-eat—no worry or work.

Shredded Wheat

Two Biscuits with milk make a nourishing, satisfying meal and cost but a few cents. Delicious with raisins, prunes, sliced bananas, peaches or other fruits.

He Will Think It Over

THE SUN LIFE OF CANADA rejected 1,506 applicants for Assurance last year, who thought it over a little too long. Every man thinks it over on his deathbed—some with satisfaction and some with sorrow. It will cost more next year than this year, and the probability of securing Assurance now is greater than it will be then. If he needs it tomorrow, he needs it today.

Do not delay too long and regret it, but secure the protection which you need before it is too late.

TROOPS BATTLE RUM-SMUGGLERS

The prohibition enforcement forces took the offensive all along the line, throwing more troopers into action along the down river districts and running down the small speedy power boats that came puttering over from the Canadian border with their cargoes of nine per cent. beer.

Border guards have been strongly enforced and are understood to have been equipped with fast autos and motor cycles.

The coastguard, to which has been delegated the work of rounding up the "blockade runners," has more than a hundred cutters assigned to that service and is planning on using a like number of submarine chasers.

Prohibition enforcement authorities, realizing the hugeness of their task along the coast, were even reported to be considering a request for a loan of several destroyers from the navy. It is possible too that the army may be asked to assist the border guards.

A few months ago imported whiskey sold as high as $18 and $20 a bottle. A few weeks ago this had dropped to $10, and advices from various parts of the country to-day showed that the best liquor is now obtainable at $6 and $7 a bottle

The government has been warned that a veritable armada of schooners is now sailing northward from the Bahama Islands, bound for secret destinations alon gthe middle Atlantic coast. Elaborate preparations are being made to round up the entire fleet.

A particular watch is being kept along the Deleware River, which is said to have constituted the chief gateway for the blockade runners in the last several weeks.

FOODSTUFF PRICES RISING IN MOSCOW.

Bolsheviks Fix 20,000 Roubles As Equal to One Dollar.

RIGA, Latvia, Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Prices of foodstuffs on the Moscow market are reported steadily increasing. A pound of rye bread, early in July, could be had at from 3,600 to 4,000 rubles; beef at from 7,000 to 9,000 rubles; pork from 10,000 to 12,000; butter from 18,000 to 20,000 rubles, and potatoes from 1,600 to 2,800 rubles a pound, while eggs are sold at 1,000 to 1,200 rubles, and cucumbers, one of the most popular articles of diet, at 1,000 to 1,500 rubles each.

The average wage paid in factories and to Government employees, in addition to rations supplied by the State, was about 10,000 to 15,000 rubles a month.

The Moscow rations for the week, as reported by the official Pravda, were, for workmen of the preferred classes, three pounds of black bread, some herrings and small quantities of other essentials for a period of five days. Less favored citizens were allotted one pound of bread for five days and no herrings. The wages allowed in addition to these rations would not buy a pound of butter.

The Bolshevik Government, in fixing international telegraph tolls, considered 20,000 rubles as equal to one dollar.

THE PETERBORO ROTARY CLUB

(By F. H. DOBBIN.)

Yesterday's luncheon of the Rotary Club brought members together, several returned from vacations and out-of-town expeditions. Fishing experiences were exchanged at one end of the table, while others recounted incidents of the Cobourg trip on Friday last. All this while the excellent lunch was being consumed.

It developed that presently what is known as the Field Day for Rotary will develop. An ingenious proposition which gives the semblence of a district gathering without the formality of getting together in the district. Peterborough is in district No. 4. So, instead of going to Belleville, Belleville appears here by proxy. The able member, Sam Kenner, will make an allotment assigning such-and-such a member to take hold of Belleville, and having been supplied with a memo. of what Belleville has been doing, make a one-minute address on the Rotary of our sister city.

Of course, a Peterborough man can talk about Belleville, or Lindsay, for that matter—if Lindsay had a Rotary—much better than the Bellewille man can himself. For Belleville men are notoriously bashful, and many of the good things to be said for the lake town are lost sight of by those who live there. In following out this plan thirty or forty Peterborough men will be Ministers without Portfolia for other places. And the same routine and procedure will obtain all over the Province. It follows that a mighty lot of good things will be said one for the other, for Rotary always promulgates that which is good. The member who represents Cobourg will have a cinch. Cobourg is so good that nothing unavoidable will be missed. Cobourg did the thing well the other night. Real fine. Cobourg put on a dance in the public pavilion that seemed to be a loadstone, that would have attracted men, less sober and rigid to duty than Rotarians, right from the table.

Talk on Asbestos.

Robert Abbott, manager locally for the Canadian Raybestos, gave a brief talk on what asbestos was, how it was mined, wound up, spinned, woven, plaited and coaxed into the many forms that it now appears it. From what he described as the uses and possibilities it may presently appear as a much prized breakfast food. It is a mineral that isn't a mineral. Sort of composite substance that no fellow can understand how it came about. Thinks it was likely extracted from the heated and fluid concotion that flowed into the interstices of the pre-historic rocks and stayed there to be dug out and save the entire breaking system of the American automobile from going to pieces. This, of course, is one of its uses. If they can only fix up asbestos to prevent crime as it prevents accidents, it would be meritorious.

And writing of brakes, Robert Abbott told a story. As all men who own autos and all the others who can't get them are interested in cars, to say nothing of their wives and relatives, folk will stand for a relation of this episode as told by Mr. Abbot, "The Tale of a Brake."

A voluble Yank bought a Franklin car and urged the thing all over the great Continent. Presently he wrote the Franklin Company saying that he had driven the car about 127,000 miles, but that he had, lately, lost confidence in the brakes. Coming down Pike's Peak, or other western elevation, he had, he wrote, a sneaking notion that a brake or brakes slipped. Otherwise, the car was unimpeachable. Could rely on it same as the average American can on the Declaration of Independence —something that can't be altered or improved.

The makers of the car, replied in courteous terms. Said that they had been trying for years to devise an automobile that could run without gasoline and stout enough to come off best in a collision with a loaded freight car. But as Raybestos had supplied the brakes linings they would respectfully refer him to that bucolic firm and begged to enclose, etc., etc.

The customer went after the brakes company. Told in serious if explicit language his woes. The Soother of Excited Persons, works and writes overtime for the Raybestos, handled the case with judicious calmness. Pointed out that as they found on inspection that the linings as submitted showed only one partially worn that the customer might have retained to good one and gotten another 127,000 miles of service out of it. But seeing as things were and as the company valued very highly his extensive orders, would he accept the gift of a set of brand new linings, and threw in for good measure the attachments or contrivances that hold the brakes to business Presently word was received, as our American friends used to express such a situation, "All quiet on the Potomac."

Mr. Abbott, very interestingly, told of the many trails followed and investigations made in the general search for some substance or preparation that would answer the needs of linings. Finally of the evolvement of the Raybestos. This name is what Sam Kenner might call a "split infinitive," or some such definition. That is, it is a compound name built up, a sort of half-and-half. The first syllable taken from the name of Mr. Raymond, President of the company, and "bestos" the rear half of the chassis of "asbestos." So we have Raybestos, and as Sam Weller might say, a very fine matter of a name it is. Anyway, a man who lets his heavily loaded car down the slopes of the Twin Sisters' hills, between Burleigh and Haultain, on the Burleigh Road, blesses himself if he knows his brakes are holding and that they are lined with the stuff that asbestos used to make.

NEW STENCILED DRESS IS LATEST

London Artist Invents New Dress Design.

LONDON, Aug. 16. — The stencilled dress has come to town for a long visit. So far there are only two stencillers, and they are beseiged with orders.

Carlo Norway, a London artist, experimented for a long time with stencilled designs in oils and applied the experiment to a frock. Robert Fox, a brother artist, suggested swelling his exchequer by marketing stencilled dresses.

The two combined, and in Norway's studio conceived the designs, cut them in thin brass and put them on to samples of dress material — everything from silk to velvet. All sorts of designs were tried—birds, animals, ordinary geometric designs.

Success came immediately. Wholesalers gave orders at sight. Two sample frocks submitted a few days ago have brought fifty "repeat" orders.

Stencilled frocks may be folded or washed without damage to the paint; the paint, in fact, penetrates the material better when washed and the greatest feature is the non-duplicatable designs can be furnished on request.

VENDETTA CLAIMS GIRL SLAYER'S LIFE.

Man Who Killed Asbury Park Cousin Found Shot in Room of His Victim.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 16.—Arico Picone was found dead today in the same room where on Aug. 3, he had killed his cousin, Miss Camelia Maccanico. His body, huddled at almost the identical spot where Miss Maccanico was found, bore four bullet wound—two through the heart.

Picone had been the object of a nation wide search since he shot down Miss Maccanico, a beauty of this city's Italian quarter, who had refused to marry him. With the end of the quest for the fugitive, arose a question whether he died a suicide or was a murdered for vengence.

Although Dr. Charles E. Jamison, County Physican, reported the death of the suicide, officials tonight took note of rumours on the Italian section. These stories were that friends of the dead girl had hunted down Picone and either killed him on discovery and posed his body in his victim's rooms or had forced him to the room and compelled suicide.

Those who recounted the reports of a successful vendetta called attention to the four shots that caused Picone's death. Two were through the heart. Although this was cited as evidence that self-destruction was not clearly established the theory was weakened, some contended, because of the type of pistol used. It was 25 calibre automatic, a Mauser that emptied its magazine at one pressure of the trigger instead of requiring a distinct tug at the trigger for each shot.

It was this discussion that led the police to make a new investigation.

At first the Asbury Park police concurred in Dr. Jamison's findings but eventually were inclined to credit the vendetta rumors, at least in part. They reported that their closer examination of the bullet wounds did not disclose such powder burns as would have resulted if Picone had shot himself. They also reasoned that it would have been impossible for Picone to have fired the bullets. They also reported witness as saying that Picone had been seen in the streets before the Maccanico house about twenty minutes before his death.

Passing 104 Fisher Avenue early this morning, George Jeffries of the Neptune Township police heard four shots. He ran into the building untenated since the shooting of Miss Maccanico, and found Picone dead.

The killing of Miss Maccanico, stirring the Asbury Park Italians to fury, came four days before she ran. After the shooting, Picone jumped from a second-story window and fled. Police watched the home of his sister at 5,812 New Utrecht Avenue, Brooklyn but no trace of him was found.

When his death was disclosed this morning, it was revealed that the slayer had succeeded in obtaining another suit of clothes. When he killed the girl he was wearing a brown suit. This morning he wore a blue suit, with a white pencil stripe. It was evident from the condition of his clothing and his shoes that his final days of freedom had won by concealment in swamps and shrubbery.

SILK PURSE FROM SOW'S EAR REALITY

Chemistry Answers Old Saying That It Couldn't Be Done.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press.) — A silk purse made from sows' ears, as chemistry's answer to the old saying that it couldn't be done, will be shown at the Chemistry Exposition in New York during the week of September 12.

In announcing the successful result of experiments, Arthur D. Little, Inc., chemists and engineers, of this city, said the silk was not very strong and that there was no present industrial value in the process involved. It was more or less the product of chemistry at play, but a contribution also to philosophy in proving the fallacy of the old proverb.

In reciting the factors that entered into the transition of sows' ears from Chicago stockyards to a silk purse such as a woman might carry, the chemists explained that the first step was to analyze the silkworm's method of making silk. This done, its caterpillar chemistry was copied in the laboratory.

It was found that man had to provide a substitute for a process by which the silkworm exudes from two fine ducts in its head minute threads of a viscous liquid, coated with another secretion, which are cemented into a double strand. This becomes a firm filament of silk when it coagulates on reaching the air.

Analysis of this viscous liquid showed it to be like glue and with somewhat similar chemical properties. The sows' ear being chiefly gristle and skin, also has the natural elements of glue. This was obtained from the ears and it was put through several processes of preparation, filtered under pressure and placed in spining apparatus of a special design.

The solution of glue and chemicals came out as 16 very fine colorless streams, joined into one composite fibre, treated to give it strength and color, and processed yet again to obtain the desired soft, silky feel. The weaving followed on a small hand loom, the fabric was formed and the purse made.

CONCESSIONS AT THE PETERBORO INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION

Turner, c/o Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, so that the space may be allotted. A great many applications from outside parties are being received, and there is a desire on the part of the Directors to have all local space requirements taken care of immediately. Applications made at once will receive prompt attention.

STEAM PROPULSION FOR AIRSHIPS NOW.

A British Naval Officer Claims to Have Invention Providing For Steam-

LONDON, Aug. 16. — (Canadian Press).—Invention of a system of steam propulsion for airships is claimed by Captain W. P. Durtnall, who was a British naval officer during the war, and up to a year ago staff captain in the Chief Mechanical and Electrical Engineer's department of the Royal Air Force. It is maintained that the new system will function at altitudes hitherto unattainable with the ordinary type of internal combustion engine.

The invention is said to do away completely with the ordinary boiler, the steam being generated by means of internal-combustion power or heat energy. The superheated steam heat energy is supplied to special steam motors which are reversible and can be controlled from a central control station.

Only heavy oil is used as fuel and it is claimed that the driving machinery can be safely placed inside the frame of the airship instead of in separate gondolas outside, thus bringing about a great reduction in air resistance and consequently reducing the power required for propulsion. The engines or "steam motors," as Captain Burntnall calls them, are of the double-acting type requiring no flywheels.

MAXIM FOLLOWS LEAD OF EDISON

Issues List of Posing Questions of His Own—Lot Comprises Six; Answers Attached.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—From the master mind of Hudson Maxim, who has invented a hundred things, from canned food to smokeless powder, today comes another questionnaire similar to that of the wizard of Orange, Thomas A. Edison, which appeared a few months ago.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Maxim himself answered all except six of Mr. Edison's 145 questions.

That fact is the more remarkable in that Maxim could neither read nor write when he was 9 years old. He is 68 years old now.

Here are some of the Maxim questions, framed as his guide to one's mental equipment, with answers below:

The Questions.

1.—Where on the surface of the earth would a hunter be standing who, seeing a deer to the east of him, would point his gun north to shoot the deer?

2.—What causes the cold currents coming down from the north to hug the North American coast?

3.—If one were to fly by aeroplane around the earth in a westerly direction, starting from New York at noon on Sunday, it would be noon with him during the entire voyage; but where would the day change from Sunday noon to Monday noon?

4—Would it take any more pickets to build a picket fence a mile and a quarter long over a hill than it would to build it a mile long on the level in a tunnel through the hill?

5.—Would it take any more stone to build a stone wall four feet high and three feet wide and a mile and a quarter long over a hill than it would to build it a mile long on the level in a tunnel through the hill?

6.—Would it take any more rails to build a five-rail fence a mile and a quarter long over a hill than it would to build a five-rail fence in a tunnel a mile long through the hill?

7.—When an express train passes a bystander whistling the while, the pitch of the whistle is abnormally high as the train approaches, normal when opposite the bystander and abnormally low after the train has passed. Why is this?

8.—In the following problem in algebra: x equals a. Multiplying by x x2 equals ax.' (Note: a2 and x2 are used for x square and a square respectively.)

Substracting a2, a2 minus a2 equals ax minus a2.

Explain how it is that starting with x equals a, we are able to get x plus a equals a.

9.—What is the difference between two and two and twice two?

10.—Punctuate this sentence to make sense: That that is is that that is not is not is not that it it is.

The Answers.

1.—A short distance from the north pole, and he would fire over the pole.

2.—The earth rotates from west to east under the water, while the water is accelerated to participate in the earth's rotation.

4.—It would not take any more pickets.

5.—It would not take any more stone.

6.—It would require more rails to build the fence over the hill.

7.—Because of the rarefied state of the intervening heated air and gases.

8.—The co-efficient of the factors of zero. Consequently zero plus zero equals zero.

9.—One is addition and the other is multiplication.

10.—That that is, is; that that is not, is not. Is not that it? It is.

GRAIN PRICES ARE IRREGULAR.

Local Millers Not in a Position to Quote Prices.

The grain market is experiencing the usual summer fluctuations and local millers are unable to quote grain prices that would be at all dependable the next day. There is some old grain coming in, and this year's crop, fresh from the threshing mill, is beginning to trickle in slowly yet, but slightly increasing in quantity. It is expected that it will be a month before the market becomes steady. Generally, wheat is being bought at $1.25. Conflicting reports from the West have set the market bobbing, and until the crop is definitely settled as large or small the grain market will be subject to many cross currents.

REPUBLICANS OVERTURN TAX REVISION BILL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press.)—The Republican members of the House in a stormy party caucus, yesterday overturned the Ways and Means committee and changed the Tax Revision Bill so as to make the repeal of excess profits and higher income surtaxes and the increase in the corporation tax effective January 1 of next year instead of January 1, 1921.

JOHN M. KILBOURN, OF OWEN SOUND, IS DEAD.

Established the Lakefield Cement Company. Driven Air Craft.

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 15.—After an illness of several months, John M. Kilbourn, one of Owen Sound's most prominent citizens, died here in his 80th year. He was Vice-President of the Canada Cement company from its inception, and was actively interested in several local industrial concerns, being President of the Northern Bolt & Screw Co., a Director of the North American Furniture Co., and, until recently, a Director of the National Table Co.

Born at Smith's Falls in October, 1841, a son of the late Hiram Kilbourn, he came to Owen Sound in 1845, and lived here until he was about 20 years old, when he started in business at Invermay. After ten years in business he took up the study of law, and on admission to the bar, he opened an office at Invermay, where he remained until 1885, when he returned to Owen Sound and spent the rest of his life here. He continued in practise, first as head of the firm of Kilbourn & Bishop and later in partnership with one of his sons in the firm of Kilbourn & Kilbourn. He was also connected with the private banking firm of Geo. S. Kilbourn & Co., and President of the Kilbourn Real Estate Co.

Seeing the possibilities connected with the growth of the Portland cement industry, he became interested in the Owen Sound Portland Cement Co., and afterwards took a prominent part in forming the companies which built cement mills at Lakefield, Calgary and Montreal. On the formation of the Canada Cement Co., he became prominently and actively identified with it, holding the office of Vice-President.

In July, 1861, he married Miss Maria Antoinette Bishop, who died April 1, 1921, and he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Horace B. Smith and Mrs. D. M. Neeve, both of Toronto, and four sons, George S. and Frank H., both of Owen Sound; John M., Montreal, and Fred Aubrey, Calgary.

The funeral will take place Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock to Greenwood Cemetery.

FRENCH "BLUE BEARD" IS NOW A BUSY MAN

Studying 7,000 Documents Which Figure in His Case.

VERSAILLES, Aug. 16.— (Canadian Press.)—Henri Desire Landru, who is to appear for trial in October on charges growing out of the disappearance of 11 women to whom he had promised marriage, is busy studying the docket of his case, numbering some 7,000 documents.

A few days ago, a warden came to fetch Landru before the judge for some sort of a voluntary statement. Landru lifted his head from the table covered with copies of documents concerning his trial, and with an air of infinite boredom said: "Won't you please ask the Judge to postpone this call; this is my busy day."

PREFER INSURANCE TO AUTOS' RECOVERY.

Many Deny Ownership So They Can Get More in Indemnity Than Cars Now Cost.

NEW YORK, August 15. — Many unscrupulous owners of automobiles deny ownership or "fail to identify" their own machines when recovered by the police, preferring instead to accept the insurance indemnity at a rate made before automobile prices tumbled, it was disclosed at Police Headquarters yesterday.

The indifference of owners themselves, in many cases, a Police Department expert in these matters said, probably was chief among the many handicaps confronting the police of the Auto Squad in efforts to break up New York's well-organised stolen automobile industry.

"Failure to identify," as this phrase is known to the detectives, occurs only when the stolen automobile has "lost" its familiar markings, license plate, and engine number. It is the latest wrinkle in a traffic which, in complexity of its ramifications, has many of the earmarks of bootlegging, and not less difficult to dissolve, the police say.

When he was asked yesterday to explain the new high record for stolen automobiles in one day, set Tuesday, when Police Headquarters sent out thirty-five alarms for stolen cars, Detective Sergeant Edward Dillon, of the Auto Squad, under whose direction detectives recently disclosed a wide export traffic in stolen cars, said:

"I examined that list and found that eight cars which had been recorded as stolen were listed through error. Two men who had a quarrel over the ownership of a garage in Brooklyn did not agree as to the number of cars each owned, and one went to the police and reported that the other had stolen eight of them. The detectives at the station house where the complaint was made sent out descriptions of the cars in the belief that they had been removed from the garage, where they eventually were found.

TOBACCO DISEASE 'ESCAPES' THE EXPERTS

'Wildfire' Overruns Experimental Plots in Connecticut and Enters Adjoining Fields.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 15.—"Wildfire" the dread tobacco disease has got out of control of State experts who sought to tame it at the new tobacco experiment station in Windsor, it was learned to-day, and has overrun plots where it was intended it was not to disturb plant experimentation.

The station has three fields of tobacco, and in one of these experiments were made with infected plants. "Wildfire" has ways of its own, the experimenters have discovered, and has run wild to extent of overrunning most of a second field where it was not wanted. The third field of about three acres of round tip tobacco is still almost free of the disease.

It was said to-night that there was little chance of its getting into the Connecticut Valley tobacco belt in time to damage this year's crop.

Incidentally the experts learned that if a few infected plants are placed in a basket with healthy plants and allowed to stand several hours the whole of the basketful of plants is completely infected.

Now, that the harvesting season has arrived, it is the opinion of tobacco experts that 'Wildfire', while it has caused a heavy loss to a few fields, has not caused a great whole sale damage such as last year.

The round tip tobacco, a new type developed at the New Haven experiment station, is proving a fine crop and has shown at least three valuable features of superiority —it will resist wind and rain storms better than any other tobacco, it grows better than any other tobacco, it grows better on unfavorable soils, and produces abou 25 per cent. more leaves than Havana.

FEEDING PIGEONS AT ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL

PREFERS ARCTIC HUT.

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 15.—"I have been in civilization for a year, and I am going back home as quickly as I can," said W. D. Clark, who has been a hermit in the Arctic wilderness for nearly a quarter of a century.

Clark's "home' is on the headwaters of the Peel River, 180 miles from Herschel Island and 110 miles from Fort McPherson. His nearest neighbor is 56 miles away. They see each other once a year. With the exception of this one other man Clark is the only human being in a thousand square miles of country. The Indians do not go that far north and the Eskimos do not come so far South.

"Once a hermit, always a hermit," said Clark, preparing to return to the solitude of his cabin in the wilderness.

Gladys—But Alice always said she would never marry.

Canadian National Exhibition grounds comprise 264 acres and extend for about a mile along the water front.

Breaking a record established by a professional road racer in 1917, a Studebaker Light-Six driven by Leonard and Wesley Train set a new speed record between Toronto and Kingston, Ontario, by covering the 163.5 miles between these two points in exactly 3 hours and 45 minutes. This time is 59 minutes faster than the schedule of the International Limited, the fastest train running between these two cities. The average speed of he Light-Six was approximately 47 miles per hour.

The Light-Six, which was a stock model and did not differ from any car of its design save in that the top had been removed left Main street and Kingston Road in Toronto at 4:30 a.m. July 22, arriving in Kingston at 8.15 a.m.—three and three quarters hours later. The record was accomplished despite the fact that the first hour of driving was done in darkness, and that considerable bad roadway was encountered for the first 40 miles of the run.

The drivers immediately returned to Toronto, making the return trip over the same road in 3 hours and 46 minutes. While this time was one minute slower than the trip from Toronto to Kingston, the running time of the Light-Six on the return was actually faster than the first half of the run, for a tire blew out as it was speeding over a rough stretch of road near Toronto, and a stop of several minutes was necessitated in order to replace it by a spare.

At the conclusion of the run, totaling 27 miles over which the car had been given the most gruelling punishment in order that the drivers might accomplish the objective they set out for, the Light-Six was thoroughly examined; every mechanical part revealed the most perfect condition. The record just achieved by the Studebaker Light-Six is the second it has won in Canada during the past few months. Only recently it beat the fastest C.P.R. train between Moncton, and St. John, N. B., by a wide margin of time. Prior to that time, the Light Six created much attention in California by having broken five records in that State within a period of ten weeks.

RECEPTION TO 18 SISTERS AT MOUNT ST. JOSEPH TO-DAY

SIX POSTULANTS TOOK FIRST STEP TOWARD MEMBERSHIP AND FOUR OTHERS MADE INTERMEDIATE ADVANCE—LARGE ATTENDANCE OF FRIENDS AT CEREMONY.

Six postulants for the Sisterhood of St Joseph were invested with the holy habit this morning at Mount St. Joseph, four novices took their first vows, and eighteen young ladies who have completed the prescribed period of probation made the perpetual vows, and were received into full membership.

The reception took place in the chapel at the Mother House during Mass, which was celebrated by Bishop O'Brien in the presence of many friends of the young ladies. Many visitors were from the various parts of the Province from which the newly accepted Sisters and those who were taking the first step had come. The usual ceremony was carried out with solemnity, the choir of Mount St. Joseph singing during the Mass.

Rev. John E. Burke, C.S.P., of Toronto, preached the sermon, dwelling upon the importance of the decision the postulants and probationers had taken, the need of the world for lives of prayer and sacrifice, and the great influence for good which membership in the Sisterhood of St. Joseph offered through service to the sick and suffering, to orphans, the aged and to the poor; in hospitals, orphanages, and homes for the aged; and also through education in the schools.

The postulants received to-day were: Miss Margaret Quigley, of Douglas, Ont., in religion Sister Mary Drusilla; Miss Lorena Killoran, of Haileybury, in religion Sister Mary St. Leonard; Miss Margaret Aultman, of Powassan, Ont., in religion Sister Mary Henrietta; Miss Anna Bowie, of Lang, in religion Sister Mary Amadeus; Miss Lena Nash, of Ottawa, in religion Sister Mary St. Edmund; Miss Mary Scheleter, of Ottawa, in religion Sister Mary St. Denis.

Members of the clergy present at the ceremony were: Monsignor McColl, Rev. P. J. Galvin, of Downeyville, Father Monahan, of North Bay, Rev. J. McAuley, Ennismore, Rev. M. O'Brien, Lindsay, and Fathers Guiry, Costello, and Gillogley, of Peterborough.

WAR PROVED THAT U.S. DIDN'T LEAD IN EFFICIENCY

LOYALTY TO EMPIRE STRESSED IN BANQUET TO THE BRITISH BOWLERS.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Aug. 16.—At the banquet given last night to the British lawn bowlers by St. Catharines Lawn Bowling Club, Capt. E. J. Lovelace, Mayor of St. Catharines, said: "Prior to the war, Canadians spoke a great deal about American efficiency. Everybody thought the United States was leading in efficiency, and then came the war, and it did not take long to find out that Great Britain was literally carrying the world on her shoulders. Efficiency of a surprising kind was brought to light, and Canadians were very proud to be part of such an Empire."

Capt. Lovelace advocated a close watch on the immigrants coming to Canada. "Let there be more from the British Isles, and don't bother so much about the others," he urged.

Rev. Canon L. W. B. Broughall, Rector of St. George's, said: "Canada is simply crazy with loyalty to Britain, and the best way to find that out is to start something against the British Empire."

George Wright and Captain Jagger Wallace Harris replied for the Britishers.

LOST 29 POUNDS DYSENTRY WAS THE CAUSE

Dysentery is one of the worst forms of bowel complaint, and hardly any other disease so quickly undermines the strength and brings about a collapse that often terminates fatally.

To check the unnatural discharge without bringing on constipation you should use that grand old remedy with a reputation extending over 76 years,

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT WILD STRAWBERRY

Mr. G. H. McVagh, Mawer, Sask writes:—"About eight years ago I had a severe attack of dysentery. I was sick for three weks. I weighed 154 lbs. when I took sick and 125 when I got it stopped. I think I tried every medicine on the market, but did not find relief until I used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and one bottle did it. I think there is nothing like it for diarrhoea or dysentery. I always keep some on hand as a person does not know when he will need it."

AUGUST BRINGS HIGHEST MARK IN TOURIST TRAFFIC

LAKE BOATS ARE WELL CROWDED EVERY MORNING ON BOTH THE UP AND DOWN TRIPS.

The tourist invasion of the Kawartha Lakes is now at its height, according to Mr. Frank Young. On Monday the Empress brought 125 passengers from the lake resorts and on the up trip 110 newcomers who were just beginning their vacation. This is an indication of the daily traffic recently, and it is likely to continue right up to September. Many of these tourists are strangers to the boat crews, an evidence of the increasing popularity of the Kawartha district. All the resorts with the exception of one are reported to be packed to the rafters, and from all accounts will report a successful season.

Mr. Young remarked that August has been producing the heaviest business during the last few years. People have found that the cool evenings and the warm days make an attractive and helpful combination. The visitors have been moving up and down through Peterboro and Lakefield in streams, going up more pale and colorless and returning with deep coats of tan and touches of sunburn.

HOLIDAYING IN LOCAL BASTILE

Nine Prisoners Answer Roll Call For Dinner.

The upkeep of the county gaol should not be large this summer, for there are few prisoners compared with the high records that prevailed in days of yore. There are only nine prisoners in the gaol now. A few years ago the number ranged from 18 up to 25, according to Governor Henderson Nesbitt. The numbers of the prisoners have dwindled since spring, he stated and the bailiff took away four prisoners to the reformatory, the other morning, so that there are only nine prisoners now. Of these nine, three are indigent old men who like the gaol life. The two Hill brothers of Dummer are awaiting trial and are quiet, well-mannered prisoners, the governor said.

Albert Bishop, a deaf old man, convicted of assault, who was sent to the Toronto reformatory, was too bellicose for the officials and they sent him back to Peterborough on April 12, 1920, where he will finish one term of three months and another of two years less one day. Bishop is the most pugnacious character in the gaol, the governor affirmed. Last winter, in trying to break down his cell door, he broke one leg, and in attacking one of the other prisoners not long after, fell and broke the other elbow. Both injuries are not completely healed yet.

One man is serving two months for having liquor in his possession, and another man is also down for two months for trespass. An insane inmate is waiting to be sent to Toronto, completing the list of prisoners who grace the county gaol. There are no women prisoners at present in the gaol.

They have no trouble with the men, sttaes the governor. Every prisoner spends a portion of the day in the splendid garden behind the gaol and one of the prisoners, the young man given two months for having liquor in his possession, was helping the governor pick blue plums. The men work contentedly and, excepting for old Bishop, who is quite arbitrary at times, live congenially together.

The annual gaol inspection by the administration of justice, Toronto, has not been made yet this year, but this inspection will probably take place in the near future as gaols in this district have been inspected recently.

COTTAGERS HELD ANNUAL MEETING

Mr. C. H. D. Denné of this city, was elected president of the Stoney Lake Cottagers' Association yesterday at the annual meeting held at the lake. William Irwin was elected vice-president, and the Board of Directors for the coming year is as follows:

H. W. Stock, E. H. D. Hall, J. D. Collins, John Nugent of Peterboro; and S. Henderson, H. Sutherland, J. O. McCarthy and John Acton, of Toronto.

The annual financial statement, while it showed the year's expenses exceeding the revenue, was considered satisfactory. The laying of the hardwood floor on the dance pavilion at Juniper Island proved to be costly, and is accountable for the year's deficit.

Generally the members regarded the outlook as bright and the increasing popularity of the lake as a tourist resort was favorably commented upon.

After two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be entirely free from hair or blemish. This simple treatment is unfailing, but care should be exercised to be sure and get genuine delatone, otherwise you may be disappointed.

THE OSHAWA GAME WILL BE THE BIG EVENT OF SEASON

The visit of the Oshawa team, winners of the first half of the Central League race, to Peterborough on Saturday is creating much interest among the local fans, and the prospects are that the biggest crowd of the year will be out. The Petes must beat Oshawa in this game, or relinquish any hope of League honors this year, and they hope to have their strongest possible line-up in action against Manager Peacock's outfit. The latter, with Dainty back in harness, expect to breeze through the remainder of the second half and make a play off unnecessary, but they may run into a few obstacles they are not anticipating. The game is called for 3 o'clock at Riverside Park.

MERCANTILERS HAD GOOD SEASON; CHAMPION TEAM CONGRATULATED

The 1921 season of the Mercantile Baseball League was officially closed at a meeting of the clubs last evening. The report of the secretary-treasurer, Mr. Frank Jobbitt, was received with much satisfaction, and it was agreed that the past season had been a most successful one.

The congratulations of the League were extended to Cressman's team on their success in winning the championship.

The League also recorded a vote of appreciation of the assistance given to the clubs, and to baseball in general, by members of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association executive during this season.

The secretary was instructed to acknowledge with suitable gifts, the thanks of the League, to Mr. Alex. Kay and Mr. Edgar LeBar, who in umpiring the games did much to promote the welfare of the League.

The President was in like manner remembered.

SPORT COMMENT

Oshawa put in a poor week. Freddy Goyer, with refrigerator-treated pills, defeated the help induced to play ball in the motor town, and both lacrosse teams were beaten. The Intermediates, having won their group, figured it an easy matter to try senior company. Maitland seniors reduced and relieved the swelling. Then at the week end, the Plenty Cup candidates were put away by Galt.

Adams and Cooper, first and third position pitchers in the National show, have won thirty games for George Gibson. Adams has won twelve and lost three, while Cooper has turned in eighteen wins, and has been beaten seven times.

The English motor boat, Maple Leaf VII, is credited with having done eighty miles in one hour. Miss America's best time is 77.5 miles for the sixty minutes. The two will meet in the International Cup, off Detroit, in September.

Peterborough bowlers are playing in Belleville, at the annual lawn bowling tournament. Here's hoping that the "Petes" defeat that fellow Wray. Such a win would bring more satisfaction and glory than a trunk heaped with silverware.

The second game in the C.G.E.-Keene series, of the O.B.A.A. draw will be played on Friday evening. C.G.E. wanted a Saturday afternoon game, but Keene objected because the majority of their supporters are busy in the city on Saturday.

So that all the world may read, Port Hope sends out the news that "Fred Goyer, who held Oshawa hitless and scoreless the other day, was hit so hard that he was pulled out in the fourth inning." The fact that Port Hope won the game in ten innings is insignificant.

Critics say baseball games in the big leagues are becoming uninteresting because of two much in the line of home runs, triples and doubles. One of these days, fickle fandom will be cheering the player who is struck out with his fellows on the runways. And when that day comes a lot of local ball players will enter the hall of fame.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE ALLEN.

Fully seven hundred persons were turned away from the Allen Theatre last evening. It was the opening night for "The Birth of a Nation" and those who were fortunate enough to get inside had a two-fold surprise. One was the grandeur of the interior decorations and the other was the stupendous character of the picture. For the past two months interior decorators have been converting the Allen Theatre into one of the finest show houses of its kind in Ontario and the result was more than pleasing to the crowd that took in the opening night. The feature film attraction made an appropriate opening feature and patrons of the Allen will have another opportunity to-night and again to-morrow night to see this wonderful picture.

There seems to be a wonderful charm about this romantic story of love and war. Patrons of the movies never seem to see enough of the production, but will go again and again to see it at every opportunity. It is a story with a thrill, a sermon in a play, a history in the form of a drama. The eminent fairness in the treatment of all parties in the story is perhaps one secret of the photo-play's popularity.

AT THE CAPITOL.

The first hint of autumn always bring joy to the heart of the veteran theatre-goer, and last night's audience at the "Capitol" reminded one of the premiere of some much advertised play at a metropolitan house. The large and appreciative crowd was attracted perhaps by the prospect of one of the first British famous players productions to be shown here. Likewise, possibly, by the certainty of hearing some good music from the Capitol orchestra. This organization is working into good shape now and gave a fine performance of "The Bohemian Girl," that most popular of all Balfe's tuneful operas

The name of E. Phillips-Oppenheim attached to a picture is an attraction in itself, but the scenario provided by Margaret Turnbull provided many opportunities for an irresponsible and philandering hero to make love, under so many circumstances, and with such rapidity that one is never really in doubt as to the end of the road, even though it is labelled "Mystery." It is a source of wonder to me that such a discriminating gentleman as Gerald Domby should have chosen the plain little country girl, ill-treated by her father, to transplant to a gorgeous bridal suite in London. However, there is no discussing taste, and Myrtle must have been delighted by the big city and the marvellous ballet scene featuring Phyllis Beadle. Her dancing and that of M. Espimosa were treats in themselves, while the gorgeous costumes and settings must have spelled Fairyland to the simple country maiden. Much as I am inclined to tell the story of this photo-play, I feel it would be injustice to the next audience, so I will only mention the charming views of the English country estates, a gambling room and glimpses of high life in Nice and at the fashionable resorts on the Mediterranean.

David Powell, who plays the hero Gerald Domby, needs little comment, for his artistic performance bespoke the finished, accomplished actor. The picture was directed by Paul Powell and the cast, as usual with Famous Players-Lasky productions, is well balanced and efficient.

A word about the progress of Famous Players British Corporation may be of interest to movie fans:

During the war we saw several British films, some educational, some put out for the purpose of propaganda, such as "Comradeship," featuring the beautiful Lily Elsie, but it remains for Famous Players to put out a production in England such as we saw last night. Of course the very best Paramount talent has gone to the London studio and a glance at the exchanges taking place this year will prove the interest in future plays to be made in the old country. Donald Crisp, the brutal father of Broken Blossoms fame, and Paul Powell, are returning to America to be replaced by John T. Robertson and George Fitzmaurice. Mr. Robertson directed "Sentimental Tommy" without offending the susceptibilities of Barrie's reading public, and Mr. Fitzmaurice, considered by many to be America's foremost director. One famous actress said, "the day she was engaged by George Fitzmaurice her future was secure." It is interesting to note the variety of the "Capitol" programme. Last night's bill included "Topics of the Day," an excellent "Pathe News," a very funny, human comedy of the "Hall Room Boy's" aspirations and trials, entitled "Their Dizzy Finish," and the last episode of the popular serial, "The Avenging Arrow," with Ruth Roland. To those who like serials the last chapter of one, is like closing a favourite book—one hates to come to the final paragraph, but no doubt there is something good in store for the future and perhaps it is only "Au Revoir Ruth"— we hope to see you soon again.

M'GRAW'S LAST TRADE DID NOT STRENGTHEN GIANTS GREAT DEAL

(By Henry L. Farrell, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, August 16.—John McGraw, Tsar of the New York Giants, has the reputation of being a daring trader who will go to the limit to win a pennant.

He is one of the few managers of the major leagues who figures only on to-day, relying on his money and prestige to get a club for to-morrow.

McGraw made such drastic moves this year for a championship that he has wrecked his team. Instead of getting a pennant for himself, he looks at the present time to have thrown it away.

New York fans are bemoaning the trades that brought 'Irish' Meusel, "Red" Causey, and Casey Stengel to the Giant fold with all the vehemence that the Pittsburg and Boston fans protested at the trades several weeks ago.

It was then charged openly that the wealthy Giants were buying the pennant, by outbidding the other clubs that wanted Meusel.

McGraw, although he was not in need of an outfielder, bought Meusel, the young long distance clouter of the Phils, for Walker, a promising young outfielder, Henline, a young catcher, and a cash sum said to have been $50,000 or $75,000.

Meusel has been a terrible disappointment, not only has he forgotten how to hit, but he has been even less than an ordinary worker in the field.

To make room for him, McGraw had to move Burns over to centre field and the efficiency of the whole left side has been impaired.

Causey has been useless with a sore arm, and the fans are laughing at McGraw claiming that his ailment was known all season. Stengel is not in shape to play, and earns his salary from the coaching line.

In exchange for them McGraw gave a wealth of young talent that might have developed into great players.

McGraw has the money to get good players, but there is no market now and trades are over for the season.

It is rumoured that McGraw offered $50,000 for Rube Marquard last time the Reds were in town, but was turned down.

LACROSSE NOTES

Peterborough's junior lacrosse team plays Hastings juniors in Campbellford on Wednesday afternoon. A win for Tim Coughlin's youngsters gives them the local round.

By reason of their victory over Peterborough in Hastings, they are the logical favourites. They have had the benefit of "Dot" Phelan's coaching for the last six weeks, and will undoubtedly show improvement over their form on Dominion Day.

Johnnie Sutherland's lads have been practising faithfully, and are eager for the game.

Havelock's game at home with Campbellford on Friday in the intermediate group is the big attraction for which the Trent towns are waiting. A loss for the C.P.R. team means the discard for them and the district honours for Dick Cole's club. This is the fourth game of the series of which Campbellford has won two, both at home, and Havelock one. Both teams have shown progressive improvement in each contest, and unless the unexpected happens on Friday, the game should be a rattler. Some of Peterborough lacrosse enthusiasts have marked the date for the 28-mile trip east, and they have every reason to feel confident that they will get a heaping value of fast, clean lacrosse. It is likely that the Trent towns will all be deserted next Friday.

Bill Donovan, district representative of the I. C. S., says Oshawa's intermediates will make a big bid for the intermediate championship. He has seen them in action several times and says it will take a mighty good team to beat them.

The winner of the local intermediate group will probably play off with Madoc, who drew a bye in the draw. They are next door neighbours to both Campbellford and Havelock, and naturally should play the local winner in order that the eastern end of the O. A. L. A. circuit should be cleaned up before a draw is made with Oshawa or one of the western teams.

C.G.E. WILL INVADE KEENE ON FRIDAY

GREAT RECEPTION AWAITS ELECTRICIANS IN SECOND O.B.A.A. GAME.

C.G.E. and Keene will play the second O.B.A.A. game at Keene on Friday evening. The game is billed to start at 5.30 o'clock, with Alex. Kay umpire-in-chief, and Kevin Murray at the base.

Being in doubt as to what is in store for them, the Electricians will use their strongest team, with Chris. McCarney on the firing line.

Keene promises to make the game exceedingly interesting. They will be on their home lot with hundreds of cheering fans behind them, while the visitors will be away from a carefully-groomed diamond, and with the Keene ball grounds not to their liking.

An expenditure of approximately $600,000 is required each year to stage and prepare the Canadian National Exhibition.

WEALTHY MERCHANT FILCHES BIG BOILER.

ORLEANS, France, August 16.—(Canadian Press).—Burglars broke into an ironmonger's warehouse, and the next morning the only object missing was a large boiler.

The police at first believed the theft to be the work of a madman. Later they arrested Mr. Boitier, a wealthy wholesale wine merchant, and owner of a chateau and extensive grounds at Cerdon-sur-Loire.

Boitier admitted the theft, saying he had committed it in a moment of weakness, as he had ample means to buy such a boiler had he wished.

A number of similar boilers, some of them weighing over a ton, were found in the cellars of his country home.

Boitier's lawyer says he will plead kleptomania.

LAST MEETING OF ALLIES OF GREAT IMPORT

LLOYD GEORGE POINTS TO UNBROKEN STRENGTH OF ENTENTE.

LONDON, Aug. 16. — (Canadian Press).—The Prime Minister, Mr. Lloyd George, speaking in the House of Commons to-day concerning the last meeting of the Allied Supreme Council, declared that in many respects it was the most important since the declaration of peace. Questions were before it, he said, which menaced the solidarity of the Entente.

The unity of the Allies, Mr. Lloyd George asserted, was a guarantee for the peace of Europe, and it was a matter of great gratification that at the end of the meeting a resolution was passed, not merely that the alliance be continued, but declaring that the spirit of the alliance was as strong as ever.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press). — Professional selling of speculative issues was actively resumed at the opening of to-day's Stock Market. Mexican Petroleum, United States Rubber First Preferred, United Retail Stores, Sears Roebuck and International Harvester lost one to two points, the latter making a new low price for the year. General Electric, Industrial Alcohol and Continental Can extended yesterday's losses. Foreign Exchange showed further unsettlement on the greater weakness of marks, which were quoted at 1.05 to 1.06.

Shorts effected further impairment of prices in almost every branch of the list during the forenoon. Little support was seen save in high-grade Rails and Industrials. Bethlehem and Crucible Steels were heavy and losses of one to four points resulted from moderate offerings of American Steel Foundries, Railway Steel Springs, Pressed Steel Car, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric and New York Airbrake. Call money opened at 6 per cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16. — (Canadian Press).—Down turns in the price of wheat resulted to-day from weakness in the New York Stock Market. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to ½ cent higher, with September 1.24 3-4 to 1.25 and December 1.26¾ to 1.25 3-4, were followed by a general setback to well below yesterday's finish.

After opening unchanged to ¼ cent higher, including September at 56 3-4 to 57, the Corn Market underwent a sag all around.

Oats descended to the lowest price level which September delivery has touched since 1912. Big stocks in sight left the market without support. Prices opened 1-8 off to 1-8 to ¼ cents up. September 34 7-8 to 35, and then suffered material declines.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press)—Receipts 1,232; trade steady. Quotations: Heavy beef steers $7.50 to $8; butcher steers, choice, $6.75 to $7.25; butcher cows, medium, $3.50 to $4.50; calves, $8 to $9; lamb, $8.75 to $9.25; hogs, selects, $14.25.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press). — Toronto Railway and Steamships Preferred accounted for most of the dealings on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. Outside of these two stocks there was practically nothing doing.

The postponement of the annual meeting of Toronto Railway directors, scheduled for Friday next, apparently was responsible for a two point rise in this security. Opening at 71, an overnight gain of a point, quotations were marked up, until 72 was reached, where the price stood at the close. Steamships Preferred advanced 3-8 to 50 3-8 on sales of 92 shares. Paper stocks were neglected, not a sale being made in any of the listed stocks.

No article offensive in odor or appearance, or of a combustible or explosive character are accepted for display at the Canadian National Exhibition.

PETERBORO BOYS OFF TO BORDER.

Will Cover the Distance on Their Bicycles.

When only the milk rigs are on the streets, and only the rattle of the bottles, and the sound of cocks' crowing fills the air, two chums, both young men, Gordon Webb, 505 Sherbrooke street, and Gerald "Peggy" Thorndyke, 578 Stewart Street, this morning pedaled out of the city on a 600 mile bicycle trip to Windsor and return. Both are machinists, and have been out of employment, so the trip has been taken with the possible chance of securing work in the Border Cities, but mainly to give them a novel experience for several weeks, a diversion from the daily seeking a "job." They expect to be away at least two weeks.

TORONTO POLICE TAKE 3. SLEEPING, WANTED IN FALLS

Charged with Assault and Robbery in Niagara Falls, N.Y.

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press). — Two men and a woman wanted in Niagara Falls, N. Y., on a charge of assault and robbery, were captured asleep in their rooms early this morning by a squad of police and detectives. They gave their names as Edwin Foster, Joseph Mason and Catharine Haynes. Brought to police headquarters, they refused to admit the charge as set out in the telegram from Chief of Police Curry, of Niagara Falls, but signed waivers for their return to Niagara Falls to stand trial.

ANOTHER MILESTONE REACHED IN LIVES OF LOCAL COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hamilton Have Resided in Peterboro Nearly Sixty Years.

On Thursday of this week Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hamilton, 38 Hunter street east, celebrate the 63rd anniversary of their wedding. Mr. Hamilton is 89 years of age and Mrs. Hamilton is his junior by four years. Surrounded by a happy family who rejoice in the continued good health that blesses their parents' way they are going down the path of life together and a large number of friends will unite with the family on Thursday in wishing them every happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton have lived in Peterboro fifty-nine years.

If Mr. Hamilton lives till May 20, next, he will be 90 years old, and will have lived sixty years in Peterboro. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton were married on August 18, 1858 in North New Jersey and came to this city in 1862. For 23 years, Mr. Hamilton conducted a shoe business in East City and through business connections made a wide circle of friends who will be pleased to know that he and Mrs. Hamilton will pass another milestone in their lives.

The Survivors

There are five daughters and one son living. The daughters are: Mrs. J. Pighe of Toronto, Mrs. H. Russell of Peterboro, Mrs. C. L. Huffman, Sherbrooke street, Miss S. Hamilton Peterboro, Mrs. J. Speer, 38 Hunter street, east. One son, Francis lives in Montreal. Fourteen grand children and six great grand children complete the family circle. The grandparents had six grandsons serving overseas and none were more proud of these boys than they.

The wedding anniversary will be quietly observed.

SUMMONSES READY FOR THAXI DRIVERS

Police Are Taking Action With Those Who Neglected to Comply with Order.

Police Sergeant Reid was preparing summonses to-day for those taxi drivers, carters and others who had neglected to comply with the orders of the department respecting the reporting licenses. They also request those men who had licenses last year and who have since gone out of business to return the numbered tags to the police station. The last man who retained one of these tags beyond the allotted time was fined $5 and costs. This is given as a last warning, and also a reminder to those who have not complied with the by-law requiring that weeds shall be kept cut.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN QUEBEC SERIOUS

3,000 MEN OUT OF WORK AND PROSPECTS FOR WINTER VERY POOR.

(Special Despatch to the Examiner.)

QUEBEC, Aug. 16. — Three thousand unemployed are reported to be now looking for work in the city of Quebec, by Mr. Alfred Crowe, the Superintendent of the Provincial Employment Bureau here, and fear of unprecedented conditions of misery for next winter are expressed by the authorities.

Never, before, according to the same source of information, has local labour been so affected by the lack of employment in all trades, apart from construction, which is locally active but dull in the outside districts, while salaries have fallen down in many industries and the cost of living not equalled tumbled down.

In the shoe industry here only one-fourth of the regular employees are working and the result is that the number of unemployed laborers has doubled.

The recent public works carried out here have helped during the summer but they are now practically over and the only means of solving the distressing problem is by persuading the lumber interests to operate their camps during the winter, as two thousand lumber jacks are supplied by Quebec alone. The wages even if those lumber camps open, will be greatly reduced.

OXFORD ELECTION ON OCTOBER 20TH

DRURY CONFIDENT FARMERS WILL SWEEP LIBERAL STRONGHOLD.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, Aug. 16. — There is every prospect that the Provincial by-election in North Oxford, necessitated by the death of John Calder, will be held on or about October 20. Premier Drury, when questioned today about the matter, stated that it had practically been decided to hold the Oxford polls in the neighborhood of that date, which is the anniversary of the general election that placed the present Government in power.

This is the first trial of strength since the Provincial election of 1919, and, accordingly, considerable importance is attached to it. Premier Drury stated, however, that his information from this riding was of a highly favorable nature, and that he was confident that, with a three-cornered contest, the Government would experience no difficulty in electing a U.F.O. candidate in this formerly Liberal stronghold.

FINDING SMALL STORY DISPROVED

ish accent. At times he nervously played with the sheet of the bed, pulling it towards his face and then uneasily rubbing his hands together. He said he was not married, and was thirty-eight years of age, although it took him some time to reply to the question as to his age.

"This is the most he has talked since he came here," remarked Custodian McComb. At this juncture of the interview and Dougherty sharply turned his eyes towards the reporter.

Dougherty's hair is dark brown, unbrushed, his forehead is broader than Small's, his eyebrows heavier, his eyes larger, and while the general profile is remarkably similar, his nose is far from being like Small's. His mustache is the nearer Small's than any of his make-up, but it is a reddish brown. His chin is larger than Small's. When we left the room, he again threw a curious, mystified look at the door.

He is mentally deranged, caused, primarily through the loss of his limbs. He is morose and sullen, does not wish to talk, and seems deeply worried over something that cannot be learned by the authorities here. The shock of losing his limbs has caused his ill health. "If he was about 15 years older and had more marks of life, he would certainly be A. J. Small," remarked Mr. Sackett. "The profile impresses me more than anything, but as I recall Mr. Small, he is not the man."

JAMES GATES AS A LIFE-SAVER ON OTONABEE RIVER.

James Gates, caretaker of the Inverlea Park bathing beach, made his first rescue of the season yesterday afternoon. Only for his presence of mind and quick action a catastrophe would have occurred. As it was he arrived barely in time. Loud cries from a man on the bridge drew his attention, and just floating under the bridge he saw a white inanimate object bobbing about on the water.

Frantically loosening his punt, he pulled to the scene encouraged by cries from the man on the bridge, whose shouts had aroused others. Will he be in time? Yes! No! Yes—He saved it—a Panama hat. The excited gentleman owned it.

DISARMING MEET TO COST MILLION

BUT THIS IS ONLY A FRACTION OF ONE BATTLE'S COST.

By Raymond Clapper

(United Press Staff Correspondent).

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. — The disarmament conference will cost the United States at least $1,000,000, according to conservative unofficial estimates here to-day. The $200,000 appropriation requested by Under Secretary of State Fletcher is regarded as merely a start on the total bill which the United States will be required to foot after the last delegate has started home. But even should the expenditure run far over the one million dollar rough estimate, this will be only a fraction of the cost of one battleship, officials point out.

The decision of Premier Briand to attend in person will undoubtedly result in a similar decision by Lloyd George, officials here believe.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL AND LADY BYNG TO VISIT IN QUEBEC

WILL SPEND MONTH OF OCTOBER IN THAT CITY.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

QUEBEC, Aug. 16.—His Excellency the Governor-General and Lady Byng of Vimy will spend the month of October in Quebec, taking up their residence at the Governor-General's quarters in the citadel, where certain necessary alterations may be made previous to their arrival.

Among the entertainments to take place on the occasion of the Vice-Regal visit will likely be a ball on the Citadel, a garden party at Spencerwood given by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Lady Fitzpatrick, and a civic reception by the City of Quebec.

Their Excellencies will also visit several local educational and charitable institutions, and Lord Byng will be presented with the honorary degree of Doctor of Law at Laval University previous to their coming to Quebec. There are no arrangements made, but it is understood that they may spend some time in Montreal or Toronto.

PERRON QUEBEC'S ATTORNEY-GENERAL

SEMI-OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENT GIVEN.

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

QUEBEC, Aug. 16.—Semi-official confirmation of the appointment of Hon. J. L. Perron to the Attorney-Generalship of the Province in the fall and his candidature in the County of Verhess has been given.

Premier Taschereau will remain President of the Council of Ministers, and may also take in addition to this certain branches of the Provincial Secretary's Department under his jurisdiction.

Dr. Desaulniers, M.L.A., Chambly, former President of the Good Roads Association, will be made a Legislative Councillor, replacing Hon. Mr. Perron, and due to several appointments and present vacancies at least seven bye-elections will be held in the course of the fall.

DRURY REPLIES TO CRITICS ON RADIAL

try it." was the Premier's laughing rejoinder.

"Do you think," he was asked, "that this radial question is one which is likely to be made a political issue of sufficient gravity as to precipitate a general election."

"There is no means of foretelling that," he repied. But we are confidene that, with the facts drawn out by the Commission of investigation, the great majority of the people are the province would stand for a policy of caution."

'Of course," he added, "if the government had been seeking only political expediency and the easier the course it doubtless would have acceded to the demand that work be proceeded with on the radials without investigation. We could have gone ahead and thus attained a certain measure of easy popularity, feeling fairly safe in the assurance that we could bequeath to our successors in office the task of paying for such folly. You may see examples of the practice in the Grand Trunk Pacific and in the Mackenzie and Mann Roads. In the Dominion railway situation to-day we are reaping the fruits of just precisely such political opportunism as that which some people would have forced upon us. But we choose the harder and more unpopular course, believing it to be in the best interests of the province

WILL ATTEND TRADES CONGRESS, WINNIPEG

The only local union that will be represented at the Dominion Trades Congress in Winnipeg next week, is the Carpenters, who are sending Mr. Joseph Lazure. Last year he also attended the convention which was held at Windsor. Ald. Gainey is going as a representative of the International Barbers. He leaves on Thursday accompanied by his wife and will take the boat trip from Sarnia to the head of the lakes.

This year's congress promises to be unusually interesting and will likely open with the contentious question as to whether or not the Railway Clerks shall be given a seat.

SARAH BERNHARDT'S HEALTH "EXCELLENT"

RUMORS OF SERIOUS COLD DENIED BY FAMOUS ACTRESS' FAMILY.

PARIS, Aug. 16.—(United Press). —Sarah Bernhardt's health is "excellent," it was officially stated by her family today.

Rumors had been circulated that the famous actress, now 77 years old, was in a serious condition as the result of a cold in her lungs.

Wiring from Belle Isle, Louis Verneuil, husband of Bernhardt's granddaughter, said: "For two days we have been receiving numerous enquiries concerning Madam Bernhardt's health. We do not understand the reason for these rumors. Please announce that Madame Bernhardt's health, fortunately, is excellent."

It is estimated that there are 12,000 permanent residents of Exhibition City during the two weeks of the Fair.

FIRST OUTBREAK SINCE THE TRUCE.

Nationalists Attacked Near Belfast Last Night.

BELFAST, Aug. 16.— (Canadian Press.)— A partisan attack on a group of Nationalists was carried out last night. The Nationalists were returning from a fete at Donogore. One man was mortally wounded. This is the first incident of the kind since the truce went into effect.

CALL FIRE FIGHTERS TO DRIVE AWAY BEES.

BERLIN, August 16 (Canadian Press). — A vendor of chocolate, plying his trade on a crowded street here recently, was attacked by a swarm of bees seeking the sweets, and he and a number of passers-by were severely stung before the arrival of a detachment of fire fighters, who turned a hose on the bees and dispersed them.

IGNITION SET FIRE TO TRUCK

Fire Department Turned Out And Extinguished Blaze.

About 8.30 last night the engine of one of Ed. Cooney's trucks burst into flame while the truck was being driven south on Aylmer Street, near Hunter. A short circuit in the ignition set fire to the grease around the engine and to gasoline that had been leaking from the carburetor. Flames ran over the whole front of the car. The driver ran into a nearby store and 'phone in the alarm and the firemen arrived before the fire had spread from the engine. They smothered the fire out with chemicals, and the driver believed the engine would be little the worse for its hot experience. In future he said he would watch carefully leaks from the carburetor and the ignition of the engine.

HUDSON RIVER TO BE SPANNED BY LARGEST BRIDGE IN THE WORLD

A sketch, from the New York Side, showing the immense bridge which will be built to connect New York and New Jersey, as near the foot of West 57th St., N. Y. C., as the river bed conditions will permit. Mr. Gustav Lindenthal, the chief engineer is making preliminary studies for this immense bridge, the largest in the world. It will have a total length of 6,660 feet and the central span across the river will be 3,240 ft., more than twice that of the Brooklyn Bridge. There will be two decks and the anchorages, 500 feet high, will be used as office buildings. The towers carrying the cables will be taller than the Woolworth Building. It will take from 5 to 7 years to build this bridge.

CHARTERING OF LIQUOR EXPORT FIRMS USELESS

ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT SAYS THEY MUST SHIP BY COMMON CARRIER TO AVOID CONFISCATION.

THIS WILL OPEN WAY FOR U.S. AUTHORITIES

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

TORONTO, Aug. 17.— That the liquor sit uation on the Detroit River will not be affected in the silghtest by the Dominion Government's actioo in granting a charter to the Essex Export Company, was the opinion expressed this morning by the Attorney General's Department.

Incorporation, The Examiner was informed, would not give the company any higher status or any greater license than that allowed to an individual. The company's collective members would still be amenable to the process of the law in the same manner as before they received their charter. The opinion was also expressed that the company would still be forced to make its exports through the standard common carriers and that the law enforcement officers would still be able to divert irregular shipments into these recognized channels which would be under the surveillance of the United States Customs and police officials, who would enjoy the privilege of confiscating all illegal shipments.

The Examiner was also informed that one company had made application to the Attorney-General for a license to operate, but had been flatly refused.

Dr. Andrew S. Grant, of the Ontario Referendum Committee, expresed the opinion that the Dominion Government should never have granted a charter for this purpose. He pointed out that there was an understanding that no licensed bonded warehouse should be established in any dry area for export purposes without the consent of the province involved. In this case, the Ottawa authorities had overridden the wishes of Ontario in an arbitrary manner. He added that in his opinion this and other similar companies would only be able to ship legally through the regular railways, express companies and other common carriers. The United States accordingly would be left in a position where it could readily protect itself.

U. S. POLICE ACTIVE.

DETROIT, Aug. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Michigan State police, endeavoring to check the flow of Canadian beer and liquor across the Detroit River from Windsor, made several raids along the water front early to-day, arresting eleven men and seizing a considerable quantity of contraband liquor. One raid netted 25 hundred pints of Canadian beer and ale, in addition to a quantity of "home brew."

THE NEW MOVIES

CHICAGO, Aug. 17. — Movie films without pistols, films without showing liquor, knives and too long kisses are coming soon, say members of a party of official censors from the east and Canada, who stopped over in Chicago on their way to inspect the film studios of California.

In the party, which departed for the west coast, were the members of the official censor boards of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland and Kansas City, Toronto, Vancouver and Montreal.

"The present trend in films now is toward the wholesome apple-pie sort of girl," said Maj. Alex. S. Hamilton, film censor of Toronto. "Theatres which show this rouge less movie type are doing business 'Vamp' films are languishing. Freckles now are a stamp of approval. There are more front porches on the screen and fewer back bedrooms."

BURNHAM SAYS ROWELL KEEPS HIS PROMISES

DECLARES THAT DURHAM MEMBER RESIGNED HIS SEAT FOR THE SAME REASON THAT HE (BURNHAM) RESIGNED HERE

REQUEST TO ROWELL, NOT A "CHALLENGE"

Mr. J. H. Burnham, ex-M.P., was asked to-day what he expected Hon. N. W. Rowell's reply to his challenge, as The Globe terms it, would be.

"In the first place it is not a challenge, but a request," said Mr. Burnham, "to a man who, it will be found, resigned from Durham for the same reason that I resigned from West Peterborough.

"He knows why he entered the Union Government and why he toured Ontario appealing to Liberals in 1917, and he was too straight a man to sell his manhood and his love of country for political advantage.' He could have had the highest gift in the power of the Union Government, and when I asked him why he did did not take it, he said that he preferred to be under no obligations, and to be free."

Mr. Rowell, whatever his answer to my request may be, is a man who has good, old-fashioned convictions, and it is only such men who have the pluck and the common decency to do what he has shown himself capable of doing. I would not expect it from a man of smaller calibre.

MEIGHEN TAKES TRIP TO SOUND THE SITUATION

PREMIER IS FEELING POLITICAL PULSE OF MONTREAL, WHERE ST. ANTOINE BY-ELECTION IS IMPENDING.

INDUSTRIAL INTERESTS MAY SUPPORT LIBERALS

(Special Despatch to The Examiner)

OTTAWA, Aug. 17. — Premier Meighen is seeking a new political perspective in Montreal. He left quietly for that city last evening and will spend the day in consultation with his workers there. It is considered possible that the Premier will later visit Toronto and other points for the purpose of feeling the pulse of the country and of ascertaining its temper.

A by-election is pending in the Montreal division of St. Antoine. So far the government has not chosen a candidate, though the Opposition is said to have no dearth of strong aspirants.

Premier Meighen's efforts to break into Quebec have so far been signally unsuccessful. For a time it appeared likely that he might secure a representative of the French-Canadian people for his cabinet, but his plans fell through and it is now highly doubtful if he can secure anybody should he still desire to do so.

St. Antoine is a government seat but the Liberals have high hopes of winning it and there is no evidence at present of any split in the solid Quebec bloc. It is, however, necessary for Premier Meighen to ascertain what continued measure of support may be assured from the commercial and industrial interests whose policy of protection he has espoused. They cannot always be calculated upon to back a losing horse and it is feared in some quarters they may lend their support to the other of the old parties in the field which has the chances to win against the agrarians.

There is a general realization here that the sooner the Government makes up its mind as to whether there shall be an immediate election or not, the better. Delay cannot but have an adverse effect upon the Government's chances in the pending by-elections.

PEACH CROP WILL BE LIGHT, LOCAL DEALERS ASSERT

FRUIT GROWERS ARE SENDING OUT HARD LUCK STORIES.

With no optimistic reports from growers on the peach crop, fruit dealers in the city to-day advised buying peaches early. Crawfords can be obtained at nearly every shop now and by the end of the week will be as plentiful as they are going to be. Peaches of a very good uqality were selling in bulk to-day at $1.35 a 6-quart basket and $1.75 an 11-quart. Small baskets for eating were selling at 75c.

There will not be many more plums one dealer said, and he advised all housewives who want any for preserving to get them now. Blues and gages continue to sell about $1.50 and fancies about $1.75.

Sugar plums are scarce. By the quart they are selling at from 10c to 15c.

Beamsville pears are in favor in the city and dealers say that sales are good at $1.50 a basket. Canteloupes from the same district are plentiful and range in price from 10c to 25c.

Grapes Coming.

Blue grapes are expected in shortly by the fruit men and in the early picking of grapes there is a lucid instance of the advancement of this season over other years.

Tomatoes are at the flood now and the stores are crammed full of baskets marked at 70 and 80c. Wax beans are petering out and there will be none after this week, it is stated. Those in stock are retailing at 80c a large basket. Yellow bantam and white corn is not hard to obtain, at 20c a dozen, but the crop is rapidly maturing, the gardeners say, and after this week, most of it excepting the late corn, will be a trifle old for boiling. Meanwhile corn fills a big place in dinner and supper menus everywhere.

There are 258 sections in the horse classes at the Canadian National Exhibition, the most complete in the world.

GOVERNMENT TAKES EVERY PRECAUTION

LONDON, Aug. 17.—(By United Press.)—After a lenghty discussion of the Irish situation to-day, the British Cabinet decided that the statement which Lloyd George was to have made in the Commons this afternoon should be deferred.

LONLON, Aug. 17.— (Canadian Press.)— Austen Chamberlain, government leader in the House of Commons, to-day cautioned its members against debate which might threaten a settlement of the Irish problem, while Londoners were eagerly buying newspapers in which the pronouncement in Dublin of Eamonn De Valera, Irish Republican leader, against the British government, streamed across the front pages.

POLICE SCOUR WHOLE COUNTRY FOR ASSASSINS

"GOOD KILLERS" ALLEGED TO HAVE MURDERED 16 IN 15 YEARS OF TERRORIZING UNDERWORLDS OF TWO CITIES.

MEMBER OF THE GANG CONFESSES TO CRIMES

NEW YORK, August 17 (United Press). — New York detectives today took up the search in a dozen cities for members of the "Good Killers."

The search began after Bartola Fontana, a barber, admitting a murder committed by himself, implicated a band of six alleged hired assassins in sixteen killings.

Seven victims fell in New York and nine in Detroit.

Fontana said the alleged professional slayers he named and their victims were Italians, unfolding the plots and machinations of the gang which, he said, earned the name of the 'Good Killers."

Fontana said its career began with a murder in Brooklyn fifteen years ago. From that murder sprang a line of stabbings and poisonings, which made the gang powerful in the Italian underworld, and brought it hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Wealthy Italians with enemies they wished to put out of the way have given the gang valuable commissions, Fontana said. The usual methods of the gang, he said, were to obtain control of youthful Italians before they leave Europe.

In various ways they worked on the unsuspecting immigrant, telling him that the "gang owns the United States," and that he must obey its orders in a matter of fact way. Fontana declared that the immigrant then was the tool used to commit the paid murder. If the immigrant objected, force was used. Whether he obeyed or not, his life was forfeited, he declared. They would kill the immigrant just to be sure he would not tell, Fontana was said to have informed the police.

Fontana declared he was forced into murdering Camillo Caizzo when three members of the "Good Killers" thrust revolvers into his stomach and threatened to shoot if he did not swear to "get" the man.

It was after his arrest on that murder charge that he made his alleged confession to the police. He said he desired to confess everything because he had certain knowledge the gang would "get" him.

Six other Italians were arrested on Fontana's story, and were held today on suspicion of being connected with the Caizzo murder.

"It is the most important arrest I ever made," Captain Fiachetti, head of the Italian squad, declared to-day. Fontana was able to supply names of most of the gang's alleged victims. In some instances he was able to recall only a first name.

On the strength of that information Fiachetti directed investigations here and Detroit. The Detroit victims' names were: Joseph Bocilla, Felice Bucilla, Salvatore Fucilla, Luca Sarcona, Pietro Bosco, Antonio Graunola, Angia ———, and two others.

The murder band's tentacles extended over the eastern part of the United States and into Italy.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars was accumulated by the "Killers," he said, and can be expended at any time for the defence of the gang's members. The fund also is used in a complicated system of espionage, he said, to see that orders to newly arrived Italians are fulfilled.

Ghost Haunts Him.

The ghost of the victim he struck down at the orders of the International "Murder Syndicate," drove

"WE CAN NOT AND WILL NOT ACCEPT THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT'S TERMS," DE VALERA TELLS THE DAIL EIREANN

DECLARING THAT IRELAND IS NOT OFFERED THE SAME STATUS AS OTHER DOMINIONS AND THAT THE PROPOSED HOME RULE SYSTEM WOULD LEAVE TWO BROKEN PIECES, HE REITERATES HIS DEMAND FOR SEPARATION, BUT DECLARES THE SINN FEIN WILL SUBMIT THE QUESTION TO EXTERNAL ARBITRATION

BY CLYDE C. BEAL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

DUBLIN, August 17. — "We cannot and will not accept the British Government's terms," Eamonn DeValera told the Dail Eireann to-day.

The Republican "President" declared: "There seems to be some doubt in the press to-day after my speech of yesterday as to whether we accept or reject the terms offered us by Mr. Lloyd-George. There should be no doubt in anyone's mind.

"We cannot and will not, on behalf of this nation, accept these terms.

"There is an Indian proverb which says, 'Fool me once, shame on you; fool me twice, shame on me.' The Irish people are not going to be fooled this time.

"I would willingly suggest that the Irish people give up a good deal to free themselves from future external trouble," DeValera continued. "There is no enmity felt in the South toward the people of the North. We are ready to give them every reasonable safeguard."

The Sinn Fein leader declared the statement that Ireland had been offered Dominion Home Rule contained two falsehoods.

"There would be no Ireland, but two broken pieces," he said. "Also, Ireland has never been offered the same status as the other British Dominions.

"We are willing to submit the question between Great Britain and Ireland to external arbitration," DeValera declared.

"The Irish people will not flinch because more arms have been ordered to this country.

"We have no enmity towards Britain. It is a separate nation that we are talking of to-day. It is as such that we must enter into these or any negotiations — a condition of watchful waiting. On the other hand the opposition forces are taking no chances, and are getting their men into the field. The Government is on the defensive—the opposition on the offensive."

SESSION ADJOURNED; WILL MEET PRIVATELY.

DUBLIN, Aug. 17. — (Canadian Press).—The public meeting of the Dail Eireann was adjourned this afternoon to an indefinite date. Private sessions will be held in the meantime, beginning to-morrow.

Interest in the meeting continued unabated to-day, many people coming in from the country to witness one of the greatest events in the country's history.

Dublin was as animated as it was last week, when the horse show was held, but to-day's visitors were of an entirely different class. Last week horsemen and society folk were here, while this week priests, farmers, small shopkeepers from the villages and Irish politicians crowded the streets.

Yesterday's rain, which lessened the enthusiasm of the people gathered about the Mansion House, ceased during the night, and throngs crowded the streets to-day.

Prospects for Peace Thought Unclouded Yet

OPTIMISM PREVAILS IN IRELAND AND LONDON REFUSES ACCEPT VALERA'S SPEECH AS THE LAST WORD.

BY CLYDE C. BEALS,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

DUBLIN, Aug. 17.—Prospects of Irish peace, only partly overshadowed by De Valera's speech to the Dail demanding absolute independence, are bright. Throughout Ireland there is continued optimism to-day that the Dail Eireann will not summarily end the negotiations. The Irish themselves are not taking the Republican leader literally and the official text of his speech yesterday has a somewhat less belligerent tone than the first versions.

The general belief throughout the country is that the negotiations over Britain's offer of a form of Dominion Home Rule will be protracted, unless a new and as yet unforseen element is injected into the dispute. The cancelling of military leaves by the British army command is not such an element. The move has caused little or no anxiety here. It is understood that both sides are "playing physchology" to the utmost. Sinn Fein believes that throughout the negotiations Lloyd George has sought to give the appearance of yielding as little as possible, in order to keep the support of Conservatives in England and that this is but a move in the "game of bluff."

The impression gathered here from De Valera's speech at the opening of the Dail is that the negotiations will keep up weeks instead of a few days.

Sinn Fein is prepared to keep up its policies, regardless of whatever move the other side may make. Today I saw an advance copy of the offic1l organ of the "Irish Republican Army," in which the editorial cautioned the Republican Army to be prepared for still greater fortitude and sacrifices, saying, "The republic is, and will be." Arthur Griffith's paper to-day reiterates the one demand "independence," but does not specifically mention a republic.

The belief that Sinn Feiners will eventually accept less than a republic continues, despite events of yesterday.

A possible concession on the part of Britain may be the relinquishing or mitigating of the oath of allegiance to the Crown, which is one hitch.

LONDON OPINION.

LONDON, Aug. 17.— (Canadian Press.)— London newspapers, even those that have most warmly supported Irish aspirations, to-day viewed with considerable regret the statements made by Eamonn De Valera at yesterday's meeting of the Irish Republican Parliament. There was, however, reluctance to regard his speech as expressing Ireland's last word, and some editorials declared confidently that if the issue was placed before the Irish people the British terms of settlement would be accepted.

Assertions were made, on the strength of Dublin advices, that the Irish, having tasted peace since the establishment of the truce, would never consent to the return of hostilities and that, indeed, few Irishmen believed there was any probability of a resumption of warfare.

FINDS HEIRESS IN LONG HUNT

H. W. Alison Traces Daughter and Notifies Her of $200,000 Estate.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17. — After 40 years' separation from his family Horace W. Alison, of Philadelphia, has just traced his daughter, Deville Caroline, to Birmingham, Ala., where he informed her that he held in trust for her an estate reported to exceed $200,000, left her by her grandfather, Walter Alison, in 1889.

The search began in Moberly, Mo., where Alison left his daughter after her mother's death and took him to Palestine, Tex., where she had gone after marriage, thence to Illinois, and finally to Alabama.

BIRMINGHAM, Aug. 17.—Mrs. Robert H. Jones, formerly Deville Caroline Alison, of this city, admitted her good fortune in receiving a share of her grandfather's estate.

LATER POTATO CROP SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

The early reports of an extremely light potato crop are gradually being revised, and present prospects point to a moderately plentiful but not a heavy yield. When the first hills were opened at the beginning of the season, the returns were decidedly disappointing, but recent rains have apparently helped a great deal, especially with the later varieties. Several farmers who said that they had largely discounted their crops on the strength of the earlier digging have been almost cheerful about the yield when discussing it this week. Some of the tops are still green, and there is time yet for continued growth. Even some of the early potatoes have considerably improved, and the crop as a whole in this district will not be as disappointing as it seemed a month ago.

RECALLING OF TROOPS PURELY PRECAUTIONARY

NOT AGGRESSIVELY SO, OFFICIALS SAY, AS BRITISH GOVERNMENT FEARS TO ENDANGER IRISH TRUCE.

IRISH CONSTABULARY LEAVE IS CANCELLED

BELFAST, Aug. 17.— (Canadian Press.)—All Royal Irish Constabulary leave has been cancelled, dating from to-day, it was announced here this forenoon.

PURELY PRECAUTIONARY.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—(Canadian Press.)—Measures taken to recall the British troops on leave to their units in Ireland, announced yesterday, were stated in official circles here to-day to be purely of a precautionary nature.

It was further stated that the steps taken were not aggressively precautionary, because the last thing the British government would do would be to take steps to break the Irish truce. It was declared it was realized in official quarters that the firing of the first shot on either side was likely to mean a resumption of sporadic fighting throughout Ireland.

There were four buyers in attendance: G. A. Gillespie; James Cook of W. S. Cook and Son, Belleville, William Weir, Otonabee and T. Thompson of Madoc, buyer for A. A. Ayres Ltd., Montreal.

G. A. Gilliespie opened the bidding at 20 cents. Cook promptly put in 20 1-2 and with their putting in an occasional bid. Cook and Gillespie worked the price up to 21 7-16 Cook seleced Villiers Ormonde War saw, Lang and Warminster a total of 446 boxes and Gillespie took the rest. Selwyn, Killarney, Young's Point and North Dummer, 309 boxes at the same price.

The Resolution.

In reply to the resolution sent to J. A. Ruddick, Dairy Commissioner, Ottawa, on July 23, Secretary E. Hawthorne had a letter to-day. The complete resolution moved by Ed. Hawthorne and seconded by W. D. Robson was that "whereas an act has been passed by the Dominion Parliament called an act to regulate the grading of Dairy Butter" having in view the centralization of the grading of cheese and to become law by proclamation.

The Peterboro Cheese Board desires to place on record our protest against the Act for the following reasons, viz.—

While believing that the Government should use every means possible to improve and maintain the standard of our dairy products, we most emphatically affirm that the proposed grading and inspection be done on the factory shelves and in the presence of the maker.

That a large percentage of our cheese never reaches Montreal.

That often cheese is branded and shipped direct for export and are not warehoused in Montreal.

That according to our rules and regulations cheese is paid for F. O. B. at the shipping point:

That the Government should be cautious in placing restrictions and making conditions that would impose worry on the cheese makers and managers of factories:

That a copy of this resolution be sent to J. A. Ruddick, Dairy Commissioner, and that we co-operate with other boards in order to defeat the act."

In his letter Commissioner Ruddick stated:

"It would seem from the wording of this resolution that the members of the Peterboro Cheese Board are under some misapprehension as regards the Dairy Produce Act. There is nothing in the Act nor has it ever been proposed that all dairy produce should be concentrated at Montreal for grading. Of course the Act itself is unworkable and it will be necessary to make regulations before anything can be done. A draft of these resolutions will be prepared and submitted to all interested parties especially to the producers of milk as this is a movement in which the patrons of the factories have the greatest interest. You will probably have observed that while the Brockville Cheese Board passed a resolution opposing the Dairy Produce Act, the milk producers of that district have come out strongly in favour of it. It is not difficult to undersond his difference of opinion."

"Selfish Motives"

"As regards the grading of cheese in the factories" he said, "I can say without any hesitation that it would be enirely impracticable and unworkable. In the first place it would cost more than the thing is worth but there are other reasons which I cannot go into here why factory grading can never be undertaken.

"The Dairy Produce Act was introduced into Parliament to meet the demand on the Department of Agriculure which came from a great many different sources. During the season of 1919-20 a resolution was moved in the House of Commons calling upon the government to at once establish a grading system. There was a long discussion on the resolution and every member, who spoke was in favour of it. The matter was discussed at dairy conventions and other meetings through out the country last winter and in no single case was there any opposition expressed. Personally, while I have been a strong believer in the principle of grading, I have recognized that there would be difficulties in applying any general system to however, that we will be able by the dairy industry in Canada. I hope consultation to find some plan which will be workable and satisfactory to all concerned.'

A Misunderstanding

"I dont believe that part interjected Secretary Hawthorne, where the Commissioner said he considered grading at the factory impracticable, in reading aloud the letter. James Cook affirmed that Mr. Ruddick did not understand the "referee" system which prevails here and was at times unfair to the buyers. Mr. Gillespie said he had probably forgotten about this. Secretary Hawthorne wanted to know where all the demand for the Act had come from Mr. Cook declared the demand had been principally made in Cobourg.

The board took no further action in regard to this, contenting itself with a discussion of the causes for the decline in the cheese being boarded.

Few Buyers.

It was stated that there are about 13 factories, once members of the board, who do not belong now and save among other things the expense of sending a salesman but sell their cheese subject to the Peterboro sale price. "Gentlemen, I ask you is that fair," said Mr. Cook. "You're not going to get the opposition here with a small board. I don't think its fair to have them all subject to the Peterboro price and not board their cheese here. My father was one of the principals in getting this board going and I don't want to see it go under."

"They should sell it here, I agree with that," said Mr. Gillespie.

"Here we were two weeks ago, with two buyers, to-day there are four. I've sat at this table with eleven' said Mr. Cook disconsolately

How could they make these factories board their cheese at the Peterboro sales? That is what the buyers and salesmen want to know, but can see no solution to the problem.

The next sale will be held in three weeks.

PEBBLES FOR PORCUPINE.

Special Variety From Iceland for Use in Grinding Quartz.

MONTREAL, Aug. 17.— Of the many strange cargoes which have come into the port of Montreal, none have stirred more curiosity than that which has been coming out of the holds of the Danish auxiliary schooner Danekonge. This particular cargo is composed of pebbles— nice, round, shiny pebles, fifteen hundred tons of them.

These pebbles are known as "Iceland" pebbles, and are intended for a special purpose. The next day or two will see them on their way to the gold mines in the Porcupine district, where they will be used in the revolving tube mills to gring the ore in the secondary process, after it has already been through the jaw crushers and stamp batteries, and before it passes on to the cyanide tanks. For this purpose the pebbles are said to be more satisfactory than steel balls.

There is now available a combination golf and travelling bag.

NATIONALISTS HAVE EVACUATED ANGORA

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 17.—(Canadian Press.) — The Turkish Nationalist Government has been transferred from Angora to Caesarea, 160 miles south-east of Angora, and the civil population of the Nationalist capital is being evacuated because of the advance of the Greeks, says a despatch from Angora to-day.

FOLLOWING ORDER TO SEIZE STOCKS NOT HELD BY LEGAL CARRIERS, LIQUOR EXPORT COMPANIES CHARTERED.

WINDSOR, Aug. 17.—(Canadian Press.)— Those who have taken up the task of keeping moist, at a profit, the Volstead-made American desert, have hit upon a new plan. Issuance of a charter to the Essex Export Company Limited, by the Dominion Government was announced here yesterday afternoon. Simultaneously, it was said, three other companies were being formed. The charter of the Essex Company, capitalized at $100,000, specifies expressly that the company may have liquor for export sale either in a bonded liquor warehouse or any other warehouse.

LEAGUE REALLY ARBITRATES IN SILESIA ISSUE

ITALIAN PREMIER EXPLAINS THAT, THOUGH IT IS NOT FORMAL ARBITRATION, THE ALLIES ARE PLEDGED TO ACCEPT DECISION.

BY HENRY WOOD,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

ROME, Aug. 17.—"Anglo-French differences forced the formal reference of the Silesian question to the League of Nations," Premier Bombie said in an interview with the United Press to-day.

"Under the rulings of the Supreme Council at Paris, an unanimous decision was necessary to decide the question, and this could not be obtained.

"As a result, the matter of the delimiting of the Polish-German frontier, with special consideration to the partition of the industrial triangle, has been referred to the League of Nations' Council.

"However," the Italian Premier explained, "the League Council will be merely called upon to give its decision, and will not act formally as arbitrator. According to the Versailles treaty, final decision rests with the Supreme Council.

Substantially, though, it is real arbitration which the League will accomplish, for the Supreme Council is pledged to accept its decision."

VALERA'S FIERY SPEECH FAILS TO SHAKE OPTIMISM OF LONDON IN OUTCOME OF NEGOTIATIONS

PETER, KING OF SERBIA, PASSES

AGED MONARCH, SUFFERING INFIRMITIES OF AGE AND WOUNDS OF THREE WARS, DIES OF CONGESTION OF LUNGS.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, August King Peter, who for a long time terday.

King ePter, who for a long time had been ill, was reported early in June to be in a serious condition. He was then suffering from pleurisy. A short time afterwards he was said to be steadily improving in health, and his doctors declared him out of danger.

Nothing was heard of the aged monarch until a few days ago, when a despatch from Belgrade said he was seriously ill with congestion of the lungs.

He sank into unconsciousness on Friday, remaining in that condition until the following day. His condition became worse on Sunday night, and he gradually failed until the end.

King Peter was 76 years old, white-haired, deaf, ill from infirmities of age, and suffering from wounds of three or more wars.

He relinquished the cares of state in 1919, when his second son, Crown Prince Alexander, succeeded him, and became ruler of the new state of Jugo-Slavia.

BELGRADE, August 17 (United Press). — The pomp and homage denied him much of his life will be paid King Peter of Serbia at his funeral.

The King died yesterday after an illness lasting most of the summer.

Prince-Regent Alexander immediately ordered the country into mourning.

It was planned that full royal honours be paid the King, and that his body lie in state until the hour of the funeral.

As if by magic, stories appeared of Peter's valour and sagacity. In contrast to the derision which often met him in life were the eulogies of his wisdom as a ruler and his courage as a soldier.

OBSERVER OF EFFECT OF VALERA'S ADDRESS SAYS MANY HEARERS WERE AGHAST AT THE REPUBLICAN LEADER.

FEELING OF ANXIETY TEMPERED BY OPTIMISM

(By Ed. L. Keen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, August 17.—The fierce speech of Eamonn DeValera before the Dail Eireann, demanding absolute freedom and independence for Ireland, failed to destroy the optimism that the outcome of the present negotiations will be acceptance of the offer of Dominion Home Rule.

Officials and members of Parliament to-day awaited some indication of the Dail's sentiments towards the British terms, instead of accepting DeValera's speech as indicative of what the Sinn Fein reply will be.

The feeling here to-day is perhaps best described as anxiety tempered by the firm belief that the Irish people want peace, and that the Sinn Fein Parliament needs tremendous moral daring to renew war at the present stage of the negotiations.

Hugh Martin, who is in closest touch with the Sinn Fein, writing from Dublin in The Daily News to-day, says: "The negotiations will probably be lengthy, if they are successful. An early reply will be a bad reply."

He gives it as his opinion that President DeValera was carried away by his own rhetoric. He points out that the Republican chieftain is emotional, never able to stick to his notes, and frequently overreaches his mark.

Referring to DeValera's speech as "vague and verbose," Martin, who is in closest sympathy with the Republican idea, says further:

"It was my impression that many of the more responsible hearers were aghast at the Republican leader's words. DeValera may have spoken their minds, but they had no idea that their minds were to be spoken just then, or in that way."

EXORBITANT PRICES.

Mayor Coppley, of Hamilton, has declared war on the restaurant keepers in the Ambitious city, who, he charges, are exacting exorbitant prices for foodstuffs. The Hamilton Chief Magistrate threatens action in the matter, and restaurant patrons not only in Hamilton, but everywhere in urban Ontario, will wish him success in his endeavour to pull down the cost of living. It is claimed that corn, selling at the market at 20c. a dozen, is sold by the Hamilton restaurants at 15c. a cob, and a few slices of tomato are worth 15c. to the restaurant keeper, who buys a whole basket for a song. The conditions complained of in Hamilton exist to the same degree in Peterborough, and there is absolutely no justification for some of the charges made, even taking into consideration that the overhead expenses of a restaurant are necessarily high. Mayor Coppley is showing a proper conception of his duties in endeavouring to relieve the situation and to secure justice for the public. If he finds a way out, his example might well be followed by the local Council.

CAN THIS BE TRUE?

If the Canadians did not find it so profitable to supply thirsty inhabitants of the United States with strong waters, probably their jurists would be able to discover something in their laws to justify interference with a traffic that violates the laws of a very friendly neighbor. As it is, the Canadian Judges sit back in their staely chairs and say that there is nothing they can do, their own prohibition not including that of exportation.

They even add, showing more humor than is expected of Judges, that we might be offended by any manifestation on their part of a desire to help such a great country as this one in enforcing its own statutes and keeping its own citizens in order.

That, as an excuse or justification for permitting Canadian smugglers to do what they please at least is funny, but it rather exaggerates our sensitiveness. All our bootleggers, however, enthusiastically will applaud the ruling as a noble exercise of judicial discretion, and for anybody who likes that sort of approval it is exactly the sort they like.—New York Times.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF.

Toronto's Finance Commissioner has been notified that the Provincial Government will not continue to pay a portion of the unemployment relief furnished by the city. This action on the part of the government would seem to indicate that no help is to be expected from the Drury Administration in financing the "doles" system used by many municipalities last year as a necessary expedient to prevent suffering and distress. Under last year's arrangement the municipalities, Provincial and Federal governments each paid a share of the relief fund and if, as the notice served upon Toronto apparently proves, the Ontario government is to stand aloof so far as providing an unemployment fund is concerned, the municipalities will have to assume a larger share of the burden during the coming year unless the Federal government can be induced to take care of a bigger portion of the necesary funds. Even under last winter's policy some of the municipal governments found the problem difficult enough; the withdrawal of the Provincial government from the scheme would cause further trouble.

A BRILLIANT SOLUTION.

The Unemployment Association of Toronto, composed of the Red element in the labour ranks, has a simple solution for the unemployment problem. It consists of a demand that those out of work shall either be provided with employment or shall be paid compensation at union rates during such time as they are idle. Naturally the question arises of how this wonderful scheme would be financed, a matter that would seem to present some difficulty. But the unemployment Association points out how it can be done. It's a simple matter, according to them, merely levy a heavy tax on all incomes over $3,000. The fact that all such incomes are already taxed by the municipalities and the Federal government need not enter into the situation.

The scheme no doubt appears to its originator a brilliant one, but a moment's reflection will convince the average man that it is as unworkable as is the other proposal of the Unemployment Association, that immediate trade with Russia be established to stimulate Canadian industry. In either case the question of where the money is to come from shows how foolish the proposals really are.

EFFORTS TO STIMULATE TRADE.

Business responds rather slowly to all efforts directed toward stimulation. A statement was issued recently from the White House at Washington reviewing the measures which had been given effect by Government to restore trade activity. Those measures included the making of provision for the Government's short-dated debt, help to both industry and agriculture in finding better markets, and the providing of money to meet the needs of the railways. It is scarcely probable, however, that the broad effect will be more than palliative, although that will count, since the roots of the trouble are beyond the reach of any remedies which can be applied by the State. For example, the difficulties in the way of marketing arise almost wholly from a stubborn disposition on the part of consumers to buy sparingly, and the fundamental reason for that attitude is that prices are regarded as being still too high.

In such a situation financial help to producers pending the development of better market conditions does not, as has been said, carry the selected antidote to the seat of the disease. People cannot be compelled to buy. Necessity compels a certain volume of buying; but until deflation has been carried further it would seem that resistance to existing prices is likely to continue. That was in substance the judgment of 700 representatives of the clothing trades who met the other day in New York City to discuss the outlook. They were agreed that the consumer holds back the retailer, the retailer, therefore, buys lightly from the wholesaler, the wholesaler adopts a cautious policy toward the manufacturer, and back of all these agencies lie the producers of raw materials whose market has thus been restricted. The entire chain of production and distribution is involved, and it is obvious that under such circumstances relief must have its start at the consuming end. That end Government cannot reach.

To recognise definitely the chief underlying cause of the existing depression, in its local aspects at all events, is to recognise at the same time the close inter-relationship of all the agencies which are concerned in the thing we call commerce. They prosper together or suffer together. Going beyond national boundaries, we must further see that all the trading countries of the world share in each other's good or bad fortune. It is not, therefore, in the final analysis, any more a problem of setting the wheels of industry in motion locally than it is a problem of getting the whole world back to a healthy basis of exchange. At the moment we are able to measure the frightful force of the blow which the war gave to all nations by the degree of prostration which persists. Many foreign countries are still staggering. That we have suffered less, and are at this juncture rejoicing over an abundant harvest, is a matter for deep gratitude. The convalescence of stricken Europe must take place, however, before th vitallsing streams of trade will flow freely again. Our part, in the meantime, is to carry the work of readjustment to its logical and absolutely inevitable climax.—Ottawa Journal.

College Life Too Tame, They Become Vagrants.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Miss Rebecca Brownstein, 23 years old, Brooklyn, and Miss Mariam Levine, also 23, of the Bronx, have returned from a trip across the country, in which most of the miles found them draped across freight car rods.

A while ago they waved adieu to Syracuse University, proclaiming it too old-fashioned for girls with nerve. They rode to California on a train, paying their way. They eked out their three meals and lodging, as factory girls, salesgirls, chambermaids and waitresses, working in these capacities as they went from city to city seeing the sights. Often they hiked from one town to another. Sometimes they managed to get an automobile 'lift."

Several weeks ago they started for New York. They walked 160 miles of desert through Nevada, quaffing mud puddles to quench thirst. Until Chicago automobile riders were as infrequent as clouds of dust on the ocean.

Occasionally they had to hop aboard the "bumpers" of freight trains and travel that manner, though that mode of transport lacked fineness and involved blisters. From Chicago they managed to get automobile rides most of the way.

Chalmers Unequalled Motor Car Investment

The Chalmers is a motor car investment of unequalled value. Primarily, because it is a fine, rich car at a reasonable price. But also because upkeep charges are low.

The Chalmers needs little shop work and attention. That means that replacement and repair costs are held to a minimum.

This is of vast importance in determining motor car value and has cemented the loyalty of Chalmers owners.

Chalmers Motor Wonderful

It is largely due to the wonderful Chalmers motor that upkeep costs are held down. By heating the fuel with the hot-spot.

Chalmers engineers have measurably improved motor performance.

More power is secured from less gasoline. The motor warms up more quickly, and accelerates faster, and runs more smoothly. But little carbon forms, as the combustion is very much better. Thus the Chalmers runs over longer periods without overhauling.

Chalmers Is Beautiful

But it is not its fine performance alone that makes Chalmers owners so enthusiastic. The Chalmers is also a beautiful car, with fine appointments; and a comfortable car.

We would appreciate an opportunity to demonstrate to you in actual performance the details of Chalmers superiority.

OUR LUCK TURNS

CHAPTER 39.

A week had slipped by since Tom Barney's eventful visit. I could not put the memory of it from my mind. In spite of Kent's love and his dear kisses, the recollection of that other hideous kiss burned insistently upon my lips.

I had heard nothing from Tom and things went along as usual. Yet I dreaded the day when he would make the disclosure about the diamond. I felt instinctively that it would have to come sometime. I could not see any reason now why Tom would remain silent.

I often wondered how he knew about the diamond? Perhaps if he knew, there were others who knew also, and it was just a question of time when the opposing forces would close in around us and bring to an end all Kent's and my wonderful life together. They were hideous thoughts that I was living with those days.

And Kent went on ignorant of what was pending, and growing happier each day. It all made me so rebellious. It made me more determined to fight for him. It seemed as if I had suddenly become his protector, and I thrilled in the thought of fighting for him. He needed me—oh, what a satisfying, marvelous feeling it was to be needed!

It did not seem fair. Kent had seen his mistake and had tried to correct it, and now a small sneaking person like Tom Barney could spoil Kent's splendid chance to exonerate himself. I hated Tom.

And all the while the strange sweet light from the beautiful opalescent lamp shade shone brightly Kent faced it bravely and never asked again to have it turned out or put away. He was so brave, dear boy!

And business was growing better. And with it Kent's hopes jumped forward rapidly.

"I've had wonderful luck to-day, Babs," he exclaimed excitedly one evening.

My pulses thrilled to his enthusiasm.

"It's settled. The deeds were signed up and everything fixed up this afternoon. I didn't tell you before because I was afraid there'd be a slip somewhere," he went on breathlessly.

"Tell me, dear, all about it," I demanded, eager to know what the good luck was. I almost forgot our trouble in those blessed moments of happiness.

"I sold two $50,000 apartment houses up on Riverside Drive to a man named Dudley. He's been quibbling over the deal for the last three weeks, but we put it through to-day. And it means a pretty big thing for me, dear," he exclaimed happily.

He placed his two hands on my shoulders and held me off at arm's length.

"We can do anything together — can't we, Babs—you and I?"

My eyes welled up with happy tears.

"Its your 'faith in me, Barbara that makes it possible to do those things," he added seriously.

"Yes, Kent, my faith, and my faith is very big. But 'its faith in yourself, too, that counts," I said looking deep into his earnest brown eyes.

He drew me to him fondly.

"Perhaps too, dearest," I said very softly, "perhaps it's something else It seems as if this wonderful law of compensation has something to it, after all. You deserve some good luck, my boy. And Spring always comes after the hard, cold Winter—doesn't it, Kent?" I told him with my head nestled lovingly against his shoulder.

"I begin to think it does, Barbara," he answered hopefully.

To-morrow—Tom Barney Pleads a Hearing.

Dear Jack,
Splash! splash! Oh don't you wish you were here too! These balmy lake breezes fairly intoxicate me. My feet reel, and my head reels, and now I'm reeling this off to you. But really, this is a real place!
Yesterday I sploshed around like an honest-to-goodness fish. But my real ambition now is to dash around like a pollywog! Don't you think that is romantic!
But mind you, that horrid old sun went and burned me all up! However, I fooled him just the same — for I ran right home and rubbed on some Campana's Italian Balm, and all the pain and redness went away. If you don't believe me, try it yourself!
Peggy.

VISIT TO THE GRAVE OF JOSEPH SCRIVEN

The appended article which appeared in the London, Ontario, "Free Press" was written by Rev. W. A. Bradley, who recently was a visitor at the home of Mrs. J. D. Deyell, 265 Park Street. The article follows:

Yesterday your correspondent, in company with some friends from Peterborough, visited the little private cemetery of the Pengelly family, in the Township of South Monaghan, Peterborough County, where lies the dust of Joseph Scriven, author of the well-known hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."

We left the gravel road that runs from Peterborough to Cobourg at the village of Bailieboro, and drove east two miles, then turned south for about three-quarters of a mile, and there on the farm of the above-named family, as it slopes down to Rice Lake, and about fifty rods from the water's edge, and at the side of the country road is the little cemetery that for ages to come will be the shrine of the pilgrims who love the hymn that has brought counsel and comfort to many troubled hearts.

The little cemetery is about 50 feet square, in which grow two basswood and elm and a hemlock tree, that have apparently sprung up since the cemetery was laid out. It is surrounded by a stone dyke, through which come up cedar posts, to which are attached a few strands of fence wire. A granolithic walk connects the burying ground with the road that leads down to the lake. Here lies some ten or twelve members of the Pengelly family.

Some fifteen years ago the late Wm. Smithson of South Monaghan who was an intimate friend of the author, by letters to the press, called attention to the unmarked grave of the hymn writer, and began a subscription to procure a monument but death prevented him from carrying out his project, and the subscription moneys were returned to the donors. More recently, through the energy of the Rev. W. D. Lee and Rev. Capt. Spencer, of Millbrook, the former now of Thorold, a movement was set on foot to procure a suitable memorial. Subscriptions were solicited from lovers of the hymn, with such success that a beautiful gray granite monument in three sections and about twelve or fourteen feet high was procured, and now marks the hymn writer's last resting place. He lies beside the young woman to whom he was engaged to be married, a Miss Eliza Catherine Roache, who died of tuberculosis in 1860, aged 23 years. It was a last request that he might lie beside her. A little marble slab marks her grave. She was a relative of the Pengellys. The three verses of the hymn are engraved on the three sides of the second section of the monument. Your correspondent and friends sang the hymn as they stood around the grave.

Joseph M. Scriven was born in Seapatrick, County Down, Ireland, in 1819. He graduated with the degree of B.A. from Trinity College, Dublin, in 1842, and came to Canada in 1844, and spent his life in the vicinity of Rice Lake, in whose waters he was drowned in 1886. He was tutor in the family of Captain Pengelly for a number of years, but as he was a man of means he spent his time largely in preaching and ministering to the poor and needy in the vicinity above mentioned. A gentleman who knew the author told me that on one occasion he visited a widow who had lost her only cow. He listened to her story, took his beautiful watch from his pocket, gave it to her, and told her to sell it and buy herself another cow with the proceeds. Many such acts of charity are related of him by the aged people who knew the author personally.

The hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," was first published in Dublin, and in many hymn books bears the name of Horatius Bonar, but the authorship was established by the late Alexander Rogers, of Centerville, who asked Mr. Scriven—with whom he was intimately acquainted, if he was the author. He received an answer in the following words: "What there is of it the Lord and I wrote." Mr. Rogers also communicated with Dr. Bonar, and received from him a denial that he was the author.

The monument was unveiled about one year ago, by Premier Drury, in the presence of a great concourse of people.

As time goes by the little Pengelly graveyard will be better known, and will be visited by hundreds of pilgrims who know and have sung the hymn, and who desire to see the little cemetery by the wayside that contains the dust of the distinguished author.

PETTICOAT ECONOMY.

An economical idea to make silk skirts and petticoats wear longer, is being tried out in Boston by stitching a piece of cloth or cotton flannel the exact shape of the silk to the back of the skirt, where it is apt to be kicked out by the heels of the shoes. Our corner friends says the idea may be alright for staid old Boston, but what young lady in Peterborough would ever kick high enough to strike the back of her skirt.

Foot Treatment
Keeps feet feeling fine

And deadly mid tall grass was laid,
The venomed reptile's snare.

Dangers beset in grim array
The trackless wildering glen;
Fleet ruthless ravening beasts of prey,
And treacherous, cruel men.

Here oft the smugglers' lawless crew
In mountain caverns stored,
Secure from justice's watchful view
Their ill-gained plundered hoard.

But doubtful to essay advance
To meet an unknown fate,
Yet daring not to risk the chance
Of perils there that wait.

True courage, will with danger rise,
Nor shrink by fear undone;
A thousand deaths the coward dies,
The brave man, only one.

Forward he strode in dauntless mood
Till on his anxious sight,
Hard by a lonely cabin stood,
With hospitable light.

Wondering who finds a refuge here
He grassped his hunting knife,
Resolved, if murderous mountaineer,
Bold to defend his life.

And for admittance, firm applied,
The night's repose to win;
Kindly a pleasant voice replied
Bidding him enter in.

Ah! who can tell, his pleased amaze
When, 'stead of of smuggler bold,
He only met the smiling gaze,
Of hermit seeming old.

When the young traveller told his tale
The hermit's frugal board,
And hospitable care avail
True welcome to afford.

Ere gladly they at length retired
To course, but cleanly bed;
A chapter from the Book inspired
The recluse, reverent, read.

Then ,for himself, and stranger guest,
Heaven's blessing he implored,
And for the good that he possessed
Humble, thanksgiving poured.

The wanderer's praise to God ascends
With warm devotions glow,
That here is found a Christian friend
Instead of vengeful foe.

Ere at the dawn, bidding farewell,
To courteous host unknown,
Modest, requests as friend to tell
Why thus he dwelt alone.

A wound long healed to probe again
Can never sure be wise,
But to the past with secret pain,
Memory still backward flies.

Yet shall the simple tale be told
That warned, you may beware
Nor let vile lust of gear and gold
Thy youthful bosom share.

When o'er life's radiant morning sky
No gloomy shadow hung,
And in my bosom, beating high,
Hope, siren music, sung.

Kind fortune's smile upon me beamed,
Blessing me with the love

MRS. HAYDOCK SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Followed Advice of Her Druggist's Wife and Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill.—"I was in bed with a female trouble and inflammation and had four doctors but none of them did me any good. They all said I would have to have an operation. A druggist's wife told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took 22 bottles, never missing a dose and at the end of that time I was perfectly well. I have a six room flat and do all my work. My two sisters are taking the Compound upon my recommendation and you may publish my letter. It is the gospel truth and I will write to anyone who wants a personal letter."—Mrs. E. H. HAYDOCK, 6834 St. Lawrence Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved Mrs. Haydock from an operation we cannot claim that all operations may be avoided by it,—but many women have escaped operations by the timely use of this old fashioned root and herb medicine.

Of a fair maiden fancy deemed—
Pure as the Saints above.

Within my secret heart enshrined
I held her from alone
And gladly I had life resigned
For her, sweet love, to own.

Our troth was pledged, whate'er betide,
Come weal, or come stern woe,
Fair Alice, soon would be my bride,
What more could heaven bestow.

But darksome storm clouds gathered fast
Around our prospects bright,
And chill adversity's rude blast,
Love's tender blossoms blight.

By sudden stroke, my father died
Crushed by a falling tree,
Leaving my brother to divide
Equal, his wealth with me.

Though legal will there might be none,
Undoubted was our claim,
No daughter his, or other son,
We only bore his name.

With that loved brother closely round,
My very heart strings twined,
Who seemed with every virtue crowned,
And manly grace combined.

Ah, some fond chord deep in my soul
Snapped, with a pain intense,
What time, that brother grasped the whole
Of the inheritance.

'Twas not the loss of sordid gold
That pierced my heart with pain,
Made life's warm tide, run deadly cold
Searing my very brain.

For confident in strength untried
And hope, to youth akin,
A home and fortune for my bride,
My strong right arm, could win.

U. S. DEALERS FACE BUYERS' STRIKE AGAIN.

N. Y. Banker Says Cut In Prices Not Equal to Producers'

BY HAROLD D. JACOBS,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.— Retail dealers were warned by a New York banker to-day that the American public may employ another buyers' strike to force a reduction in the cost of living.

The banker was Frank H. Sisson, vice president of the Guaranty Trust company. He declared the apparent reluctance of retailers to lower their prices in the same ratio that producers, manufacturers and wholesalers have done is the principal factor in obstructing a return to complete prosperity.

Dealers Warned.

"With the recent so-called buyers' strike still fresh in memory, retailers who are endeavoring to sustain their prices until they can work off their stocks carried over from the period when rising prices induced excessive accumulation of goods should remember that the public holds in its hands an irresistible power— and has demonstrated that it knows how to use that power effectively when occasion demands," he said.

Sisson asserted that the great present need in speeding the complete recovery of business is the constructive co-operation of all factors, "especially in respect to costs of commodities to the ultimate consumer."

Prosperity to Revive.

"As soon as prices have been completely readjusted and established the tremendous latent buying power in this country will be transformed into a potential energy which will revive, not the hectic, unhealthful prosperity of war, but the sound safe prosperity of peace," he said.

"Readjustment of production costs has been retarded by the fact wages have declined less rapidly than sale prices. This is occasion in some part by the corresponding failure of retail prices promptly to follow wholesale prices. This is occasioned in some part by the corresponding failure of retail prices promptly to follow wholesale prices in the odwnward revision. Nevertheless, wages are declining, and, generally speaking, the revision has been made.

OSHAWA APPOINTS A NEW ENGINEER.

OSHAWA, August 16—The Town Council has appointed Norman G. McDonald, engineer, to fill the vacancy caused by S. Shaugre's resignation. The salary is $2,400.00 a year. Mr. Shaugre had been acting town engineer for a few months.

REDS EXPERIMENT TO INCREASE THE FACTORIES' OUTPUT.

In Order to Obtain Products to Exchange For Food.

RIGA, Latvia, Aug. 17.—(Associated Press).—Many experiments are being introduced in the management and supply system of Russian factories in an effort by the Bolshevik Government to increase production in order to obtain products to exchange with the peasants for food.

Some time ago a piece-work scale was introduced in the hope that this would incite individual workmen to increased efforts. According to a Moscow dispatch, all factory managements have been ordered to carry it into effect urgently and immediately.

In many industrial concerns a collective rationing plan has been substituted for the old system of granting individual rations. Under the new method a whole factory is granted a monthly allowance of foodstuff and money on the condition that it turns out a stipulated amount of goods.

If the factory is able to produce this quantity with a smaller number of workmen than estimated, the surplus of foodstuffs and money can be distributed among the workmen as a premium.

The All-Russian Council of Trade Unions has issued a circular pointing out that increases of wages in money payments are inadvisable at this time because this would necessitate an increase in the output of currency which the Government is even now unable to print in sufficient quantities. The Government is said to have been printing until lately about 200,000,000,000 of rubles of paper money a month. This amount has been increased to the maximum possible output of the printing machines.

PANTRY MAID LAYS CLAIM TO MILLIONS.

Kentucky Girl Says She Is Neice of Late Lord Aberdeen.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—It is a far cry from the drawing-room of the palatial residence of the Marchioness of Aberdeen, President of the International Council of Women, and one of the most distinguished members of the British nobility, to the humble kitchen of a small hotel in Knoxville, Tenn., but at present there appears a probability that the titled Englishwoman will be compelled to share with a pantry maid in the Whittle Springs Hotel, the vast estate left by the late Lord Aberdeen, former Viceroy of Ireland.

Through her attorneys in Knoxville, according to telegraphic advices from that city, Leona Siggart, a pantry maid who says she is a niece of the late Marquis, is claiming $3,000,000 as her share of the estate.

More than a little interest has been engendered, both in England and in this country through the claims advanced by the Knoxville pantry maid. Miss Siggart is 35 years old and says she is one of six nieces and nephews entitled to a share of the holdings of the late Lord Aberdeen. In a statement the young woman asserted she expected no difficulty in establishing her identity as a niece of the former seventh Earl of Aberdeen, Marquis of Temair and Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

Lady Aberdeen has many warm friends in San Francisco, where both she and her distinguished husband visited in 1915. Foremost among all members of the British nobility in their interest in and work for promotion of various social causes, the Marquis and Marchioness of Aberdeen came to America in 1915 to lecture in aid of the fund for the fight against tuberculosis.

While in San Francisco and other California cities Lady Aberdeen and her distinguished husband were entertained exclusively. The delightful English woman endeared herself to all through her understanding and appreciation of the things for which welfare workers the world over were striving.

Prior to his service as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, Lord Aberdeen held the post of Governor-General of Canada, during which time he took advantage of every opportunity to further the amicable feeling between that country and the United States.

IS ASTONISHING, SAYS MRS. MANN

TORONTO WOMAN DECLARES TANLAC HAS BUILT HER UP WONDERFULLY — HUSBAND ALSO HELPED.

"No one can talk to me long now without hearing something about Tanlac, for it certainly has done me a world of good," said Mrs. Florence Mann, 275 Prescott Avenue, Toronto, Ont.

"At the time I began taking it, my system was in an awful run-down condition I had no appetite, and my stomach was so disordered my food fermented and caused me to feel awfully full and stuffed after meals. I had severe headaches and bilious attacks that gave me no end of trouble. When I did venture to eat a fairly good meal, I just suffered for hours with pains in my stomach. My nerves were in bad condition, too, and a good night's sleep was simply out of the question for me, and I felt tired, dull, and sluggish every morning.

"Well, it's really astonishing the way Tanlac has built me up. Before I finished my first bottle, I was eating better and sleeping better, and now I feel just fine in every way. Since Tanlac has helped me so much, my husband has started taking it, and it is doing him a world of good, too. It certainly does make quick work of building a person up."

No animal is allowed in the Judging ring at the Canadian National Exhibition until examined by a veterinary and pronounced free of disease.

13TH VICTIM KILLED IN FEUD IN CHICAGO

Shot Down at Home in View of Two Children.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—The nineteenth ward political fued claimed its thirteenth victim yesterday when Frank Sinacola was shot and killed in view of two of his children in front of his home.

Sinacola had just recovered from bullet wounds suffered while guarding the family of Joseph Laspisa, another feud victim. He was sitting in front of his home with his children when two men approached. The two children said that their father apparently recognized the men and tried to pull a pistol from his pocket. The men stopped and turned to run away. Sinacola's pistol stuck and would not come out. He jumped to his feet and the weapon fell to the ground. Seeing this, the men ran toward him and Sinacola turned to flee, but fell with a bullet through his head and another through his body. His assailants threw away their pistols and ran down a side street.

Twelve other men have been slain under similar circumstances in the last few months, their deaths, according to the police, resulting from the political warfare between adherents of Tony D'Andrea and Alderman John Powers at the first aldermanic campaign.

NEAR LYNCHING OVER WAILING OF CHILD.

Mob, Suspecting Kidnapping, Is Turned From Its Purpose By Traffic Cop.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—A lonesome, frightened child was the innocent cause of an incipient lynching party in one of the busiest sections of downtown New York. Under the misapprehension that a kidnaping was in progress, the typical, excitable Manhattan crowd undertook to stage a bit of "Wild West" speedy justice, and no one knows what might have happened but for the timely interference of a level-headed, quick-thinking traffic policeman.

The child, a curly haired chap, was alone in an automobile parked on Chambers street near Broadway, and when he suddenly began to cry and call for "Daddy, Daddy," a crowd of curious, sympathetic persons gathered around the car. Then when a man shouldered his way to the front seat and started the engine, some one said something about a "kidnaper," and the cry was instantly taken up and the crowd refused to allow the machine to move. When the man argued that he was taking the child home he was answered with threats of "Lynch him!" and when the exasperated driver appealed to the little boy to identify him the child was too frightened and confused to do anything but sob.

Policeman Settles It.

The traffic policeman finally forced his way to the driver's seat and held a few moments' conversation with the man.

"Now you get out of here, you folks, and let this man drive on," he commanded. "This man's all right and the kid is his own boy. Take my word for it."

The crowd took his word for it and disappeared, and the man in the car lost no time in driving away.

"There's no mystery about it," said the traffic policeman, "but it just shows how much harm can come of people not minding their own business. That man left the kid in the car. He often does it right there. I know because I see him often. He was attending to some business in the building and the child was safe as the treasury and perfectly content to be left there, for he was used to it.

Stranger Starts It.

"Then along comes one of those smart busybodies and thinks he has to fix the ankle of the windshield. So he starts monkeying with the windshield, and the little kid, not liking his face most probably, and objecting to him butting in on the car, why he just started to bawl, that's all. Then those persons who are always trying to see something for nothing started to rubber, and that scared the kid worse. Then when his dad comes down and gets in the car the little boy is so scared he didn't know him hardly.

"But I knew them both, and when I said 'Move on!' it's a good thing those interferers didn't start anything.

"But it just goes to show, doesn't it, that it pays to mind your own business."

PAPER WORKERS TO GET OUT IN WAGES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.— (Canadian Press.)—Wage reductions ranging from 10 per cent. for skilled men to 25 per cent. for common labour yesterday were agreed upon by the Board of Arbitration considering the wage dispute between the union paper mill workers and eleven newsprint manufacturing companies. The award, which fixed a forty cents an hour rate for outside common labour, affects about 12,000 workers and will become effective on August 22. The International Paper Company was not a party to the agreement.

PROFIT-SHARING LAW PARALYZING TO INDUSTRIES.

Serious Trouble Threatened Over It In Vera Cruz

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 17.—(Associated Press).—A law recently passed and promulgated in the State of Vera Cruz to permit workmen to share in the profits of any industry in that State has met with much protest, and threat is made that if there is any attempt to carry it into effect a general paralysis of industry will result.

The law calls for the establishment of a commission of seven, three employers and three workmen and a chairman selected jointly, in each municipality in the State which, at least once annually, shall call for the books of all industrial concerns and, after a careful audit, shall name the share of the laborers. The workmen are to receive not less than 10 per cent. of the total net profits. No maximum is stated.

The chairman is to be named by the president of the municipality if his selection cannot be mutually agreed upon by the employers and the workmen. It is pointed out by those who oppose the law that this will almost always result in the naming of a workman inasmuch as virtually all the presidents of municipalities are laborers.

he profits to be divided, according to the law, "will be understood to be the net earnings realized in the business after taking into consideration the interest and the amortization of the capital invested. The interest will not exceed six per cent. per annum and the amortization will be adjusted according to the nature of the capital, but must never exceed 10 per cent. of the capital of the immovable estate."

One of the principal objections made to the law is that it is retroactive to February 5, 1917. An elaborate system of embargoes and fines is provided in case the employers fail to comply with the orders of the commission or are discovered attempting to evade any of its findings. Goods and properties may be sold at public auction to secure payment.

Mexican newspapers almost as a unit are opposed to the law and are supporting the industries in their attempt to have Federal action taken against it. Committees representing various Chambers of Commerce have conferred with President Obregon, who is now considering if relief measures are possible. Legislatures in other States have given indications that similar laws are contemplated there.

DES MOINES TRANSIT PROBLEM SOLVED WITHOUT STREET CARS

By HERBERT LITTLE,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 17.—Des Moines, the only street-carless big city in the country, today was riding to work as usual.

Its omnibusses, "loaded to the water's edge," are carrying 60,000 passengers a day. They are covering every one of the ninety miles of car-line formerly served by the trolleys.

The 50,000 industrial employees of the city have all gotten to work on time every day. There has been a minimum of traffic accidents, because the pedestrians have only to look out for automobiles.

Although Des Moines, a city of 132,000, is scattered widely over 54 square miles of territory, there has been no concerted movement to bring the trolleys back.

The City Council, whose fifty-five year fight with the street railway company was the ultimate cause of the suspension of service, refused to worry, or to take any steps toward bringing back the cars.

"I'd like to start tearing up the street car tracks today," declared Marshall Miller, Superintendent of streets.

Des Moines began to be "sans trolleys" at midnight, Wednesday, August 3, when, in accordance with an order from Federal Judge Martin Wade, the car service was suspended. The order was given as the result of a request of the receivers of the street car company; following foreclosure proceedings brought by the bondholders.

Service will not be recommenced by the A. W. Harris interests of Chicago, which owned the company. The rolling stock and equipment, on the auction block within sixty days, probably will be sold for junk.

The City Council is blamed by the car company officials for "killing" the trolleys. In 1918 they refused to grant an increase over the five-cent fares provided for by the franchise. In 1920 the company went into the hands of the receivers, and the Federal Court decided that the City Council was not empowered with regulating fares, and gave the receivers permission to charge an eight-cent fare.

Here the busses—the villains of the play at first, and now the heroes—entered. Charging a five-cent fare, they "skimmed the cream" of transportation, taking in the $25,000 to 30,000 a month whereby the car company was enabled to make both ends meet. The company went just about that amount in the hole every month.

This spring, an eastern electric company foreclosed a lien on part of the equipment, putting half of the 120 cars out of service.

The receivers immediately asked for permission to cease service, and it was granted August 2, to be effective mid-night, August 3.

LET HEATHEN RAGE, SAYS OSHAWA'S MAYOR.

OSHAWA, August 16.—"Let the heathen rage," said Mayor Stacey in discussing a local paper's criticism on the length of time it takes the Town Council to transact business. "With an average expenditure of $10,000 a month, it was only reasonable to suppose that only four hours per month were required to transact the town's business."

Councillor Brown caustically remarked that the Council Chamber's doors were always on hinges, and if press representatives were not willing to stay until business was finished, they were at liberty to leave.

CULT OF OMAR AT THE PAS NOT DISRUPTED; SERVICES SUSPENDED PENDING ARRIVAL OF SPECIAL CONSIGNMENT OF "SPIRIT OF OMAR"

COMMUNICATION FROM CULT DENIES ITS MEMBERS ARE "HOOTCH HOUNDS" AND SAYS ITS VIEWS ARE SO BROAD THAT NOT EVEN TOTAL ABSTAINERS ARE DENIED MEMBERSHIP.

THE PAS, Man., Aug. 17.—(Canadian Press).—This northern city is enjoying an interesting summer. "With a pre-historic animal, an oil boom and a new religion to wrestle with The Pas is kept rather busy figuring it all out," says The Pas Herald, of which G. E. Rice is publisher, in an editorial. The Herald proceeds to devote some attention to the Cult of Omar Church, which came to an abrupt end when statements were given circulation that the new organization had been brought about so that disciples of the Persian poet might secure interesting quantities, the wine of which Omar sang; and the writer of the editorial purports to describe a meeting of the Cult.

"The Cult of Omar," the editorial says, "was exposed and destroyed as we thought it would be. Instead of being a world-wide organization seeking the truth of life, we find the bally outfit nothing more than a combination of thirsty gents looking for a Government permit to buy two gallons of alcohol per month per member under the guise of the sacrament. The expose was brought about by Rev. Steeple of The Kettle, who was roped into it while on a visit to The Pass, dressed as a prospector.

"We attended one of the devotional services of the cult, and as we recall events that transpired before the knockout, a two-gallon crock of port wine was lying in the centre of a wide table, around which were seated the seekers after the truth of life. 'It's a bit weak,' said somebody, whereupon a 12-ounce bottle of alcohol was dumped into it. 'Still a little shy for our sacrament' reported the expert and another 12 ozs were dug up and dumped in. This seemed to put the right tone into the stuff and everybody settled back for worship.

"Several sacraments were taken when we thought it about time the services should commence. We timidly asked somebody when the devotional service would begin. 'Shervishes all over, have a drink,' he sleepily replied. It came as a shock to our confiding nature to realize who were in the very heart of a fine old-time booze party and nearly everybody was lit up. We remember very little more of what took place after this, but our eyes were open to the sinister purpose of this sect, whose main object was to imitate the old Persian rascal and hold a weekly party under the guise of religious worship."

In the same issue of The Herald is a letter signed "Church Managing Committee of the True Faith," which denies vigorously "the misconception abroad that our members are nothing but a gang of hootch hounds, whose sole aim in life is to drink the maximum amount in the minimum about of time." The letter declares the views of the cult to be so broad that not even total abstainers are denied membership and it concludes

"The Cult of Omar has not been disrupted, as has been stated. True, services have been temporarily suspended, pending the arrival of a speciali consignment of Spirit of Omar; but, once this arrives, services will be renewed, we hope with added zest. Some of our weak-kneed brethren have left us, lured away by threats of our enemies and false and libellous reports published about us; but others remain staunch and true to the cause. No doubt as soon as the new cargo of Spirit of Omar arrives the erring ones will come sneaking back to the fold, and such is our generosity that we will welcome them back to the true faith with open arms and without reproach, providing, of course, they delve deeply to induce the flow of the spirit."
